LETTER TO TOWN BOARD

22 January 1956
Board of Town Trustees
Syracuse, Indiana

Gentlemen:
It is customary throughout the State of Indiana, and the Union, for the activities of local governments to be reported to the governed through the medium of the local press, regardless of whether such media are "approved" by authorities.

The Journal has not been too successful in accomplishing this, partly because it lacks sufficient personnel to do the job properly, and partly because its efforts have met with something less than the wholehearted cooperation of town officials.

It is suggested that neither the Town Board nor the Journal is fully meeting its obligation to the citizens of Syracuse. A privately printed report, heavily biased and personally slanted, promulgated without the knowledge or sanction of many of officials whose name it bears, and delivered to a selected list of addresses, could in no wise be construed as an appropriate accounting by a public body to those governed.

Nor do the sketchy and often incomplete stories appearing in the Journal constitute an adequate record of the board's activities.

In order to reach at least a partial solution of the problem, we suggest that the Town Board cause a copy of the minutes of each meeting to be prepared and submitted for publication in the Journal next following each meeting. If the official copy of the minutes cannot be prepared in time, then a summary, signed by an official, could be submitted. The Journal would then print this information, exactly as submitted. The material would need to be in our hands by Tuesday noon for publication the following Thursday. There would be no charge for this service.

Is this not at least a step in the right direction?

We are making this suggestion in the belief that the community welfare is much more important than any damage to personal vanities which might be involved.

Should the Board decide to provide the Journal with this material, it is requested that one member, or the clerk-treasurer, be appointed to confer with Miss Freeman, Journal editor, to work out details.

Cordially,

The Journal

Thrill-Packed Overtime

Glant fouled Swenson, who stepping to the free throw line, knew a Syracuse victory lay in his hands. However, the throw was unsuccessful as the terrific ball game went into a three minute overtime.

Kammerer and Stookey put in two field goals to give the Leesburg team a fairly safe margin with only a few seconds remaining of the game, score 43 to 39.

Jackets, still hoping against hope, took the ball to their end of the floor and Little Jim Caskey bucketed the last field goal of the game, making a 43 to 41 score as the Leesburg Blue Blazers knew they had earned a hard fought for game.

Kistler, with 12 points, and Caskey and Swenson, with 10 points each, were the only locals to enter the double figure bracket.

Stookey, bucketing 18 field goals and five free throws, led the winning team with 23 points. He was closely guarded by Larry Nicola.

Social Side Of Basketball Game By Sandy DeGross

Syracuse and Leesburg sixth graders started the evening's entertainment with their ball game. Leesburg defeated the locals 32 to 19.

James Leitz, local music director, led the band as members performed their last marching show of the basketball season. New uniforms had not yet arrived, so members sported the often seen blue and gold outfits.

Elementary students performed their twirling technique as a high light of the performance. Bea Eachman looked quite proud of her students, and it is no wonder. They did a grand job.

Band twirlers, Bea Bachman, majorette, Brenda Stabler, Mary Holloway, Sharon Nordman, and Jackie Jones, presented a long worked on routine as another high light of the evening.

Some local fans had red hands and tongues. From what? Eating red hots, naturally.

"Little Jim" Caskey fell for Cheerleader Sie. In more ways than one, too.

Nelson, where did you go? For awhile everyone thought he had left the gym, or worst yet, fallen under the bleachers! Rough game.

Horizon Club members sponsored a very successful Sock Hop after the game. Leesburg students were their guests, but not many guests were noticed.

Terry McClinton took charge of announcements over the loud speaker and handled requests and the playing of records.

FIRST AID-REE SCOUTS

ATTEND MEETINGS

Four scout patrols of Troop 28 participated in the First Aid-O-Ree meeting at Warsaw 13 February.

Sioux and White Eagle patrols qualified to participate in the Council First Aid-O-Ree to be held 15 March at the old high school gym.

The council includes three counties, Elkhart, LaGrange and Kosciusko. There will be approximately sixteen teams participating.

there were many kinds, were served during the dance by club members and their sponsors.

Noticed Ralph Thornburg standing in the door way of the gym enjoying the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beck also seemed to be enjoying the fun.

Shirley Weingart and a visiting North Webster Trojan, Mike Gard, were winners of the Jitter Bug contest, judged by Mrs. Frank Herdrich, Mrs. Gerald Kline, and Paul Lantz.

Shirley and "Mickey" showed the special styling to their own chosen record which was "Too Much," sung by the current dream man, Elvis Presley.

As all local Sock Hops close, so did the last one of the season, with the playing of "Teen-Age Goodnight." Attending crowds later filed out of the gym talking about the enjoyable dances put on during the school year.

As the song ended, some seniors (they are the current named class, as they'll all too soon be leaving good old S.H.S.) looked happy and a few might have had a slightly sad look as they realized their basketball fun nights were about to end. And, seniors seem to be a swell group. They will most likely be missed by many.
