

MONTAGUE'S BALM.
A sovereign and infallible remedy for Tooth Ache and an effective preservative for the teeth.
PRICE $1 PER BOTTLE.

In offering this invaluable Balm to the public many certificates of its efficacy might be given, which the limits of newspaper forbids publishing, and which may be seen by calling at the agents, but as every species of quackery has been thus thrust into notice, we invite the public to a more convincing proof of its almost miraculous powers to relieve this worst of all aches, the tooth ache. GIVE IT A TRIAL. (being careful to adhere strictly to the directions given on each bottle) and let it rise or fall upon ITS OWN MERITS. Suffice it to say that in thousands of cases it has never failed in a single instance. It should be used after all dental operations, sore teeth, bleeding, and sprung gums, &c., and is decidedly the best tooth wash ever known, and all who have used it, have had aside all other remedies offered as cleansers of the mouth, and purifier of the breath.

For sale at the Drug Store of Hitt & Sawyer, Market St. Vincennes, Ind., and every town and village in the United States by proper agents.
Vincennes, April 29 1837—40-1y.

JUST TRY ONE BOTTLE.
JUST received, and for sale, at the Drug Store of Hitt & Sawyer, Vincennes, Ind., a remedy for the Ague & Fever, invented by Horning and Nixon, which has proved itself in Ohio, most of Indiana, and the north of Illinois to be without a rival for the above complaint. As we consider pulling of no avail, we shall omit it, together with the hundreds of certificates which we can produce, and knowing that a fair trial is the proof.

Manufactured by IRVIN REED, Richmond, Ind.
Extract of a letter, dated Quincy, Illinois, August 1836.

Dr. I. Nixon,
Sir—Having sold the ague syrup, left us by your agent, and from the good success which attended it—we are induced to send for more, hoping you will send us a quantity on such terms as will afford us a profit. I have used in my practice, various remedies for the fever and ague, but found none so effectual to eradicate it as that prepared by you, and from my observation, have come to the conclusion, that it is a compound, found by your experience, destitute of all those deleterious medicines which predispose the system to a return of the disease, consequently, I feel an assurance in its administration, seldom entertained in regard to the generality of ague medicines by scientific men. Please forward soon as possible several dozen bottles, to the care of Messrs. Magill & Co. St. Louis—also state what you will take for the receipt.

Yours, &c.

MILLER'S TONIC.

An Effective and Innocent Remedy for AGUE AND FEVER.

No mercury or Arsenic enters into the composition of this Medicine.

THE success attending the use of Miller's Tonic, in Ague and Fever, for more than thirty years, when all usual remedies had proved ineffectual, has induced the proprietor to offer it to the public, with a guarantee, if used as stated in the directions, that it will entirely remove the most obstinate cases of that disease in a few days. It powerfully invigorates the organs of digestion, and has a special tendency to the liver, removing all obstruction to the healthy secretion of Bile, and imparting tone and vigor to the whole system.

It is in the cure of Ague and Fever, that this Tonic displays its most extraordinary powers; but may be used with great success in cases of general debility, and particularly in Cholera Infantum, in which disease it is an infallible remedy.

Miller's Tonic (like all tonic remedies) should never be administered during the prevalence of fever, after the paroxysm of an Ague, or during the existence of any inflammatory symptoms. In any other condition of the system, its use may be resorted to with entire safety.

The Medicines which compose Miller's Tonic are prescribed by all respectable physicians, and are universally known to be the mildest and most useful remedies of the Materia Medica. By their present combination, they present the most powerful agent yet discovered, for destroying the Ague and Fever in its most obstinate stages.

Directions.—For a grown person, a wine-glass full three times a day in the absence of fever—for a child, two or three years of age, a table-spoon full; if younger or older, the dose to be diminished or increased in proportion to the age. To be well shaken when used. Price 25 Cts. per Bottle.

TESTIMONIALS OF ITS EFFICACY.

Louisville, Feb. 18, 1837.
During the course of last summer, my little daughter, then about 18 months old, was so violently affected by the Cholera Infantum, or summer complaint, that I had entirely despaired of her recovery: I was told that Miller's Tonic would cure her: I procured a bottle, and gave the child a dose of it the same night, which operated as it by magic, and she was better by the next morning. I gave her a few more doses and she was perfectly cured. She was subsequently threatened with the same disease, but was immediately relieved by a single dose of the Tonic.

