THE Election on Tuesday last passed off very quietly and quickly, and but little excitement was manifested. There was nearly eleven hundred votes polled in this (Harrison) township, being an hundred more than ever before polled here, although we believe the full strength of neither party was elicited, as the result of the first Tuesday in November next will prove. The usual outbursts of feeling resulting in broken heads, and bloody noses so common on "election day" was not visible. This we attribute to the increasing intelligence of the people, and the exceeding cold and chilly state of the weather upon that day.

The following individuals are elected to the various county offices.

LYMAN A. BURNETT, WILLIAM GOODMAN, and HARVEY D. SCOTT, the Whig nominees, are elected Representatives.
AMORY KINNEY, (Ind. whig) is elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, and SALMON WRIGHT, (Whig) Prosecutor of said Court, the latter without opposition.
JAMES H. NELSON, (Ind. whig) is elected Sheriff.
ANDREW WILKINS, (Whig nominee), is elected Clerk of county Courts.
NATHANIEL F. CONNINGHAM, (Dem.) is re-elected Treasurer and Collector.
JOHN D. MURPHY, (Whig) is re-elected Coroner.
SAMUEL W. EDMONDS is re-elected County Commissioner, for the first district. HIRSH SMITH is elected commissioner for the second district; and JACOB HESS re-elected commissioner for the third district.
JAMES OAKLEY is elected County Surveyor.
JOHN E. JONES is elected Assessor of Harrison Township.

The Congressional Election.

We have as yet received but little data by which we can form much idea of the Congressional race in this district. Suffice it, however, has been received to justify the belief that tried and faithful public servant, Hon. JOHN G. DAVIS is re-elected by something over 500 majority. His election, we may say, is pretty generally conceded upon all hands. In this county Mr. Barbour's majority is much less than anticipated, and incomplete returns from various other points in the district report Mr. Davis as running ahead of the Democratic ticket. We will be enabled to lay the official result before our readers in our next issue.

Glorious News—Democracy Triumphant!

A telegraphic dispatch has reached this place announcing that the returns from various points throughout the State indicate the election of Joe Wright and the entire Democratic ticket by a vote of from ten to fifteen thousand. Impartial returns also indicate the election of Hendricks to Congress from the Indianapolis district, Lane from the Lawrenceburg district, Davis from this district and the success of nearly all the Democratic candidates for Congress. A despatch, states that Wright has received a majority of 500 in Floyd co., a county which heretofore has been but slightly Democratic. A dispatch also from Wayne, the Gibraltar of Indiana Whiggery says that there will be a reduction of the Whig majority to 300 or less. It is generally conceded that the entire State ticket will be successful by an increased majority. Such being the case, there will be hardly an effort made to redeem her by the Whigs, in the ensuing Presidential contest.

Death of Senator Whitcomb.

We announced last week with feelings of painful emotion the death of this distinguished Statesman. He died on the 5th inst. at New York city after a protracted and painful illness. In this sad event has Indiana lost one of her most gifted sons. For the past ten years Gov. Whitcomb has acted a conspicuous part in the political arena of Indiana, and has probably contributed more towards redeeming her from her former thralldom of whiggery than any other man in the State. In 1843 he was elected Governor of Indiana by a majority of more than two thousand over SAMUEL BIGLER, and was re-elected in 1846 by an increased majority over Jos. G. MARSHALL. In the winter of '48 he was elected to the Senate of the United States, the most dignified and respectable body of men in the world, in which position, although his usefulness has been materially impaired by continued ill-health, he has uniformly acquitted himself with marked honor and distinction. Gov. Whitcomb was about fifty six years of age at the time of his death, and leaves no family but a little child of two or three years of age. We can speak no more fully of his merits or history at present, but we may hereafter.

Obsequies of Senator Whitcomb.

We learn from the Sentinel that the remains of this distinguished Statesman reached Indianapolis on Saturday last, and were conveyed to the residence of Rev. Calvin Ruter. On Sunday the remains were conveyed to the Masonic Hall, in charge of the Masonic Fraternity of which Senator Whitcomb was a member, where an eloquent and appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. Mr. Wilson. A large concourse of citizens attended the solemn and imposing ceremonies.

New York is looked to as the battle ground of the present contest; and the democrats confidently expect that there would be nobly to fire.

Judge of the 6th Judicial Circuit.

