

Farm Outlook Meet Scheduled Here Thursday

M. Paul Mitchell, Purdue University Agricultural Economist, will lead the discussion at this year's meeting on the farm outlook, according to K. W. Harris, County Extension Agent. The meeting will be 7:30 p. m. Thursday, October 15th in the Community Building at the Fairgrounds, one mile north of Greencastle.

Among the important outlook questions faced by farmers in the year ahead are such things as: What will be the impact of the drought on feed grain and soybean prices? How much influence will this have on numbers of hogs and cattle fed, and their prices? Is it going to be possible to make any money feeding cattle in 1965? These are but a few of the questions that Mr. Mitchell will discuss.

County Agent K. W. Harris noted that this year particular attention is being given to the longer range prospects for crops, hogs, beef, dairy, and poultry. This part of the discussion will be of interest to those who are considering longer term investments in any of these enterprises, he stated.

Some forecasters predict a continuing rise in national business activity. If this materializes, how will this affect farmers? What are prospects for increased inflation resulting from our current level of deficit financing and how will this affect farmers? How have land values reacted to feed grain and wheat programs and the fear of inflation? These and similar questions will be discussed at the meeting.

Also to be discussed: Do job opportunities exist for those who want to leave agriculture? How will lower beef prices affect the dairy business? What change in hog prices can be expected if the predicted seven per cent decrease in fall farrowings materializes?

The meeting is designed mainly to present factors affecting prices of commodities, and economic principles involved and to provide insight into future prices. Thus, persons attending can draw their own conclusions as to price and income prospects and make their own forecasts as conditions change.

Not only farmers, but their wives, other businessmen, and city consumers will be especially interested in the discussion of the factors affecting incomes of farmers. Effects of these factors on capital and operation and consumption purchases will be considered.

County Agent Harris says any interested person is invited and encouraged to attend.

Committee Holds Meeting Tuesday

The prospectus committee of the Greencastle Development Corporation held its first meeting Tuesday evening. The purpose of which was to construct a prospectus for the presenting to the citizens of Greencastle a plan for their participation in the development and promotion of a better and more beautiful city.

The lack of off-street parking will be the number one (1) objective for the downtown area. The off-street parking will eliminate some of the business places for many of the smaller merchants but the corporation will provide a more modern building completely housing them near the new parking area. Bonds will be sold to help finance these and other off-street parking developments. The purchase of this stock should be looked upon as a gesture of good for the community of Greencastle as well as a sound investment.

The Greencastle Development Corporation Fund will also be used in connection with bringing other industry into the city of Greencastle, providing more job opportunities and to stimulate the economic growth of our city. We must not rest complacently on the laurels and habits of yesteryear while a new generation finds living in more progressive areas. Present for the prospectus meeting were Richard Flynn, I B M Corporation, Norman Knights, DePauw University and William D. Hooper, The Daily Banner.

Sen. Goldwater In Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. UPI — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater followed up a "fascist" charge against the Democratic party today by accusing President Johnson of "obstruction of justice" in the Bobby Baker case.

The Republican presidential nominee moved into the home territory of former Democratic President Harry S. Truman in a second day of Midwestern campaigning this week. Truman was famed for his "give 'em hell" campaign in 1948 and Goldwater avowedly was doing the same as his election race neared its end.

Ike Celebrates 74th Birthday

GETTYSBURG, Pa. UPI — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who celebrates his 74th birthday today, revealed one of Arnold Palmer's golfing secrets while chatting with reporters and photographers Tuesday.

He said he planned to paint the head of his favorite putter black.

"Arnold Palmer told me about that," said Eisenhower, who has golfed on several occasions with the pro great. "He lets his get rusty, but I'm going to paint mine. It cuts down the sun glare when you're trying to line up a putt."

As for his birthday, the former President said he plans to celebrate it by working "a full day" in his office on the campus of Gettysburg College. He said there were no plans for family parties.

Curtis Assails Senate Probers

WASHINGTON UPI — A Republican senator charged today that Senate investigators had no intention of bringing out the facts on an alleged $35,000 political kickback involving Bobby Baker.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Nev., said Democrats on the Senate Rules Committee are "merely going through the motions of pretending to investigate" the case of the former Senate Democratic secretary.

Committee Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., ruled out hearings in the Baker investigation until after the Nov. 3 election. He suggested that fair hearings could not be held "in the heat of a bitter political campaign."

