

CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT

AUTOS, TRUCKS & ACCESS.

FOR SALE—One 1946 White Tractor WA-22 an 28-ft. Bartlett open top tandem trailer 24 ft. long. Both in excellent condition, painted in A-1 condition. Has only been operated by owner. See or call 204 of Meadows, Ph. 261, Remington, Ind.

BUSINESS & INVEST. OPPORT.

HANCOCK OF A LIFETIME
an average of $2,000 or more per year and operate your own business; depression-proof, requires little capital; exclusive rights given; no overhead or running expenses. Ideal for middle-aged men and wife or a pract. nurse. Income rises yearly as you learn the business. Complete equipment for the wonderful sulphur bath institutions (actual Hot Springs). These baths are good for all diseases, especially rheumatism and many other chronic afflictions. Also for reducing (new Hollywood system). Results guaranteed. The business is well advertised. Only individuals persons accepted.

NATIONAL CLINICS CO.

2844 Broadway Indianapolis, W. 4328

DOGS, CATS, PETS, ETC.

CANARIES WANTED—$10.00 Price Paid
With full breeding directions.
AMERICAN BIRD CO.

2010 W. 25th Place Chicago 8

FARMS AND RANCHES

CANADIAN FARM—Write us for FREE IN-FORMATION on farm equipment, supplies, fertilizers, seeds, reasonably priced. R. C. Research Co., 2000 Pacific Avenue, Colma Station, St.
Paul, Minn.

FLORIDA HOMES AND FARMS
For good buys, contact R. M. MARLER & Co., 2000 Pacific Avenue, Lakeland, Fla. Established 1928.

FARM MACHINERY & EQUIP.

MR. FARMER:
Why start a farm on three meals a day? When COLLOIDAL PHOSPHATE has all the trace minerals that you and your livestock need. Also, Fertilizers and lime are rock
We want State County Salesmen.
Hoover Self Service, Phone 78, Gilman, Ill.

POWER SEEDER, fits any tractor, can be mounted in 10 minutes; sows seed or fertilizer. INDUS TOOL & MFG. CORP.

431 N. Holmes Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

MISCELLANEOUS

CHINCHILLA RABBITS
Beautiful large early maturing.
Price $1.50 per pair. Write
ARMSTRONG RABBITRY
28651 Jamison Detroit 23, Michigan.

TYPEWRITERS—New Tabular Portables:
Royal 2000; Corona 2000; Remington 2000; Underwood 2000. All incl. Case. Joseph Koepp, Palmyra, Illinois.

1946 SELECT PAPER-SELL PECANS
10 lbs. $3.50 postpaid.
HARRY MURDEN, R.R. 2, Paesageway, Miss.

PECANS FOR SALE—Large paper shell pecans, insured postpaid, 10-lb. lots, 40 lb.

G. F. MYER
McGehee, Ark.

POULTRY, CHICKS & EQUIP.

Davis "Pulleten Passad" Chicks
for Broilers and Layers.
New hatcheries and other breeder breeds for immediate delivery in large or small quantities. Write for catalog and $10 savings on early booked orders.
Davis Poultry Farm & Hatchery
Route 20-C Ramsey, Ind.

REAL ESTATE—MISC.

GOOD 2-STORY BRICK BLDG. which in Windham, Ind., 10 miles below apt above 100 ft. A. 100 ft. wide, 50 ft. A. farm, good bids. Well fenced, located in Rinton County. Tipton, Ind.

A Safe, Sound Investment—
Buy U. S. Savings Bonds!

JOLLY TIME
HAVE FUN!
POP JOLLY TIME POP CORN

RELIEVE miseries of COLDS
TAKE 666
IN LIQUID OR 666 TABLETS
SAME FAST RELIEF IN BOTH

Relieves Distress of MONTHLY
FEMALE WEAKNESS
Also Helps Build Up Red Blood!
Do female functional periodic disturbances make you suffer pain, feel as nervous, irritable—at such times? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS to relieve such complaints. Pinkham's Tablets are also very effective to help build up red blood in simple anemia.
Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS

WNU-J 52-48

That Naging Backache

May Warn of Disordered
Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, strain and tension, with its constant drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become irritated and inflamed, and to collect salt and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer naging backaches, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs are aches, pains, stiffness, and sometimes burning, scaly or too frequent urination.