Judge Eckels received a majority of seventy-one votes in this county. Whatever other counties may have done, Vigo has done her duty, her whole duty, and nothing but her duty. It was due to Judge Eckels, that the high regard entertained for him as a Judge, should have expression at the ballot boxes. Nobly have the people of Vigo borne themselves in this contest; nobly have the Democracy of this county maintained their ancient faith; honor to the true beated Democracy of the county! they have rebuked the factionists, and taught them their weakness and imbecility when they attempt to strike down an honored public servant for having discharged his duty. Honor to those independent Whigs, who could not be transferred by a corrupt coalition; who, looking alone to the merits of the case, united with the Democracy in vindicating the capacity of the People to select Judges, as well as all other officers. This election has taught a useful lesson, and we hope all may profit by it.

The death of Gov. WHITCOMB will make it incumbent upon the next Legislature to elect a United States Senator to fill his unexpired term. The Democracy of Indiana have a host of men who would do credit to themselves and the State in that capacity. JNO. W. DAVIS, R. DALE OWEN, JOHN PETTIT, AUSTIN M. PLETT, JOHN L. ROBINSON, &c. In the meantime it will devolve upon Gov. Wright to appoint one until the Legislature convenes and fills the vacancy.

Gen. Scott is still stamping it through the country and is making especial endeavors to reconcile himself with the foreign population, that population against which he attempted with so much bitterness to array the native citizens in '44. The papers everywhere speaking of his election-ringing demonstrations pronounce them as indignant and irreparable in the last degree. The Louisville Democrat says they are remarkable for nothing but the contemptible twaddle of the demagogue, and can excite no other feeling than derision at his awkward and silly efforts to get votes from all classes of people. He seems to have set out with the idea that the smallest condescension from so august a personage as himself, towards the masses of the people, would be considered so inappreciable a favor, that they could not do otherwise than bestow their votes on him. Hence, at Cleveland he appeals to his "native and adopted fellow-citizens," including in the latter class the Irish only. At Columbus his liberality is somewhat enlarged, and he admits the naturalized Germans, also, to fellow-citizenship. At another place he extends his gracious acknowledgment to all these, and all who intend to become citizens. But New Albany his patriotic benevolence becomes boundless, and he concludes that everybody, of whatever political faith, may claim the honor of being his fellow-citizen, and be graciously permitted to vote for him. Hear him.

"In this demonstration, I recognize the greeting of my fellow-countrymen—for all are my countrymen alike, whether native or foreign born, and in such a moment as the present, I make no distinction between Whig and Democrat; and if there be a third party, I make no exception in respect to that. I am your countryman and you are my countrymen."

Now, we ask in all candor, is a man who descends so low as to travel through the country playing the demagogue after so silly a fashion, fit to be honored with the exalted and responsible station of President?

New Postage Rates.

On and after October 1, 1852, the rates of Postage on the Journal will be as follows:

Within the county of Vigo—free.
At any office within the State of Indiana when prepaid 13 cents per annum, or 34 cts. per quarter of three months; when unpaid 25 cents per annum, or 63 cts. per quarter.
At any office out of the State, 26 cents per annum, or 63 cts. per quarter, when prepaid, and 52 cts. per annum, or 13 cent per quarter when unpaid.

It will be observed that subscribers, by pre-paying quarterly, can receive their paper in the State at 13 cents per annum, without the State 26 cents.

DEATH OF BEN HARDIN.—This widely known Kentuckian died on the 24th ult. at his residence in Bardstown. He had been suffering from a painful illness for some weeks, and a fatal termination has not, therefore, been wholly unexpected. Mr. H. has occupied several prominent official positions in Kentucky.

Suicide.

A young man named Fasset recently from Ohio, committed suicide on Tuesday evening last by throwing himself into the machinery of Messrs Miller and Soule's Mill. He was a stranger in this place having arrived in the cars on the Monday evening before. An affair of the heart we understand, probably caused him to commit the rash act. He was a young man of respectable appearance.

CANDIDATES FOR THE PRESIDENCY.—There are now six candidates for the presidency: Gen. Frank Pierce, Democrat; Gen. Scott, Whig; Daniel Webster, Union Whig; John P. Hale, Free Soil; William Goodell, Liberty-man; and Governor Troup, Secessionist.

HON. JOHN P. HALE, the Free Soil Candidate for the Presidency will deliver an address on the 21st inst., and Indianapolis upon the occasion of the State Fair. His attendance there will draw a considerable number in addition to the immense concourse expected from every portion of the State.