30 Marines Owe Lives To Officer

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. UPI — Marine Corps officers today credited a California lieutenant with saving 30 Leathernecks when their 40-ton landing craft burst into flames.

Nine Marines were burned seriously in the fire, following an explosion Monday aboard the amphibious land craft which was carrying them toward a beach in the assault exercise.

The enclosed LVTP landing vehicle track personnel exploded in flames about 3,000 yards offshore as it approached the beach in the first wave of Exercise Hard Nose.

The blast happened when fuel splashed on the LVTP's hot engine as the crew tried to change a filter. It blew a 7 by 10-foot metal hatch off the craft's top deck.

Second Lt. Jerome Paul, Oceanside, Calif., stayed aboard the burning vehicle and helped his troops climb through the deck opening to safety, officers said.

Some of the combat-equipped Marines leaped into the ocean and others were picked up by other craft that rushed to the scene.

The rescued and injured Marines were returned to the amphibious transport Vancouver, which had launched them on their ill-fated assault. The injured then were transferred by helicopter to the naval hospital here.

Find Arsenal In Johnson Threat

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. UPI — A reported threat to assassinate President Johnson led sheriff's deputies Tuesday night and today to an arsenal including weapons as big as a field mortar and a collection of Nazi relics.

The deputies arrested Julius Schmidt, 29, a plumber and gun trader, and another unidentified man who worked on guns. Deputies and police still sought the man who made the reported threat — a former mental patient believed to be in the Corpus Christi area.

"I do not believe there was a plot to kill the President, but I do think that one individual made such a statement to kill the President to an informant I trust 100 per cent," Sheriff Johnnie Mitchell said today.

President Johnson is due in Corpus Christi Sunday to make a campaign speech.

The 80-year-old Truman was reported in satisfactory condition, cheerful and alert. A spokesman at Research Hospital said Truman would remain in the hospital "for some time" to receive a regular six-month checkup which was overdue.

The spokesman said the 33rd President of the United States slipped on a mat while getting into the bathtub and fell forward to his right side, causing a severe cut above his right eye.

Bank Robber Nabbed In Act

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — A would-be holdup man who said he was "broke and needed a big score" was arrested Tuesday by a sheriff's deputy making a routine check of a suburban bank.

Robert Early Hester, 39, Louisville, was arrested as he attempted to rob Mrs. Betty Butch, 37, a teller at the Nora Branch of Indiana National Bank. Deputy Richard Buchanan, alerted by a customer, grabbed the gunman before he realized the officer was present.

Buchanan said he was on his way to make a routine check at the bank when he received a radio message that the bank was being robbed. As he entered the bank he drew his gun. A customer, Cecil Butts, 52, Westfield, pointed to Hester and the officer ordered Hester to surrender.

James Rose, 30, manager of the branch, said Hester had entered and asked for change wrappers. Rose said he directed him to Mrs. Busch.

When he reached the window, Mrs. Busch said, he drew a .45-caliber revolver, pulled a pillow case from under his coat and told her, "Fill it. I want all the money."

Stanley Hurst and Ruth New, co-presidents of the Putnam County 4-H Junior Leader Organization, began their duties October 8 and will carry through for the 1965 4-H year. Stanley, Greencastle, Route 2, a member of the Greencastle Boys 4-H Club, has been a member for eight years and a Junior Leader four years. Ruth, of Greencastle, Route 1, a member of the Greencastle High School 4-H'ers Club has also had eight years of 4-H Club work and four years of Junior Leader work.

The main activity for the October 8 Junior Leader meeting was the annual election of officers for the coming 4-H year. Results are as follows: Co-Vice Presidents, Ralph Fry and Sandy Sibbitt; Secretary, Terri Reid; Treasurer, Allan Sutherland; Reporter, Jim Albini; Song and Recreation Leaders, Rita Skelton, Glenda Pursell, Linda Fisher, Jerry Sinclair and Charles Samsel.

These officers will assume their respective duties at the next regular Junior Leader meeting.

The election of vice-presidents for the junior leaders is perhaps the most important choice to make. This is because the vice-president automatically succeeds into the president's office if the president resigns.

Older 4-H boys and girls interested in becoming a Junior Leader should contact their local adult leader or inquire of another Junior Leader.

Tests Popularity In Three States

WASHINGTON UPI—President Johnson, the big drawing card of the 1964 campaign, tests his popularity today in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York where a total of 89 electoral votes are at stake.

