

National guardsmen use bug sprays to curb Miami rioting

By JOHN W. ROSS
MIAMI (UPI)—More than 300 National Guardsmen and deputy sheriffs forcefully imposed order today in the Liberty City Negro district of this resort city where police killed three Negroes in two days of racial violence.

Spraying tear gas from bug sprayers and clubbing Negroes who refused to retreat indoors, the troops and deputies had quelled most of the rock-throwing and looting by early today—for the second time in 24 hours. There were isolated reports of violence throughout the night.

The two days of disorder within a few miles of the site of the Republican National Convention left three men dead, at least 29 persons injured and nearly 200 arrested.

Remains of Riot

In Liberty City, rotting footstuffs from looted stores littered the streets. Dead fish, chickens and enormous lumps of ground beef drew swarms of flies and the stench overwhelmed the last vestiges of tear gas.

The disorder spread Thursday night from Liberty City into the central Negro district.

Negro leaders were in disagreement over whether the presence of the GOP convention in Miami Beach, across Biscayne Bay, had any part in bringing about the violence.

The Rev. Kenneth Major, a Liberty City minister, said "Hundreds of people were hired for the convention—but not one from Liberty City. This leads us to believe that the Republicans don't give a damn."

But Georgia Lee Jones, Negro secretary of the Dade County Community Relations Board, said, "It had nothing to do with the convention. This is a Miami problem, homegrown right here in our own little ghetto."

Officials demanded an investigation to see if there was a connection. One thing was painfully obvious to Miamians—their city had, at once, its first political convention and its first race riot.

The violence first broke out Wednesday. By the time it finally subsided, two men were shot to death and a boy critically wounded in a gun battle with police at midafternoon in Liberty City. Another was slain on a roof in the downtown central Negro district shortly before midnight after he wounded a policeman.

Many of those arrested were under 20, some of them drunk on the loot from raided liquor stores.

Police were content early

Thursday to let Negro youths in the area throw rocks, but in the afternoon they tried to arrest some of them and a mob gathered. Gunshots rang out. A highway patrol van acquired tear gas through a 14-block area but ocean breezes carried it away and the Negroes returned to the streets.

At that point Gov. Claude Kirk took the Liberty City district out of the hands of Miami police and sent in 150 National Guardsmen and 300 deputy sheriffs. The guardsmen formed in a wedge and moved down the street, spraying tear gas.

Use Rifle Butts
Behind them came the deputy sheriffs, clubbing down with their rifle butts Negroes who refused to get inside their houses.

The troops, bayonets fixed to their carbines, moved through billowing clouds of gas in the blazing Miami sunset, systematically clearing N.W. 61st, 62nd and 63rd streets between 10th and 17th avenues.

Metro Mayor Chuck Hall toured the area and said the only solution he could see to such violence was to "pour billions of dollars into a program to wipe out the slums."

"Some of these people are living like animals," he said.

Mrs. Jones blamed Thursday's violence on Kirk and City Mayor Steve Clark. She said that after Wednesday's disturbance they promised to come back Thursday and hear the residents' grievances.

"They never showed up," she said. "The reaction of the youngsters was 'Let's burn the town down.'"

Mrs. Jones, one of the city's most respected Negro leaders, said, "If I had had a shotgun today, I probably would have joined the shooting. They told me whitey is no good. I'm beginning to believe it."

Local hospital boosts cost for treatment

Special To The Banner
To meet increased expenses in the operation of the Putnam County Hospital, rates in five departments have been increased.

The rate increase will be effective Aug. 11, according to Frank Baker, hospital administrator.

He attributes the hike mainly to an increase in wages for employees which was granted in April.

Room rates will be raised by $1 per day in most instances, although the rates vary from room to room. The cost will range, however, from $25 to $35 per day.

Costs for the use of the operating room will be based on the time required for an operation. In the past, the cost was determined through the basis of a flat rate.

