CPR class offered at Goshen Hospital

Goshen Hospital is offering a Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) class on Monday, Jan. 27, and Wednesday, Jan. 29, from 6:30-9:30 p.m. at the hospital's education department.

Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation is an emergency measure which almost everyone can learn in a short time. CPR may keep the heart attack patient alive until more advanced life support is available.

When a person's heart stops for any reason — heart attack, electrical shock, drowning, smoke inhalation — the first few minutes can mean the difference between life and death. The American Heart Association estimates 50,000 heart attack victims could be saved annually if emergency care were available at the scene. CPR can provide that immediate care. It involves mouth-to-mouth breathing and chest massage to restart the stopped heart. Its purpose is to keep the heart attack victim alive until advanced life support is available.

Teachers, homemakers, students, policemen, businessmen, restaurant employees and families of heart patients should all take advantage of CPR training. With the knowledge of proper CPR techniques, a person may be able to save a life.

Anyone interested in CPR can enroll by calling the education department at Goshen Hospital. Pre-registration is required as class size is limited. There is a class fee which includes book and materials.

Veterinary science program begins

By RONALD W. HOYT
Extension Agent, 4-H and Youth

Kosciusko County young people aged 14 to 19, who have an interest in the health and care of animals, have a tremendous opportunity to study a wide variety of animal care topics in the 4-H Veterinary Science project.

The 4-H Veterinary Science leaders have planned their 1986 program, and Kosciusko County young people are encouraged to participate this year.

Subjects which will be covered include: the normal animal; body systems and their functions; diseases, their causes and preventions; treatments; and public health concerns.

In order to better understand the subject matter, young people who participate should be at least 14 years old and have completed at least one year of science in school.

The 4-H Veterinary Science meetings are held on the third Thursday of each month beginning in February and run through July. All meetings are scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Justice Building lounge. Field and clinic visits will be scheduled at the first meeting.

The 4-H members should enroll for Veterinary Science on the 4-H enrollment card through their local 4-H club. Project books may be picked up from the Extension Office prior to the first meeting.

The project leaders for Veterinary Science are Dr. Bruce Lamb and Dr. Madelyn Allen of Milford. Questions about the project may be directed to the Extension Office at 267-4444.