The President, now returned early Tuesday from a 10,000-mile, 14-state tour of the Midwest and West, was scheduled to leave Andrews Air Force Base, Md., this morning for Teterboro, N. J.

His first speech was set at the Bergen Mall Shopping Center in Paramus, N. J., in traditionally Republican Bergen County.

From New Jersey, Johnson planned to fly to the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Airport for a Democratic rally at noon.

EDT, before going on to New York City, where he will spend the night.

The President had no afternoon appointments scheduled in New York, but he was to attend the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner tonight at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

Series Of Space Flights Seen

MOSCOW UPI — Russia's successful one-day "space bus" flight was seen today as the start of a series of manned launchings aimed at the moon and the planets.

The Soviet Union was in a state of self-congratulation at the three-man, 16-orbit, 437,000-mile, 24 hour and 17-minute flight of the space ship Voskhod (Sunrise) completed Tuesday. Soviet newspapers published tributes from around the world. Included was a report from America headlined, "tremendous interest and hurt pride."

Boris Konstantinov, director of the Soviet Physics Institute, said in a newspaper interview, "the correlation of the conditions for developing cosmic techniques in the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. have changed this past year—but not in U.S. favor despite the big achievement of American scientists."

When you're in a difficult no-trump contract, give the opponents the tricks they're sure to get but postpone giving them doubtful tricks. If you must eventually give up those tricks, you can choose the best trick.

Dummy won the first trick with the eight of spades, and declarer immediately (and foolishly) cashed the top hearts and led a third heart. West took two hearts and then led the king of spades, holding the trick.

When West then shifted to diamonds, East was sure to get the king of diamonds and the ace of clubs, defeating the contract.

South should begin with clubs and diamonds since he is sure to lose the ace of clubs and can hardly avoid the diamond finesse. The hearts can wait.

Declarer should lead dummy's queen of clubs at the second trick. East takes the ace of clubs and returns a spade to the queen. South wins the next spade trick and tries the diamond finesse, losing to the king. East returns a club to the king.

SEVERAL WAYS
There are now several ways to make the contract. South is sure of two tricks in each suit and can win a ninth trick if clubs of diamonds break well.

South can afford to cash the jack of diamonds, and West must discard a heart. This interesting discard encourages South to lead his last diamond to dummy's ace. West must discard the thirteenth spade, since any other discard would be fatal.

By this time it should be clear to declarer that West started with a singleton diamond and three 4-card suits. South can lead but three rounds of hearts, forcing West to lead from the 10-8 of clubs to the J-9. This free finesse gives declarer game and rubber.

Club Met With Mrs. Clodfelter

The Clinton-Madison Friendly Club held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. Olma Clodfelter. There were eight members present. A delicious pitch-in dinner was served at the noon hour after Mrs. Maude O'Haver returned thanks.

In the afternoon the business meeting was opened by the president, Maude O'Haver. All joined in singing "Love's Old Sweet Song." The flag salutes were repeated in unison, also the club collected, led by Emma Wichman. The secretary-treasurer's report was read and approved.

In keeping with Indian Summer, roll call was to name an Indian tribe and each one had something interesting to tell about the Indians. Mrs. Maude O'Haver read a very interesting story about France Slocum, a white girl who was raised by Indians. She lived with them for 59 years.

Since it is election year Mrs. O'Haver had a contest on national and state government which was very much enjoyed by all.

All left at a late hour thanking Mrs. Clodfelter for a lovely day.

Next meeting will be Nov. 12 at the home of Ethel Frazier.

Club Celebrates 50th Anniversary

The Fincastle Country Club held its Fiftieth Anniversary observance at the Fairway Restaurant near Greencastle on Wednesday, September 30th, with all former members invited as guests.

Ruth Brothers, the only charter-member who had retained her membership during the fifty-year span was presented with a lovely corsage. Mrs. Brothers and Ethel Eggers, represented the only two charter members able to attend the Anniversary luncheon.

The following brief history of the organization and purpose of the Club was compiled by Pauline Bridges, a present member of the Club:

"We have gathered here today in celebration of the 50th Anniversary of this Club. To all knowledge, this is the first occasion that past and present members have been invited to assemble. Since our facts concerning the early years are limited, we shall devote a little thought to: What is a Club? And, Why do people join them? The encyclopedia tells us that, 'A club is a group of persons organized for some particular purpose. One of the basic reasons is social enjoyment and entertainment.'"

