Lets hold no malice toward anyone, progressive, and vote for what we actually think would be for the best.

Mrs. Homer Utterback has returned from a weeks visit with her parents, at Normans station. Homer says he got mighty tired 'batching.

In the Elmer Lucas matter, where it was possible to take a jump on a conclusion and reflect on his political sincerity, has been satisfactorily explained by an investigation, and the facts stand unapproached, that there was no agreement, no trick, no malice, nothing unbecoming a gentleman, and we all have to be gentlemen to do legitimate business.

Next Tuesday is Election.

Next Tuesday is the election and both the leading parties are hard at work for the success of the county, state and national ticket. The democrats have all good men on their ticket, whose records are good and who are in every way qualified to fill the positions of trust. Once in a while you hear a person say something about a candidate doing this thing or that thing in his younger days, and some people are foolish enough to hold prejudice against a man for years, because of something he did when he was a boy, but we don't believe that there are such men on the county ticket or that this feeling exists. There is going to be a big surprise in store for us all and we are anxiously awaiting for the day on which to cast our ballot. Every one wants their particular man elected, and so do we, but remember to put away petty things and vote for those who we know and believe will fill the office to the satisfaction of the people. Here are some who we would candidly believe ought to be elected in the county and state: Hon. W. A. Cullop, for Congress; Hon. John G. Harris, for Representative of Brown and Monroe counties; Hon. J. H. Underwood, for Prosecutor; R. W. Miers, for Judge; Joseph Ratliff, for Sheriff; John C. Dolan, for Treasurer; Wm. Carmichael, for Auditor; Dr. Jos. Kentling, for Coroner; and all the others who are capable and honest men whose names appear on the ticket. We have named a few and space forbids us going into further details as to who we would like, but will wait until the votes are counted and then express our thoughts further. We hope no one will take offense at this by us not giving all the names, but you of course know your choice. So "let her go."

FALL'S NEWEST STYLES IN COMPLETE ARRAY

Never before have we made such strenuous endeavor to make a complete representation of all of a season's style creations. Our untiring efforts have succeeded and now with confidence in this ideal exhibit we present to you an entire showing of every conceivable fad, fancy, creation and conception for this Fall's consumers of merchandise. There's not a new fall thing that you may read about but that you'll find its fellow here. Our FAIR PRICES too, consistent with reliable merchandising make this store an ideal place to trade. We are not here to urge you to buy, but to make you welcome. We want you to visit us often and look and linger as long as you like. Our salespeople are here to wait upon you if you desire attention, or to stand back and give you a cordial welcome to look in peace. So don't hesitate to visit us today because this is not your "buying day." We want you to come. We will feel honored by your visit. We know that you will tell your friends of what you have seen here. The mission of this store is to serve you—serve you as you wish to be served—satisfactorily in every detail.

To-morrow and next day and on and on you'll find something here, in some department to interest you.
