3 killed in semi Manhattan crash

Twenty-five minutes after state police stopped recording a 3-day Labor Day weekend traffic count at 18 dead, three out of county residents lost their lives one mile west of Manhattan on U.S. 40 early today in Putnam County.

State police listed the dead as Herbert C. White, 39, 2524 Indianapolis Avenue, Indianapolis; Rita J. Elliott, 18, Perry Creek, of South Vigo County; and Sally Liechty, 19, 11 Royce Avenue, Terre Haute.

Injured was Cheryl Drake, 19, of rural route 2, Terre Haute. The bodies of White and Rita Elliott were taken to Rector Funeral Home in Greencastle. The other body was taken to Brazil in Clay County.

State Police said the White vehicle was traveling east on U.S. 40 when it went out of control while passing a semi-truck. The car crossed the highway and struck head on a west bound double trailer semi-truck.

Police said the semi jackknifed blocking the entire west-bound lane of traffic.

A second auto, driven by Cheryl Drake, also traveling west, struck the semi truck killing passengers Rita Elliott and Sally Liechty.

The driver of the first car was White.

The semi-truck driver, John K. Klinge, and a co-driver, John Peerson, both of Kansas City, were not injured.

The accident occurred at 12:25 a.m. according to police.

Investigating state policemen were Randy Green, Ted Settles,

Gary Hood, John Danberry, and Sgt. Don Dovenshulte.

At 5 a.m. today, 622 persons were shown killed in traffic accidents during the 78 hour period, Illinois and Michigan led the nation with 46 deaths each.

Indiana missed its predicted death toll of 24 by only six fatalities.

Last year 606 died during the holiday.

In 1966, a record 636 persons were killed across the nation on the Labor Day Holiday weekend.

Honored

Deborah L. Smith, R.R. #1, Bainbridge was among 447 Indiana University students who qualified for recognition at the University's annual Founders Day ceremony next May 1 by posting all "A's" in academic courses last semester on the Bloomington campus.

The spring semester all-A list includes only those students who carried 12 or more hours of college credit; 12 being the minimum number of hours one can take to be considered a full-time student.

Founders Day activities focus on scholastic achievement of the students, as well as teaching excellence of the faculty.

Bond sales up

Ward D. Mayhall, Chairman of the Putnam County U.S. Savings Bonds Committee has received a report revealing that the County's Savings Bonds sales for July were $59,189 compared with $61,493 for the corresponding period of last year. The State's sales for July were $13,443,965 and $12,446,846 for a like period of 1967—a gain of 8 per cent.

On June 1, 1968, interest rates on E and H Bonds were raised to the legal limit of 4.25 per cent, when held to maturity, while the interest on Freedom Shares (Savings Notes) was hiked to a full 5 per cent, when held to maturity. Freedom Shares were also made available for over-the-counter purchase in combination with E Bonds of the same or larger denomination.

Methodist now have only one Sunday service

As an experiment for the month of September, Goble Memorial United Methodist Church will have only one Sunday morning service of worship instead of the usual two during the school year.

The service will be at 11 a.m., which is a change from summer hours. All church school classes will now meet at 10 p.m.

The church's pastor, the Rev. Jameson Jones, Sunday preached on "The Summer of Our Discontent." Miss Jessica Yaw, a senior music student at DePauw, whose home is Worthington, Ohio, sang.

Sunday was promotion day in Goble's church school. Children moved up to new classes when they arrived, according to Supt. Robert Harrison.

Both major parties feel Wallace has lost popularity

By HORTENSE MYERS
INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Both Democratic and Republican leaders believe that Hoosier voters will not love George C. Wallace in November as they did in May.

But the former Alabama governor has the two major parties studying the results of the presidential preference primary in May four years ago and trying to calculate where Wallace will make the greatest inroads Nov. 5 this year.

Wallace received nearly 30 per cent of the vote in a 1964 Democratic presidential preference battle against then Gov. Matthew E. Welsh. He carried two counties, including one congressional district and received substantial support in most of the so-called "bedroom" counties surrounding the metropolitan centers.

Officials of the American Independent Party, who are providing most of the manpower for the "George C. Wallace Party" in Indiana, also have studied the 1964 primary figures in planning their strategy. According to AIP officials, there now are Wallace organizations in 68 counties.

Five burglary suspects held

Putnam County sheriff officials arrested five Indianapolis men early Sunday morning in connection with a Waveland tavern burglary in Montgomery County.

Sheriff Robert Albright said 16 cases of beer were found with the men who were stopped because of a faulty tail light.

Albright said the men may be turned over to the Montgomery County authorities, but that the arrested men were also suspects in recent burglaries in Putnam County. Albright said some nine burglaries have occurred in around Greencastle since Aug. 27.

Arrested and being held are Herb Bukey, 19, John Anderson, 19, William E. Wilson, 19, Rick Clark, 18, Robert Brooks, 24. Brooks was arrested on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors. The other four were arrested on charges of minors having possession of alcoholic beverages.

Albright said break-ins were also investigated the last two days at the Kelly Feed Mill at Morton and the Roachdale Building and Supply where an estimated $250 worth of equipment was taken at each business. The Roachdale burglary was discovered around 10:30 p.m. last night.

