THE HEROES AT THE DEPOT.

After Macanley—Not Dan.

Low whistled the mayor meekly
The strike must be put down,
For if the depot once is lost,
As well wall in the town.

Just then a "cop" came flanking
A "lily livered loon";
"What shall we do, O 'Auntie'?"
The mob will be here soon."

"There are at least a dozen
Decked out with ribbons white,
And if they once the depot win,
Perchance we'll have a fight."

Up spoke a heavy banker,
Who shaves at cent per cent,
"Against every man upon this earth
Death's bow at last is bent."

Now, how can I do better,
Or more the public please,
Than just by putting down my name
To cheer my mortgagors?"

"Talk softly to the rabble,
And soothe them all if you may,
I, with a few to help me,
Will glory with to-day."

"If we but play it fine,
The tracks shall all be free;
Now who will peeky with his tongue
And bend the trembling knee?"

Straight spoke another banker,
A hero without fear,
"Lo! I will stand just ten squares off
And thank you in the rear."

Out spoke a curbstone broker,
Prompt as the main of Rome,
"Why I will get still further back,
And somewhat nearer home."

Meanwhile the smoke-smirched dozen,
Right fearful to behold,
With ribbons decked, which once were white,
Strode back and forth blazon for fight,

With swaggering air and bold,
A dozen tongues were wagging
With sounds of merry glee,
As that small squad with measured tread,
With hardened cheek and digits spread,
Moved slowly on to each train's head
To set the engine free.

But as they reached each entrance,
Halted the mighty "O" mass,
And waited for a man to come
To bid the trains to pass;

But, hark! the cry is "Caven,"
And lo, the ranks divide,
Room for the great "male Auntie"
Who pockets manly pride.

He smiled on these bold strikers
A smile which all could see;
He eyed the bold law-breakers,
Then took them by the hand.

Quoth he "Now boys you'd better
Just stand out of the way,
And trust the railroad officers
To raise your monthly pay."

Then turning to the captains,
With both hands, O the light
Of those who plead for favors,
"Now, sayre, this isn't right,"

With ready tongue the leader
Quite so he turned the flow
Of words that came like half-breathed sigh,
Or sounds we hear when young lambs die;

They saw the fear within his eye,
And saw the mayor go.
As quickly toward his office
The meek-voiced mayor broke,
As moves belated pawner
To get his watch from soak;

"And this is all the thanks I get
For getting on my knees,
And shaming my high office
Trying both sides to please."

Meanwhile both lip and tongue
Were far from striding still,
They generated power enough
To run a Dutch windmill.

In their "mind's eye, Horatio,"
They slew and slew and slew,
Until the gutters ran with blood
Too deep for wading through.

At last up rose the people
They buckled belts, and armed for fight,
Strong in the cause of legal right,
To vindicate the law.

"Curse on them," said the strikers,
With many a scowl and frown,
"Were they but livered like the mayor
We still had held the town."

Now we should make an image
Of putty easy worked,
And set it up to show the world
How our mild mayor shirked,
And underneath be written
In letters all of brass,
That Indianapolis no more
Will place its power on ass.

INFORMATION WANTED.

The following letter was received by Postmaster Filbeck and is published verbatim. The writer evidently wishes to know something of a "tail" or rumor that is at present having much credence and large circulation among the country folks, that a man is slowly burning up and cannot be moved, and that he lives near this city.

GEORGIA IND. AUGUST 9 1877

DEAR SIR:

There is a tail out of a man 16 miles from terrehaute that is burning all the time and can not be moved they hitched 2 yoke of oxen to him and could not move him if there is any of it please write to me and let me know I will put in an envelop and stamp for return postage. Please write soon

JOHN C. SPENCER Georgia, Lawrence County, Indiana.

EX-MINISTER NELSON.

From the Danville Times of Wednesday.

Hon. Thomas H. Nelson, of Terre Haute, ex-Minister to Chili and Mexico, arrived on this morning's train from Toledo from a month's tour in Canada, dined at the Centennial in company with Judge Terry and left on this afternoon's train for home.

Col. Nelson says he took his trip for the express purpose of getting the ague out of his system, a disease with which he was seriously afflicted in the early part of June, having shaken some ten or twelve days in succession. He has gained his rotundity of body and lost none of his rare conversational powers during his absence.

THAT new tea store to be opened on Main street, in the store lately occupied by Richardson, will soon be ready to open to the public, and it will be one of the most gorgeous and tasteful places in the city.

THE POLICE.

Work of the Guardians of the Peace on the Armstrong Mystery.

An Interview With the Horn Boys.

