RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

By EARLE FERRIS

LISTENER surveys recorded a rise in popularity for the Sunday night variety hour, long the audience leader in radio, as soon as Edgar Bergen, pictured here, brought Charlie McCarthy back to the show. Bergen and McCarthy took time out for a vacation in Hawaii.

About the busiest radio writer is Carlton E. Morse, who turns out five episodes a week of "I Love A Mystery," in addition to his serial of American domestic life, "One Man's Family." His wife brews coffee for him when he suddenly gets an idea for a script in the middle of the night.

Kate Smith, shown here, has an especial liking for work as a commentator. Whereas her musical show keeps her penned up in a studio all day, Kate's commentator series also over CBS, allows her to stay out of doors in search of material to talk about.

Bob Knight, expert electric swinging guitarist, featured on Horace Heidt's "Pot o' Gold" program, was an established musician when only fourteen years old. He joined Harry Reser's combination then as a banjoist. Today he's considered one of the foremost au-

Roger Pryor is especially delighted to be master of ceremonies on the "Screen Guild Theatre." The job keeps him in the same town with his wife, Ann Sothorn, Hollywood actress. During the past three years while Pryor was leading a band in various parts of the country, wife and husband traveled a total of 60,000 miles to spend holidays together.

Anne Thomas, pictured here, is really a quiet little girl but for the past year she's been featured in roistering comedy roles on the Tuesday night "Johnny I" shows and as a tough girl on the Friday night shows.

In days of his recuperation from his attack of appendicitis during the summer, Dave Elman, conductor of "Hobby Lobby," added deep sea tuna fishing to his own list of spare time activities.

William Powell, pictured here, famed "thin man" of the films, was the second screen star to make an appearance on radio's "Silver Theatre," which is a regular Sunday feature over CBS. It was his first radio appearance of the season.