Police training funds made available

Police Chief John Stevens has announced that Mayor Norman Peabody and the City Council of Greencastle have appropriated funds for specialized training for Police officers.

These funds will be used during the year of 1969 for sending selected officers to various schools. This is the first time that funds have been made available for such training.

Some schools that Chief Stevens has selected for officers to attend are:

Narcotics School - Federal Bureau of Narcotics, Wash., D.C. Traffic Management & Accident Investigation - North Western U., Riot Control - Indiana University, Indianapolis Police Academy - Indianapolis.

Patrolmen James Phipps and James Baugh just recently graduated from the Indianapolis Academy. Chief Stevens and Mayor Peabody will select the officers that will attend the various schools.

Will Humphrey's 'new day' mix with new politics?

By GEORGE J. MARDER
CHICAGO (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey inherited a party tortured by cataclysmic change.

When his turn finally came to be head Democrat, the process of change was tearing at the fabric of the party which had survived, in one form or another, since the days of the founding fathers.

It was undermining the coalition of labor, southern Democrats, machine politicians, and ethnic groups which had brought the new deal of Franklin Delano Roosevelt into being and nurtured its successors through the new frontier and the great society.

The party veterans didn't seem to understand what was happening.

The dissension this week in Chicago did not stem entirely from the war in Vietnam, although that in itself was enough to split the party.

There was something struggling for recognition within the party called new politics, or participatory politics, or you name it.

It was turbulent, noisy, rambunctious. It was as vague in meaning as its name.

But it knew what it wanted. A leader who would commit himself, without equivocation, to ending the war in Vietnam.

A leader who could communicate with, if not embrace, the beatniks and the peaceniks and the hippies and the yuppies and the middle class and the new class who clamored to end the war and begin a new era.

A leader who would convert the ugliness and the grimness of the convention city demonstrations into something dignified like the march on Washington.

Robert F. Kennedy was at home with it. In varying degrees, so were Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and George McGovern.

Hubert Humphrey tried to accommodate himself to it.

But the new politics demanded a commitment to end the bombing of North Vietnam without condition. That Humphrey was not willing to give.

Jaycees to meet

The Greencastle Jaycees will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the city council chamber.

Indiana may not meet 1971 highway deadline

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Indiana may be unable to meet the 1971 deadline for having interstate highways within the state complete or under construction, according to state highway director Martin L. Hayes.

Hayes said that a probable slowdown in federal funding of interstate highway construction could prevent Indiana from putting its final 200 miles under construction as scheduled.

A 32.8 mile stretch of Interstate 70 from the Indianapolis bypass route of I-465 southwest to Ind. 43 near Cloverdale will be opened in ceremonies today attended by highway officials and Lt. Gov. Robert L. Rock.

Hayes said the remaining rural portion of I-70 running from I-465 east to Greenfield, should be open in December.

The only portion of I-70 remaining to be put under construction is part of an 18-mile inner loop within Indianapolis. I-65 will form part of the loop.

The 200 miles yet to be put under construction include 100 miles of I-64 from U.S. 41 to Knobs Hill; 25 miles of I-65 from south of Lafayette to Lebanon; 25 miles of I-65 from I-465 to near Edinburg; seven miles of I-69 from I-465 north-eastward in Marion and Hamilton Counties, and 25 miles of I-64 in Porter and LaPorte Counties.

If federal funds were received according to the original schedule, Hayes said, the December, 1971, deadline could have been met for getting all 958 miles of new interstate roads built.

However, with an extension of the federal program to 1974, funds are not expected to be received at a rate to meet the 1971 schedule.

Action taken at the commission's meeting Thursday included the adoption of a new policy for use of its roadside parks. The policy states that the parks were not planned to provide for overnight camping or largescale social gatherings. Commercial sales of any nature and promotional give-away projects by individuals or groups are prohibited.

Other action:

—Rescinded a contract awarded June 27 to Kahl & Mahon, Liberty, for $112,948 for a replacement bridge .1 mile east of Ind. 3 on Ind. 244. The action was taken because the work, which had not yet been started, would mean removal of the old bridge at a time when school buses needed to cross it.

—Authorized the purchase of an additional 59 vehicles at an estimated cost of $112,000.

—Approved a contract with Adams County Commissioners for joint financing of a new bridge on a parallel county road expected to cost a total of $180,000.

—Advised various cities and counties which want to have the highway research and training center, West Lafayette, to make skid tests that the state will first use the new testing equipment on state roads. The equipment which makes readings on the slipperiness of pavement surfaces, is scheduled to be delivered to the center in September.

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS—State Policemen Ted Settles and Gary Hood stand with state highway officials including Edward Raines at the I-70, Ind. 43 intersection where a barricade was erected Sunday to keep traffic from coming off of the interstate, crossing Ind. 43 and reentering I-70.

Settles describe the situation as a death trap and said one motorist had even used an ax on the barricade to get his car through. I-70 is closed west at Ind. 43. Last week it was opened east to Interstate 465 in Marion County.

Funeral services are pending at the Rector Funeral Home.