Emergency Room rates will be boosted by a minimum of $10. Today, regardless of the length of time spent in the room, the fee is $5. The new $10 charge will cover the first 30 minutes of treatment along with some minimal supplies.

Costs of 31 tests in the laboratory and 38 items X-rays will also see increases, Aug. 11.

Even with the new increase, rates at the local hospital remain below those at most other hospitals in the area, according to Baker. He notes that with the action, the hospital records its first increase in room rates in more than a year. The operating room costs and laboratory and X-ray costs have not been raised since 1959. The Emergency Room saw a boost in fee about two years ago.

Baker stated that of the hospital's total expenses approximately 65 to 75 per cent are created by salaries. The American Hospital Association anticipates that by 1970 salary for hospital personnel will have increased another 25 per cent.

The move is part of a measure to avoid jeopardizing the care given to each patient. Fourteen doctors are employed by the hospital, along with 11 full-time nurses. Approximately 16 part-time nurses are also employed in the 82 bed hospital.

There has been no building expansion program at the Putnam County Hospital since 1959.

Baker has been administrator of the hospital since the first of the year. He notes that the hospital has recorded a deficit in operation since the April wage increase.

Traffic deaths

By United Press International

At least five persons were killed in Indiana Traffic accidents Thursday and wet pavement was a contributing factor in the cause of at least two of them.

The deaths pushed the toll for the year to at least 864, compared with 821 a year ago.

Donald Lewis Lowe, 27, Marion, was killed on a Grant County road southeast of Marion Thursday night when he lost control of his pickup truck on the wet pavement and struck a bridge.

FOG! FOG! FOG!—Following an early evening thunder storm and severe lighting, motorists in Putnam County crept along highways and backroads in thick hanging fog early today. Traveling north out of Greencastle on Ind. 43 here was hazardous.

Will Agnew help party? Hoosier GOP leaders ask

By HORTENSE MYERS

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—The selection of Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew as the Republican vice presidential nominee has created mixed reaction from Indiana political leaders.

The Republicans took their cue from state chairman Buena Chaney who promised that Agnew, although almost unknown, will be a favorite. But he said "he is highly regarded in the Eastern and Southern parts of the country. In Baltimore and Maryland he is in constant contact with most of the delegates and this doesn't come up in our communications. We are not aware of more than four or five who even have leanings toward McCarthy."

Another advantage the GOP spokesmen are touting for Agnew is the fact "he does not come into our state, or any state with any marks against him."

Bogle said 14 delegates will vote for McCarthy and that there are another 15 "we can talk to" about supporting McCarthy rather than Humphrey who is considered the Indiana favorite. But Hand said "we are in constant contact with most of the delegates and this doesn't come up in our communications. We are not aware of more than four or five who even have leanings toward McCarthy."

Both Hand and Dr. James Bogle, chairman of the Indiana McCarthy organization, termed the Nixon-Agnew team "a ticket we can beat" although they disagreed with each other on race relations."

On the Democratic side, Larry Hand, executive director of the Citizens for Humphrey, jubilantly referred to Agnew as "the vice presidential nominee who is not of any particular national prominence which weakens their ticket."

Both Hand and Dr. James Bogle, chairman of the Indiana McCarthy organization, termed the Nixon-Agnew team "a ticket we can beat" although they disagreed with each other on race relations."

Though the New York Times called it a "notably brilliant narrative" and Saturday Review described it "as a real humdinger," Kennedy (who wrote it under the pseudonym of John Redgate) is extremely modest in describing his gift to DePauw:

"This is certainly not a great literary work," the Osterbein, Ind., native and 1946 graduate of DePauw wrote, "but I think it could be of some value to your seminar students to see the evolution of a published book...., as a step-by-step illustration of how a book progresses from conception to completion. I see it as kind of a kit."

A portion of the collection includes Kennedy's notes and a hand-written presentation for a TV series called "The Hunter." It was this presentation which furnished the original idea for the novel which Kennedy called "The Killing Season."

