Gen. MILTON STAFF, of Jefferson.
Mr. ENOCH McCARTY, of Franklin.
Mr. ACHILLES WILLIAMS, of Wayne.

The N. Road.

Mr. Hendricks reported a bill in Senate, appropriating $500,000 to be expended of course, during the present year. This might be well enough if so much money on that object, with so many other public works in progress, could be advantageously expended. With a perfect knowledge of the subject in all its bearings, Mr. Clay moved to reduce this appropriation to $200,000, the vote upon the motion to reduce stood ayes 22—noes 22—the Senate being equally divided, the motion failed. Yet with the vote as here stated, the Terre-Haute, "Courier" presumes, that "the President of the Senate" (Van Buren) gave the casting vote against Mr. Clay's proposition! The amendment failed without the vote of Van Buren; and it is well it did, or to be consistent even in this particular, he must have clipped the amount. Money is now plenty in the Treasury; but is it wanted on the seaboard, and when and on what occasion, has Van Buren ever voted its expenditure in Indiana? We answer never.

Mr. Biddle, President of the old United States Bank, has been unanimously elected President of the new. We see Maryland and some other states, are taking steps to authorize the establishment of branch es, or agencies:

It is announced that Gov. Lucas, the Jackson Governor of Ohio, is declaredly Anti-Van Buren he can neither be cajoled, nor bribed to abandon Western interests for the carous intriguer. "Gov. Lucas will not support Van Buren—he is a Harrison man 'out and out'—so says a private letter from Ohio. This one fact should open the eyes of every honest partisan. Van Buren is not Jackson—the poet well said, "flies are not lobsters"—and as regards the humbug "democratic party," only think of such a party headed by Martin Van Buren, Roger B. Taney, James Buchanan, and John Q. Adams!—Spirit of Jefferson! Sleep on!!

Our friend of the Louisville Journal is no doubt, as brave as he is witty—would he, if assailed without notice, by a Jackson, or Van Buren Lieutenant prepared for the occasion, do more than return the blow of the dastard, or does he believe he could find a gentleman to bear a mere, age in the usual form of redress sought by men of honor, to such an assailant?—We are of opinion no gentleman could be found to call upon such an assailant, and if not prepared when the assault is made, to shoot him down as unworthy of his uniform, or afterwards as occasion may require, such Lieutenants must run their race. This remark is drawn from us by the Journal paragraph as follows.

"The Hon. E. A. Hannegan, Member of Congress of Indiana, was severely beaten, a few days ago, in Washington city, by a Lieutenant of the army. Mr. H. declined to demand honorable satisfaction, alleging, that the Lieutenant, by caning, 'had placed himself entirely out of the pale of honor.' When Lieut. Lane, a year ago, assaulted the Hon. Mr. Ewing, this Mr. Hannegan, if we are correctly informed, nearly split his sides with laughter. Is he equally tickled now?"

MELANCHOLLY ACCIDENT.

On Tuesday last a son of Mr. Mitchell Burdalo, of this place aged about ten years, fell into the river, and before assistance could be rendered was drowned. His body has not yet been found.

The Plough Boy, published at Greencastle, Indiana, and edited by John W. Osborn, Esq., has recently reached us much improved in size, and typographical execution—it is decidedly one of the best papers in the state, and merits a wide and extended circulation. We will not however assent to our friend Osborn's innovation on the word "Plough," we cannot find that substantive spell "Plow" in all the authors comprising our library, which consists of a damaged Walker—a mutilated Webster and a dog-eared Perry.

The river still continues in fine order for business. Steamboats are daily passing and repassing.

We are requested to announce Zachariah Pulliam as a candidate for Sheriff.

WANTED

At this Office, an Apprentice to the Printing business. None need apply except such as can read and write.

In the Senate, on the 22nd inst., the Bill for the admission of Michigan into the Union was made the order of the day for the 23rd.

In the House, on motion of Mr. Haves, the Committee on Invalid Pensions was instructed to inquire into the expediency of establishing a pension agency at Hopkintonville in this state.

On motion of Mr. Chilton Allan, it was resolved that the Committee on Public Lands be instructed to inquire into the justice and expediency of indemnifying all persons, and their heirs, out of the public lands which were ceded by the state of Virginia to the United States, who have lost, or may hereafter lose, lands, the title to which was derived from the laws of Virginia, either by patent or entry, on the Western waters, prior to the 1st day of May, 1792, in all those cases where the lands so lost have been taken or covered by claims, also derived from the commonwealth of Virginia.