Will get list of witnesses

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—The state agreed Friday to give defense attorneys for accused slayer James Earl Ray a list of prosecution witnesses and portions of the evidence, but demanded that his murder indictment stand.

Shelby County Atty. Gen. Phil M. Canale Jr., submitted answers to motions filed Aug. 16 by Ray's attorney, Arthur J. Hanes Sr., of Birmingham, Ala.

Hanes had asked Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle to grant him access to witnesses, physical evidence and records to be used by the state in Ray's trial Nov. 12.

He also asked Ray's first degree murder indictment in the April 4 slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. be dismissed because "pervasive and widespread publicity" would make a fair trial impossible.

Battle, who will preside at Ray's trial, scheduled arguments on the motions for Sept. 6.

Canale said he "is agreeable" to presenting a list of witnesses and providing portions of the evidence. He asked that Battle "prescribe a reasonable time, place and conditions for reasonable preservation" of the evidence. He added that all records were in the custody of the Criminal Court Clerk's Office and were a matter of public record.

The state, however, insisted that Ray's murder indictment stand. Canale said the motion to quash the indictment should be dismissed on grounds it "is unsupported by law and fact."

He said he was in Kansas with his parents in 1880 when he was three years old. "Pioneers deserve much credit for building the West," he told the members. Ashworth was in the Spanish-American War and was stationed at Fort Riley, Kan.

He was at Republic, Kan. in 1906 where he attended the 100th anniversary of the first flag in Kansas. The next meeting will be Sept. 25 at Torr's Restaurant.

Migrants to get education

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Migrant farm workers who come to Indiana not only earn money during the time they're here, but their children get an education as well.

An estimated 3,000 children of migrant farm workers will be enrolled in 26 Indiana public schools this fall through the Compulsory Education Act. Later, they will return to schools in their home base, Texas.

State School Supt. Richard D. Wells estimates about 2,000 of them already are attending voluntary summer school sessions in 18 Hoosier school systems.

"Although migrant children spend only several weeks in summer schools," Wells said, "many are able to increase their reading ability to the equivalent of from three to six months of normal classroom work. This is due to the individual attention and instruction which the summer programs offer."

Wells said that because 86 per cent of the children are from Spanish speaking families, schools are enrolling four and five-year-olds in pre-school and kindergarten programs to help them learn English.

Letter to the Editor:

Clarification is in order regarding the emergency room service of the Putnam Co. Hospital.

First, it is an emergency room and not an out patient clinic. The medical coverage is voluntary by 7 local physicians and unfortunately lacks the integrated support and cooperation of the whole physician component of the county.

For maximum efficiency and service, the emergency room protection for the whole county must not be abused. The public must realize what is an emergency.

A laceration for example needs suturing within 8 hours. Acute respiratory or circulatory failure, convulsions, and fractures constitute legitimate emergencies.

Most other problems can wait for an appointment with a physician. The current minimum fee by the hospital for emergency room is $10 and this is separate from the physicians fee. Contrary to the previously published report, the physicians in

DEAR FOLKS:

What's that old saying about "Who forgot the mustard?"

Anyway, on a recent picnic I forgot it. Now what's a hamburger without mustard? We did happen to have some bottled barbecue sauce which one usually puts on chicken and steaks, so I used that.

'Twas wonderful! I've never heard of a barbecued hamburger, but since that forgetful day, we have them all the time.

The sauce may be applied as you cook the meat over the grill or just poured on top of the meat after it is pan-fried. I found you could get more of that delicious tasting sauce on the sandwich if you would also pour it on the bun itself.

Sure does change the taste of the old, ordinary hamburger.

So why not try my scrumptious Bar-B-Cue Burger?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

When I took the skirt off our baby's bassinet, I didn't want to wrap it up and put it away. So I decided to use it as a ruffled skirt for the baby crib.

I cut the skirt down the side seam, making a long strip. Then placed it under the mattress on top of the springs, enough so that it would hang just the right length. It was lovely.

Since I use the area under the crib for storage space which doesn't show now, the ruffle serves two purposes.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

On weekdays I exercise with those fellows on television. But on weekends I never exercise because I don't like to do it alone. Then I hit on a plan.

I could get all the exercise I need while ironing! While I'm ironing things that don't need lots of attention, I run "in place." Then when I'm ironing clothes that require concentration, I wait until I finish each piece, then I run around the room for two minutes.

Besides, my husband said if I lost ten pounds he would buy me a new wardrobe. But, Heloise, it will be a NO-IRON wardrobe because I hate to iron!

An Ardent Reader

DEAR HELOISE:

I've just discovered the best use yet for cardboard boxes that are put in men's shirts when they come back from the laundry.

I completely covered three of these cardboard boxes with pieces of aluminum foil. Laid them out side by side with the edges overlapping a little and stapled them together.

I use this to protect the walls behind the stove from grease splatters by setting it on the back edge of my stove and leaning it against the wall.

After I have finished frying the food, I just remove the cardboard and wipe off the grease.

I also covered several to use as pads for the stove and counter top.

Anne Murray

DEAR HELOISE:

When teaching your young children to print their name, remember that first graders don't print in all capital letters. They begin to learn the difference in upper and lower case letters from the first day.

