SEIOUS ACCIDENT ON THE WATER WORKS.

From Friday's Daily:

The first accident occurring on the water works happened this morning.

John Newcom was seriously injured by a steam drill falling on him. Mr. Newcom was helping to move the drill, which weighs about 500 pounds, when he accidentally slipped and fell in the trench: the drill fell in on him, crushing him to the bottom.

He was badly mashed in the breast and bowels, also having his left arm broken. His injuries are very serious but are not thought to be fatal.

Mr. Newcom is a citizen of Bloomington, living in Eatman's addition, where he was taken as soon as the accident occurred.

He is dependent upon day labor for his support.

A steam drill is used for drilling holes into the stone found in the line in which the mains are placed. It is made of iron and carried from point to point. The power is furnished by a portable engine, the steam being connected to the drill with pipes.

At the time of the accident they were working on north Walnut street, near Maj. Perry's residence. Dr. Whitted was called and gave the injured man the best of attention.

Congressman Cooper has been in Martinsville since Tuesday evening, consulting on the postoffice situation. Before leaving he announced his purpose of recommending Henry Shireman, Jr., as the successor of W. H. Dryden, present incumbent. Shireman's name was an after-thought, sprung in the midst of a bitter fight waged by six applicants for the office. Mr. Shireman has held one or more minor offices. He was defeated for county clerk by the present incumbent of that office.

The First Baptist church choir was made happy a few days ago by a gift of chairs from Carothers & Co., for which hearty thanks are extended.

Mr. Thompson, the engineer of the proposed Indianapolis, Bloomington & Bedford railroad, was in the city last night. He states that the details are being completed for ordering elections in Lawrence and Morgan counties at the opportune time. Mr. Sanders has been at Chicago for the past two weeks where he is interested in the Tennessee exhibit.

The Faris Bros. have just placed a soda fountain in their drug store that is not only an ornament to the room but a credit to the city. It is of the latest eastern pattern, constructed of beautiful marble, and the top is decorated with a handsome mirror, framed in hard wood. Such a piece of furniture would attract attention in any city, and the firm is to be congratulated.

Joe Urmy, of the Carmichael & Urmy store, will move his family to Bloomington in about a month.
