

Janice Kay Drudge And Harry John Schultz Wed In Piercetion Friday Night

The wedding of Miss Janice Kay Drudge and Harry John Schultz took place in the Methodist church in Piercetion at 8 p. m. on Friday evening, October 18.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Drudge of Piercetion and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schultz of Milford.

Rev. O. S. Crain officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of yellow and bronze autumn flowers.

The bride chose a white knit wool frock. She wore brown accessories, a crown style veil and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bucher, Jr., of Milford attended the couple.

Mrs. Bucher, a sister of the bride, wore a beige brocade suit with brown accessories and a carnation corsage. The bride's mother chose yellow and the bridegroom's mother chose white for their dresses.

A reception for about 20 guests followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Following a wedding trip to Indianapolis the couple is at home south of Syracuse.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of Piercetion high school, Raven Craft beauty school in Fort Wayne, and works at Berniece's Beauty Shop in Syracuse. Mr. Schultz is a 1959 graduate of Milford high school. He attended Indiana university and is employed at Donnelly's in Warsaw.

Syracuse Locals

Al Keefer of Kale Island, Lake Wawasee, has been staying at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Bowersox, Syracuse. Mr. Keefer fell two weeks ago breaking two ribs. He is up and goes home every few days.

Airman first class and Mr. Robert E. Buser and children Cindy Jo and Robbie of Fairborn, O. are spending a couple of days in Syracuse with relatives. Jane Buser, Syracuse, who has been with her brother and family for several weeks, returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wise of Heidelberg, Germany, were overnight guests, Monday, Oct. 21, of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Seafroos of Syracuse.

Miss Linda Briggs and girl friends of Plymouth are spending the school holiday week end in Syracuse. They are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lee Gilbert and visiting other relatives.

Mrs. Lloyd Kammerdiener, Mrs. Dolney Kammerdiener, and Mrs. John Hartzler of Syracuse and Mrs. Ralph Kammerdiener of New Paris attended a kitchen shower for Mrs. Dean Levallen, at the home of Mrs. William Runsey, Jr. at Goshen Sunday, Oct. 20.

Rev. and Mrs. Claud Coppock of Wakarusa spent Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 23, with Mrs. Estella Swartz of Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Knisley and family were Saturday evening callers at the Donald Knisley home at Benton. Mrs. John Knisley of New Paris was a week end guest.

Mrs. Merwood Ketring and daughter, Mrs. Chester Carpenter, both of Syracuse, were in Gary Monday visiting Mrs. Grace Lydick who is recuperating at St. Mary's Mercy hospital following an automobile accident. Mrs. Lydick, an aunt of Mr. Ketring, sustained six fractured ribs and a fractured collar bone in the accident.

Mrs. Bertha Nicolai, Syracuse, spent three days last week in Elkhart, at the home of Mrs. Nellie Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith of New Castle called on the Jack Elams of Syracuse, Saturday.

Mrs. Chester Lehman of Harrisonburg, Va., has been visiting with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yoder, Syracuse.

George and Lillian Klein of Kenmore, N. Y., were Tuesday, Oct. 15, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Niles, Syracuse. The Niles son, Burton, wife and three children of Warsaw were recent dinner guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Yoder and Robert Insley of Syracuse have returned from Evansville, where they attended the Indiana Credit League convention. Mr. Yoder was elected president at the convention.

Mrs. George Meredith of Rockford, Ill., is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edgar Logan of Syracuse. The two women will leave for Miami, Fla., for the winter in the near future.

Thirty-five members, guests and friends of the Helping Hands class of the Syracuse Church of the Brethren attended the Saturday evening performance of the Holiday on Ice show at Fort Wayne. Ray Darr is the teacher of the class and Mrs. Harry Fackler is the assistant teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ryman and daughter of Nappanee spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Ryman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Gilbert and daughter of r 1 Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cecil and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Yoder, all of Syracuse and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haller of Kalamazoo, Mich., are vacationing in Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kowalik and daughter Tammy Ruth of West Lafayette were in the Syracuse community over the week end visiting with friends and relatives. Mr. Kowalik is a freshman at Purdue university.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Brown of Ogdin Island, Syracuse, will be leaving soon to spend the next two months in Florida.

Tommy Fitzsimmons of Elkhart spent the week end of October 19, at the home of Mrs. Bertha Nicolai, Syracuse.

Frank Bieber and Mr. and Mrs. John Caple, Syracuse, attended the Lakeland Motorcycle club meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 15, at Warsaw. Mr. Cable is president of the club.

