THIS BIG UNDERTAKING

The Civil Works Administration, whereby $400,000,000 will be spent to create 4,000,000 jobs is the most stupendous undertaking of the government in time of peace.

Its effect even now is being felt in the smallest hamlet in the United States.

One may not believe in it in principle, and wonder when, and by whom the bill must be paid, but right now it is the most vital thing in the country.

Official and business men have been working day and night, drafting projects on which money can be spent, for the CWA is insistent in its demands that jobs be made now, not tomorrow or next week.

In this country alone, the burden of poor relief which has cost $39,684 so far this year will be relieved immediately, thus taking a burden of direct taxation for poor relief from the local taxpayers.

In the near future, however, every taxpayer will soon feel the acid burn of the demand from the federal government for more taxes.

But at present, the demand is for more jobs, the money has been made available and it is up to the officials in charge to see that they get full 50 cents an hour work from those employed. Also that each community gets its share.

Some call this 400 million easy money. The future will tell whether or not it will be easy money.

The CWA, however, is to take care of the emergency, to create jobs.

BE PATIENT

The CWA has started moving. It is moving so rapidly that officials cannot keep up with developments.

In Kendall county, information was requested as to the number of men to be on the CWA pay rolls before any projects were considered by the state organization.

Practically nothing of the details of hiring, qualifications of men that are eligible for work under the CWA at present, are known by the local administration.

They know one thing definitely, that men now receiving poor relief must be given jobs. Others deserving of work must wait until Dec. 1. The men directing and helping the local CWA are doing their best to get things straightened out and moving smoothly.

Contrition, mistakes will creep in, but they will be remedied.

Remember that the CWA work is for those who failed to make a living. This is their way out.

From what could be learned at the state headquarters, others who have managed to keep off the dole by cutting themselves and by careful planning, and are now at their last resources, will be given aid too.

In fact, these are the ones that the officials want to help. They should keep a stiff upper lip. The state wants to give jobs to them, and is doing everything possible to give them their chance.

MAIN STREET
WHITTLINGS

They tell us of a new racket some of the Syracuse men found in Chicago. Some men who was down and out, thought it out all alone. He sits near the cigar counter of one of the big hotels, and as men buy smokes and pull lighters out of their pockets to light same, the man steps up and bets from $1 to $5 that the lighter won't light the first time. He wins about nine times out of 10. These lighters quite often don't work until the second or third try—and because when men get bets up they become so nervous they work too hard trying to make the lighter light. The man with the betting racket moves from one hotel's cigar counter to others all day long, and it is said makes as high as $35 per day.

The legitimate retailers of beer are starting to kick. They say that they paid a high license to sell beer legally. That half of their license money comes back to the local taxing units. But all that they receive for their license is a great addition to their overhead. The license gives no monopoly on selling beer for in this locality, bootlegging continues unrestrained.

One retailer claims that there are 60 unlicensed places selling drinks in the vicinity of Syracuse and Lake Wawasee.

Joel Wilt tells this one. He said that on Saturday he saw Fred Hoopingartner on the ground where the cement company's building used to stand. He asked Fred what he was doing there. "Training my dog" was the reply. Fred's dog Duke is about 10 years old with that much experience. Joel claims that just then Duke pointed a single quail. He said Fred flushed the bird, the gun roared twice, but no bird fell. Again the dog pointed. Again a bird flushed, and again the gun roared twice, but no quail fell. After that, Joel said that he held Fred that he ought to practise shooting instead of taking his dog out for practise.

County officials, township trustees, town officials, business men and in particular, Mr. J. J. Lantz, county administrator of CWA, who have given up time, money, etc., towards working out the projects under the CWA will in a few weeks time be the recipients of verbal brickbats from individuals who are not favored either because they did not receive a job, or because they wanted some particular stretch of road or ditch to be repaired.

DANGER AHEAD.

By C. E. Wade, director Chicago College of Commerce

The NRA experiment may prove unsuccessful but it will not be fatal. The price-fixing and processing-tax methods of the AAA may fail, but agriculture will survive. But if the tinkering with the money creates a condition which our government cannot control, we will be plunged into an orgy of uncontrolled inflation with stark disaster just ahead.

