Produced by Orkin Expositions of New York City, the Do-It-Yourself Show has already thrilled thousands who saw earlier shows in Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Boston, New York, and other major cities around the country. The million-dollar exhibit, featuring products and equipment from local, state and national dealers and distributors, is completely unlike a Home Show or other exhibits to which it is sometimes erroneously compared. A D-I-Y Show not only displays the products, but by demonstration and explanation, the spectator is properly advised as to how to use them in his own home.

At the Fort Wayne show, a wide range of items will be covered, including new types of juvenile furniture, wood and metal working power tools, hand tools, plywood and veneers, electric sewing machines, adhesives, electric organs, ceramics, hobby kits, art supplies, upholstery

Drouth Area Viewed By Contestants

Thousands of people attending the National Plowing Contest in the gray dust of southern Illinois at Olney got a first-hand look last week at the effects of the drouth. Corn in this area will make from two to fifteen bushels per acre. One farmer told of picking sixteen acres and getting it all on one wagon. Another reported that he picked all day with a two row picker and didn't get a wagon box full.

Corn along the roads is dwarfed-standing waist high to shoulder high. The plants appear bushy as the stalks failed to gain much height, and the leaves are pushed together and tassels fail to emerge very far. Examination of such fields shows many barren stalks. Many with long cobs with only fifteen or twenty grains, and the best ears are short bunnies only three or four inches long.

equipment and supplies, wallpaper and paints, and hundreds of other exciting new products designed exclusively for the home craftsman.

In conjunction with the show, a Do-It-Yourself Contest is being conducted. You are invited to enter the contest by writing and describing their best D-I-Y project of the past year. The letter should be accompanied by photographs or diagrams of the project. The contest is open to everyone, with a cash prize of $100 and valuable merchandise prizes going to the winners.

Employ Handicapped Week Observed

Indiana's observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week October 3-9 will be highlighted by a visit from W. P. McCahill, executive secretary of the President's handicapped committee. Mr. McCahill left Washington last week on a two-week midwestern tour during which he will meet with Governor's Committees of six states and participate in various activities connected with the handicapped program.

William C. Stalnaker, chairman of Governor Craig's Committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped, said today that Mr. McCahill will arrive in Indianapolis Saturday night. He will appear on a television program at 12:45 P. M. Sunday, along with four representatives of the Governor's Committee: Ray Davis, public relations director for Indianapolis Goodwill Industries, Inc.; Fred Jenkins, Veterans Employment Representative for Indiana; Mr. Stalnaker, director of the Employment Security Division; and Or L. Walter, director of the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. Later that afternoon, the same group, along with Howard Patern, director of the Board of Industrial Aid for the Blind, will be heard in a radio panel discussion.

On Monday, Mr. McCahill will visit local industrial plants which have won Presidential citations for their use of handicapped workers, be one of the speakers at the NEPH Week Kickoff luncheon sponsored by the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped, and meet informally with members of the Governor's committee. That evening he will leave for Cleveland to participate in activities there.

Mr. McCahill, a life member of DAV, and recipient of that organization's Citizen Salute last year for "outstanding assistance in behalf of disabled veterans," is known throughout the nation for his efforts in the handicapped workers program. He has been a member of the President's Committee staff since 1947 and serves as director of the Committee's office in Washington and as assistant to its chairman, Maj. General Melvin J. Maas, USMCR, Ret.