So teach your child to print "Sharon" rather than "SHARON" for it shakes up a youngster when the teacher tells him he can't print the way he was taught at home!

A Teacher

DEAR HELOISE:

During the strawberry season, I bought quite a few crates for canning and have saved all those nice little plastic baskets they were packed in. I hate to throw them away, but so far haven't been able to find a use for them.

I'm wondering if any of your readers might have a suggestion.

Mrs. T. J. Kizer

Gals, let's all get our "thinking caps" on and come up with some good ideas to help our friend. I'm sure you have some.

Just drop us a note in care of this paper. We'd sure love to hear from you.

Greve heads Windy scramble champs

A 21-under par capped by Ray Greve's clutch putt, aided his team composed of Harry Sharp, Dr. Jerry Elliott, Harry Moore, and Tibby Eitel, to win the biggest Windy Hill event of the year, the Labor Day Scramble.

Greve and Company beat Don Orlosky's headed team and Ron Terry's fivesome by 1 and 2 strokes respectively, after trailing most of the tourney. Orlosky's team made up of Dick Crawley, Dick Judy, Walter Frye and Wink Bryant lead a majority of the tourney, only to be overtaken and beaten when Greve sunk his final putt on the 9th hole of the 36-hole tournament.

Two strokes back in third place was Terry's combo of Bob McCormick, Ken Eitel, George Bundy and Wyatt Brummett.

On Saturday Terry defeated Ken Douglas in 36-holes to wrap up the 1968 Presidents Championship tourney. Harold Talbot shortstoked Dr. William Tipton to take the Seniors Championship.

IBM's Frank Bundy became the eighth man to win the Windy Hill Club Championship last week, when he defeated two former champions in the semifinal and final round.

Bundy won the 12th annual tourney by beating 1967 defending champ Ben Hoover in the semi-finals and 1966 champ C.B. Hammond in the final 36-holes of play. Both are 2-time title winners.

Queen, Craver's Redbone best

(Spl)-- Four hundred and sixty-seven dogs representing 21 states, competed for top places and numerous trophies during the holiday weekend at the Putnam County 4-H Fairgrounds in the 9th annual Autumn Oak Wild Coon Hunt.

Hunt Manager Mansford Craver and two local hunters from Spencer and Ladoga were three trophy winners that carried the Hoosier colors.

Craver took top honors in the Bench Show of the open class in the "Best Female of Show" division with his Redbone Purple Ribbon "Craver's Beauty Queen".

Donald Cradick of Spencer and Jerry Morrison of Ladoga were other top finishers. Cradick's (PR) Toby, an English breed, scored 475-plus points to place seventh in the Registered Hunt.

In eight with 450-plus points was Morrison's Ringo a Walker breed.

Other top winners were "Alabama George" owned by Jack Feltman of Hodges, a Walker won first place with 700-plus points in the Registered Hunt; "Timber Joe" owned by Orville Hort of Leesburg, Ohio, an English, won first place in the Grand Nite Championship with 750-plus points; "Butler's Big Creek Jack", owned by Robert E. Butler of Evansville, an English, won first place Nite Champion with 875-plus points.

"Fantastic Sue" owned by Steven Strubberg of Sorneto, Ill., a Walker, won first place in Champion of Champions; (PR) "Apache Blue Bingo II," a Blue-tick, owned by Robert E. Wright of Brighton, Mich., won best of male show.

Hoosiers make contract

CHICAGO (UPI) — Indiana, football champion of the Big Ten Conference, spent Labor Day laboring in the first contact drills of preseason practice.

Coach Johnny Pont said the Hoosiers may scrimmage Wednesday. Pont established the entire offensive unit during the three days of noncontact drills.

Tests are to be run today on halfback Rich Thompson of Indianapolis to determine whether he has recovered from mononucleosis.

Minnesota's all-Big Ten tackle Ezell Jones was back at practice Monday, apparently recovered from a pulled leg muscle. But linebacker Dave Nixon missed practice with a swollen knee, and tackle John Thompson was hospitalized with a stomach infection.

Coach Murray Warmath shifted sophomore Fran Paquette, Superior, Wis., to split end, and moved sophomore Tom Bienenmann, Wilmette, Ill., from split end to flanker.

Coach Ray Nagel made three changes in Iowa's defensive alignment. He moved Mike Phillips, 222-pound junior from Evanston, Ill., to linebacker; Greg Allison was moved to starting guard, and guard Mike Edwards shifted to defensive tackle.

Bill Freehan's watch was wrong Monday but he kept the Detroit Tigers right on time in their quest of the American League pennant.

Freehan, who forgot to turn his watch back when the Tigers flew to Oakland from Detroit Sunday night, got up at 5:30 a.m., Monday morning California time because he woke up and his watch read 8:30.

More than 14 hours later after catching 18 innings, the "absolutely dead tired" Freehan came to the plate in the 10th inning to face Diego Segui, who hadn't given up an earned run in 24 2-3 innings, since Aug. 3. But Freehan slammed a homer to give the Tigers a 4-3 victory over Oakland and a doubleheader split after the Tigers were blanked by Jim Nash 4-0 in the opener.

The split, combined with Baltimore's split with New York, kept the Tigers seven games ahead of the Orioles and reduced their "magic number" to 17 for their first pennant since 1945.

