

Pastor's Column

By LEONARD THOMPSON
Milford Methodist Pastor

"What hath God wrought?" By some kind of contraption, Martini hurried those words completely across the Atlantic. Just recently, you witnessed another breakthrough in communications which God hath wrought. But, then, these words of God are just pips compared to some of the other works which God hath wrought. For example, I do not know whether anyone was standing around when God created the world; but, I can imagine that it was an impressive sight! However, that was just the beginning of God's works: "Hey, Noah, build that ark; it is going to rain." "Hey, Abraham, go west, young man, go west." "Hey, Pharaoh, let my people go." "Hey, Jeremiah and Isaiah, go tell of the days when we ain't gonna study war no more, when everybody is going to do good from the heart, when babies can play with rattlers, and coon dogs and coons will live peacefully together." And, still, God's works were not ended! "Hey, Virgin Mary, conceive and bear." "Hey, hey, hey, 'tis finished," he gasped from the cross. "Surely this was the Son of God." But, no, it was not finished; it was the beginning—the beginning of the end. "Red-eyed Peret, you come back here and preach to the people. Tell them that I Who was dead am alive. Tell them that I have a work for them to do—especially you tell Magdalene the whore, and Saul the murderer, and the winos of Damascus."

This is the most marvelous work of all: God has called Magdalene and Saul and you and me to be co-workers with Him. God raised up His Church for that purpose. So now, little kids and old men, the sick and the well, the rich and the poor may enter together into the church to do God's work.

How do you respond to this marvelous work of God—the Church? Do you respond by continually complaining about the church in the community? God gives you that freedom. You can complain about the people in the church: "This person is a no-gooder; that person is 'stuck-up'; and I can guarantee you that you will always find enough faults with the churchmen around you to keep you busy night and day in complaints."

Or you can respond to this marvelous work of God by saying, "Well, I don't know what they are going to do with it." It is always safe to be an arm-chair observer and label the church as "they." But, God's work in this community is not "they"; it is "I"; God has chosen you to be a part of His great work.

There is another possibility: you may respond by saying, "Here am I, Lord; use me." You may dare enter into the life of a church fellowship and be a co-worker with God. For the divine invitation has been extended to you. Don't get me wrong. That will not be the panacea of all your ills. There will be no escape from human frailty. Like some medieval churchman said: "The church is like Noah's ark; if it were not for the flood raging outside, you could not stand the stink inside!" The preacher may be most boring in his preaching. (A fellow said the other day that one of the greatest miracles is that the church has survived 20 centuries of preaching.) But, if in the midst of all this frailty you respond to the claim which God has laid upon you in Jesus Christ and you go about seeking to do the work of God, you will know what I mean when I say that God's most marvelous work is that he has called Magdalene, Saul, and you and me to be His co-workers.

James Jonash, USN, Completes Active Duty Training

James J. Jonash, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Jonash of 33 Syracuse, completed two weeks of annual active duty training July 7 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the two-week period, the reservists received training in ordnance and gunnery, damage control and water survival. In addition, they participated in a vigorous physical fitness and military drill program. Classroom study included instructions in naval orientation sentry training and first aid.

Upon completion of the training period, the reservists returned to their local Naval Reserve units, ready for immediate call in the event of a national emergency.

A Review of Andersonville Trial Now At Enchanted Hills

If "Andersonville Trial" is an example of the quality of plays being presented at the Enchanted Hills Playhouse, both residents of and visitors to the area will happily discover upon attending one that this is an expert troupe of experienced and excellent actors. This drama was presented so realistically as to feel actually present during the stirring military trial in Washington, D. C., during the summer of 1865.

"Andersonville Trial," currently running at the Enchanted Hills Playhouse, is a remarkable portrayal of the age-old controversy of military obedience versus moral obligation. The drama deals with trying the confederate officer in charge of the formidable prison camp for captured Yankee soldiers during the Civil War. He is charged with conspiracy against the United States government and with the direct and indirect murder of thousands of Yankee prisoners at Andersonville. Throughout the play, one wonders what, in such a military war situation, will the military tribunal decree?

The question arises "Is there a moral issue in this case?" and is then answered "We have gotten to the heart of it." This situation is well known to most men serving in a military capacity during times of war... and extends into their daily lives. Does one "obey orders" or follow the dictates of one's conscience?

Go To— Church Every Sunday

Harvest time makes a man think.

The bread God gives us has to be cut, threshed, shipped, baked, and delivered before it ever reaches our mouths. And long before, it had to be sowed in a ploughed field, cultivated, irrigated, and fretted over a thousand times.

Lots of work in it for man. No gift wrapping with a ribbon around it.

But don't think we could get along without God! Leave out His part and there would be no harvest — no point in all our work.

So wheat inspires worship! And every Sunday in Church reminds us that we never labor alone... that our labors gain fruitfulness from God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
