

POETICAL.

Lines

ON THE DEATH OF A BEAUTIFUL ONE.
She has gone to her grave in the bliss of her bloom,
Where in beauty she calmly reposes;
And the Angel of Death, as he bent over her tomb,
Dropped a tear on her cheeks' lovely roses.
And he gazed on the smile that illuminated her lips,
As soft as the smile of Aurora, And he sighed, that his eye the such a flower should nup,
In the beautiful glow of its glory.
'Tis ever thus, too, in life's sunshine or shade, When in hope we too gaily have started;
We find that the fairest most early do fade,
And the dearest are soonest departed.

Oh hope! what a vision thou ever dost seem,
A bubble on early life's ocean;
A rainbow that rises on memory's dream,
Or the smile on the cheek of emotion.
She is gone, and her friends have encircled her tomb,
To drop there the tear of their sorrow—She has gone to the land where her beauty will
In one everlasting to-morrow.

Very Nigh getting a Bump.—Married in Buffalo, New York, on the 6th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Grauger, Mr. DAVID BUMP, of Jackson, Michigan, to Miss VERA NYE, of the city of Buffalo.

A Good Rebuke.—The Pittsburg American tells a very good story, and we dare say it is a very true one. Who the Judge is who figures as the hero we know not, but on some points he is certainly as wise as Solomon.

Judge B.—had agreed to an arrangement for marrying his daughter to a blacksmith. His son who entertained ideas more elevated than any of his ancesters, and was somewhat haughty in his general manner withal, when this sounding information first reached him, sought an immediate interview with his father, whom he found in company with several others.

"Sir," said he to his father, "is that true which I hear that you intend to marry my sister to a blacksmith?"
"And pray who are you, sir—and who were your ancestors?"
"That, sir," replied the son, "I should expect to learn from you."
"O, sir, you shall be gratified—your grandfathers were cloth weavers," and to the definite enjoyment of the son he caused him and the company with anecdotes of their exploits on the loom.

What kind of furniture does a Cincinnati usually take to New Orleans? A hog and I.

The Genesee Farmer says a pint of linseed oil, two ounces of spirits of turpentine, and half an ounce of Burgundy pitch—slowly melted together, and then applied to new boots will render them water tight without becoming stiff. The correspondent of an exchange paper, says he has used this composition for many years; and believes that his shoemaker's bill has been reduced by it one half, so conservative are its effects on the leather.

One Western editor reads another a lecture upon "good manners," whereupon the latter retorts by telling the story of an old woman who once advertised that she would teach sewing, reading, writing and manners. "What are your terms?" asked an applicant for instruction. "Why," said she, "I charge three shillings a week for sewing, the same for reading and writing, and" (wiping her nose with the sleeve of her gown)—"and a penny a week for manners."

National Debt of England.—The Madisonian contains an elaborate article on this subject, derived from the best sources. From it we learn that the first American war increased the National Debt of Great Britain about £120,000, 000. At the commencement of the French war, 1793, the debt of England was £239,359,148. In 1817 it amounted to £818,282,177—an increase of 600,000, 000, in twenty-four years of the convulsions of Europe. Since the peace, the debt has been diminished £64,000,000 by a fall of interest; as the government offered to pay the holders of stock, if they refused to receive a reduced payment.— This national debt of England now amounts to ($4,000,000,000) FOUR THOUSAND MILLIONS OF DOL-LARS!!! At three per cent. interest this sum requires for interest about one hundred and twenty millions of dollars annually. The interest on this debt may continue long to be paid; the capital never can be.—St. Louis New Era.

Safety Gunpowder.—Surely wonders will never cease. It appears that a process has been submitted to the French Academy of Science, by which gunpowder can have the property of inflammability abstracted from it, or imparted to it, at pleasure, so that it may be stored up in any quantity with as much safety as oil or corn. If this process be really what it pretends to be, the value of it will be incalculable.

BRONCHITIS! BRONCHITIS!

