The Weekly Gazette.

THURSDAY JANUARY 5, 1881.

The Daily News.

Mr. C. A. Cook has transferred the News to Messrs. Standford Bro's. at Chrisman, Ills. The paper is being run to-day by Messrs. Hebb & Goodwin with Mr. LeFevre temporarily in charge. Mr. Cook and his entire family left for Minneapolis last night, where he expects to be engaged in newspapers work. The paper proved an unfortunate venture and Mr. Cook, whom the GAZETTE believes to be an honest man, because simply overwhelmed with debt. His intention was to make an assignment for the benefit of all his creditors, but Mr. Standford, to whom he owes $1,600, closed in on him yesterday, and the entire paper was transferred to him. The creditors of the office, as far as known, are:

Standford Bros.....	$1,600 00
Riddle, Hamilton & Co.....	300 00
Hebb & Goodwin.....	100 00
Paper companies.....	750 00
Employees.....	from $40 to $60 apiece

THE SMALLPOX.

Forty Cases at Keokuk.

KEOKUK, IOWA, Dec. 30.—Forty cases of smallpox have been discovered in the Medical College, all being students. It is said a smallpox subject was received at the College from Chicago, and that the students having worked on this were infected. The College has been partially quarantined and isolated.

It is impossible to learn the facts relative to the origin of smallpox in this city. The faculty of the College refuses to give any information whatever, the only source of information being its students.

This afternoon one of the students of the Medical College, named Hubermus, who resides in the Estes Building, and will be interred in the potter's field at midnight. The remaining cases present a more favorable aspect this evening.

THE REPORT EXAGGERATED.

The report that there were forty cases of smallpox in Keokuk was erroneous. It was not known, at the time the first dispatch was sent, whether the disease was smallpox or not. Ten cases have been reported to the President of the Board of Health, and one death occurred this afternoon. There were a large number of medical students sick, and from this fact it was very naturally supposed at the time that all were afflicted with the same disease. The scourge is confined to the medical students.

The names of towns and settlements in Arizona possess the air of originality. Here are some of them: Good Enough, Tough Nut, Contention, Family Fuse, and Discipline.

In the world's broad field of battle, Where so many dangers lurk, Pass it by with pleasing smile; For the money always goes to Those who all exertion shirk. While the men get next to nothing Who do all the hardest work.

One of the earliest cannons was merely a cylindrical hole dug in the ground, the earth-barrel being strengthened by rods or sheets of metal. The charge was fired by means of a touch-hole at the lower end. As may easily be imagined, such a weapon was more formidable to its owners than to the enemy.

Slightly sarcastic was the clergyman who paused and addressed a man coming into Church after a sermon had been given, with the remark: "Glad to see you, sir; come in; always glad to see those here late who can't come early."

And decidedly surprised was the man thus addressed in the presence of an astonished congregation, as he responded: "Thank you; would you favor me with the text?"

Professor Phelps of Andover, Massachusetts, thinks by our law of divorce and our tolerance of social evil we are doing more, tenfold, to corrupt the nation's heart than mormonism is. "Vice avowed and blatant and organized" he declares "to a large extent nullifies itself, so far as self-diffusion is concerned. But vice, lurking and still, trickles into all the crevices of society. A nation of Mormons is impossible—not so a nation of libertines."

A Foolish Habit.

There is no occasion for swearing outside of a newspaper office, where it is very useful in proof reading, and indispensably necessary in getting forms to press. It has been known, also, to materially assist the editor in looking over the paper after it is printed. But otherwise it is a very foolish and wicked habit.

Who Succeeded as Journalists.

(Brooklyn Eagle.)

It is worthy of notice that very few men distinguish themselves as editors who do not first of all serve a patient apprenticeship either as subordinate writers or as the conductors of unimportant publications. Experience shows that there is a good deal more to be mastered than the art of writing well. It is in this sense that journalism is called a profession.

Thought He Had 'Em.

(San Francisco Post.)

The other night Prof. Denton lectured at Dashaway Hall on Reptilian era, illustrating the forms of extinct monsters by the use of a stereopticon. About 9 o'clock old Jack Bagley staggered into the room, which he had mistaken for the Germania Club on the next street. Jack sank into a chair, trembling all over, and for a few minutes gazed at the screen with a horrified expression. Then he braced up, walked out and around to the Y. M. C. A. building and signed the pledge. He has been as straight as a string ever since.

How to Get Rich.

Nothing is more easy than to grow rich. It is only to trust nobody—to befriend none—to get all you can and save all you get—to stint yourself and everybody belonging to you—to be the friend of no man, and have no man for your friend—to heap interest upon interest, cent upon cent—to be mean, miserable and despised for some twenty or thirty years—and riches will come as sure as disease, disappointment and death.