They are Released This Afternoon.

Fresh Arrests.

From Saturday's Gazette.

The murder case still attracts public attention. The GAZETTE appends below all the news up to the date of going to press.

"THE HORN BOYS."

The above is the familiar title by which these young men are known. The GAZETTE has heard many kind and very few harsh words about them in inquiring as to their history. Their father, Mr. Horn, the butcher, is as honest and straightforward a man as ever wielded a cleaver on a block. The boys are of course not generally known.

A GAZETTE having obtained permission of Sheriff Carico this morning sought an interview.

John Horn, the eldest, yet nineteen, a large, stout, good looking fellow was brought into the office where a conversation, in substance as below appended, was had:

After a few preliminary remarks in which John said he felt not the slightest anxiety and was only desirous of being liberated from the blackhole in which he is confined, the reporter stated that he had heard there was a complete line of proof to establish an alibi.

John—"Oh, yes, I will have no trouble about that. I can prove by 'my girl' her father and her brother that I was at her home all that evening."

Reporter—Who is the young lady to question?

Horn—Emma Zeigler.

Reporter—What is her father's name and where does he live?

Horn—He is Fred Zeigler and he lives on the corner of 8th and Lafayette streets. He has a son named John.

Reporter—How long were you there?

Horn—From half after six until ten o'clock.

Reporter—When did you first hear of the murder?

Horn—Not until the next morning. My younger brother slept nearest the window. In the morning Jake Hawes came past and hollered at him. Jake is always hollerin' as he passes in the morning. He asked my brother if he had heard that Dr. Armstrong had been shot and my brother said no. He then ran down stairs and found out about it, and told my mother and I learned from her.

Reporter—Where and when were you arrested?

Horn—At our slaughter house between two and three o'clock in the afternoon, we were charged with taking that money.

Reporter—You know Mr. King? You were not there that night?

Horn—Yes we know him and are on good terms with him. He buys his meat of us. We were not at his house that night. He lives about two miles from our house.

Reporter—When were you at his place last?

Horn—Not since pay time. We borrowed a keg of him then.

Reporter—Was there ever any trouble between you and Dr. Armstrong?

Horn—No. We just stopped him.

Reporter—What was the cause?

Horn—It was on account of my brother.

Reporter—What was the matter with your brother and how was he hurt?

Horn—He has the hip joint disease. He was hurt several times. The first I believe was once when he and some boys went out for paw paws. He jumped from the wagon and lit straddled of the shafts and I think the horse must have kicked him. Still he could walk first rate and the next day was jumping with the boys in front of the blacksmith shop when, all at once his hip hurt him very bad and he had to stop. It seemed as if something had snapped. Afterward he took a serious fever and we thought he would die but the doctor brought him out of it. He kept treating him for it but he didn't get any worse. Another doctor told us the leg had never been broken at all that it was hip disease and we changed our physicians.

Reporter—How long had Dr. Armstrong been your physician?

Horn—Ever since we have been here until a year or so ago. We thought a great deal of him.

Reporter—Was there ever any trouble about the settlement of the bill for treating your brother?

Horn—No. He never presented his bill. He has bought meat at our shop since then and we expected to use that account in settlement.

Reporter—Was your brother with you that night at Zeigler's?

Horn—No. He was at home. He always goes to bed early.

Reporter—Is he very lame.

Horn—No. He can walk but not more than a square or two at a time without sitting down to rest.

Reporter—What is his name and how old is he?

Horn—His name is Joe and he is only sixteen years old.

Thanking him for his information, the reporter saw him locked up again and withdrew. He soon met Mr. Horn, the father, come down with some fruit for his boys. There seems to be general sympathy with them.

LATER.

Since the above was in type the Horn boys having had their examination were released. It is probable that Cadden and Clark will also be liberated this evening. Mr. Lafayette Mallory an acquaintance of Cadden wishes the GAZETTE to say for him that he was at his crossing on that evening and that he knows him to be a man of character. The report in a cotemporary, of his having been arrested for stealing some brass castings is true but it should also have mentioned the fact in simple justice to Mr. Cadden that he was promptly released. It would be a pity if all the parties arrested on suspicion should be always accused of the crime of which they were acquitted without trial.

MAYOR'S MEETING.

The Relief Meeting was a Success Numerically.

Speech by the Mayor Stating the Object of the Meeting.

On Motion of Wm. E. Hendricks It Adjourns Since Dis.

