About The Hitch-racks

I have been interested in the article in the JOURNAL of last week stating the straits to which the Town Board seems to be put with reference to hitch-racks. It is true we need them—must have them. They ought to be as handy as possible; but it is just as true that it seems to me a disgrace to the community to have them in front of our public-school building. Of all places in the town they ought not to be there. These racks are for the sake of business—the farmer's and the merchant's—and therefore ought to be disassociated entirely from our school premises and placed in the business part of town. A great many towns of the present day have a splendid cement pavement for the racks just in front of the business houses. They are handy and can be kept clean and thus business affairs are placed where business is done. But to continue to have the racks where they are, and, besides that, to make them permanent is and offence to every citizen who has a sense of the propriety of things becomes a source of criticism from all right thinking people who visit our community. The lot which the Board has bought is not nearly so far from business as farmers have to go in many of our larger towns, yet, if finally it is decided not to use that lot, the most natural thing is, not to leave the racks where they are, but to place them in the business section of town where business is done and where they cannot be an offense to the community. Two Brothers In Six Weeks

William, brother of N. A. Steinmetz of this place, died at South Bend, early Sunday morning of cancer of the stomach. He was 55 years old, last Thursday, and leaves a widow and one child. This is the second brother of N. A. Steinmetz to die of cancer in the last six weeks. The oldest brother, John, died at Goshen.

Greets Good Crowd

A good-sized crowd greeted Andrew J. Hickey at the K. of P. opera house, last Wednesday evening. His talk was free from abuse and personalities and was interesting. Considerable interest is attached to his candidacy in Syracuse due to the fact that he is a stockholder and vice-president of the Gilderman Manufacturing and Foundry Co.

Milk Consumers

—In appreciation to my milk customers I intend making them a present. To all those buying 50c or more worth of checks on Saturday, October 17th, I will give free 1-2 pint of cream. The cream to be delivered either on October 18th or 19th.

County Registration Less

One hundred and sixty-four less voters registered this year than at the last registration. In 1912, 7,998 were registered, while this year the number is 7,834.

Prohibition Speech

Meeting At M. E. Church

The meeting on Evangelism and Sunday school work at the M. E. Church was very interesting and well attended. In the afternoon the audience was splendidly addressed by Rev. W. T. Daly of North Webster, S. B. Storkey of Wakarusa, and A. A. Turner of Benton. Rev. Turner was once pastor of this church and his friends were much gratified to hear him again. In the evening Rev. R. L. Cates of Nappanee, and R. L. Semans of Goshen, gave very helpful addresses. All the churches of Goshen District of the M. E. denomination have been visited as this one was here, in behalf of the interests and progress of the church.

Beveridge Coming Here

Albert J. Beveridge, Progressive candidate for U. S. Senator, will speak on the streets of Syracuse, on Friday morning, October 16th, at 10 o'clock. Mr. Beveridge is an excellent orator and will be worth listening to, regardless of what your political affiliations may be.

Installing Motor

The town has purchased a 20-horse motor through the agency of Wm. Depew, and it is now being installed at the pumping station. This will preclude any possibility of a water shortage due to insufficient pressure to pump into the stand-pipe. The motor ready to run will cost about $300.

Snow Records

A statistician has the following records on early snows in this section:

1906—October, 11th.
1899—October, 14th.
1913—October, 21st.

Kansas People Picnic

Kansas people employed at the cement works had planned an outdoor picnic for Saturday, but the rainy weather compelled them to hold it at one of the homes.

Bourbon Attendance Poor

Attendance at the Bourbon Fair was poor. On Wednesday there was only 21 paid admissions to the grandstand.

Dies Of Diphtheria

The diphtheria at Goshen has resulted in one death. Mrs. Flora Blender, aged 27, was the victim. There are ten cases there.

—Should this dreadful war continue the Emperor of Germany may lose his job. No one knows. But every Syracuse girl knows that the way to keep the young men coming is to feed them well on good things made from Goshen Flour.

PRESERVES PEACE WITH BAT

KEEPS BELLIGERENTS APART TILL
MARSHALL ARRIVES

Wm. Ward and a sound, hickory ball bat preserved peace and order among two Italians, one negro, and a white man, Thursday, until Marshal Hire arrived.