"Women have met in groups since the days of ancient Rome, when they gathered to discuss such interests as, 'ways of etiquette.' Some of the first clubs in America began as quilting bees or sewing circles. In the early 1800's some were formed for recreation, some to promote culture, and some even to fight slavery. Women's clubs today are interested in local and world affairs and contribute and promote many worthy causes and organizations.

"Unfortunately, early records of this club are not available up to 1952 with the exception of a copy of the constitution reads like it might be the original, although this one limits memberships to twenty. We have gleaned a few facts from several members, and, as Georgia Hanna remarked when asked for details, 'that was a long time ago, you know.'"

The first meeting of organization was held at the home of Laura Bridges in Fincastle, who conceived the idea after attending a club meeting in another community. The exact number of persons at the first meeting is not known but is tho't to number ten or twelve, and the date of the meeting around May or June in the year 1914. Those said to be charter members include the names of: Laura Bridges, Ruth Brothers, Georgia Hanna, Rachel Williams, Betty Cooper, Mabel Cross, Ethel Eggers, Katherine Bridges, and Cora Robbins with the possibility of Nettie Hays, Mary Crodian and Edna Wilson. Our present list of honor members are: Betty Cooper, Nettie Hays, Katherine Bridges, Cora Robbins and Mona Shumaker.

"Article I of the constitution in our possession reads as follows: 'This organization shall be called 'The Country Club.' The purpose of this club is to promote the social and domestic interest of the Community.' According to this constitution, the membership was to consist of not more than twenty members, meeting once a month, and the members' names to be taken alphabetically to determine their time to entertain, serving no more than two articles of food and a drink.

"According to early recollections, sewing and needlework were brought to meetings by choice possibly for accomplishment as well as recreation during the social hour. The procedure of conducting the business meeting is familiar to all, perhaps today is conducted more informally than in earlier times, but much the same.

"The fifty years of this club has spanned three major wars. Our mode of travel thru' the years in meeting together has changed from the horse and buggy to modern cars, and clothing fashions have seen many changes.

"And so the years have slipped by, bringing these inevitable changes — the passing of old friends; new ones joining the group, some dropping out by choice or necessity. The new babies come along and are welcomed into the fold and grow up incredibly fast, it seems — a gentle reminder that each day, each year brings its never-ending changes.

"In closing, we wish many, many more years to the Country Club and may we always meet in fellowship as the constitution states, 'To promote the social and domestic interest of the community.'"

Mrs. Ralph Major Is Club Hostess

We all enjoyed them very much. Lovely refreshments were served to ten members and four guests. Mrs. Lucile Wilson, Mrs. Helen Bennington, Mrs. Frances Major and the speaker, Mrs. Sutherland. Then Mrs. Major took us for a tour of the home.

Mrs. Ezra Craft, Hostess To Club

The Golden Circle Club met with Mrs. Ezra Craft for an evening meeting.

At 7:30 the President called the meeting to order by singing the club song and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Roll call was responded to by eleven members.

The secretary's report was read; Riley Cheer Guild leader read a letter and we decided to purchase tickets for the card party. It was voted to donate $10 to the Putnam County Day School of Mentally Handicapped Children in trainable classes at our August meeting at which time an auction was held at the home of Mrs. Louis Roberts. We were very glad to have so many visitors present.

Flower collection was taken. Meeting closed with the reading of the Club Creed. A very clever contest was won by Mrs. Joe Hinote. Mrs. Douglas Fellows won the door prize. Delicious refreshments were served to eleven members and five guests.

Meeting adjourned, thanking Mrs. Craft for the lovely evening, to meet Oct. 22 with Mrs. Walter Hutcheson for a family night dinner at 6:30. Covered dish is requested. It is requested that all members come in possible and join in the fun. An interesting meeting is planned.

Dodge Adds New Model, Engine

DETROIT—The 1965 Dodge Dart, extending its tradition of "more compact car for the dollar," will introduce a lower-priced two-door hardtop, a higher performance V-8 engine and an optional built-in air conditioner providing both heating and cooling.

Dodge's 111-inch-wheelbase models for 1965 present a lower and wider appearance, achieved by restyling the entire front end and redesigning the rear end.

The 20 six-cylinder and V-8 models are offered in three series: Dart (formerly Dart 170), Dart 270 and Dart GT.

"Bigger and roomier than most of the other cars in the compact class, the Dart will still be the best buy in the com-act market," Byron J. Nichols, Dodge general manager, said.

