W. Farr, of Wabash, was in the city yesterday.

A pretty fair proof of the good eating at Sage's is shown in the way all the members of the establishment get fat. All the Sages are steadily growing heavier and then look at the waiters. They start in there and thin as mast shafts and soon are rivals of the Dickens fat boy.

The Doctor's Endorsement.

Dr. W. D. Wright, Cincinnati, Ohio, sends the subjoined professional endorsement. "I have prescribed Dr. Wm. Hall's Balm for the lungs in a great number of cases, and always with success. One case in particular was given up by several physicians who had been called in for consultation with myself. The patient had all the symptoms of confirmed consumption—cold night sweats, hectic fever, harassing coughs, etc. He commenced immediately to get better and was soon restored to his usual health. I found Dr. Wm. Hall's Balm for the lungs the most valuable expectorant for breaking up distressing coughs and colds."

YOUNGSTOWN.

A Paint Factory Established There—A Decatur Man's Hit.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ind., Oct. 2.—[GAZETTE special.]—About a year ago a forty acre track of land in Pierson township about two miles east of here, on which was a vein of hard substance resembling soap stone that had attracted considerable attention on account of its being an excellent substitute for white wash, was purchased by a Decatur gentleman. The man recognized the substance as being paint in the rough. Since then a building has been erected and machinery to pulverize the substance put in. The paint factory, for such it is, is now in operation, employing about twelve men. The substance, which is slate colored, is pulverized and sent to Chicago to be converted into oil. The owner intends to do his own refining as soon as practicable. Two car loads of the pulverized stuff was recently shipped to Chicago. A switch has been extended to the factory or mine. The vein is forty feet in thickness and extends over forty acres. The owner will make a fortune out of the investment as the paint is said to give perfect satisfaction.

CLINTON.

The Political Pot Boiling—Personal Notes

CLINTON, Oct. 2.—[GAZETTE special.]—The political contest is raging and both parties are working earnestly. Hon. James T. Johnston made an address Friday night at the opera house. Monday night Hon. John E. Lamb spoke at the same place to a crowded house. His address received the best of attention and was frequently applauded. Marshall, the little child of Link McVethy, fell into a cistern last Friday, but was rescued by Mr. Kester. Misses Ettie Edwards, Sarah Downing and Dollie Scott went to Chicago last Tuesday to attend the exposition. At the convention at Newport, Monday, Mr. O'Neal, of Perryville, was nominated for Treasurer, Arnold, of Helt township, for Sheriff, and R. A. Allen, of this place, for clerk. Bob has many good friends here and is a good man for the place. The school board are having a cistern put on the school grounds. Work on the C. & I. bridge is progressing slowly, but surely. The race track is ready for plowing. Heavy rains have delayed work. Mr. Knowles is repairing the levee on his land. D. C. Johnson was called to Rockville yesterday on legal business. Died—At his residence on Tuesday, Wm. C. Wiley, aged about 60 years. Mr. Wiley is an old and respected citizen and his death is deeply felt by the community.

HENRY GEORGE.
Author of "Progress and Poverty" and Workingmen's Candidate for Mayor of N. Y.

SKETCH OF THE NOMINEE.

Henry George was born in the city of Philadelphia, of an old Pennsylvania family, Sept. 2, 1839. Leaving school at the age of 14, he entered a mercantile house as office boy and kept that position for two years. Soon tiring of the drudgery and routine of the counting house young George left his papers and books and went to sea. In 1855 he returned to his Quaker home and entered a printing office. After setting type for a few years he again went to sea, but abandoned the life of a sailor after an experience of two years. He then decided to go to San Francisco and there entered a printing office. He began as journeyman and joined a typographical union, of which he is still an honorary member. In his San Francisco home Mr. George met and married Mary Fox. From a journeyman printer he soon became a reporter, and subsequently became managing editor. His strong anti-monopoly views caused him to lose his place, and in 1871 he and a few friends started the San Francisco Post on their own account. In early life Mr. George was a Republican, and cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln. When the great split took place in the Republican party, however, in 1872, he sided with the Liberals, and subsequently became a Democrat. He represented California in the national Democratic convention in 1872, which met at Baltimore.