Yanks, Orioles Split
Elsewhere in the American League on the Labor Day schedule, New York beat Baltimore 4-2 but the Orioles won the second game in 10 innings 4-3. Washington swept Chicago 1-0 and 11-3. Minnesota topped Boston 5-1 and Cleveland beat California 4-2.

In the National League, St. Louis blanked Cincinnati 1-0 in 10 innings. Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Los Angeles 5-4 and 7-5. Pittsburgh took two from Houston 6-1 and 4-3 in 10 innings. Atlanta beat New York 3-1 and the second game was called by rain in the seventh inning with the score tied 2-2 and San Francisco beat Chicago 8-4, with the second game called by darkness at the end of nine innings and the score tied 1-1.

The Tiger victory in the second game went to Pat Dobson, 4-4, who pitched two scoreless innings of relief. In the opener, Nash struck out 10 and walked only one to even his record at 11-11.

Robinson Homers
Frank Robinson's homer in the 10th gave the Orioles the second game victory over the Yanks. The homer handed Lindy McDaniel his first American League loss and gave Moe Drabowsky the win. Steve Hamilton hurled four innings of INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The Indianapolis Indians celebrated Labor Day with a doubleheader sweep of Oklahoma City, winning both Pacific Coast League games on dramatic last-inning homers, 4-2 and 1-0.

Nevele Pride sets records at State Fair

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Three world records were established and Laverne Hanover lost its first heat in 18 starts to provide race fans with plenty of thrills in Grand Circuit harness racing over the weekend at the Indiana State Fair.

Hambletonian winner Nevele Pride set two world records Saturday for three-year-old trotters and Rum Customer established a new world standard for three-year-old pacers.

Nevele Pride, who as a two-year-old turned the fastest mile in history, duplicated the feat for three-year-olds. His record for the mile was 1:56 3-5, a fifth of a second better than the old mark set by Speedy Scot in 1963 and Ayres in 1964.

It followed a first heat of 1:57 2-5 which gave the horse a record of 3:54 for both heats, eclipsing Speedy Scot's 3:54 3-5 set in 1963. Nevele Pride is owned by Nevele Acres of Allentown, N.Y., and was driven by Stanley Dancer.

Rum Customer, driven by Billy Haughton, set a world mark of 3:54 for three-year-old pacers with heats of 1:58 and 1:56, which was 1-5 second better than Truce Duane's mark in 1966.

Laverne Hanover lost its first heat in 18 starts Monday, but rallied to finally win the rich Fox Stake for two-year-old pacers with Houghton driving.

Laverne Hanover, owned by Tom W. Murphy Jr., finished third in the first heat behind Santa's Fury driven by Herve Filion, and Berra Hanover reined by George Sholly. But the pacer kept its record of never losing a race intact by winning the second heat and then beating Santa's Fury in a runoff.

Summary, with horses and drivers:

Monday
Fox Stake, 2-year-old pace, $67,841 purse: 1. Laverne Hanover, Bill Houghton, 3-1-1; 2. Santa's Fury, Herve Filion, 1-3-2; 3. Berra Hanover, George Sholly, 2-2. Times: 1:54 4-5; 2:02 2-5; 2:08 3-5.

"Big Daddy" still champ

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Don Garlits, Seffner, Fla., Monday won top fuel eliminator honors to become the first three-time champion in the 14-year history of the national championship drag races of the National Hot Rod Association.

Garlits, 36, who won in 1964 and 1967, pocketed $7,000 for his victory. He won easily in the finals over Steve Carbone, Downey, Calif., covering the quarter-mile run in 6.875 seconds. He reached a top speed of 226.7 miles per hour.

Earlier Monday, Garlits eliminated Duke Ray, Chicago; world champion Bennie Osborn, Sand Springs, Okla., and Tom McEwen, Long Beach, Calif., the top qualifier. Garlits drove a Dodge powered fuel dragster. Six other titles also were decided Monday, the final day of the five-day show which attracted 1,500 competitors and more than 100,000 fans to Indianapolis Raceway Park.

Other winners included: Jack Jones, San Diego, Calif., Gas Eliminator; Arlen Vanke, Akron, Ohio, Superstock Eliminator; Larry Lombardo, Wyomissing, Pa., Stock Eliminator; Harry Luzader, Monroeville, Pa., Competition Eliminator; Paul Stage, Rockford, Ill., Super Eliminator, and Sam Gianino, Royal Oak, Mich., Street Eliminator.

The top speed recorded during the five days was 233.76 m.p.h. by John Mulligan, Garden Grove, Calif., during qualifying runs.

LARGE JACKPOTS

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN PEORIA, a distinguished newspaper editor explained why Abe Lincoln, had he lived today, would not have had so much trouble getting a sound education. Because of his height, every basketball coach in the state would be waving a scholarship at him.

In the heyday of his success, the great French novelist Honore de Balzac was indulgently scribbling autobiographies for admirers at a watering resort when an elderly lady deposited a dog-eared notebook in his lap and said, "Would you glance at one or two of these compositions and tell me if you think your young author has any possibilities?" Balzac indulgently leafed through the notebook, then pontificated, "Madam, I believe in being frank. The lad who perpetrated these pieces is obviously slovenly, unimaginative, and utterly devoid of talent. Train him to be a garbage collector, if you will, but don't, I beg you, encourage him to do any more writing."