The new hardtop, powered either by a six-cylinder or V-8 engine, rounds out the Dart 270 series line-up. Compact hardtop models previously have been available only in the top-of-the-line GT series.

The high performance engine, an exclusive in the Dart line, is a four-barrel carburetor version of the standard 273-cubic-inch V-8 and is rated at 235 horsepower. It is equipped with a long duration camshaft, special intake manifold and special pistons that boost the compression ratio to 10.5 to 1.

For the first time in the Dart, the factory-installed air conditioner provides cooling of fresh outside air and also combines heating and cooling in the same unit. This is accomplished by the use of separate air circuits for the heater core and cooling coil.

This compact system is packaged behind the instrument panel. Removal from the passenger compartment of all components that could be relocated provides improved foot and leg room for the front seat occupants.

Basic exterior dimensions of Dodge's compact Dart, for the third consecutive year, are 196 inches in over-all length, 70 inches in width and 54 inches in height. The four station wagons—all six-passenger, four-door models—likewise retain the same measurements and again provide 68 cubic feet of cargo space.

The wider and lower look for the 1965 Dart is produced at the front by a full-width, horizontal-barred grille, an aluminum border framing both the grille and single headlights, and a deeper-than-usual bumper.

The big oval-shaped tail lights are split—half in the rear panel, half in the trunk lid face—with the outer halves also serving as stop lights and turn signals.

Each of the series has its own distinguishing exterior ornamentation, but all three have rolled stainless drip rail covers and back window moldings extending along the tops of the rear side panels. Side trim below the window on the sporty GT series is limited to three simulated exhaust ports, stainless steel moldings around the wheel openings and name letters at the rear.

An option on the Dart GT hardtop provides a landau-type roof by covering the forward section, which is set off by two bright horizontal moldings, with either black or white vinyl.

A new paint finish previously used only on more expensive cars is offered in 15 colors. An acrylic enamel, its luster can be easily restored by buffing if neglect causes a dulling film.

For the interior, blue, tan, turquoise and red are color choices in the Dart and Dart 270 series for both cloth-and-vinyl and all-vinyl upholstery. The Dart GT series again offers blue, tan, red and black plus a new white-with-gold color scheme.

SESAME PRUNE BREAKFAST BREAD

Here is a bread that has winy fragrance, nut-like flavor, fruity zest. And well it may! Scattered through are toasted sesame seeds and lots of chunky little pieces of tart-sweet prunes. Over the brown top lies a glaze that holds more prunes. Cut down, you find a light tender-firm slice that welcomes butter. This is a bread for Sunday morning breakfast... a handsome loaf that folks will pounce on the minute it's ready. So keep a sharp eye on it unless you're willing to have that happen. Sesame Prune Breakfast Bread is a "quick bread." Easy to mix and to bake. Do enjoy it soon.

3 cups biscuit mix	1/2 cup toasted sesame seeds
1/4 cup sugar	1/2 cup grated sharp cheese
1 egg	Glaze:
1 1/4 cups milk or buttermilk	1/4 cup pitted prunes, chopped
3/4 cup pitted prunes, chopped	1 cup peach preserves*

Mix all ingredients except those for Glaze. Beat a few seconds until all dry ingredients disappear. (Mixture will be lumpy.) Pour batter into a greased 9" ring mold and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, 50 to 55 minutes. Or, bake in a 5-cup fancy mold for 60 to 65 minutes. Turn out and cool before glazing. To glaze: Combine 1/4 cup prunes with peach preserves. Heat until melted. Spoon over cooled loaf. Makes 1 round loaf, 12-15 slices.

* Or use your favorite preserve or jelly.

Cards Call On Simmons; Yankees Go With Bouton

ST. LOUIS UPI—The St. Louis Cardinals send veteran Curt Simmons to the mound today in an effort to wrap up their seventh world championship in 10 tries while the New York Yankees call on bulldog Jim Bouton to "keep the World Series" alive and stretch it to its maximum limit of seven games.

Clear, sunny weather was forecast for the 2 p.m., EDT, starting time at Busch Stadium with the Yankees favored at 6-5 to win the game today, although the Cardinals are the 11-5 choice to take the series.

St. Louis fans, convinced the Cardinals will follow up their dramatic last-day victory in the National League pennant race by upsetting the Yankees in the series, were paying $50 to $75 for tickets priced at $8 each. This city seems prepared for its greatest celebration of a baseball victory since the Cardinals won their first world championship by beating the Yankees in the 1926 series.