The Evansville Times, edited by C. P. BAYMILLER, has been changed from a tri-weekly to a daily. It is an efficient and ably conducted sheet, and does good service in the Democratic cause.

Fred. Douglas has given notice to his anti-slavery friends that he shall support the nomination of Hale and Julian, unless they "write letters of a compromising character."

John Van Buren, in his speech at Newburg, N. Y., among other things said, that after November next, Gen. Scott would be delivered of all apprehension of a "fire in the rear," which has been the nightmare of his life—because then he would be so far behind that there would be nobly to fire.

One of Scott's Stump Speeches.

We clip from the Cincinnati Times, a neutral paper the following burst of superhuman eloquence from the itinerant Whig candidate for the Presidency which fully and clearly establishes his claims as a chaste and beautiful orator. The speech was delivered at Carrollton, Ky., upon the occasion of his visit there.

My countrymen—I have, for the first time in my life, been caught with my breeches down. (Cheers.) Fatigued with the exertions of the day, and supposing that in the quietness of the night I should not be called upon by my countrymen, I had undressed and retired to my bed. I was suddenly awakened, with the news that the people of Carrollton desired to see and hear an old soldier. (Tremendous cheering.) To rise at any hour, is no hard ship to me, but really, I think my appearance before you, in gown and slippers, not very becoming (laughter and cheers.) Allow me to thank you for your kindness, and to assure you that nothing can be more gratifying to the feelings of an old soldier than such hearty greetings as you have exhibited towards me to-night. May God bless you.

An interesting incident occurred at the late celebration at Cape Cod. Col. M. H. Hall, of Chelsea, Mass., presented to the audience, through Hon. B. F. Hallett, the autograph of a veteran of Cape Cod. This old gentleman is ninety-five years of age, and is a fine specimen of the ancestry of New England. He was at the siege of Boston, in the army under Washington's command, and assisted in building the fortifications at South Boston. He was taken prisoner, and was for two years confined in England. He returned to this country with Lafayette, and today talks over his many thrilling adventures with all the ardor of interest of youth. The day after the celebration Mr. Hall procured a large basket full of the nicest delicacies, and, together with a copy of the programme, conveyed them to the old hero. At the home of the old man a sort of miniature celebration was had. A speech was made and songs were sung. The old soldier recounted the many incidents of the olden time, and through the attention and kindness of Mr. D. became a partaker of the bounties of the Cape Cod Gala. Among other members of the past presented by Mr. Dutch, was a piece of the pear planted by Gov. Prince over two hundred years ago, and a bottle of water from the pilgrim wells. These were brought thirty miles from the place of celebration, and added much to the interest of the occasion.

Congress has passed a bill for the relief of Margaret L. Worth, wife of General Worth, with an amendment allowing her $3 dollars a month for five years.

BUTTER.—Says the New York Evening Post of Friday: "Letters from the country say that the product in butter this season will be a third less than usual, and that quantities if it be bought up by dealers with a view of keeping in their own hands the supply of the market. They therefore advise consumers to purchase sparingly at present, inasmuch as the dealers musself, and the price is likely to be lower. At present the pastures are full of the richest grass, in consequence of the September rains and if we should have a fine Oct., a large addition will be made to the stock of butter on hand. The dairymen who made cheese in the summer are now turning their attention to the making of butter, with all expectation of more profit from that branch of husbandry."

ST. LOUIS WHEAT MARKET.—The Intelligence says that "considerable excitement was manifested on 'Change, on Tuesday, by the withdrawal of a majority of our city miers from the Merchants' Exchange. They have formed themselves into a regular organization under the title of the 'Miller's Association,' and have taken rooms in the rear of the Millers' and Manufacturers' Insurance Company, on Main Street. The object of this separate organization is as we learn, to regulate the price of wheat, and redress, if possible, the real or imaginary wrongs of which Millers complain. Under the new organization yesterday, 56c was the highest price offered for good wheat."

WHALE CAPTURED.—A young fin-back whale thirty feet long, was captured last Saturday afternoon off Cape Elizabeth, by a boat from the steamer Gazelle, of Harwich. The Portland Advertiser says:

When first seen a thrasher and a sword-fish were engaged in an assault upon him, and they continued their assault for nearly two hours, when the whale began to spout blood. At this a portion of the crew of the Gazelle lowered a boat, and running alongside of him and capturing him, threw a harpoon into his side, and the sword-fish, his body all over, the thrasher and sword-fish handled him. They had rapid open his throat, and torn out his tongue, and then away most of his tail, and made deep incision into his many places.

