One of the major labor union rules is that members are restricted from operating a business of their own while they are employed in a position which pays union wages.

The Journal Depends Upon Its Friends

"Is there a doctor in the house" used to be the cry in an emergency, but now it's "bring me a medic."

Years ago people were paid to ride horses, but in this modern age they pay for the privilege of taking a leisurely canter.

Etiquet experts say that it is "utterly horrible" for one to use a piece of bread to "sop" up the gravy that is left on the plate, but nutritional experts say that it's the very thing to do, for the best part of the meal is oft-times washed off the plate in the dishpan.

"OUNCE OF PREVENTION" FOR AUTOMOBILE FIRES

A recent survey in 426 cities among all classes of population revealed that 11.52 per cent of all legitimate fire alarms during 1938 were calls for assistance from motorists, the Chicago Motor club reported today. A very high percentage of these were for fires caused by anti-freeze solutions catching fire from the heated motor after leaking from the radiator and hose connections, according to the motor club.

Because unseasonable cold snaps foretell that an early winter is in the offing, here is a timely warning for motorists:

"Before adding anti-freeze solutions during these next few weeks in preparation for winter driving, have your radiator and its connections carefully checked to prevent your car from being a fire statistic," advises Harold Treichel, head of the motor club emergency road service department.

LIVESTOCK NEWS

(Reported by John Clay and Company.)

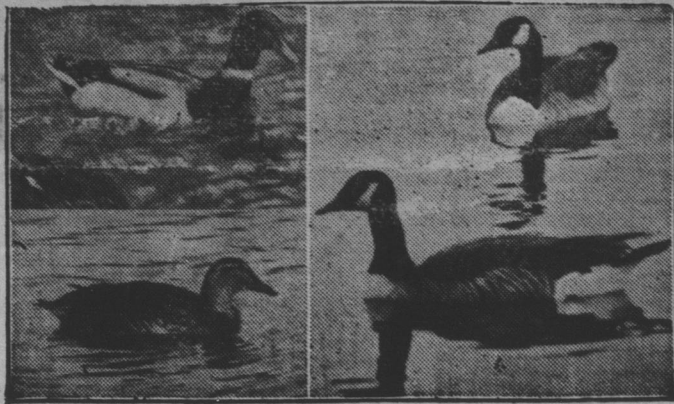

Following last week's moderate receipts, the cattle trade early this week registered a little improvement with yearlings again leading the upturn. Hogs also worked into stronger position, selling highest of the month, while lambs weakened, resulting in the $10 top quotation being erased. Demand for replacement steers and feeding lambs was of sufficient volume to handily absorb the offering of these classes.

Evidence of the approach of the range season end was plainly visible this week although quality of stocker and feeder cattle, as a rule, was highly desirable. Calves and light yearlings continued in relatively best demand. Montana whitefaces now form great bulk of the feeder lamb offering. In the very near future "comeback" westerns will have to be relied upon to take care of country demand.

Hogs are growing out of the light weight class, while butchers scarce. Sows now form only 10 per cent of the receipts. At the present time, buyers are discriminating against lambs which had been running in corn fields, particularly so where unfinished kinds are concerned. These "comebacks" do not attain popularity until along toward the close of November.

Pork holdings are down 20 per cent since September 1, but are only eight per cent in excess of October 1, 1938, despite the fact that the slaughter of hogs in largest since 1934. Negligible imports, owing to the war, are responsible for the decrease. The recent burdensome stocks of lard have been whittled 30 per cent in a month and now show a drop of 24 per cent compared with a year ago.

HOOSIER DUCK SEASON OPENS MONDAY OCTOBER 23

Hoosier sportsmen will celebrate the opening of the duck season next Monday, (Oct. 23) morning at 7 o'clock, with advance reports indicating better sport than was enjoyed last year, Virgil M. Simons, commissioner of the Department of Conservation, said today. The season ends on Tuesday, Dec. 5.

Included in the waterfowl which may be taken during the open season are ducks, geese, brant, Jacksnipe and coot. There is no open season on wood ducks, Ross' geese and swans. Hunting is permitted only between the hours of 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., Central Standard Time, and no hunting is permitted on Sunday. A daily bag limit of ten ducks; four geese and brant in the aggregate; 25 coot and 15 Jacksnipe is in effect with not more than two days' bag limit in possession at one time.

Other regulations to be observed by duck hunters include: use of bait and live decoys is prohibited; shotguns shall not be larger than 10 gauge and not hold more than three shells at any one time.

All persons over sixteen years of age must have a federal "Duck Stamp" to take migratory waterfowl and all persons, regardless of age, must have a state hunting license. The Federal Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp may be purchased at postoffices at a fee of $1.00 and must have the signature of the holder written across the face of the stamp. Indiana resident hunting licenses, good for the calendar year and covering fishing and trapping as well, may be secured from county clerks, and agents at a fee of $1.50. The state license must also bear the name of the holder.

Due to weather conditions, few southward flights of ducks, geese and other migratory birds have been reported. However, an unusual number of birds of these species nested on Indiana lakes and streams this year with the result that there are more "native" ducks now than at the opening of previous duck seasons.

When a clerk in an employment office in Atlanta asked to see an applicant's social security number, he began pulling off his shirt, explaining: "My social security number is tattooed on my back."

When arrested on a minor charge in Buffalo, Jane Gillen was found to be wearing three pairs of men's trousers.