"We're in good shape no matter who wins today," said Manager Johnny Keane of the Cardinals.

"I feel we've won three of five games without playing our best ball. We can play better than we have."

Manager Yogi Berra of the Yankees maintained the calm that characterized his approach to various crises throughout the American League season.

"We've won two straight games a lot of times," he said. "There's no reason we can't win today and tomorrow."

In Simmons, the Cardinals were sending to the mound a 35-year-old lefthander whom they rescued off baseball's scrap heap four years ago. A one-time $65,000 bonus pitcher, Simmons was cut loose by the Philadelphia Phillies in 1960 because he had a chronic sore arm.

The Cardinals took a chance with him and almost magically he developed into a crafty, pinpoint pitcher who has won 59 games for the Cardinals over the last 4½ years and had an 18-9 record for them this season.

Simmons, who went out for a pitch-hitter after holding the Yankees to one run in eight innings in New York's 2-1 victory last Saturday in New York, said he was confident he can check the Yankees' home run power in small Busch Stadium.

Bouton, a native of Newark, N. J., who had an 18-13 record during the AL season, was the victor in Saturday's third game. He is the bulldog of the Yankee staff—a medium-sized right-hander without a big fast ball who fights the hitters with a variety of pitches and changing speeds.

The big question seemed to be whether the Cardinals could continue the momentum of the drive that carried them to the NL flag against a Yankee team that has not played well mechanically in this series and doesn't seem to be scared.

The Cardinals, with the richest World Series tradition of any National League team, always seem to play well in the series. The Yankees, of course, have dominated the World Series more than any other team in baseball—but over the last 10 years have actually been a less-than-500 team in classic play.

They have lost 10 of their last 16 World Series games dating back through the 1962 series with the San Francisco Giants and stand 27-29 in World Series competition going all the way back through the 1955 series.

THAT HOMER—This is Ken Boyer as he hit that grand slam homer in the sixth in Yankee Stadium to put the St. Louis Cardinals ahead for a 4-3 win in the World Series game.

Olympic Games Host A Variety Of Timekeepers

TOKYO UPI—If you are looking for laughs at the Olympics, you'll find a bellyful every day down by the swimming pool.

A solemn army of officials march up to the poolside before each event and the only difference between them and the thundering legions Cecil B. DeMille made famous in his multi-million dollar film spectacles is that our heroes come armed with stop-watches instead of spears or rifles.

There are 24-time-keepers and eight judges for each Olympic swimming event, plus a chief referee and a number of alternates who constantly hold themselves at the ready in case some of the front line officials should falter.

These men are truly dedicated. They come from all over the world, pay their own way to the Olympics and take their jobs as seriously as Chief Justice Earl Warren. All this is fine. But where the laughs come, is that they aren't always sure which swimmers finished first, second or third.

To help them, the Japanese have come up with an electronic timing device which is being used for the first time in Olympic history but which bears on its partial endorsement of the International Amateur Swimming Federation FINA.

FINA has the last word on swimming all over the world and its word on the Japanese timer is that its O.K. to determine the placing of the swimmers but manually operated stop-watches must decide the swimmers' official times.

The decision in itself is something of a non sequitur. Still, it was invoked Tuesday to settle what could have become a rather ticklish problem.

Hans Klein of Germany and Gary Ilman of San Jose, Calif., finished with identical 54.0 times behind Don Schollander of Lake Oswego, Ore., and Bob McGregor of Britain in the finals of the mens 100-meter free-style event, but Klein was awarded the bronze medal for third place.

The U. S. delegation argued Ilman deserved a bronze medal too because four of the judges voted for him and four for Klein and that two swimmers' times were identical insofar as tenths of a second were concerned.

FINA officials went into a 35-minute huddle and decided against awarding Ilman a medal because the electric timer showed Klein had finished one-thousandth of a second sooner. So Ilman lost a medal by one-thousandth of a second and if you don't know how little time that is, consider that it usually takes two full seconds to strike a match.

Clay Says Liston Is His In Nine

MIAMI UPI—When they let Cassius Clay out of his cage in Boston, Nov. 16, the champ without a crown predicts "Sonny Liston will be all mine in nine."

"I'm going to beat Liston as bad as President Johnson is going to beat Barry Goldwater," said Clay, taking advantage of a crowded press conference Tuesday to do a little political prognosticating.