Beware of that dread destroyer, The Bronchitis!
Which spares neither the Young, the Good, or the Beautiful, but is annually hurrying thousands upon thousands to a premature grave under the mistaken name of Consumption.— The usual symptoms of this disease are, Cough, Soreness of the Lungs or Throat, Hoarseness, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, Hectic Fever, a Spitting up of Phlegm or Matter, and sometimes Blood. It is an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the small wind tubes or air vessels running through every part of the lungs. The great and effectual remedy for this alarming and wide-spread disease is the Rev. I. Covert's Balm of Life.

This new and valuable Medicine is universally pronounced, by the multitudes who have used it, and tested its healing virtues, to be the most wonderful and admirable remedy in the world for the cure of BRONCHITIS, Croup, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the Lungs and Windpipe, which, if neglected, soon lead to REAL CONSUMPTION.
The Balm of Life stands entirely aloof from the various Quack Nostrums of the day, having invariably won the confidence of Physicians, Clergymen, and the intelligent of all classes, wherever it has been introduced. Philanthropists, and all who truly sympathize with human suffering, every where hail its appearance with heart-felt joy; and looking upon the Balm of Life as one of those great and uncommon blessings which a kind Providence occasionally bestows on man, but which, like angel's visits, are few and far between.

Rev. I. Covert's Balm of Life.

For Coughs, Consumptions, Bronchitis, &c.

From the Rev. D. Moore.—In 1845 my lungs became seriously diseased, and continued so for nearly fourteen years, and about six years since I was attacked with a chronic bronchitis which occasioned me much pain and distress, attended by difficult breathing and pains in various parts of the chest. In March last I purchased a bottle of Rev. I. Covert's Balm of Life, and the effect has been that my breathing is about as free as before I was taken, my chronic bronchitis nearly if not altogether cured, and the pains of the chest have subsided. I have great confidence in the Balm of Life, and think it a good and safe medicine.
DAVID MOORE.
Aurelius, N. Y. Aug. 21, 1839.

The nature of the composition of the Rev. I.
Covert's Balm of Life, having been fully explained to the following medical gentlemen, they have consented that they may be referred to as authority for its utility as an expectorant in those chronic cases of pulmonary disease, in which that class of remedies is indicated.

From the Rev. B. Bannister, A. B. Teacher of Languages in the Cazenovia Seminary.— This certifies that I have successfully used the Rev. I. Covert's Balm of Life. In the case of an obstinate cold which resulted in a settled inflammation of the lungs, the Balm of Life, after the trial of several other medicines for several weeks, effected a gradual but permanent cure.
H. BANNISTER.
Cazenovia, N. Y. April 18, 1839.

The following from the Rev. L. Halsey, D. D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History &c. in the Auburn Theological Seminary, has just been received.

Rev. I. Covert—My dear Sir—In reference to your medicine I deem it my duty to state that for a long time I have been afflicted with a Chronic Bronchitis and its usual accompaniments; and was induced to try your preparation on the assurance from medical men that it contained no hazardous ingredients. The result has been the allaying of all irritations and the gradual restoration of healthy functions to the throat, so that I am enabled to return to the labors of the desk.
I think the medicine entitled to the attention of all persons similarly affected.
Yours truly,
LUTHER HALSEY.
Auburn Theological Seminary, March 9, 1840.

This certifies that having examined the Rev. I.
Covert's Balm of Life, in all its component parts, we do believe it to be one of the best compounds for coughs, consumptions, chronic inflammations, ect. of which we have any knowledge, and do most cordially recommend its use to all afflicted with the above named diseases.

Has been used successfully for eight years in the cure of Consumption and Liver complaint.
Remember the original and genuine is made only at 375 Bowery, N. Y. All others are spurious and unauthorized.

Consumption and Liver Complaint.
As a general remedy for these diseases, I am fully satisfied, from long experience, there is no medicine equal to Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort. Being purely vegetable, it can be used with the utmost safety by all persons in every condition. It cleanses the lungs by expectoration, relieves difficult breathing, and seems to heal the chest. There can be no question but this medicine is a certain cure for chronic coughs and colds. I have used it four years in my practice, and always with success.

A. F. ROGERS, M. D.

Consumption.—The following remarks were taken from the last number of the Medical Magazine:

"The surprising effect produced by Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort, in consumptive cases cannot fail of exciting a deep and thrilling interest throughout the world. We have so long