Mr. George remained in San Francisco on the Post until 1875, when politicians gained control of the paper and he left it. He began to write "Progress and Poverty" in 1877 and was engaged on the work for two years. He subsequently moved to Sacramento and ran for the Legislature, but tiring of the West he settled in New York in 1880, where he thought a wider field was offered for his talents. Since coming to New York Mr. George has published "Social Problems," "Protection and Free Trade," and the "Irish Land Question," besides being a frequent contributor to various prominent English and American periodicals. The work on which his fame mainly rests is "Progress and Poverty," perhaps the most widely read book of this age. It has been translated into almost every modern language.

Since coming to New York Mr. George has made three trips to Europe. In the winter of 1881 he went as correspondent of the Irish World. On his return home he was given a banquet at Delmonico's, at which Henry Ward Beecher, Perry Belmont, and many other prominent citizens of Brooklyn and New York were present. While in Ireland Mr. George studied closely the land question and was there arrested as a suspect, but was soon released on the discovery that he was an American citizen. Mr. George has been a frequent contributor to the Star and other papers. He lives in Pleasant avenue with his wife and four children.

OBITUARY.

MRS. ELIZABETH B. WHELAN.
Communicated.—Mrs. Elizabeth B. Whelan died at her home in Fayette township near New Goshen on September 21st. Deceased was a daughter of Thomas and Mary O'Hara, and was born in Maryland, February 2d, 1806. When 3 years old, she moved with her parents to Kentucky. There she was married to John N. Whelan. In 1831 they moved to Illinois, living in Randolph and Edgar counties. In 1838 they purchased a farm in Indiana, to which place they then removed, and where she lived until her death. While yet a young woman, she was left a widow with nine small children, the oldest being but 12 years old. Although in a new county and in very limited circumstances, she would not consent to be parted from any of her children, but with true motherly love and a will that would not despair, she brought them all up to honorable manhood and womanhood. Through the mysteries of Providence, two children remained in the home with her to lighten the cares and increase the comforts of her declining years. In early life she became a member of the Catholic Church, in which profession she was strong, faithful and devoted. Her Christian life shed its good influence upon all around her, and is worthy of imitation. Her kindness and attention to the sick and her many deeds of charity will long be remembered.

DYSPEPSIA

YMP TOM'S Loss of Appetite, Rising of Food, Heartburn, Distention of the Stomach, Headache, Bad Breath, Sleeplessness, Low Spirits and general prostration, Dyspepsia is frequently attended with Constipation but sometimes with Diarrhoea.

THE PROOF.

I have been suffering for over two years with dyspepsia in an aggravated form, and for the last year I could not take a drink of cold water nor eat any fat meat, pickles or any similar food without vomiting it. My life was a misery, and after our home physicians failed to benefit me they advised removal to Colorado or California. In the hope of relief, I had thought of leaving my family and would have gone to the mountains if it had not been for the fact that I was a mother. I am now taking the Dr. J. C. Williams' Pink Pills. I am now taking the second bottle, and words cannot express the relief I feel. My appetite is very good and I digest everything thoroughly. Where I used to have a passage every four or five days I now have regular daily evacuations of the bowels. I sleep well now and I cease to be very restless. I am eating up fast. Good, strong food and Simmons' Liver Regulator have done it all. I write this in the hope of benefiting some one who has suffered as I did. I will take oath to these statements if desired.

ROCKVILLE.

All Interest Centered in the Congressional Race.