Dr. Bergmann said the collection will be turned over to the teacher of the department's writing seminars and used by seniors or advanced students in creative writing.

Writing books and plays is only

In 1951 he was voted the outstanding American painter in Paris by the Society for American Art. The honor came during the midst of a four-year residence in France where he had gone after three post-DePauw years with a Chicago advertising firm.

Though the honors and one-man shows gained Kennedy international art acclaim for his abstracts, he found it necessary to find supplemental employment in order to eat. Consequently, when he was sought for the leading role in Molnar's "Liliom" in Paris, he accepted and started a career in acting that included nearly a half dozen European films.

Otto Preminger met him shortly and encouraged him to return to the United States for a career in acting. Kennedy moved to Hollywood and appeared in "Until They Sail," "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell," "Men of War," and "Act of Love."

Acceptance speech rings

Nixon: 'Remember Pueblo disgrace'?

By JOSEPH L. MYLER and RAYMOND LAHR

From that point it was hard for Nixon to finish a paragraph. There were times when he had to wait, smiling patiently, for long moments while the hungry Republicans shouted out their new found exuberance.

It was an orthodox Republican Nixon, who took a hard line toward putting an end to violence and lawlessness in America. But it also was a new Nixon, who took a soft line toward the Soviet Union instead of depicting communism as the root of all evil.

His speech accepting the presidential nomination was aimed at "the forgotten Americans, the non-shouters, the non-demonstrators," perhaps like the voters who kept President Charles de Gaulle in power when France seemed to be teetering on the brink of a national upheaval a few weeks ago.

The candidate deliberately called attention at the outset to the fact that he had run for president once before, eight years ago, and had lost.

"But this time," he said, "there is a difference. This time we are going to win."

The delegates at this Republican National Convention believed him.

When they stopped cheering, Richard M. Nixon, twice vice president in the administrations of Dwight D. Eisenhower and loser to John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential race, departed for a moment from the text of his prepared speech accepting a second Republican nomination for president.

Eisenhower lies ill in Washington. Nixon had just talked by telephone with Mrs. Eisenhower. She had told him nothing would give her husband a greater lift than a Republican victory in November. Hunching his shoulders, Nixon cried:

"Let's win this one for Ike!"

Secret Storm, and The Doctors made "Adam" Kennedy a video veteran.

Kennedy (Redgate in literary circles) already has seen The Killing Season made a selection by the Doubleday Book Club and enjoyed the distinction of having it nominated as the best suspense novel in England last year.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner reported that The Killing Season "is difficult to put down," but Kennedy has done it and is moving now into a third novel and three months in Portugal, beginning in September, to work on it.