And when pretty nearly enough wealth is collected by a disregard of all the charities of the human heart, and at the expense of every enjoyment, death will finish the work—the body be buried—the heirs dance and fight over what you have left and the spirit will go—where?

By all means get rich—it will pay

Curiosities of Earth.

At the city of Medina, in Italy, and about four miles around it, wherever the earth is dug, when the workmen arrive at a distance of 63 feet, they come to a bed of chalk, which they bore with an auger, five feet deep. They then withdraw from the pit before the auger is removed, and upon its extraction the water bursts up through the aperture with great violence, and quickly fills the newly made well, which continues full and is affected neither by rain nor drought.

What is the most remarkable in this operation is the layer of earth as we descend. At the depth of 14 feet are found the ruins of an ancient city, paved streets, houses, floors and different pieces of mason work. Under this is found a soft, oozy earth, made up of vegetables, and at 26 feet large trees, with the leaves and branches in a perfect state of preservation. At 28 feet deep a soft chalk is found, mixed with a vast quantity of shells, and the bed is 12 feet thick. Under this vegetables are found again.

Rest for Headaches.

Dr. Day says, in a late lecture: "Whatever be the plan of treatment decided upon, rest is the first principle to inculcate in every severe headache."

Rest, which the busy man and anxious mother cannot obtain so long as they can manage to keep about is one of the first remedies for every headache, and we should never cease to enforce it.

The brain, when excited, as much needs quiet and repose as a fractured limb or an inflamed eye; it is obvious that the chances of shortening the seizure and arresting the pain will depend on our power to have this carried out effectually.

It is a practical lesson to keep steadily in view, in that there may lurk behind a simple headache some lesion of unknown magnitude which may remain stationary if quietude can be maintained.

There is a point worth attending to in the treatment of all headaches. See that the head is elevated at night, and the pillow hard, for if it be soft, the head sinks into it and becomes hot; which, with some people is enough to provoke an attack in the morning if sleep has been long and heavy."

A Stumble that Won a Husband.

A pretty story is told about one of Springfield's attractive girls, says the Springfield (Massachusetts) Republican, a "round any rosy" creature of many accomplishments.

As the gossip runs, she was hurrying to take a train, tripped, and so gracefully recovered herself as to win the admiration of a very substantial-looking old gentleman. He assisted the young woman on the train and to a seat beside himself. Conversation flowed pleasantly and acquaintance ripened fast.

On parting at a station not many miles west of this city the couple exchanged addresses.

The old gentleman proved to be a wealthy Chicago merchant, who opened a correspondence with our heroine. She apparently wrote as agreeably as she talked. Letters winged their way faster between the city by the river and the city on the lake.

Then came a proposition—not of marriage, but that the worthy son of the susceptible parent be admitted to the correspondence. The father gradually drew out of the field, and the son more than made his place good. Do you not guess it? Yes, in the fullness of time, or rather in a very little while, came an offer of marriage. It was accepted. Three souls are happy, a brilliant wedding and luxurious home are in prospect, and the railroad officers have been greatly puzzled of late by the number of Springfield girls who come stumbling, with more or less grace, aboard trains bound for the great and glorious west.

"A GIRL'S CHOICE."

It was in a drug store of course. All interesting incidents occur in drug stores,—that is nearly all. She was pretty, with blue eyes and golden hair, one of those kind of beauties the poet would have called an "angel," but for the fact that a colony of pimples on her fair frontispiece precluding all thought of a celestial being. Bowing timidly to the handsome clerk, she asked for Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, and upon receiving it vanished like the morning dew before the summer sun.

Review of 1881.

The year 1881 dies to-night. Take it all in all it has been a good year bringing more joy than sorrow, more prosperity than adversity and we let it slip from us forever with regret.

In this issue of THE GAZETTE appears a careful resume of the local events of the year which will be found on an inside page.

THE REASON WHY.

The tonic effect of Kidney-Wort is produced by its cleansing and purifying action on the blood. Where there is a gravelly deposit in the urine, or milky, rosy urine from disordered kidneys, its cures without fail. Constipation and piles readily yield to its cathartic and healing power. Of the dramatic and musical professions testify to the beautifying influence of SOZODONT upon the teeth. Personal comeliness is a positive capital to public performers, and they find that the use of SOZODONT materially second the natural charm of a pleasing face. ## To be Hanged.

"THE DOMESTIC TYRANT."

"The average man" quoth Mrs. Partington, "is a weak and irritable domestic tyrant," and