Try DOAN'S PILLS. DOAN'S help the body to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of popular approval. Are recommended by general users everywhere.
Ask your pharmacist!

DOAN'S PILLS

ICE HOCKEY
Coliseum—State Fair Grounds
INDIANAPOLIS

ST. LOUIS vs. INDOPL. CAPS
SUNDAY, JAN. 2,

None of Her Business

By PAPINTA KNOWLES

IT WASN'T any of her business, of course. But the fact didn't keep her from worrying over the situation that was as evident as the nose on her face between Jim and Betty upstairs. She'd slept very little the night before from thinking about them. And now she sat in Pa's old rocker by the heater in the front room, listening to Mike's little feet patter across the floor above her. She wondered what an old widow could do to righten things between two that she'd come to love as her own children.

For three days Mollie hadn't heard Jim step his foot on the stairs, which substantiated the news she'd heard that morning from Tillie Smith across the street that Jim was staying in a room downtown.

Everything had been alright at Christmas, apparently. Jim had shouldered a cedar tree up the stairs that'd been almost too big to get through the door, and he'd said to Mollie, grinning his infectious grin through the cedar branches, "Mike threw me out."

For three days Mollie hadn't heard Jim step his foot on the stairs.

She'd been silent with out with a cedar tree all decorated with tinsel and lights."

They'd set up the tree and decorated it and invited her up to look at it and eat fluffy popcorn that Betty'd popped in an old iron skillet on the stove.

Betty's step sounded on the stairs, and after a moment she and Mike came into the room. "I'm going downtown to buy a few groceries, Mrs. Elms," she said. "That it be too much trouble to keep Mike while I'm gone?"

Mike ran into Mollie's arms, and Mollie smiled up at Betty. "Of course not, dear. Mike and I will play train-and-ball...." She got out the little train she kept for Mike when he came to visit her.

After a while an odd, happy glow came into Mollie's dim blue eyes, and she asked Mike, "Would you like to go over to see Aunt Tillie, dear?"

Mike was all eagerness, because "Aunt" Tillie gave him little bags of candy. "Le's go—le's go!" He jumped up and down with excitement.

They'd hardly reached Tillie Smith's little house across the street when Mollie asked Tillie, "Would you keep Mike a little while, Tillie? I have something I must take care of at the house. I'll not be gone long."

"Why, yes, Mollie, I'll take care of Mike. We'll get along fine," she said.

Mollie sat in Pa's old rocker by the heater and the strange little prayer slipped from her lips, "Dear God, forgive me, but it can't be a sin!"

She became silent and fastened a frightened look upon Betty who had returned from town with her arms loaded with groceries.

"He's gone... Betty, he's GONE! No... it wasn't Jim who took him." She managed the falsehood, but somehow she wasn't feeling bad inside for doing it.

Mollie hardly knew what happened after she'd spoken the lie; only that Betty had dropped her groceries in the middle of the floor and had dashed to the telephone to call Jim.

Then after Jim was there, holding Betty in his arms and trying to stop her tears, and the whole neighborhood was roused with the news that someone had taken little Mike, Tillie Smith and Mike walked in the back door.

"Well..." Tillie said in surprise at the neighborhood gathering. "What's this? A New Year's party? Mollie, I thought you intended to come back for Mike."

Betty and Jim were holding Mike between them and laughing now. Presently their eyes slipped to Mollie sitting quietly in the old rocker, and Betty said, so that only Jim could hear, "Bless her heart, Jim! Bless her heart!"

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.

Continental Europe had universal-
ly adopted the Gregorian calendar in
1700 but Great Britain, frowning upon anything originating in Rome as Popish, continued the use of the old calendar—with its legal year beginning on March 25—until the confusion arising from using a different calendar than the one used by continental Europe prompted the adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752.

The ancient Roman year began with the month of March and ended with December, the 10th month.