Rockville, Oct. 2.—[GAZETTE special.]—Walter Coffin and Will Thomson have returned from Louisville, Kentucky.—Ed Lambert, one of Rockville's best young men, was married on last Friday to Miss Cora Yeagley, one of Crawford's most estimable young ladies. They came to Ed's home immediately after the marriage. This night some of the boys organized a band to serenade them. After attempting to play a couple of pieces Ed came out and invited them in to eat ice cream and wedding cake. About 12 o'clock the Battery boys came down and fired three shots. Burr Robbin's show shows at Brazil Oct. 8th and here the 9th.—Will Crain is clerking in Bryce & Hankin's store.—Larkin's Smith, who formerly clerked in Bryce & Hankin's store, has gone to Terre Haute where he is clerking in a dry goods store.—Charles Sideron was on the sick list the first of the week.—Rev. Kearns, the pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach his initial sermon tomorrow. The battery has rented the old factory building for an armory.—Mrs. Emily Johnston is visiting in Indianapolis.—The corn social last Friday night was something new in the way of socials. A person could get a good clean meal there and we were glad to notice that it was liberally patronized. The space was rather limited for the social, but a good crowd was in attendance all the time.—The sum of $500 was stolen last week from Sam'l De Baum, of Penn township. From what can be learned about the particulars, he buried the money in his garden and some one saw him do so and came and took it.—Will W. Jones will speak at the court house tonight.—Like Deman spent the first part of the week in Rose Dale.—Married: By Rev. Cummings at his residence Sept. 26th, Mr. Nathaniel Newlin to Miss Eliza E. Byerly. Both are of Penn township.—Joseph L. Boyd returned from Vermillion county Tuesday.—There is very little said here about the county elections. All interest is centered in the Congressional race. The Republicans are bragging and talking about their candidate Johnston, while the Democrats say nothing but are quietly working and are confident that Johnston's majority in this county will be less than it ever was. It is claimed here that he won't carry his own township which is a strong Republican one.

Views of the District Press.

Crawfordsville Star.—Some one ought to apply a cooling poltice to the head of Charles H. Knight, of Brazil, for fear the rabies set away with him. Mr. Knight failed to get an office from President Cleveland and he is getting somewhat irritated.

Dana News.—Poor Johnston! He is too good for this world. It would be in order now for him to chant that beautiful strain which consoled the Hon. Chas. J. Guiteau in his last hours—"I'm going home to Lordy!"

Brazil Democrat.—There is not in this Congressional district a more bitter partisan than James T. Johnston. At Rockville, in 1884, he made a speech in which he said, "I thank God that no Democratic blood flows in my veins." Yet, Republicans delude themselves with the thought and endeavor to make Democrats believe that "scores of Democrats will vote for Johnston." Not a single Democrat in Clay county will do so; but on the contrary, many Republicans will vote for John E. Lamb again this year because he is better qualified for a seat in Congress than his competitor.

Count on Clay County for Lamb by 500 majority.—Abe Bringer is moving his store house from Front street to a good location on Main street and will fit it up for a business room.—Our hotel, the Kline House, is having a good run of custom now, as it will always have as long as Aunt Mary Kline continues to run it.—R. Bryson and family are taking in the state fair at Indianapolis this week.

A SLEEPY HUSBAND.

His Wife Taken Screaming From the House Without His Hearing.

COHUES, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Superintendent Wheeler, of St. Agnes' cemetery on the outskirts of the town, lives in house in the cemetery. Last night about 9 o'clock Mr. Wheeler was in the house sleeping but Mrs. Wheeler was about the house. There was a rap on the door, which was opened by Mr. Wheeler. Four men immediately pounced upon her and carried her through the cemetery. Although she screamed with all her might her husband did not hear. When the end of the cemetery was reached the men tied her to a fence. They then demanded that she tell where the $100 was hidden which her husband had received from the pastor of St. Agnes' church, but she refused to tell. They threatened to hang her, but she merely refused, gave the information. The men left and went to the house, which they thoroughly searched but did not find a penny, and the men left. The woman screams finally attracted the attention of neighboring farmers. They found her tied to the fence and unseeing Mrs. Wheeler was carried home and husband awakened.