Jack Elam, manager of the Syracuse office of Budget Investments, is taking a week's vacation and will go to New Castle on Wednesday, Oct. 23, to visit friends and relatives. William Kessel of New Castle is manager of Budget this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wolcott of Kent, O., were guests Sunday, Oct. 21, of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hager, Syracuse.

Mrs. William Wittell of Denver, Colo., visited recently at the Dear-dorf home on south Main street, Syracuse.

Rev. Ralph Wagoner and family of Syracuse attended the regional youth laboratory of the Church of the Brethren at Camp Mack Saturday.

Debbie Stahley, daughter of Mrs. Isabelle Stahley, Syracuse, spent a few days last week at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Ed Stahley, Nappanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Craig of Chicago were guests recently of Mrs. Elly Blakesley, Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Magers of Marion are staying at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cecil of Syracuse, with the Cecils' two daughters, Jane and Linda. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil are on a vacation in Arkansas.

James E. McCleary At Air Force Academy

U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo.—Cadet James E. McCleary of Warsaw, Ind., has been accepted as a member of the U.S. Air Force Academy Cadet Wing following his completion of basic cadet training.

Cadet McCleary, son of Dr. and Mrs. Virgil A. McCleary of 1830 N. Bay Drive, Warsaw, is a member of the 850-man class of '67. His four years of study at the academy will lead to a bachelor of science degree and a regular Air Force commission as a second lieutenant.

The basic cadet training was designed to prepare him morally, mentally and physically for the academy's comprehensive military and academic program.

Cadet McCleary graduated from Warsaw high school and attended Purdue university.

Warning To Solicitors In Syracuse Area

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, a man who later gave his name and address as Nick Prathofoker, 1346 Bowman street, South Bend, appeared at a local residence selling Collier's encyclopedias and stated that the householder's name had been given him by his home office as one being interested in purchasing the encyclopedias.

The salesman made the mistake of going to the wrong house. As the police were called and the man was placed under arrest by officer Fred Personette.

He was taken before justice of the peace Christian Kohler who fined him $25 and costs, totaling $41 for breaking ordinance number 386, section two of the town of Syracuse. The ordinance specifies no solicitor shall enter the premises for the purpose of soliciting for magazines, encyclopedias, or photography.

Don Eynart, chief of police of Syracuse, stated he hoped this arrest would serve as a warning to other solicitors in the area, that the Syracuse police department does not intend to let these men break the town's laws.

FORMER SYRACUSAN HOSPITALIZED IN FLORIDA

Mrs. Roland Byler, Vernon, Fla., was reported to be seriously ill in Jackson hospital, Marianna, Fla. She was admitted Saturday, Oct. 5, for observation and treatment of complications resulting from major surgery performed a month ago.

Mrs. Byler underwent surgery again last week and was reported to be in fair condition at the last report.

Lynn Knisley Found Guilty In Elkhart

Airman Third Class Lynn Knisley, stationed at Montgomery, Ala., was found guilty by a superior court jury in Elkhart Tuesday as an accessory after the fact involving an act of attempt robbery of an Elkhartian, Ted Bailey, on Dec. 20, 1962.

He was freed on a $3,000 bond, and is to be sentenced on Oct. 30. Two others involved in the case, Timothy Stouder and Robert E. Zentz, both of r 3 Syracuse, previously received 1-10 year sentences at Pendleton.

North Webster News

CORINNE STAPLES, Correspondent PHONE: 834-2608

List North Webster Demo Election Board Members

North Webster Democratic town chairman Burt D. Silver announced his party's members of the North Webster election board for the Nov. 5th election.

They are as follows: Clerk — Ollie Link Judge — Paulina Corbin Sheriff — Vaughn Hinesley North Webster Republicans have not released their election board officers to date.

Efficient Homemakers Entertain Live And Learn Officers

The Efficient Homemakers club entertained the officers of the Live and Learn home demonstration club of Warsaw at the home of Mrs. R. K. Sullivan.

Mrs. Charles Long gave meditations on "Reflection Ideals". Health and safety remarks concerning diabetes were given by Mrs. Hannah Payne. Mrs. Hubert Robbins related the history of the song of the month, "Let There Be Peace" and gave the lesson from the Christmas Workshop.

Following the meeting, the ways and means committee made a surprise collection and Mrs. Deverl Bowser was in charge of the game and social period.

Mrs. David Payne, co-hostess assisted Mrs. Sullivan with the serving.

Next month the club members will celebrate their anniversary but the committee in charge is keeping the location a secret.

Mrs. Donald Franz, president of the Live and Learn club, and two of her co-officers, were guests at the meeting.