Clay, wearing his silver-buckled heavyweight champion's belt around torn green trousers and a striped sport shirt, said "Sonny Liston will be mine in one minute and so many seconds of the ninth round."

Buckeyes Are Picked To Win

NEW YORK UPI—The undefeated, second-ranked Ohio State Buckeyes face their second straight highly ranked opponent this week and the odds-makers have installed them as one touchdown favorites to down 13th-rated southern California.

Last Saturday Ohio State toppled Big Ten champion Illinois in a stunning 26-0 upset and replaced them as the No. 2 team in the latest United Press International ratings behind Texas.

BANGKOK, Thailand UPI — An American air-to-air refueling tanker plane crashed early today into the outskirts of a village 150 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Race Case In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON UPI — The Supreme Court today listened to a claim that under the U. S.

Constitution Florida could not convict a man and a woman of different races for living together.

The case contained a host of legal thorns, including the effect on the couple of Florida's law barring Negroes and whites from marrying.

The particular statute at issue prohibits an interracial couple who are not married from occupying "in the night time the same room."

The legal defense fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People NAACP which is challenging the law, told the court that 19 states bar interracial marriages. Eleven states have repealed such laws since 1950, the NAACP said.

Today's case arose in Miami Beach where a woman named Connie Hoffman, also known as Connie Gonzalez, had an apartment in early 1961. The landlady saw someone whom she took to be a Negro entering and leaving the premises. The individual was a Honduran-born hotel employee named Dewey McLaughlin.

Illinois Group Promotes State

WASHINGTON UPI—Members of a privately sponsored trade development mission began a round of merchandising calls in England today in an effort to stimulate interest in commodities produced in Illinois.

The 63-member group, represented Illinois farm leaders, food handlers, and food processors, took off from Washington for London Tuesday night. Mission members will spend the next three weeks promoting Illinois-produced commodities in England, The Netherlands, Belgium, France, West Germany, Switzerland, Italy, and Spain.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Doctor, I'd Like To Know—

MY BABY is two years old. His tongue is held down by some kind of web. I have taken him to two doctors in different cities. One says he definitely needs to have it clipped. The other says that this is not necessary and that he will outgrow it. I don't know what to do.

I am confused and worried.
Mrs. M. Z.,
Illinois

Dear Mrs. Z.:
Your concern about this problem is probably unnecessary. If your child is "tongue-tied," this is a condition that is frequently seen by physicians and rather easily repaired.

Your confusion about two conflicting opinions is unfortunate, but not uncommon in the practice of medicine. All patients have the right to seek a confirmatory opinion from another physician. The ideal method of finding this second opinion is to have your physician choose a consultant and discuss the matter completely before and after the patient is seen.

The doctors in this case would have arrived at a mutual decision and would have established for you the exact course of action.

When doctors find that their opinions are of great variance, they themselves will seek a third opinion from a specialist whom they mutually respect.

There is no vanity in the practice of medicine.

A physician's decision is based on his own experience and judgment, yet all doctors want their patients to have the benefit of combined judgments in important, difficult cases.

medical and surgical problems. For your child's greatest advantage, return to your physician and ask him to review the condition with the other doctor in the distant city. Such a conference will spare you the anxiety and confusion about a matter that may be relatively simple.

If surgery is necessary, your child will benefit most if it is not delayed.

Are there certain geographic areas in the United States where arthritic patients are more comfortable? Can climate cure or improve the condition?

Mrs. N. N., Wyoming

Dear Mrs. N.: There are unquestionable advantages in warm, non-humid climate for the sufferers of some forms of arthritis.

Greater comfort, and perhaps improvement, can be the benefits of special climates, but rarely a cure.

In an effort to find the maximum relief for a member of the family, very often jobs, homes and friends have been given up because of enthusiastic claims for one area or another.

Uprooting an entire existence only to find that climate is not the whole answer to arthritis can impose heavy financial and social burdens on everyone.

It is much wiser for the arthritic to live in a specific area for a sufficient time to evaluate the advantages of a new climate. If relief is apparent and seems to be constant, then and only then should the move be made.

While Dr. Coleman cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

TWO NEW SOUPS TO SPARK YOUR MENUS

Fall in all its glory is here! Lovely shades of crimson and gold are decorating the countryside. Let your meals for this delightful season take on new airs, too.

