COUNTY VET.

Yoder's Views.

When called upon to "make some remarks," Yoder stated that the dairy business of the United States totalling three billion dollars a year combined with three billion live stock business far outdistanced the billion dollars produced by wheat.

The dairy business alone, he said, will eventually reach the 6 billion dollar mark and will bring the farmers out of depression.

He said the farmers of Kosciusko county would only benefit in this if this county remains an accredited free area which is only possible with a county veterinarian.

After making some remarks on the peculiar fitness of this county for dairying, he explained that of more importance was the fact that the Pango dairy company built a milk station in this county only because this county was an accredited area.

Yoder said that if the county goes off the accredited list for one day the loss would be irreparable due to lack of confidence on the part of buyers.

In showing the value of the milk industry to the county he stated that a million five hundred thousand dollars had passed through the banks of the county for material, labor and milk since the Pango company had built their station in Warsaw.

He reiterated several times that the inspection of cattle would work toward the benefit of the dairymen for it would bring them higher prices for their milk.

State Vet Speaks.

Dr. Brown, the state veterinarian explained that in recrediting the county only 20 per cent of cattle would be tested in case that they did not show more than one tenth of one per cent infection. If they did show more the whole county would have to be inspected according to the law.

He said any herd that had previously shown infection would be inspected in the process of recrediting the county.

In answer to the question if the county should be recredited would it be necessary to pasteurize milk, Dr. Brown explained that those who sell their own whole milk must have their cows tested every year but that those who sell to milk plants need only have tests made every three years. He explained that pasteurizing the milk is just an added precaution to eliminate the danger of disease in milk, that the plants do this on selling to big cities which have ordinances that only pasteurized milk can be sold there.

Dr. Brown reminded his audience that the law was made as a health measure, and that it called for a program, whose purpose was to eradicate bovine tuberculosis within the state, work for anyone's personal gain work for anyone personal gain.

He added that Indiana was the fourth state within the Union to become a free accredited area.

Igo Speaks.

Mr. Igo, county councilman, wanted to know if the livestock sanitary board of which Dr. Brown is the secretary hadn't made an appropriation of 231 thousand dollars to be spent this year in eradicating bovine tuberculosis in this state? He asked if their work is not costing more every year?

Dr. Brown did not think these were true figures but after checking the matter up he stated the figures represented an appropriation for two years and that the appropriation had been cut down this year.

He was not very clear in his explanation and seemed slightly surprised at Mr. Igo's question.

Mr. Igo wanted to know if it is not true that by maintaining a federal accredited herd a farmer's market for his milk could not be cut off, even if a county were not accredited. To this question Dr. Brown answered that his market could not be cut off, but to maintain a federal accredited herd a farmer would have to pay for an inspection every year.

Kelley Against It.

In presenting his petition against the appropriation Kelley said only a few persons would benefit by the passage of the appropriation and that it would be unfair taxation to make all pay for it.

He said he would be in favor of the appropriation only if the law made it necessary but that it was unjust. That if the appropriation must be made according to law, the law is unjust and should be changed.

After hearing the arguments the council adjourned to another room and voted down the measure.

SCHOOL NOTES

Carlton Richhart won the bronze medal given the free champion of Syracuse High school when the tie was run off yesterday noon.

Carlton Richhart and Harold Swenson had tied Tuesday noon when the 11 with the highest scores tried for championship. They both shot 40 out of 50 chances.

Other scores were: Herschel Bitner, 29; Maurice Lung, 37; Charles Beck, 35; Kingsley Pfingst, 30; Leonard Hibschman, 31; Lloyd Held, 27; John Freeman, 36; Wayne Fisher, 34; John Gordy, 39.

Parents of High school students who received "X" in citizenship this month received letters from the school authorities asking their aid toward bettering conduct in school.

Professor Oscar Winger, field man of North Manchester College addressed the graduating class Tuesday.

Rev. Jarboe addressed chapel last week.

The lower grades enjoyed Easter celebrations last Friday. The First Grade pupils hunted candy eggs hidden by the Easter rabbit, then played games. Miss Garrison said the pupils told her they had expected ice cream and cake as that was what is served at all parties.

The Second grade planned a surprise party for their teacher, Mrs. Meredith. They had made up a Dutch play which they acted for her during the time of opening exercises Friday morning and then they presented her with a hyacinth and a handkerchief.

The Third Grade made Easter baskets and Miss Geisel filled the baskets with candy for them.

Virginia Papenfoose has withdrawn from the Second grade and Glenn Papenfoose from the Fourth. They have transferred to North Webster.

Robert Minnegar and Carol Cory were absent from the Fifth Grade on account of illness.

Nelson Hinderer missed school last week on account of tonsilitis.

THEY CALL HER

Appendix—it costs so much to take her out.

Spoon—she leaves them deeply stirred.

Almond bar—sweet but nutty.

Varnish—she's always giving some bank account the finishing touch.

Good Resolution—easy to forget.

Roast Pork—apple sauce and not much dressing.

Marine—she's seen a lot of the world.

Wheat—she's easily shocked.

The Pathfinder

HERE'S WHERE TAX

451.80; the county collected from the township and town of Syracuse $36,669.85; the township collected from the township and the town of Syracuse $74,863.16.

Turkey Creek township is one of the richest townships in the county, due to its valuable lake properties, and as a consequence, during the early period of road building, had more available funds for road building purposes than any other township and consequently many of the roads in the township were township roads or built with township funds. However, now that most roads in the county are being constructed, as county unit roads, it naturally follows that Turkey Creek township is compelled to pay considerably more as its contribution to the county road building program.

The total bonded indebtedness in Kosciusko county for township roads is $588,784.00 while the total bonded indebtedness in Kosciusko county for county unit roads is $386,762.00, making a total bonded indebtedness in Kosciusko county for township and county roads of $975,546.00.

Interest on $955,546 at 4 1/4% is $43,000 and if the bonds are retired in 10 years there is an additional $65,554 which must be paid every year making a total of $138,554. That represents the price of road building for one year.

Turkey Creek township stands third on the list of townships for township road bonded indebtedness with $53,300.00. Washington township is second with $66,752.00 and Wayne township first with $183,190.00. Etna township is the lowest with $3,680.00 and Van Buren stands next to lowest with $9,120.00.

These figures are given because of the fact that considerable interest is being aroused in the matter of taxes. They are not to be considered as a criticism in any way whatsoever and it should be remembered that roads and public buildings are constructed as a result of a public demand upon trustees and the county commissioners. If we feel that the burden of cost for our public improvements is too much the one and only way to remedy this is to stop asking for such improvements, at least until the present burden of taxes is relieved.

LEG CUT BY BUZZ SAW

Sherman Judy, about 70 years old, received a severe laceration of the left knee when he tripped and fell, his leg being thrown against a buzz saw. He was working at the George Darr farm Tuesday afternoon when the accident occurred.

He was taken to the Elkhart hospital. As the cut was on the upper side of his leg the large arteries at the back of the leg escaped injury. He may have a stiff knee but it is hoped that he will completely recover from the accident.