Webster Legion Post Commander Resigns Office

Due to the general condition of his health and other unforeseen obligations, Tillman Coy, Jr., has resigned from his office as commander of the Herbert Kuhn American Legion post in North Webster. He will be succeeded by the first vice commander Jack Angel, until a new commander is elected.

COUNTY WCTU WORKSHOP FRIDAY

Representatives from the four Women's Christian Temperance Unions in Kosciusko County, including Warsaw, Winona, North Webster, and Milford-Syracuse, attended the county Workshop Friday in the social rooms at Warsaw's Lake City Bank.

County department directors conducted individual workshops with their local Union directors, discussing goals and meals of achievement. Mrs. Parke Pearson of Winona Lake, county president was in charge of the meeting which was an all-day workshop with a basket dinner at noon.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pifer entertained at a spaghetti dinner at their home Friday night. Guests included Mrs. Ermal Vanator, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Angel and Mrs. Jacob Krouse.

Mrs. John Pearson, Mrs. Elinore Eynart and Mrs. Robert Schafer attended the president and secretary conference in Indianapolis over the week end. Mrs. Eynart is the local American Legion auxiliary president and Mrs. Pearson is secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Creemans entertained with a birthday dinner in honor of their daughter, Jill at their home Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vanator and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ermal Vanator, Mrs. Ernest Creemans and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creemans and daughter, Debbie.

Jacob Krouse who retired recently from his position in Fort Wayne and retired to his Sechrist Lake home has been busying himself the past week with some carpentry work at the home of Rex Shoemaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pifer entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Finney and daughters, Beverly and the twins, Marlene and Charlene, and two friends, Jim Pierson and Tom Birch all of Niles, Mich. Afternoon callers at the Pifer home were Betty and Sally Clayton and Larry Kinsey of Winona Lake.

Jacob Krouse of Sechrist lake attended the Last Man's supper at Fort Wayne Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richards and daughter, Karleen spent the week end with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eberly in Aurora, Ill.

Mrs. James Pearson and daughter, Jamie of Phoenix, Ariz., arrived last Saturday for a visit with friends and relatives in this community and Warsaw. Mr. Pearson is employed in Las Vegas, Nev.

Miss Sue Clark of Ogdin, Kansas, arrived Monday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. David Richards and family.

Arthur Baugher and Albert Junior Hamman spent the week end fishing in Michigan.

Mrs. Paul Baugher who had surgery at the Murphy Medical Cen-

Webster Couple On Caribbean Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hamman arrived home from a 10-day Caribbean air tour of the Virgin Islands and other points of interest on Tuesday, Oct. 15. The cruise was with 16 other persons on the WOWO Jay Gould conducted flight.

The group started from Fort Wayne on October 4, and flew to Chicago, where they took a jet plane all the way to the Virgin Islands and San Juan, where the group stayed at the Blue Bird Caste hotel and the Carribe-Hilton hotel. Jay Gould also flew over to Santa Domingo to check on the Pigs for Peace, but was unable to fly into Haiti, as with the storm damage from the recent storm or hurricane Flora, there was no place to land.

Mrs. Hamman said it was a wonderful trip and they enjoyed every minute of it, but would have been uneasy had they known how heavily the guests were guarded at all times. Police even slept in the rows of rooms of the guests. When they arrived by small plane at Santa Domingo, they were the first Americans to arrive there after their ex-president, Boeh, was thrown out of control. While enjoying the trip, she said she would never forget the misery and poverty they saw there.

Others from this area on the trip were Mrs. Mable Hile of Warsaw and Priscilla Wolfe, of Webster, and others from Marion, Kimmel and Fort Wayne.

New Salem News

By MRS. RAY FERVERDA GLEN KAMMERER IS EVENING SPEAKER

Rev. Emerald B. Jones was speaker at New Salem church on Sunday forenoon during the hour of worship. On Sunday evening Glen Kammerer, senior at Grace college at Winona Lake, was guest speaker and presented pictures he had taken last summer during the "Venture For Victory" tour of seven basketball boys and their coach. They traveled in many European countries.

Mr. Kammerer told of one of the boys who always spoke to the people after each game telling them about the gospel of Jesus Christ. They spoke to 160,000 people and about 4,000 signed up for a Bible course that would be sent to them. They never played basketball games on Sunday.

Young folks invited the young folks of the Bethel church and North Webster Brethren church to attend the evening service.