In June, 1929, there was $4,476,000,000 in circulation and in September, 1933, $5,650,000,000. I am convinced that it is not the amount of money that makes us rich or poor neither is it individually responsible for prosperity or depressions, but rather a super-credit structure built on a sound money foundation which makes us economically healthy.

I am also convinced that the majority of people are unaware of the serious condition which now exists because of the Administration's money policy. I will mention only three things to substantiate the conditions:

1. There is approximately $41,000,000 in bank deposits.
2. There is about $103,000,000,000 of life insurance policies.
3. There is $50,000,000,000 in bonds outstanding (taking only those listed on the New York board).

The three items total about $194,000,000,000. If we take away $44,000,000,000 because of possible overlapping of insurance funds in banks and invested in bonds, we still have $150,000,000,000. With the dollar pounded down to 60c we are compelled to discount this amount 40 per cent, which will show a loss to the American public of $60,000,000,000 or $2,000 for every family. It is destroying debtor and creditor alike. It robs the wage earner in his modest home no less than it does the rich of his possessions.

There are multiplying signs on the economic horizon that the federal credit structure has reached the maximum of expansion if it is to remain within the bounds of safety. Under such conditions the country has a right to expect that the president will listen to the counsels of his soundest and most experienced monetary advisors.

To admonish the Administration to be careful of creating a breakdown of credit and uncontrollable inflation, situations in which a resort to fiat money would be automatic, is not destructive but constructive criticism prompted only by a deep concern for the common welfare.

The farmers may plow under twenty-five per cent of their wheat and cotton, but we doubt whether this will help much unless we can get rid of about ninety per cent of the political farm "experts" at the same time.

A Michigan poultry expert says that if you feed a hen cod liver oil she will lay bigger eggs. Maybe we ought to give the cod liver oil treatment to some of those European nations which owe us money.

A woman writing to the editor of a Washington paper wants to know how she can escape being hit by automobiles. That's an easy one. Stay at home on the front porch.

One of our cynical bachelor friends says he wouldn't buy a marriage license even if you could get 'em on the installment plan.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR TRUCK OWNERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—New regulations governing the issuance of licenses for trucks, semi-trailers and trailers to prevent loss of revenue from this source have been adopted by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and will take effect with the sale of 1934 licenses starting December 1, it was announced today by Frank Finney, commissioner. Copies of the regulations have been forwarded to managers of each of the 137 branch license offices over the state.

In the past, Mr. Finney stated, there has been no method of determining whether a truck owner had paid the proper license fee based on the capacity of his truck and in many cases, licenses were obtained at a lower fee than the capacity of the truck required. Under the new regulations it will be impossible to escape detection if plates are being used on a truck, the capacity of which is not the same as that for which the plates were issued.

When truck plates are purchased, the purchaser will also receive two metal numbers, these numbers corresponding to the classification of the truck. The numbers are to be placed on a prepared space on the license plate, provision being made for their being firmly attached. These supplementary numbers will give police officials and inspectors of the Bureau the key to the classification in which the truck belongs. If the capacity of the truck does not place it in that classification, the owner will be subject to arrest and a fine.

Penalties are provided by present laws to prevent substitution of numbers other than those issued with the plates or for the transfer of these key numbers to other plates. Mr. Finney stated. This system is expected to prevent the purchase of license plates for one size truck at a lower cost than the plates would have cost had the actual capacity of the truck been given when the application was made. This plan will assure every truck owner that other owners are paying their proper fees, making the licensing fair for everyone, he stated.

NEW USES SUGGESTED FOR GRANULATED HONEY

LAFAYETTE, Ind. The other day a homemaker told Miss Aneta Beadle, Extension Nutritionist of Purdue University, that she had ten pounds of honey that had granulated, and that she was going to throw it away.

Miss Beadle points out that if that woman had been in the habit of using honey, she would not have worried when it granulated, for granulated honey has many uses and some homemakers even put honey in the refrigerator to make it granulate.

She suggests the following as some of the uses of granulated honey:

Cake Icing—Add chopped nuts and coconut to granulated honey and warm just enough so it will spread easily.