At 8 o'clock sharp last night as many as twenty persons had gathered on the side walk by the Court House and a fair count showed at the least calculation a concourse of six up stairs in the Circuit Court room. After a while, for great bodies move slowly, nineteen of the twenty down stairs had gone up and one of the six up stairs had gone down. So that it will be seen twenty-four men assembled to see what could be done to keep out of the house, that hoary headed sinner winter which is understood as being at our very doors, making gaunt and ghastly faces at hundreds of families who are also understood to be on the verge of not having as many watermelons to eat as they want. Stepping to the front Mayor Fairbanks called the assembled multitude to order. The surging crowd having quieted down the Mayor said:

GENTLEMEN:

Having issued a call for this meeting, it is proper that I should call it to order. The idea I had in issuing the call was that some measures might be taken to relieve the want which I believe exists in this community. It was my desire to have the heavy property holders meet together to discuss the question and see if something could not be done. Every morning I am besieged at my office by persons seeking relief. I wanted to see if something could not be done to stop it. The heavy property holders were invited to come, but they have not heeded the invitation. It would hardly be possible for this meeting to do anything to the purpose. The few are present and what are here do not belong to the right class. Besides since I issued the call I have been inclined to take a more hopeful view of the situation. Business seems to be brightening up. Within the past few days I have seen indications of returning prosperity. I think perhaps we had better not attempt any thing.

Wm. E. Hendricks moved that the meeting adjourn sine die.

His honor Mayor Fairbanks thought that was as good a thing as could be done. The motion was then put, carried unanimously by four votes in the affirmative and the crowd surged out in the balmy mid summer air.

CHARLEY ROUSER.

"One who knows" furnishes the GAZETTE with the following partial list of the liabilities of the late Charles Rouser. The places left blank are left so because the exact amounts are not known:

Hawkins rent, (about 6mos.) $ —
G. F. Smith, 260
Clift & Williams, (about) 500
Bank, 125
Jos. Rupp, 125
Doresch & Co. 75
Lee & Davis, 70
T. H. Ice Co. 50
E. W. Johnson, 25
Boot & Shoe house, 12
Wash woman, 27
The Stahl, 20
Milk man, 30
Cook and other help, 30
Rippetoe, (300 to 400.)

A CREAMATORY urn—we suppose that is what is called. At any rate it is a receptacle for the ashes of a corpse that has been cremated—is on exhibition in the lobby of the Terre Haute House. It is intended as a sort of parlor ornament and is neat though not gaudy.

LIVER COMPLAINT.

By R. V. Pierce, M. D., of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., Author of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," etc., etc., etc.

The liver is the great depurating (purifying) organ of the system, and has very appropriately been termed the "house-keeper" of our health. I have observed in the dissecting-room, and also in making post-mortem examinations of the bodies of those who have died of different diseases, that in a large proportion of cases, the liver has given evidence of having at some time been diseased. Liver affections are equally prevalent in beasts. Every butcher knows that the livers of cattle, sheep, and swine, are ten times as frequently diseased as any other organ. A healthy liver each day secretes about two and a half pounds of bile. When it becomes torpid, congested, or, if, from any cause, it is disabled in the performance of its duties, it is evident that the elements of the bile must remain in the blood, thus irritating, poisoning, and perverting, every vital process. Nature attempts to rid the system of these noxious material by means of other organs, as the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., which becomes overtaxed in performing their additional labor, and are unable to withstand the pressure.

The brain, which is the great electrical center of vitality, becomes overstimulated with unhealthy blood, and fails to normally perform its functions. Hence there is dullness, headache, impairment of the memory, dizziness, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. When the blood is diseased, the skin manifests discolored spots, pimples, blotches, carbuncles, and scrofulous tumors. The stomach and bowels, sooner or later, become affected, and constipation, piles, drowsy, dyspepsia, or diarrhoea, is the inevitable result.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT.

A shallow color of the skin, or yellowish brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, with frequent headache; dizziness, bitter or bad taste in the mouth, dryness of the throat, and internal heat; palpitation of the heart, a dry, teasing cough, sore throat, unsteady appetite, sour stomach, rising of the food, and a choking sensation in the throat; sickness and vomiting, distress, heaviness, and a bloated, or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the sides, back, or breast, and about the shoulders; colic pains and soreness through the bowels; constipation, alternating with diarrhoea; piles, flatulence, nervousness, coldness of the extremities, rush of blood to the head, with symptoms of apoplexy; humbleness of the limbs (especially at night), and shills alternating with hot flashes; kidney and other urinary difficulties, dullness, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings. Only a few of these symptoms will be likely to be present in any case at one time.