"How fascinating," chuckled the elderly lady. "If you will turn to the name on the inside of the cover of this notebook, you will observe it was your very own when you were a little boy in Monsieur Herriot's school!"

Humphrey Viet policy may be different

By RAYMOND LAHR

CHICAGO (UPI)—Democrats sent their Humphrey-Muskie team to the nation today with fervent pleas to their sulking antiwar wing to rejoin the party for combat against the GOP in the presidential election campaign.

But all signs indicated that dissident doves led by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy planned to sit out the 1968 campaign.

McCarthy himself refused to endorse the ticket and was conspicuously absent from the closing session of the Democratic National Convention at which Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey accepted the party's presidential nomination and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie was chosen his running-mate.

Humphrey in his acceptance speech promised the distrustful doves he would depart from President Johnson's policies if necessary to end the war in Vietnam.

Estal Scobee, President
Board of Trustees
Sept. 3-10-27

"If there is one lesson we should have learned, it is that the policies of tomorrow need not be limited by the policies of yesterday," he said. "If I am president, I shall apply that lesson to search for peace in Vietnam."

The convention roared approval of this polite but unmistakable declaration that Humphrey is his own man now.

Intraparty Truce
Humphrey appealed for a truce in the intraparty fight over Vietnam that made a shambles of this convention and turned his presidential nomination into a prize of dubious value.

Considering the bitterness and bad manners that had poisoned the atmosphere of the whole convention, the reception accorded to Humphrey's 50-minute speech was remarkably cordial. He was interrupted by applause 75 times and got a 20 minute whooping and cheering ovation at the end.

But the really disgruntled Democrats weren't in the hall.

The final day of the convention was marked by continuing disorder inside and outside the hall but not on the same scale as Wednesday, when the delegates nominated Humphrey while National Guardsmen battled antiwar demonstrators at the convention headquarters hotel.

Humphrey announced Thursday that Muskie, 54-year-old senator from Maine, was his choice for the vice presidential nomination. The convention agreed with only murmurs of protest—a few votes cast for others and some sizeable abstentions by the peace bloc.

But it was Humphrey's night and he made the most of it, addressing himself both to his party and to the country.

He began by deploring the violence in Chicago this week and said it must not happen again. He concluded in the same vein:

"I say to America: put aside recrimination and dissension. Turn away from violence and hatred. Believe in what America can do and can be."

Draws Applause

Humphrey drew even louder bursts of applause when he referred to the Democratic presidents, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

"And in the space of five years President Johnson has accomplished more of the unfinished business of America than any of his modern predecessors," he said.

This remark drew some scattered boos which were drowned by cheers from his audience.

The delegates were quiet when he said differences within the party over Vietnam were smaller than the areas of agreement. But he was cheered when he said:

"...as citizen, candidate and vice president, I shall do everything within my power to end the negotiations in Paris."

In domestic affairs, Humphrey said the nation faced its "most urgent challenge" in the cities.

"I put it bluntly: rioting, burning, sniping, mugging, traffic in narcotics and disregard for the law are the advance guard of anarchy—and they must be stopped."

"I pledge to use every resource available to the president to end fear in our cities," he said.

In Muskie, Humphrey found a running-mate who is the son of a Polish immigrant coal miner and who rewrote the political history of the onetime Republican bastion of Maine.

After twice winning the governorship, Muskie was elected to the Senate in 1958 and re-elected in 1964.

Like his Republican counterpart, Spiro T. Agnew, Muskie lacks national prominence. But his Polish ancestry and Roman Catholic faith may help the Democratic ticket with big city nationality blocs, where the white backlash vote could be a problem for Democrats.

LBJ warns aggressors Friday

By ANN WATSON

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson warned Friday night to make no mistake about the "true views" of the American people despite the "highly charged period of domestic debate."

Johnson told delegates at a seven-state meeting of Milk Producers, Inc., it was clear leaders in Moscow invaded Czechoslovakia because they felt threatened by independence.

He said there were rumors among Eastern European country might be invaded.

"It is clear to me that the leaders in Moscow felt their interests were threatened by even a modest degree of independence and human liberty," Johnson said. "And there are even rumors late this evening that this action might be repeated somewhere else in Eastern Europe."

Washington officials said Johnson referred to Romania, but there was no information late Friday that troops had actually crossed the border.

In London, Netherlands Foreign Minister Joseph Luns said Soviet troops were massed in Hungary near the Romanian border but would not speculate on possible Soviet intentions against the country.

Mobilized 650,000 Troops
Diplomatic sources in London said the Soviet Union mobilized 650,000 troops for the Aug. 21 invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The sources said about 200,000 were sent against the Czechs and the others kept in readiness for any action against Romania.

Johnson departed from a prepared text to say there should be no confusion on the United States' position.

"There should not be any doubt in the minds of anyone as to where the United States of America stands on a question so fundamental to the peace of the entire world."

"We have mislaid some heads of state in recent years, in my judgment, and they have misinterpreted the workings of democracy."