Hard Sauce—To ¾ cup granulated honey, add ½ cup butter that has been allowed to stand at room temperature. Blend thoroughly. This mixture should be prepared as needed and chilled before being served.

Candy—Mix granulated honey with ground dates, prunes, apricots, figs and other dried fruit.

Granulated honey can be used instead of liquid honey in cakes and cookies, and it is no more difficult to measure.

Friends here received word of the death of Ross McMichael, brother of Rev. Russell N. McMichael of Lucas, O., formerly of Syracuse. Ross McMichael, aged 31, editor of the Fremont Messenger, suffered with neuritis since last July. He died Nov. 11. He is survived by his wife, two children and his parents as well as his brother.

It is said that the coal strike in Western Pennsylvania has cost the miners, the operators and the railroads $20,000,000. But eventually they will get it all out of the consumer.

So! We are catching up with Europe, be we? Nobody, on either side, at Gettysburg or Appomattox, thought that was necessary! We got Monarchy from Europe, an' slavery, too, and later not 'bout bankrupt there, an' got Junior High Schools from Italy! 'S all funny meanin' for words.

Catching up with Europe—I Object A Simons Article printed recently in many papers, including the Indianapolis Star, says that this country must "modify its Democracy simply because European countries have done so. Many people believe that.

Why not try to "complete" our Democracy, before, or instead of, modifying it? Everybody knows our original Democracy was only a compromise. The many Amendments to the U. S. Constitution prove that, for each Amendment is a sort of Postscript that should have been in also.

the Constitution at the first. European Democracy "failed" simply because they had too little of it—because they had retained too much compromise, prejudice and antagonism; and, like our Prohibition, it was often administered by its enemies. Even then, Europe dropped Democracy only after letting it take the odium of the impossible post-war era; they probably planned things that way—while they hid their own faces!

Our own Democracy has always involved too much compromise and half-measures. Our's is only "Democratic government" Governmental Democracy! It is not a "Democratic Society," not a "Complete Democratic Civilization." It does not even profess to be such—unfortunately. It is a Republic, which means, "Democratic government," not a whole Democratic civilization. So if truly is only a half-truth—or less! We should "complete" rather than "modify" our Democracy—a vital difference. You don't will the patient because he is sick. Why not "modify" our compromises and half-heartedness instead? Remember, it is the lukewarm who are vomited out of the mouth of God and of man also.

CHICAGO TO STAGE FINALS OF LIVE STOCK SHOW YEAR

CHICAGO, Ill.—Next week the 1933 International Live Stock Exposition will open for its 34th year in Chicago. The show will be held from December 2 to 9.

B. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the Exposition, sees in the large entry of live stock and crops an expression of faith in their calling on the part of the continent's leading farmers and stock breeders and an indication of the basic stability of live stock farming, notwithstanding the general depression.

Coming each year the week following Thanksgiving, the Chicago Exposition is the close of the agricultural show season in North America, which begins with the district and county fairs of early summer and continues through the larger fairs and expositions to a climax at Chicago.

Canadians Take Part.

The fact that Canadians are as active participants as are those from the states gives the Exposition the international import its name implies, the management pointing out that farmers of the Dominion send an increasing number and variety of exhibits to the Exposition each year.

Farmers from seven provinces of Canada will exhibit in the crops department of the show. Draft horses will be sent from as far away as Saskatchewan, and Ontario sheep breeders have entered among the largest flocks of purebred sheep that will appear in the competitions.

Officials of the exposition state that there will be more draft horses exhibited than at any time in the last decade. A spectacular feature of the draft horse show is the performance of ton weight six horse teams. There will be eight six-hands competing at the evening

Horse Shows of the Exposition this year, which the management declares is the largest entry of these big hitches in the history of the International Show.

Rail Rates Reduced. In view of the nation-wide interest and the desire of thousands of those associated with the industries of agriculture to visit the International Stock Show, all the railroads entering Chicago have announced special low round trip fares at rates ranging from two cents a mile to a fare and a third for the round trip. Special excursion fares at a cent a mile will be granted from the northern Mississippi valley and northwest states.
