What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Prevents the "Bonds"

Before our fighting pilots take to the air for stratosphere flying they must be "suped-up." To do this the pilot just before he takes off pedals a stationary motor driven bicycle to reduce the amount of nitrogen in his blood. Otherwise gas bubbles would collect in his blood stream.

The stationary bicycle is an inexpensive piece of equipment, but the vast quantities of this and other materials of war make it imperative for all of us to keep our fighting men well supplied by greater and greater purchases of War Bonds.

SERVANTS YOU TAKE FOR GRANTED

POLICE and fire protection are a vital part of any town's life, yet how seldom one gives thought to their importance! We just take a policeman or a fireman, and the security they represent, for granted.

And sometimes, it seems that the railroad, too, is thought of in much the same way. People forget what the railroad means to a town's cultural and business life—and they forget the thousands of workers and wealth of material it requires to keep the railroad running. Yet, a moment of serious thinking will convince anyone that the absence of the railroad would make a vast difference in his town's way of life.

Today, B & O's job is Victory. But, while we're giving that job top priority, your town's civilian needs are being cared for, too. And there are sixty thousand of us who are going to see to it that, when the war is won, your town's interests come first with the B & O.

A GOOD NEIGHBOR OF YOUR COMMUNITY

The spotlight of the spectacular news of victory belongs to our heroic, hard-fighting boys in battle. They deserve a rich reward for a sensational performance. Victory came because of superior fighting backed by superior equipment—and plenty of it.

In the thrill of reading the good news, we take our newspapers for granted. We may overlook the important role they play and the efficient news gathering organizations back of them. So it is with ELECTRIC POWER in the background of our daily lives that makes another sensational story of American production.

Just as newspapers are ever on the alert for a "scoop" and take pride in the speed with which the news is gathered and published, so do we take pride in our perfectly coordinated, interconnected electric transmission system, which has been able to meet the tremendous demands of war production in Northern Indiana, without interfering with your regular needs. While the demand for electric power still grows, we are continuing to meet every emergency to the best of our ability and experience.