Pursuing a very sedentary life, I have used the same medicine for myself, and have found it highly beneficial in giving tone and energy to the stomach.
G. J. JOHNSTON.

Jefferson (County, Bear-Grass) near Louisville, 28th Feb. 1837.
I hereby certify, that, for two weeks in June last, I was, every other day, affected with a chill and fever of a very excruciating nature. The fever accompanying the chill, flew into my head, which deprived me of my senses each day for several hours, as my family informed me, and from the use of Miller's Tonic, in three days was perfectly restored to my health. JNO. HOWARD.

Louisville, March 25, 1837.
In the year 1835, I had a case of Ague and Fever in my family and after trying various remedies without effect for three months, I at length gave half a bottle of Miller's Tonic, which produced a thorough cure.
R. F. HUGHES.

Louisville, April 15, 1837.
Sir—Your Tonic was used in a case of Ague and Fever in my family, and the patient was relieved immediately, and recovered his health in a few days, after being confined for several weeks.
Yours,
HENRY SHIPLEY.

Dear Sir—I have tried one bottle of your Tonic in my family, and taken it myself, and pronounce it a permanent cure for Ague and Fever. In my case, I had been afflicted with it for four months, and was relieved with a part of a bottle.
DREWRY NORTON.

Jefferson county, Ky. 25th May, 1837.
I was afflicted with the Ague and Fever for nearly eighteen months; had used all the ordinary remedies for that disease without success, and despaired of ever getting well. I was persuaded to use Miller's Tonic—in a few days all symptoms of ague and fever left me, and I was restored to my usual health and vigor.

SALE OF LOTS

FLORENCE, Illinois, on the 10th and 11th of October.

THE subscribers have purchased the very liberal patronage manifested in the purchase of Lots in the town of Florence, heretofore, and from a desire on the part of the proprietors to comply with the wishes of many individuals who have not yet purchased—another sale will take place on the days aforementioned when it is hoped that all who are desirous of making profitable investments in town property will avail themselves of the opportunity which that occasion will present. At the sale alluded to the average price of lots was greater than that in the first public sale of lots in the flourishing town of Indianapolis, the Capital of the state of Indiana.

FLORENCE is delightfully situated in the county of White, on the Wabash river about eighty miles above its mouth, and is the only site in the whole intervening distance where a good landing for Steamers can be found either on the Illinois or Indiana side of the river. From this place the river is navigable for Steam boats to the point of its junction with the Ohio, all times when they run on the last mentioned river, and is the only place below the Grand Rapids which is not subject to be overflowed in high water, on which a town could be advantageously laid out. Bon Pas creek which flat boats descend from 50 miles above its mouth, unites its waters with those of the Wabash at this point. Its situation is believed to be as healthy as any on this river. A few miles N. W. of it is the wealthy and flourishing settlement of Alliton. The country around it abounds with the finest timber—is inhabited by an enterprising and industrious population and interspersed with farms, which in luxuriance of soil and high state of cultivation, will not lose by comparison with any west of the mountains. It commands the trade not only of White, but also of several adjacent counties, and from the nature of its position it is destined to be the dividing point of trade between the northern and southern portions of the rich valley of the Wabash. To the merchant, the manufacturer, the mechanic, and the speculator, it presents inducements of no ordinary character, as it may safely be asserted, that no town on the Wabash river has better prospects of arriving at greater commercial importance and well indeed as good. A plot of the aforesaid town is open to inspection at the house of Thos. Bishop in Vincennes, and at the office of O. B. Ficklin in Mt. Carmel, Illinois.

N. B. Messrs. Kearney and Tyrell have erected within the limits of the town, a splendid Steam Mill, and there is every confidence that their public spirit and enterprise will be rewarded by a rich harvest of gain. It is situated directly at the junction of the Bon Pas with the Wabash, and the vast bodies of fine timber floated down to it from the Wabash, White and Bon Pas rivers, will enable them at all times to keep on hand a constant supply of lumber for the market.

Terms of payment made known on the day of sale.