"It led us into World War I and World War II and into other troublesome events since then. But I repeat tonight that no would-be aggressor (should) misjudge American policy during this administration."

Press Secretary George Christian said the report of a possible invasion was relayed from Washington by Walt Rostow and came from Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark Clifford.

Right to Exist
"Surely it is too late in history for small nations to be denied their right to national existence," Johnson said. "The Charter of the United Nations makes this a fundamental right of all nations, regardless of ideology, alliances or political disturbances."

The United States first heard rumors of Soviet and satellite troop movements toward the Romanian border last week.

Rusk met with Romanian Ambassador Corneliu Bogdan who said he had information from his government to confirm the rumors at that time. He met with Rusk again Thursday and apparently had additional information.

Romania refused to attend the July 16 Warsaw meeting where Russia and four other Warsaw Pact members—Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria and East Germany—demanded a reversal of Czechoslovakia's political liberalization program.

Observers felt Johnson hoped to dissuade the Kremlin from another move increasing world tension by pinpointing the possible new danger.

The President made his strong-worded statement at the first public appearance since the Democratic National Convention. He spoke before 3,500 persons who gave him four standing ovations.

Finally

WINNIPEG, Canada (UPI)—The United States won the Pan-American Games baseball championship for the first time in 1967.

Opening lead—eight of spades. Australia was seventh and Holland third in the 33-nation Olympiad played in June when the two teams clashed in a key match halfway through the tournament. Both aggregations were fighting hard to finish in the top four, which would automatically qualify them for the semifinal round and a shot at the championship.

Humphrey in seclusion for rest

By RICK DU BROW
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The abiding memory of television's 1968 summer, even more than the numerous programs about race relations, will be the explosive Democratic National Convention.
 The Democratic get-together in Chicago last week was one of the most fantastically illuminating experiences video has ever offered. And, because of the nationwide television exposure, it will go down in history as a landmark development in the eventual, inevitable decline and fall of national political conventions as we have known them.
 Historians, sociologists—and maybe psychiatrists—could devote a lifetime to studying the various social forces and personalities that came together in the fateful four-day conclave at this burning moment of national concern.
 For, heroes and villains aside, what was happening before televisioners was that the Democratic party—a less homogeneous body than the Republicans—had reached the historic moment when it finally had to pay for its all-embracing composition of differing groups and viewpoints.
 This was high drama of the proportions of Greek tragedy. For, as the forces of inevitability mark these Hellenic tragedies, so did they also, in Chicago, illustrate how time and the new freedom of outlook and attitude had caught up with the old pros and hot young bloods of the Democrats.

By STEVE GERSTEL
 WAVERLY, Minn. (UPI)—Hubert H. Humphrey, the triumph and turmoil of the convention behind him, today went into seclusion at his lakeside home, hounded by rebellion among Democrats and a front-running challenge from Republican Richard M. Nixon.
 Humphrey, weary from a week of politics, riots and antagonism, retreated to his Minnesota home for a badly needed rest and preliminary planning for the campaign designed to beat Nixon and unify the Democratic party and the nation.
 The vice president made it clear to dissident Democrats—angered by the convention endorsement of the administration's Vietnam plank—he welcomed their support and even urged Democrats to be patient with the followers of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.
 In speaking to the Democratic National Committee Friday, Humphrey did not name McCarthy but in his reference to the dissidents said, "Give the people time and they will be there."
 Humphrey arrived home late Friday to a small welcome which included about 250 participants, a small band and the usual assortment of placards and signs. Although the crowd was heavily in favor of the vice president there were some indications of support for McCarthy and opposition to the administration's Vietnam policy.

manager with an apparent free hand to run the campaign through the election.
 Humphrey went to his home state of Minnesota to fill some of the key posts for the coming campaign. Among those named were Robert Short, a wealthy friend who was tapped as acting Treasurer and Geri Joseph of Minneapolis as vice chairman of the National Committee in charge of women's affairs.
 Humphrey planned to take at least a week to rest and map out his campaign before hitting the road. He planned to spend the weekend in Waverly, take part in a labor day parade in New York City, and then fly to a still undecided destination for several days of seclusion.

Coatesville news

Mr. Charles Herrin is again in Coatesville with his parents after serving army duty three years in Germany. Charles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elston Herrin, prior to his return placed flowers all around their front porch and put up a lettered sign "Welcome Home Charles." Charles was a first class lad in both grades and high school and has been a good soldier. His parents are rightfully proud to see such a boy return to break bread with them again and relate his experiences. The town is glad to see Charles and to welcome him home.

This week on August 20th was the birthday of a former President of the United States, An Ohio man by birth, yet who spent much of his life in Indianapolis and Danville, Indiana. He was a man quite particular in his dress and earned the nickname of "Kid-glove Ben." When electricity came to the White House President Harrison would have no part of putting his fingers on switches so he hired a man named Ike Hoover to take the risk and at the same time be his doorman. The Harrison name still stands in Indianapolis, a reminder of a staunch Republican President and one whose big problem in that day was tariff.