DEATH OF DISTINGUISHED MEN.—The Hon. Benjamin Thompson, member of Congress from the fourth District of the State of Massachusetts, died at his residence in Cambridge, in that State, on the 4th ult. This is the third death which has occurred in the Massachusetts Congressional delegation within a few weeks.

Hon. Wm. Bager died at his residence in Gilmanston, New Hampshire, on the 21st ult. He had filled various important offices under the State Government, and was Governor of his State in 1834 and 1835. He was 63 years of age.

John Vanderlyn, one of the most eminent of American artists, died at his residence in Ulster county, New York, at the age of 76. He was the artist who painted the full length portrait of Washington, for the Hall of the House of Representatives at Washington, for which he received $2,500. The great national sitting of the Landing of Columbus, in the rotunda of the capital, was also his work.

Dr. Fry, editor of the Journal, was stabbed by J. D. Mastersson of the Review, last evening. The wounds would not probably prove fatal. The difficulty was occasioned by an article which appeared in the Review of yesterday, which Dr. Fry considered derogatory to his character.—Cranfordville Locomotive Saturday.

The Pay per Diem.

It appears that Gen. Scott, now on his electioneering tour throughout the West receives the comfortable allowance of eighteen dollars per diem. Thus is the public treasury called upon to pay the expenses of the travelling candidate for the Presidency, the man who is exhibiting himself as the Great Mogul of Whiggery, boasting of his great services, and all the pains and sorrows he has endured in his long career, thus trying to awaken the sympathies of the people in his behalf, and arouse them to exertion in his cause.

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS A DAY! to be paid out of the public treasury to Gen. Scott in order that, by his election to the Presidency, the unscrupulous men of the whig party may be restored to power, to inaugurate, in all probability, another era of Galphins and Gardiners.

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS A DAY! to be paid out of the public treasury as the expense of the Sevard nominee, who travels through the country asking votes like a candidate for Sheriff of a county, and who makes speeches to any crowd he meets, like an itinerant lecturer.

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS A DAY! to be paid out of the public treasury to a candidate for President, that he may more effectually arouse the abolition elements of the North against the South.

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS A DAY! to be paid out of the public treasury to a candidate for President, in his efforts to convince the adopted citizens that he is not a nativist any longer, notwithstanding the natives decidedly advocated his election.

EIGHTEEN DOLLARS A DAY! to be paid out of the public treasury to a candidate for President for making speeches in hotels, denouncing the accusation of a political opponent as "a lie—a lie—a false and groundless charge."

We should like to hear of the Democratic candidate for President who has ever attempted any such performance as this. Nay, we should like to be pointed to the Whig who has ever hazarded his reputation by attempting a candidate for the Presidency under such circumstances. There is an absence of all dignity, of all propriety, of good taste, or ordinary respect for the feelings of the people in the whole affair, well calculated to arouse the indignation of the masses, and to cause every lover of his country to blush at the spectacle it presents.

Gen. Scott is resolved to be an exception to every other candidate for the Presidency who has preceded him; and to stand alone as the only man who ever lived in this country, that accepted a nomination at the head of the army, that threw himself into the hands of the foe, of one half of the State, and that paid himself out of the national treasury for the most public and humiliating electioneering.

General Washington resigned his position as Commander-in-chief of the army before he accepted the Presidency, and another soldier was appointed to the place he had filled.

General Jackson was not at the head of the army when he was elected.

General Harrison had long resigned his position in the army before he was elected to the Presidency.

General Cass resigned his place in the Senate of the United States as soon as he was nominated for the Presidency by the democratic party.

In violent and repulsive contrast to all these examples, Gen. Scott holds on to his commission as the Commander-in-chief of the American army, uses its patronage as it may be used, travels about the country in the hands of abolition agitators and partizan slanders, and pays himself out of the treasury at the rate of eighteen dollars a day—Shades of Washington, Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Harrison and Polk, what a comment is this upon the examples you presented to the country.—Washington Union.

Gen. Scott's Speeches.