The Bill to repeal the 14th section of the Charter of the U. S. Bank, making the notes of the Bank receivable in all payments to the Government, was discussed at great length in Committee of the Whole, and finally, on motion of Mr. Cambreleng, taken out of Committee and brought into the House. Mr. C. gave notice that he should call it up on the 24th.

On the 23d, in the Senate, Mr. Grundy gave notice, that he should, on the following day ask leave to introduce a Bill to authorize the P. M. Gen. to make mail-contracts with Rail Road Companies. Mr. Porter, on the same day, concluded his powerful remarks upon Benton's Expunging resolution, and the Resolution for the present was laid on the table.

Congress.—On the 22nd Mr. Benton, in the U. S. Senate, closed his remarks on his expunging Resolution, and Mr. Porter, of Louisiana, obtained the floor in reply. The subject was then made the special order of the day for the 23rd.—The Bill to make further appropriations for the suppression of Indian hostilities in Florida was afterwards passed and sent to the President for his signature.

In the House of Representatives on the same day Mr. Chamberleng, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a Bill to regulate the deposits of the public money in certain local Banks, which was read twice and committed to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. Mr. Chamberleng, from the same committee, reported a Bill to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to adjust the claims of the United States Bank for damages on the protested bill of exchange drawn on the French Government. Read twice and committed. Mr. Patton, from the Committee on Territories, reported a Bill for the admission of Arkansas into the Union and the establishment of a District Court therein.—Read twice and committed.

COME AT LAST!

We have now the promise of a little regularity in the arrival of the Eastern Mail. The steam boat Boston, attached to the regular mail line, arrived yesterday morning; and we understand an arrangement has been made by which we are to receive the mail three times a week from Louisville. The Boston, Tempest, Robert Emmett, Free Trader, and other boats whose names are not recollected, form the line. By this route, we expect to receive Washington and Baltimore papers in ten days, Cincinnati in five, and Louisville in four days.

HON. AMOS LANE.

A friend has handed us a very lengthy circular just issued by the Hon. Amos Lane, from Washington City. Were it not so very prolix, although he has not thought fit to forward us a copy, we would publish it. It would occupy at least, three columns of our paper. He says that it was called forth in reply to the queries put to him by his friends, relative to his opinion of the recent movements, of presenting the name of Gen. Wm. H. Harrison as a candidate for the Presidency. In point of wanton and unprovoked abuse, malicious and insulting assertions, duplicity and arrogance, it far exceeds anything of which we have any conception. Instead of attending to the interests of his constituents for which he is paid $8 per day, he is now writing handbills, and franking them from Washington city through the mail, to operate upon the approaching Presidential election. The handbill before us treats of no other subject, charging all the opposition to Van Buren as being Hartford Conventions, opponents of the late war (Gen. Harrison and his friends) the coadjutors of Burr, the aristocracy of the country, who are endeavoring to control the people. But in order that our readers may have an opportunity of judging of this document we give the following extract from it.

"My opinion of the recent movements in our State may be readily inferred."

"It is a part of the game which is playing by the Hartford Conventions of the North, and the Nullifiers of the South, to wrest the election of President from the people, and bring it into the House of Representatives."

"It is a political fraud, and the means used to effect it, are as unworthy as their purpose."

"The very dangers with which our country is menaced, are treacherously made the tools of their intrigues."

"Could those of our opponents who have, with honest intentions, aided the designs of these unprincipled leaders, listen impartially to their unblushing avowal of profligacy; could they be persuaded to consider calmly the unhappy results of such successful schemes, they would indignantly reject the artful counsels to which they have incautiously yielded.—Brookville American.

SPRIT OF THE TIMES

The following is the copy of an extract of a letter, which, by some accident, recently fell into the hands of the editors of the St. Louis Republican. It was written by an individual, almost a stranger in St. Louis, to a political friend in Washington city. The writer, at our last date, had gone in person to Washington to urge upon the administration his claims to the office of some rebellious Whig. Will he succeed? Who doubts? He is evidently of the right materials for a Tory office holder.