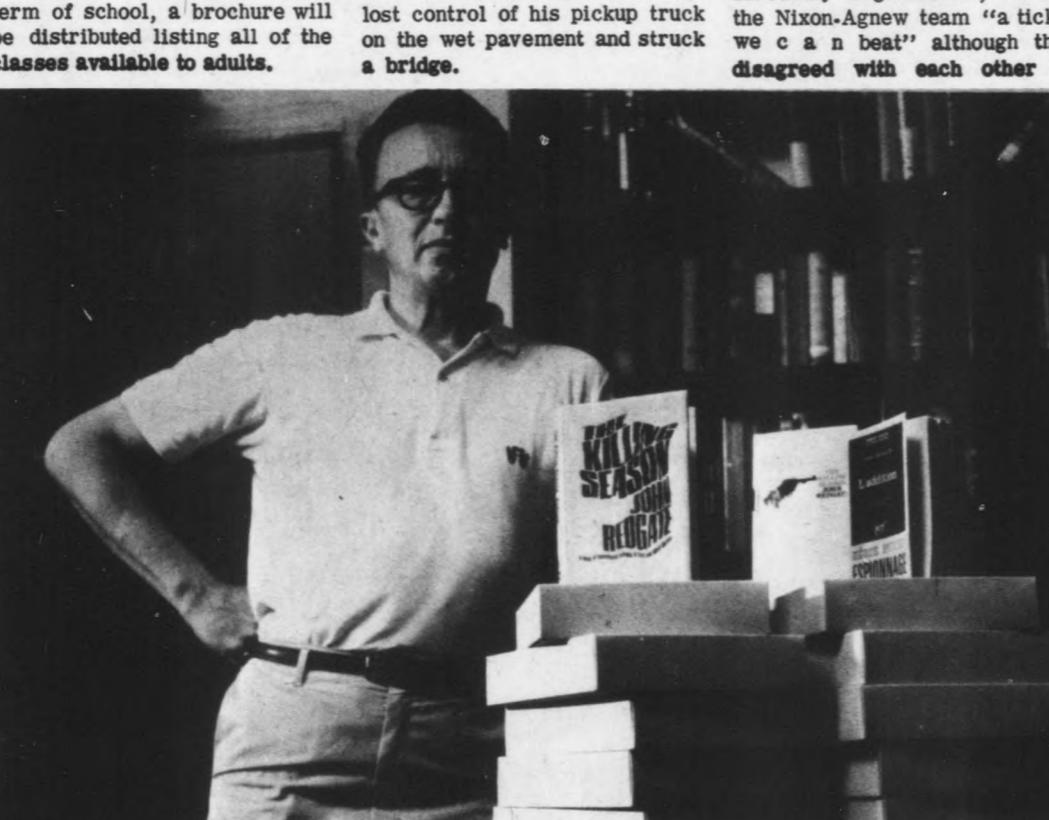

Kennedy, despite his diverse career and travels, still is a frequent visitor in Indiana. He visited DePauw and Greencastle earlier this summer. His parents still reside in Lafayette.

Nixon said some courts have "gone too far in weakening the peace forces as against the criminal forces and we must act to restore that balance."

War on Crime

Beling Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, Nixon said there must be a new Justice Department head to direct a war against organized crime.

"Time is running out for the merchants of crime and corruption in American society," he promised the cheering Republicans.

On top of the books is the prize gift, a novel about international espionage—The Killing Season. DePauw University Photo.

New

WASHINGTON (UPI) -

William F. Hausman, a native of Indianapolis, has been appointed deputy assistant to the secretary of national security affairs, acting Treasury Secretary Joseph Barr announced Wednesday.

"They are simply too far apart," McDonnell, state mediation board chairman, reported a "complete impasse" in negotiations between the museum and the Service Employees International Union which has been working without a contract since June 30. He said no meetings are scheduled.

The union is seeking a $25 a week pay raise for 54 museum employees who currently earn $92 for a 37½ hour work week.

Joseph Chapman, museum administrator, said the men had been offered "a very fair wage, one that was within the standards and guidelines suggested by President Johnson."

Sunday proclaimed just for family

Special To The Banner
President Lyndon B. Johnson recently proclaimed that Sunday, Aug. 11, should be designated as "Family Reunion Day."

The project was spearheaded by Kiwanis International.

The contents of the proclamation signed by the President of the United States follows:

Since the founding of the Republic, the American family has been a source of individual strength and national stability.

These are times, however, that test the unity of family life. Progress--social, economic, and technological--has brought with it new mobility that tends to separate the members of affluent families.

For millions of other Americans, poverty, discrimination and the spiritual deprivation of slum life have strained the cohesion of family units past the breaking point. Many a young people are growing up without the shaping example of a firm, responsible, and caring male in the household. There are strength within almost all families, whether or not headed by a father; but history and instinct tell us that a society that does not encourage responsible fatherhood will pay for its failure in later generations. For that reason, action to extend job opportunities, to improve education and housing, and to end discrimination in all its forms is vital to stronger family life and ultimately to a more just and peaceful nation.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, pursuant to Seante Joint Resolution 165, do hereby designate Sunday, August 11, 1968, as Family Reunion Day, and I urge all the people of the United States to support those actions that will strengthen the American family, and to celebrate this day with such ceremonies as will re-emphasize our continuing belief that family life is the highest and most enduring product of our civilization.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this eighteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and sixty-eight, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-third.