Just in time comes the appearance of two new canned condensed soups. Both are colorful, flavorful, and nourishing good. Old fashioned vegetable is bursting with 10 kitchen-cut vegetables and enriched pearl macaroni which have been simmered in a rich beef and vegetable broth. The noodles & ground beef soup boasts 3 kinds of enriched egg noodles, tender ground beef, pieces of tomato, and other vegetables in a hearty beef broth.

Serve these new soups just as they come from the can... prepared according to label directions. They're great with a favorite sandwich for lunch, pleasing both youngsters and grown-ups alike.

Here's an exciting variation for the noodles & ground beef soup.

Savory Noodles & Ground Beef Soup
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed noodles & ground beef soup
1 soup can water
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/4 teaspoon horseradish

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

IN MEMORY

In memory of Pauline Dorsett, who passed away October 14, 1959.

The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
When we think of the one we loved so well.

Deep in our hearts her memory is kept,
To love, cherish, and never forget.

Five years have passed since that sad day,
When the one we loved was called away.

Sincere and true—in her heart and mind,
A beautiful memory she left behind.

Wonderful memories woven in gold,
These are the thoughts we tenderly hold.

And to those who knew her, and loved her,
Her memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by the family.

Now, homemakers who want

STATISTICS VS. PROVERBS

NEW YORK UPI — "Early marriage, long love," says an old German proverb. "Early marriage, short love," says the statistics.

The Institute of Life Insurance, making that observation, reports that in nearly half of the couples that end up losers in the game of love, the wife was in her teens when she married. The odds are even worse, according to the Institute, when both the bride and bridegroom are teen-agers.

Tips Offered Camera Fans

Most camera fans concentrate their picture taking on beautiful, sunny days in warm weather. The vast majority are summer photographers.

Unfortunately, they are missing many opportunities for interesting, often beautiful and sometimes unique pictures by this self-imposed seasonal limitation.

Picture taking outdoors should be considered on a year around basis. Each season offers its own special qualities and picture possibilities.

Weather is another factor. Don't limit yourself to picture taking only on bright days. Get out and try taking some in all kinds of weather—rain, snow, fog, drizzle.

Fog can lend an air of mystery or enchantment to what otherwise might have been an ordinary land or seascape shot. In color the results can be particularly beautiful.

Gray days are exceptionally good for outdoor portrait photography. Gone are the harsh shadows caused by the intense rays of direct sunlight. Instead we have a soft, overall illumination that lightens shadow areas and enhances flesh tones.

Hazy days are ideal for nature photographers because the sharp contrast between highlights and shadows is reduced to a minimum.

When taking pictures on grey or hazy days it is a good idea to use a haze filter over your camera lens. With color film there is a tendency toward an overall bluish cast on such days and the haze filter will ensure more natural flesh tones without the bluish cast.

Rainy days are excellent for taking pictures where reflections from wet streets or puddles produce interesting compositions. Watch for children in their brightly colored raincoats and boots; women with colorful umbrellas. And don't over look trees and flowers. Foliage, often uninspiring when dry, takes on an interesting and colorful new aspect when wet.

Most amateur photographers, at one time or another, have taken snow scenes, and all of us are familiar with the beauty of rural America in a blanket of white.

However, in all of these "inclement weather" situations, exposure is the keynote to success. Fog and haze can play tricks with the apparent light intensity and for best results it is wise to use an accurate light meter.

Generally speaking, it is considered necessary to increase exposure three or four stops when photographing during a rainstorm. However, some storms darken the sky much more than others and a wrong guess can spell the ruin of an otherwise good shot.

Haze, on the other hand, can under some conditions, result in a greater overall illumination because of the diffusion of the sunlight. In that case it would be necessary to decrease the exposure. Once again, the case of a light meter would probably solve the problem of accurate exposure.

But whether by guess or by meter, try some "inclement weather" shots. The results may surprise you.

TOP OF THE DODGE LINE—For 1965 Dodge is introducing an entirely new, prestige sports model called the Monaco (top photo). This car combines stylish design, luxurious appointments and spirited performance. In the lower photo is Dodge's deluxe Custom 880 four-door sedan. This model has six side windows, which provide a greater expanse of glass than any previous sedan. Both the Monaco and the Custom 880 have a 121-inch wheelbase.

NEW DODGE LINE—Dodge's new-sized Coronet line of cars for 1965 has a selection of 17 models, including the Coronet 440 four-door sedan (top) and the Coronet 500 convertible, shown here. Coronet buyers have a choice of seven different engines.