TREATMENT.—Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with small doses of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets, which act as an alternative on the liver. For Liver Complaint and the various affections caused by a diseased liver, these remedies are unsurpassed. The Golden Medical Discovery does not simply palliate the disease, but it produces a lasting effect. By its use, the liver and stomach are changed to an active, healthy state, the appetite is regulated, the blood purified and enriched, and the entire system renovated and restored to health.

FOR PEOPLE WHO BELIEVE IN LUCK.

Some people are fond of denying that there is any such thing as "luck," but that is what they, certainly are persons to whom seems like fortuitous good fortune comes. Col. Green Wildenson gave a seat in his green in London to an old gentleman, who left him $40,000 a year. A young Bostonian crossed to England three or four years ago, and got into conversation with an elderly gentleman who observed that he found they had the same name. It turned out that they were second cousins. The elder had gone to California in the earlier days, made a vast fortune and entirely lost sight of his relatives. That chance meeting gave the young Bostonian a fortune of between two and three millions. Two ladies had a box at the opera in London. An old man opposite boarded them dreadfully by perpetually "forgetting" them. The scene came to an end, and they thought no more about him. One day year afterward, a solicitor called on one of the ladies, Lady Frances Bruce, and told her that an old gentleman, Mr. W., had left her proper worth several thousand a year. "Never heard of the man," she said, "must be a mistake." "Very extraordinary," replied the solicitor. Suddenly a happy thought struck him. "He lies in his coffin in St. James' street, close by at Banting's, the great undertaker; will you come and see him?" She went. It was the old forgotten. And it is said he left to her under a mistake, after all, having intended to leave to her friend, whom, and not Lady Frances, he admired, but was misinformed as to the names of the ladies. And to give one more a quiet recent instance: A young New Yorker went to San Francisco to seek the fortune which so many have failed to find. He got a poor clerkship, and had to be thankful for that. One evening at a place of entertainment he watched a game of cards, saw that an elderly Englishman was being cheated, exposed the fraud, and had a tussle with the cheat. The Englishman has presented him with $20,000 to start him in business, and there is every prospect that more are to come.—[Exchange.]

MANY WHO ARE SUFFERING from the effects of the warm weather and are debilitated, are advised by physicians to take moderate amounts of whisky two or three times during the day. In a little while those who adopt this advice frequently increase the number of "drinks" and in time become confirmed inebriates. A beverage which will not create thirst for intoxicating liquors, but which is intended specially for the benefit of debilitated persons, whether at home or abroad, is Dr. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic. Containing the juices of many medicinal herbs, this preparation does not create an appetite for the intoxicating cup. The nourishing and the strengthening properties of many valuable natural productions contained in it and well known to medical men have a most strengthening influence. A single bottle of the Tonic will demonstrate its valuable qualities. For debility arising from sickness or over exertion or from any cause whatever, a wineglass full of Sea Weed Tonic taken after meals will strengthen the stomach and create an appetite for wholesome food. To all who are about leaving their homes, we desire to say that the excellent effects of Dr. Schenck's seasonal remedies, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, are particularly evident when taken by those who are injuriously affected by change of water or diet. No person should leave home without taking a supply of these safeguards along. For sale by all druggists.

"Smitten smiters" and "stricken strikers" is what the Cincinnati Commercial calls the rioters who have been arrested.

NEW MANAGEMENT.

This evening after supper a new arrangement will be effected in the management of the Commercial House. It will hereafter be run on the European plan, the first in the city. The dining room will be managed by Messrs. Chapman and Capt. Fields. Mr. Chapman is well known as a restaurant keeper and needs no recommendation as an excellent person in his work and Capt. Fields who will be in direct charge is a most worthy gentleman that is certain to be the right man in the right place. Their table is sure to be equal to the test and their charges low and reasonable.

The hotel proper will continue to be run as heretofore by Messrs. Fellenzer & Drumhilt with Mr. Drumhilt in direct charge—assisted by Mr. Grant as clerk.

LOVERS of the weed who are good judges say that last lot of Key West cigars which Grove Crafts received is the best ever brought to Terre Haute. And they are cheap too.

Judging from the quality of much of the meat now on sale in our markets, the bees must have had a tough time of it on the road.

FREE OF COST.

DR. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, &c. is given away free of cost in trial bottles. If you have a severe Cough, Cold, Difficult in Breathing, Hoarseness or any affection of the Throat or Lungs, do by all means give this wonderful remedy a trial. As you value your existence, you can not afford to let this opportunity pass. We would not afford to give this remedy away unless we knew it contained the merits we claim for it. Thousands of hopeless cases have already been completely cured by it. There is no other medicine in the world that will cure one half the cases that DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY will cure.