"My health is better: I begin to do some business: I wish you would get me an appointment under the United States. The opposition hold most of the offices in the State. The Surveyor General's office, in this place, is to be filled; the present incumbent will not be re-appointed. I wish you would see Senators Linn and Benton, and see if they are not willing to assist me. Our Postmaster is against us; he is unpopular, and the people wish for a change. There is to be a new Land office at Jefferson, and some appointment in the new Territory. CAN YOU NOT AID ME IN SOME OF THEM?"

OBITUARY.

DIED—at the residence of her father near New Harmony, on Saturday morning, March the 19th, of Typhus Fever, Virginia Fagg, aged 5 years and 13 days, eldest daughter of Gen. Wm. Twigg, of Posey county. The brief space of life passed by this interesting child, sufficient to endear her to all the friends of her parents, while her amiable qualities, just budding into usefulness, gave promise of her becoming a solace to them, and an ornament to the society in which she would have moved. Her kind disposition attentive even in anticipating the wishes of her companions; her beauty as a summer flower, just beginning to unfold itself, her intelligence, remarkable in one so young; and her amiable disposition, conspicuous in the whole of her brief existence, had doubly endeared her to her parents, whose bereavement at the passing of this sweet flower can only be compared by those who have experienced a similar loss.

The uncertainty of life is seldom more strikingly shown than in this instance, of a strong constitution, but a few days before enjoying the same good health which had been her steady companion—the destroyer came—a few brief hours of suffering, endured with more fortitude than could be shown by those around her, removed her from a world of cares, leaving her disconsolate parents to mourn a loss that can never be repaired.

KNOX COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Directors of the Knox County Agricultural Society, in the discharge of their duty, respectfully submit the following Report to the Society:

The progress of the Society has afforded much gratification, and its influence has been not only beneficial, but manifestly so, to all observers. The Society now numbers 76 members, and promises to increase. The Treasurer reports seventeen dollars in his hands, and there would have been twenty dollars more, but that the Society incurred an expense of that amount by directing the addresses of last fall to be published in pamphlet form. The Directors respectfully submit, that the publication of an address in the newspapers will not cause any expense to the Society, and that the pamphlet form should be hereafter omitted.

By the attention of the members from this vicinity, an act of the Legislature was procured whereby this Society is made a Branch of the State Society, and as such, is entitled to an appropriation of fifty dollars from the county treasury.

At the last fall meeting the citizens of Vincennes subscribed liberally to the expenses of the Society, and the Directors feel confident, that so long as the Society is conducted in a proper manner, we can rely safely on a continuance of such liberality. The Directors have proposed a list of premiums for the next fall exhibition, and certain rules for the same, based on the supposition that the Society will be able to expend about two hundred dollars in premiums and expenses. This list of premiums, and these proposed rules, are herewith submitted to the Society for approval.

It is proper to observe that the premiums on stock are confined to breeding stock—and this because in the opinion of the Directors, the improvement of the breeders would conduce more certainly to improvement generally. These premiums are also confined to young animals, and this because the object of the Society is not so much to reward men for past labour and care, as to stimulate future exertion.

The following rules are recommended: 1. Cattle will be classed as two year olds, when of any age between two and three years;—as yearlings between one and two; and as calves, while under one year of age. All other animals will be classed in the same manner.

2. Between animals of the same class, say yearlings, the committee of Judges may take into consideration the difference of age.

3. No animal can take more than one premium at any one meeting, and not more than two in its life time—one before its maturity, and one when mature.

4. A certificate in writing will be required of the age of animals, and that they were raised in the county, signed by the owner and some neighbor of good standing.

5. The premiums on butter and cheese may be claimed by citizens of the following counties—Knox, Pike, Daviess, Green, and Sullivan, Indiana, and Crawford, Lawrence, and Wabash, Illinois.—All other premiums can be claimed by inhabitants of Knox county only—but it is hoped, that no man will be found so small as to claim a premium unless he has become a member of the Society and contributed his annual dollar.

6. Stock, farming tools, manufactured articles and all the products of domestic industry, are solicited from all public spirited individuals, whether of Knox county of the Society or not, for exhibition or sale at the Fair. And in all such cases, it will be the duty of the Judges to examine all such property, and to award in their report to the owner the proper credit.

7. Necessary food will be provided for two nights for all animals offered for premiums, or exhibited, or intended to be sold at the Fair, by the Society without charge. The sale will take place on the second day. The auctioneer will serve without charge, but the owners of property intended for sale, must give the Secretary notice by 12 o'clock of the first day.

Ordered that the Report be received and printed.