The Russians again have proved themselves the arch enemy of mankind, United States leaders who call themselves statesmen are now taking a second and maybe a third look at what has happened in Czechoslovakia. They have tried to make themselves believed that the days of Stalin were over but how badly they have been mistaken. A book on our public library shelf is entitled "You Can Trust A Communist" and you can do just that, to lie to you and take advantage of you at every turn. The whole world should condemn Russia and send their representatives home.

We have heard some complaints this week about chiggers. Do you recall the little pests that used to get on you in the blackberry patch and the hay field? Here are two little pieces of literature that will reserve your memory of this little digger. (1) "A Chigger is no Bigger than the Point of a Pin, But the lump that he raises, itches like blazes, and That's where the rub comes in. (2) If chiggers were bigger, or big as a cow, and worked with the vim of a sub soil plow, O' jolly picnicker, where would you be now!

Many Coatesville folks knew Mrs. Dove Bryan and were surprised to learn of her sudden passing. Her death brings to mind her well known husband, Alex Bryan, who died nine years ago. Many recall him as a one time county officer, and a man active in Republican politics and one who acted as clerk for sales over much of Putnam County.

Mrs. Bryan leaves seven children. She passed to rest in her 86th year.

It is rather a marvelous thing to see a Night-blooming Cereus in full bloom and see the loveliness of the blossom and catch its perfume. Friday night at ten o'clock Mrs. Mable Davidson had a plant that had three great blooms, all out at the same hour. One of the blooms clipped off and inserted into a basin of water was still in full bloom far into the following day. The detached blossom in water must be put in the refrigerator and here the cold air keeps it in all its glory for hours.

On August 27th the Cascade High School football team put on an exhibition for interested fans who don't understand the game of football and for those who wanted to know the size and possibilities of the 1968 team.

Mrs. (Grandma) Snodgrass of Cartersburg was a visitor this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Poff.

Mrs. Ila Smith of La Porte is a visitor this week at the home of Mrs. Callie Cassidy and her sister, Miss Stella Shields. Ever so often Mrs. Ila comes to Coatesville, for she has many friends here of long standing and they are always made happy to see her.

People often ask, "Now what types of people do you meet on bus trips from Indianapolis and Cincinnati to various parts of the United States and Canada or Mexico." The question can be easily and truthfully answered in this way. In all sight seeing trips made thus far the people going places have as a rule been elderly and extremely friendly.

On this Canadian trip one man and wife hailed from Franklin, Kentucky where he operated a mortuary and she taught grade school. A mother and daughter from Picqua, Ohio, were passengers, the mother a teacher in the city schools, the daughter employed by a local company.

Two ladies, likely in their early 60's were clerks in a big book store for many years. An aged French business executive of Cincinnati and wife were home owners in the Queen City. They had traveled over all of Europe and the United States. They did much of their holiday shopping in New York. They were the lady and gentleman to everyone.

A business woman, treated to a vacation by her company took along a sister who was a nun belonging to the Sisters of Charity. What a lovely character she was. Among the very friendly and kindly folks aboard was a

An old bachelor of Detroit was a friend to everyone and a maiden lady who worked for the state of Ohio told us at times of her six month work in Korea, during the war and of her stay in China and Japan and her many trips to Europe and Mexico. She never boasted, for traveling the world over, was just a common place thing for her.

One sat in the bus with these fine people and ate, with them, discussed the topics new to the papers and TV and all respected one another's views.

Questionable purchases reach $1 million mark

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — State examiners released another report Friday on a poor relief investigation in Lake County and said the dollar value of "questionable purchases orders" involved shot up past the $1 million mark.

The Indiana State Board of Accounts, which previously certified to a Lake County grand jury a total of $558,002 in "questionable" orders for food in Calumet Twp., delved into other poor relief items and came up with an additional $476,915.

That raised the total, according to chief examiner Richard Worley, to $1,034,918. Worley said the investigation will continue.

Worley declined to speculate on the final total but other sources have said it might reach $2 million.

The latest 10 reports included fuel and clothing purchases for poor relief recipients between 1963 and 1966, during a period when Milton Baromich was township trustee. Earlier reports covered a period when Harold DeVault was trustee and went back as far as 1961.

Baromich, DeVault and several others were indicted by a Lake County grand jury. Baromich was interviewed by field examiners in connection with each of the additional reports. The examiners stated the trustee told them he had questioned employees about the reports and "met with a denial of guilt in every instance and he had no information to offer at this time."

The examiners defined "questionable purchase orders" as those falling into one or more of five categories: The name of the recipient was not the same as the name on the poor relief register, case histories required before relief can be granted were not in the files, no proper authorization of purchase orders, signatures of persons who acknowledged receipt of items were not the true signatures of the named recipients, and persons who were listed as recipients said they did not receive the items.

Examiners obtained an affidavit from one man listed on records as receiving fuel oil that he lived in an apartment in which his heat was furnished and source of the heat was a gas furnace.

Examiners conferred, or tried to confer, with all of the persons listed as owners or managers of the stores, and in general were told that full dollar value in food, fuel or clothing had been issued for all poor relief purchase orders claimed.

Frank Rache, owner of Frank's Superette from 1960 to 1963, said he had noticed "some of the recipients of poor relief orders drove to the store in taxis or Cadillacs."