Refreshments of doughnuts and cider were served in the social room following the service. Those attending from New Salem were Cynthia Taylor, Carolyn, Diana and Loetta Morehouse, Allene Kilmer, Barbara Davis, Karen Plank, Brenda and Gary Hurd, Allison, Leo, Jr., and John Anglin, Pamela Teeple, Max Rarick, Blake Baumgartner, John Stetler, Dennis Shively, and adult advisors Mr. and Mrs. Max Shively, Doug and Dallas.

Court News

Files Suit
The Weatherhead Syracuse Federal Credit Union has filed suit against John E. Ray and Ruth E. Ray of North Webster and Hazel M. Pace of Leesburg, asking $931.21 judgment plus $250. attorney fees. The suit was filed in Kosciusko Circuit Court.

Divorce Suit
Freda G. Cobbum, Syracuse, has filed suit for divorce in Kosciusko circuit court against Owen K. Cobbum. They were married August 2, 1963 and separated October 3, 1963. Mrs. Cobbum asks that her former name, Freda G. Robinson, be restored.

Divorce Suit
The divorce action of Patty L. Jordan of Syracuse against Bobby N. Jordan has been dismissed upon motion of the plaintiff.

Appointed Administrator
Robert E. Reed, Syracuse, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Betty Jean Hughes, former Syracuse resident who died at Fort Wayne June 10, 1963. Her estate consists of personal property, valued at $1,600.

Divorce Suit
Lucy F. Rensberger, r 1 Syracuse, has filed suit in Kosciusko circuit court for divorce against Floyd L. Rensberger, Kale Island, Lake Wawasee. They were married December 7, 1946 and separated October 9, 1963. The plaintiff seeks custody of four minor children.

Divorce Suits Filed
Virginia E. Moore of Milford has filed a divorce suit against Albert R. Moore. The couple was married on Dec. 12, 1942, and separated April 22, 1962. The plaintiff seeks custody of their 15-year-old son.

Mary A. Leamon of Syracuse has filed suit in Kosciusko circuit court for a three-year separation from Carl L. Leaman. They were married June 18, 1962, and separated Aug. 31, 1963. The plaintiff seeks custody of their one minor child.

Betty Sue Conner, r 2 Syracuse, has filed suit in Kosciusko circuit court for divorce against William H. Conner. They were married Sept. 19, 1952, and separated Oct. 14, 1963. Conner seeks the custody of two minor children, a son and a daughter.

Suit Dismissed
A damage suit filed in Kosciusko circuit court by Mary J. Grummann of Indianapolis against Bernice Klunk (Bernice's Beauty Shop) of Syracuse for $10,000 has been dismissed upon motion of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff had charged damage to her scalp and hair due to carelessness and negligence when she was given a permanent in August 1959 at the beauty shop.

Administratrix Named
The estate of the late Joseph Swank, r 4 Syracuse, has been filed for probate in Kosciusko circuit court. Mr. Swank died Oct. 6, 1963.

A niece, Harriett I. Biller, r 4 Warsaw, has been named administratrix. The estate lists $780 in personal property and $10,000 in real estate. A niece, Kathryn E. Pattyn of Toledo, has been named as only heir in the will.

Fined
Norman Graves, r 3 Syracuse, was fined $22.75 for speeding, in Goshen city court Monday night.

Spotlight on Improving Business . . .

No form of communication has been discovered which is so efficient as the written word.

Every person who has listened to an hour speech knows that he would be able to read the same information in ten or fifteen minutes. The college student quickly learns that a long lecture can be condensed in one page of notes which may be reviewed in five minutes.

Written language is also more efficient because it is a permanent record which permits a quick reread of important points and details which may be lost forever through oral or visual communication.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

No Form Of Communication As Efficient As Written Words

By ARCH BAUMGARTNER Publisher THE MAIL-JOURNAL

The newspaper has survived for three centuries as the dominant form of advertising. The reason may be traced to the nature of the medium.

No form of communication has been discovered which is so efficient as the written word.

Every person who has listened to an hour speech knows that he would be able to read the same information in ten or fifteen minutes. The college student quickly learns that a long lecture can be condensed in one page of notes which may be reviewed in five minutes.

Written language is also more efficient because it is a permanent record which permits a quick reread of important points and details which may be lost forever through oral or visual communication.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

The same reaction certainly could be expected of the consuming public which wishes to learn more about new products or details about a sale. So long as the process remains the same the newspaper, with its unlimited space to provide information, is likely to remain the dominant advertising medium.

At best, broadcast media leave a general impression which may have some influence on the listener. They do not provide details which can be retained, or offer any method of confirmation.

It is no wonder that a person, after hearing a broadcast about an exciting news event anxiously goes to the newspaper for a review of details, or to make certain that he heard or saw accurately.

</