The trouble started when the negro and white man stole a suit of clothes belonging to Jasper Ruga, from a bunk car. Sam Polo, another Italian discovered the culprits, and calling on his brother Italians to follow, commenced pursuit. The chase led across Boston street, through the creek and the quarry were finally brought to bay in the yard of Wm. Ward, where a fierce battle soon was waged. A hurry-up call was sent for Marshal Hire, but when he arrived hostilities were at an end. Mr. Ward and his ball bat were enforcing quiet. The negro had locked himself in a wood-shed, and with the American and two Italians were escorted to the lock-up. The negro gave his name as Tom Wallace and the white man, Frank Hayes. The Italians were released after explaining the circumstances. The burglars were taken to Warsaw, Friday, and a charge of burglary lodged against them.

Descriptions of a convict escaped from the Kansas Federal penitentiary were identical with that of the white prisoner, and the federal authorities were notified by Marshal Hire.

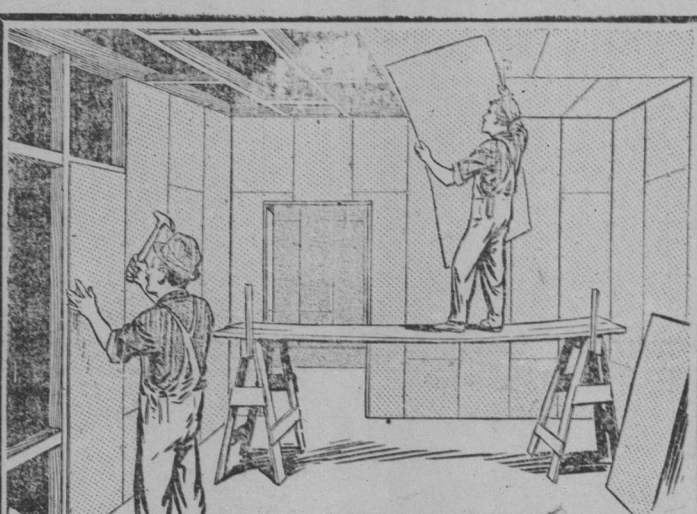

CARNIVAL AT GOSHEN

LAST THREE DAYS OF THIS MONTH
SET ASIDE

Business men of Goshen have planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the last three days of October, an Industrial and Farm Products show which they claim eclipse any fall festival held in Indiana.

Over $2500 in cash prizes and premiums have been subscribed. Industrial and auto parades, baby show, athletic contests, school exhibits, farm products displays, band contests and a Halloween masquerade on the last night are some of the features. Every contest will be free for all. No entrance fees are asked.

The big premium lists of the Goshen Harvest Jubilee will be printed in full in this paper next week. It will pay all to watch for it and read all of the hundreds of prizes offered.

Carpenters Can Apply BESTWALL and Save the Time and Muss of Plastering

Bestwall is of as much value to the contractor and carpenter as to the owner. It is nailed directly to the studs by the carpenter in a fraction of the time required to apply lath, then wait for plaster to set. Extreme cold or wet may prevent the laying of plaster and hold up carpenters on outside work, but they go right ahead where Bestwall is used, without a minute lost, regardless of weather.

Bestwall
House Lining

In addition to its simplicity in erection, Bestwall is cleaner to handle. Plaster dropping to the floor disfigures it and necessitates a man to clean up, but Bestwall leaves no muss. Any way you take it, Bestwall has the advantage over lath and plaster or any wall board, for it is guaranteed not to warp, crack or shrink and is absolutely fireproof.

Mrs. Linclon Cory and children spent Sunday with Emerald Jones'. Virga Coy spent Sunday with Mae Vorhes. Irvin Darkwood and wife were on our streets Monday. Milo Meloy spent Sunday with Mr. Schuders of Milford. James Brown and wife spent Sunday with James Callender's. Mary Ulery visited her daughter Mrs. Sarah Iffert Friday. Mrs. Ernest Mathews and Lavica Dewart were on our streets. Grandma Coy returned home Sunday after spending a few days with her son Marion. Frank Meloy and family spent Sunday with Chas. Grove's. Jess Darr and family spent Sunday at the home of Crist Darr.

Some Crowd

E. W. Hire missed the car at South Bend, Sunday, and the reason he gives is awe-inspiring. He said that there was an awfully large crowd at the Interurban station and when the car pulled in some one was standing on his foot. Before he could find out who it was the car had left without him.

Contract Closed

The Millersburg town board has contracted with the Hawks Electric Co., of Goshen to furnish 17 street lights there at an annual cost of $650. The Lake Shore and Wabash railroad companies will light their station grounds.
