Warm Winds

Chinook is the popular name of various warm winds common in the northwestern parts of the United States and British Columbia, Canada.

This name is now also generally applied to the warm, moist southwest wind prevalent in the coastal regions of Oregon and Washington as well as in the Sierras and the Rockies.

Snow melts incredibly fast under the influence of a chinook, and the weather becomes balmy and springlike.

Kidneys Must Work Well—

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly. Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes mean that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended by a country doctor. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to wash out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

The Joe Louis Angels

AFTER ALL the hullabaloo, back and forth, a number of noncombatants are wondering just what Joe Louis plans to do about his title and his return to action.

Here are some of the angles they are discussing here on the West coast:

1. LOUIS has no intention of returning to the prize fight ring. He is using this talk to help his exhibition trip where he has been knocking over from $10,000 to $15,000 for each show. This is the easiest money anyone can make, using 14 and 16-ounce gloves.

2. LOUIS has no one to fight except Ezzard Charles who doesn't want to fight Louis. Besides, the 175-pound Charles would make Louis look like an elephant chasing a rabbit or a whippet. It wouldn't be a contest. It wouldn't draw $300,000.

3. HERE IS the situation as it is today—Louis is through and there is no challenger to meet him. The heavyweight division today is at its lowest ebb in ring history.

4. (MINORITY OPINION) Louis is a professional fighter. That's his trade. Why shouldn't he pick up from $200,000 to $300,000 meeting some pushover?

These are a few of the angles I've gathered recently, from such boxing men as Jack Dempsey and Abe Roth, the referee, on down the line.

Louis is in a spot where he can get no credit for beating any of the heavyweights now gumming up the scenery. On the other hand, to be beaten by one of these alleged prize fighters would leave a large blot on his so-called escutcheon. The theme song with thousands is: "It isn't what you used to be—it's what you are today."

Any outsider advising Louis what to do is wasting his time. Louis will either do what he wants or what Mike Jacobs wants. Louis hates to pass up what looks to be the softest touch any champion ever faced. Mike can always use more money, no matter how much he has stuffed away through the years.

As things look now, the Bomber probably would be the slowest-moving champion that ever defended a heavyweight title if he went to post again in June. His opponent will have to be a fairly sour specimen to lose.

Jim Jeffries

The old boy with the scythe can travel in a hurry. It hardly seems possible that 50 years have passed since young Jim Jeffries knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons.

This was Big Jim's 11th fight. He had been Jim Corbett's sparring partner before Corbett's fight with Fitzsimmons at Carson City. And there are still vague rumors that Jeffries gave Corbett a heavy beating before Jim lost to Fitz, via the famous solar plexus route.

Sullivan, Corbett, Fitz and Jack Johnson have put on their traveler's cleats and moved on beyond. But Big Jim is still here with us, hale and a trifle hearty after a bad paralysis left a year or two ago.

Fifty years after he knocked out Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, now in his 70's, is as bald as two doorknobs, but still a powerful looking citizen. When I first met Jeffries, back around 1902 or 1903, he could jump six feet and run the 100 in about 10 seconds flat. He then weighed 212 pounds and he was as light on his feet as a featherweight. "In some way," Jim Corbett told me later, "Jeff has become a better boxer than I ever was. And nobody can ever hurt him, not even with an axe."

Fitz broke almost every bone in both hands slugging Jeff in their second fight, without even jarring him. "I might as well have slugged a bloody hydrant," Fitz told friends after the fight.

Jim Jeffries, around 1902 and 1903, was a great a fighter as the game has ever known. He could hit you and hurt you—and no one could hurt him.

I saw him in 1910 training for the coming Jack Johnson party. He weighed over 270 and he was bald, fat and slow. He had been out of action for seven or eight years. The Jeffries of 1902 or 1903 would have murdered Johnson. The Jeffries of 1910 was a pushover for anyone who could breathe and move around.

They still talk about Dempsey and Louis. I often wonder how either would have looked to the Jeffries that used to be. You wonder what shape their fists would have been in after a few rounds.

There has been a long gap since the days Jim Jeffries was so good he had to retire. It was a joke to mention anyone having a ghost of a chance against him. He dominated his field more than Dempsey ever did—more than Joe Louis ever did.

He was a big, strong, dead-game, awkward fighter at the start. But by the time he faced Corbett and Fitz in return title fights, he was another man—a skilled boxer who could throw a punch—and take 'em, too.

Big Jim is feeling fine today. He has overcome his paralysis, his one stroke. "I'm taking life easy," he tells you. "I'm not as good as I was 50 years ago when I licked Fitz, but I can still move around, and I'm still breathing and eating. What more can you ask for?"

"HE'LL NEVER MARRY YOU IF YOU DON'T TWIST SOMETHING HE SAYS INTO A PROPOSAL."

"SHE'S CERTAINLY FICKLE. THIS IS THE THIRD LEADING MAN SHE'S HAD THIS YEAR!"