State hires Ft. Wayne coach "Bucky" Haag

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (Special) - Bernard "Bucky" Haag, highly successful football coach at Ft. Wayne Dwenger High School the past three years, has been named freshman football coach at Indiana State University.

Haag, who has a five-year football coaching record of 34-12 in two different high schools, replaces Dave Bosson, who resigned to go into private business in Vermont. With Bosson's resignation, the Sycamores' Bill Quinter was assigned the line-coaching duties and Haag will assume Quinter's original assignment of the freshman gridiron squad.

The newest ISU football coach is a graduate of Purdue, where he lettered as a defense halfback in 1956, his junior year, and then served as freshman backfield coach during his senior season after receiving an injury in the Boilermakers' opening contest of the 1957 season.

After graduating with his B.S. degree at Purdue in 1958 and his M.S. degree from Indiana State in 1959, Haag took over the football coaching duties as well as the track coaching and athletic director's position at Three Oaks, Mich., for two years. His teams played to a 15-3 mark those two seasons.

He then moved to South Bend where he was assistant football coach under Wally Moore at St. Joseph's High School as well as head track coach. Moore has since become the freshman coach at Notre Dame.

Windy scrambles

Special To The Banner
Officials of the Windy Hill scramble scheduled for Saturday, August 24, have announced Sunday, Aug. 18, as the signup deadline. Every available player is needed to make this tournament successful say the officials, including the fairer sex, too.

The pairings will be held Saturday, Aug. 24, immediately after dinner.

A two ball event will be held Saturday, Aug. 24, to start the evening's festivities, which will include the pairing of the scramble and possibly music of some type.

Join in the fun and plan to attend. It could be the largest scramble Windy Hill has ever assembled.

Haag then became the athletic director, football and track coach at Dwenger High School in Ft. Wayne. After a 4-5 season in his first year there, his teams compiled 6-3 and 9-1 records the next two years.

Sycamore coach Jerry Huntsman stated, "Bucky Haag certainly brings a record of football success with him...we feel he is a great addition to our staff."

Deep water bass at Cataract

WEST CENTRAL INDIANA - Largemouth bass are continuing to provide plenty of action at Monroe Reservoir from deep water.

Also, lots of bluegills and a few channel catfish are hitting on catfish worms.

Fisherman are taking limits of bluegills at Green Valley Fishing Area in Vigo County near Terre Haute.

Bass from deep water and some bluegill and crappie fishing is the story at Raccoon Lake, On Big Raccoon Creek below Mansfield Dam, smallmouth bass and channel catfish are hitting on catfish worms.

Fisherman are taking limits of bluegills at Green Valley Fishing Area in Vigo County near Terre Haute.

Good bluegill and crappie fishing at Cataract Lake is quite good, and fisherman also are taking a few bass from deep water.

They faced each other as opposing coaches last year, too, when the South eked out a 15-14 last-period victory.

The game, sponsored for charity by the Indiana Boys Clubs, will be played in the Indiana University Stadium before an estimated 15,000 fans.

The South's awesome backfield speed prompted Jarrett to say he feels his 11 best players should be on defense.

Carter returned the compliment by saying he fears Gary Froebel's All-State star Levi Mitchell and his outside running.

Bob Hackleman of North Central Indianapolis will call the signals for the South, Steve Murphy of Wabash for the North.

The South has a pair of 9.7 dashmen in the backfield, Sam Carter of Indianapolis Brebeuf and Alan Dick of Jasper.

The pairings will be held Saturday, Aug. 24, immediately after dinner.