Gen. Scott it seems, meets with no better success at speech making than he did at letter writing.—The N. Y. Herald says:

We have counted the number of times that the personal pronoun "I" is used in the speech at Cleveland and we find that in thirty lines of which it is composed, the pronoun "I" has been used twenty-four times. Some of his speeches are not reported in the first person, and some not reported at all, but calculated on the basis of the Cleveland speech, the result would stand as follows:

	Times
Cleveland speech, 'I'	24
Pittsburgh speech, 'I'	96
Columbus three speeches, 'I'	240
Maysville three speeches, 'I'	120
Speeches at Lewistown, Canilicothe, Circleville, Manchester, &c., 'I'	25
Total	730

Thus, in the speeches already fired off in this campaign of oratory, General Scott has employed the personal pronoun about 730 times which is admitted on all hands to be indicative of a vast amount of egotism. "Fellow citizens" and "gentlemen" occur with marvellous frequency and the violations of grammar are neither few nor far between.

CUBA AND THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.—The advocates from Cuba are of serious import. They show that the population, both the slave population, and the creole population, is in a feverish condition, and that a servile or civil war—or both—might at any moment break out. The Cuban authorities have very foolishly and presumptuously, brought their port regulations into conflict with the commercial and navigatory interests of the United States. These regulations create personal irritation, and also may pinch hard upon our commercial interests. These are the points, where, as it was supposed long ago, a collision might ultimately be brought about between the Spanish authorities and the United States.

It is remarkable how aptly destiny seems to contrive matters so as to render things inconceivably difficult at first seen to human comprehension as impossible. At the moment of the occurrence of difficulties with Cuba, and at a time when the democratic senators are making speeches in favor of getting more "sugar land," there has also arisen a necessity of a commercial character, for the acquisition of the Sandwich Islands. It is now, therefore, to be proposed to annex both to the federal Union—the former as a slave, and the latter as a free State.—Balt. Sun.

Many of the Whig journals are wasting much of their time in inventing pretended extracts from British papers in favor of Gen. Pierce. That the British masses, who are sighing for freedom and the enjoyment of equal rights, look with favor upon the success of the Democratic cause in this country, there can be no doubt. The battles of the Democracy in the United States, are the battles for freedom throughout the world.—Buffalo Courier.

GEORGIA.—A distinguished Georgian (says the New York Day Book) who has recently made the tour of the State, says that a large majority of the whigs of the State, at least seven out of ten, are for Webster in preference to Scott.

DANIEL WEBSTER.—This distinguished whig is in the field in earnest. The Chicago Democrat says that there is soon to be an electoral ticket formed in Illinois.

THE VIRGINIA MINSTRELS.

Will give one of their excellent concerts tomorrow Evening at Corinthian Hall. They are a troupe of admirable performers, and their concerts give entire satisfaction.

Turn out and hear them.

We published last week the marriage of Bro. SOLON TURMAN of the Covington Friend. In his last paper, Solon denies the soft impeachment, and says he has not the good fortune to be married yet. We certainly will not attempt to contradict him as he ought to know.

BACKING OUT.—Some one of the letter-writers from Washington raised the Whig thermometer very considerable about a week since, by stating that the result of the election was now so nearly balanced that no bet could be obtained on the general result: The Baltimore Argus however, contains a card in which it is announced that $10,000 will be bet at any time by Mr. Edmund Pendleton and others, and 25per cent, paid to any person who may take the whole or any smaller amount.

Gov. Slade arrived at Chicago, lately, with thirteen young ladies, designed as school teachers for the West.

Notwithstanding the nomination of a State Rights convention, it is generally believed that South Carolina will go for Pierce and King.

Another Scientific Wonder.

IMPORTANT TO DYSPYPTICS.—Dr. J. S. HOWARTH'S PAIN-EXPELLER.—The true Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, prepared from Rennet, or the fourth stomach of the ox, after Baron LIEBIG, the great Physiological Chemist, by S. H. HOWARTH, M. D., Philadelphia. This is truly a wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Constipation and Debility, curing after Nature's own method, by Nature's own agent, the Gastric Juice. Pamphlets, containing scientific evidence of its value, furnished by agents gratis. See notice among the medical advertisements.

The Shaker Sarsaparilla prepared by Dr. S. D. Howe, of No. 1 College Hall, is the best purifier of the blood of any article of the kind now in use. We speak from experience, and advise our friends to give it a fair trial, as it will most assuredly cleanse and purify the system. For diseases arising from impurities of the blood it has no equal.—Cin. Daily Times. 17 See adv. in another column.
