Laughlin Will Filed Here.

The will of James C. Laughlin, of Chicago, who died in Chicago in February, 1946, was filed in circuit court Tuesday and a son, Blair L.
Laughlin, Syracuse, was named as an auxiliary administrator to handle an estate property located at Ogden Island, Wawasee. The will, made Sept. 26, 1945, and originally approved in Cook county, Ill., leaves the property in equal shares to three children, Mr. Laughlin, of Syracuse, and Lucille Blocki and Rowland Laughlin, both of Arlington Heights, Cook county, Ill.
In the request for action on the will in the local court, it was set out that LeRoy Miles holds a life estate valued at $400 in the Ogden Island property.

Among famous religious relics looted from the Hapsburg treasure chambers in World War II were three links of iron chains with which the Apostles Peter, Paul, and John were believed to have been fettered, and the Sacred Lance thought to be the original one thrust into the crucified body of the Saviour.

YACHT CLUB SOUNDINGS

Do You Remember When?

Frank Levinson, jr., was 12 or 13 years old and valiently sailing his Thompson Snipe in races with much older skippers.

Gordon Graham and Jack Carlson teamed up in races in Gordon's home-made Snipe.

L. L. Hotchkiss, now Boy Scout director at Dallas, Texas, always finished last in a home-made Snipe.

Joe Plasket's new mahogany Snipe, home-made sails and all, was considered hot. Joe, Mac and Ed took her to Oshkosh to the International Snipe regatta and won a Great Dane pup as consolation prize.

Art Hime occasionally joined the gang for a Sunday Snipe race.

Monty Osburn, G. E. representative in Denver, owned both a Snipe and an ice-boat.

When "Cut" was a significant word concerning strenuous work around the club. Paul Hess, Frank Kelty, and Bob Nichens used the word to signify their intentions of mixing another batch of concrete for the locker room floor.

Paul Jacobs, Eddie Kane and Bill Rockhill jacked up the end of the locker room to install a new sill and the jack slipped.

Jack Fyock, Paul Noble and Mc-Cammon tore into a newly papered wall with picks in preparation for removing a partition from the present lounge.

Mr. Eli Lilly presented the skippers Curry's book, "How to Race." Some of these boys are still around and helping to form the policies of the club.

E. J. "Curley" Stroud

Perhaps the youngest member of the club is E. J. Stroud, that is, if you count enthusiasm for a job well done, can be used as a measure. Curley has officiated at more races than some members will sail in a life time. His outstanding job was the 1938 Snipe International regatta held at Wawasee. More than 25 earnest and serious skippers from California to Maine, Canada to Florida, brought their boats to Wawasee in hopes of winning the coveted title of 1938 Snipe class Champion. Curley ruled firmly and justly throughout the regatta and won commendation from all concerned.

Do you suppose Wawasee could soon again be host to this regatta?

New Snipes in the Making.

Bob Nichens is in receipt of a letter from Emmons, the eastern custom Snipe builder, that his orders for Snipes for the Clearwater, Fla., winter regatta are now filled and that two, of the Wawasee order of four, will be ready by the latter part of December or first of next year. Nichens, John Elam and the Levinson's will sail these eastern built Snipes. Emmons' boats have been highly successful in regattas and he modestly asserts that all fame is due the good skippers who have purchased the boats. The McCammon Snipe is progressing slowly and will be ready by spring.

SPRUCE BEER

helped an Army win a War!

General Washington saw to it that troops in the Continental army were issued a ration of spruce beer. It was made by actually introducing the tips of spruce trees into the brews of that day.

The beer made a bitter, unpalatable drink, but it contained health-giving vitamin elements so necessary in the monotonous and none too bountiful war diets of those times.

Since then science and the art of the brewmaster have brought to perfection the sparkling, zesty brews of today, all made in breweries of meticulous cleanliness. In fact, sanitation is uppermost in the mind of the brewmaster.

Spruce, of course, has long been dropped as an ingredient. Instead the pure products of the farms—barley, and corn, and sometimes rice, and hops for that tart flavor—form the basis of the modern beers.

The food values of the original grains are enhanced in the brewing process, the vitamins are retained in all their vigor; hence beer has become a welcome addition to the daily diets of the average American in his home, in the restaurant and at his club.

It isn't plentiful yet, due to the necessary post-war conservation measures, but it won't be long until you can order your favorite brand without having to put your name on the waiting list.
