

PALM SUNDAY TORNADO
SWEEPS SIX STATES161 KILLED, 1,000 INJURED,
PROPERTY LOSS REACHES MILLIONS.

The tornado that swept six states Sunday claiming a total of more than 160 lives, injuring thousands and destroying property to the amount of many millions, struck St. Joseph county, resulting in property losses of about $25,000 and injury to many persons. The towns of this county were favored, receiving only a hail, rain and wind storm, but in the country east of Walkerton the roof was blown off from the main portion of the home of Charles Mangus and a part of the house torn to pieces. Nels Clarke's big barn was totally demolished. Mel Gardner's barn and garage torn to pieces and his car left in the field. Elias Steele's residence also is reported to be demolished, while many other buildings were partly destroyed and roofs punctured by the hailstones some of which measured seven inches in circumference.

In the vicinity of Mishawaka the storm seemed at its height, houses and barns being unroofed and blown from their foundations. The Clarence Fulmer family on the Bremen road escaped by going into the basement, and the fine homes on the Charles Morris, Jerome Gregor, Henry Oaks, George Laing, Clayton and John Weiss, C. Van Wiper, Robbins Klein and Burner farms all were more or less damaged.

The farm of Jonas Hawblitzel west of Lakeville received the brunt of the storm, the garage, car and all being turned upside down, windmill blown down, windows of residence broken and clothing from the rooms picked up and carried to adjoining fields.

In Chicago and suburbs the dead are reported to number 20, with streets piled high with the wreckage of homes and business blocks. In Elgin, Ill., business blocks and churches were piled in heaps, eight lives destroyed and 100 persons injured.

Losses of life are reported from many Indiana and Michigan towns. Edgerton, Ohio, just across the Indiana line, being almost completely swept away. In Georgia and Alabama, 50 dead, hundreds injured and losses of millions of dollars in property are listed.

A Precarious Job.

The recent merger of the New York Herald and Tribune, which resulted in the closing of the old Herald office, caused no little disturbance and mental anxiety among the newspaper men affected, several of whom had spent half a lifetime at the desks they then held.

An old copywriter on the Herald, who had been on the desk for a little more than forty years, threw down his blue pencil in disgust at the announcement that the old shop would go out of business.

"I knew darn well when they got me to take this job," he said, "that it was a precarious one, but I didn't know it was so precarious."—Saturday Evening Post.

WILL ASK FOR NEW TRIAL FOR BAKER

A motion for a new trial for Walter C. Baker was filed in the St. Joseph circuit court Friday by attorneys Arthur L. Gilliom and Eli F. Seebert. Fifty-five persons are cited in the trial in which Baker was convicted of the murder of Carl Cook, the LaPorte grocerman. Should the appeal for a new trial for Baker be denied it is the intention of his attorneys, it is said, to carry the case to the supreme court in an effort to save Baker from the electric chair.

SAVE MONEY ON MEAT.

Here is a real thrift recipe for a nutritious dish prepared from less costly meat. It is issued by the Division of Women's Activities, Department of Justice. Use this recipe and save money on meat.

The second recipe is as follows:

Recipe No. 2—

Chuck Steak With Onions
2 pounds of chuck steak.
5 or 6 onions.

Salt.
Butter or butter substitute.

Slice onions in water. Drain thoroughly. Place onions in a shallow saucepan, cover closely and cook over a slow fire for 15 or 20 minutes (oil tender). Use no water or fat, as the onions contain both moisture and richness. When the onions are done, uncover and brown slightly if preferred, but they are more digestible without browning. Heat a frying pan smoking hot, and brown the steak quickly on both sides; reduce the heat and turn the meat frequently until it is cooked through. Season the steak and salt the onions. Serve the meat on a platter with onions around it. Add butter if desired.

HELP WANTED

INDIANA FIGHTING TO HOLD AMERICAN LEGION

Indiana representatives of the American Legion are in Washington now fighting the first battle against a movement that has as its underlying purpose the removal of national headquarters of the organization from Indianapolis. Dr. T. Victor Keene, Indiana National Legion executive committee member, and John B. Reynolds, secretary of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, and secretary of the State War Memorial Association, have gone to the capital to forestall the movement and they feel that they are backed by the united demand of Hoosiers who are anxious to see the headquarters kept in Indiana.

The danger arose out of the activities of the National Victory War Memorial Association, which has elected the national executive committee of the Legion to endorse its project of obtaining popular subscriptions throughout the country for the erection of an edifice in Washington. A committee was appointed to investigate the situation, two Washington men and Walter Myers of Indianapolis composing the board.

3 Per Cent For Advertising.

All over the country merchants are adopting the 3 per cent method of advertising which has proven so wonderfully effective.

Actual tests in hundreds of cases have proven that an advertising appropriation of 3 per cent of the previous year's gross sales has increased the business 23 per cent.

This increase doesn't happen the first week after the advertising campaign starts, however—it is the cumulative effect of a campaign carried on regularly and persistently for a year.

If the 3 per cent were all spent in one grand blowout it would be wasted, but continued over the entire year every week or every day or every other day, it is the surest business builder in the world.

Big city stores spend from 5 to 7 per cent in order to get the enormous volume of business they require, but in a town like Maryville an average of 3 per cent will do wonders.—Ad Talk, Maryville, Mo.

REFINING PLANT DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire destroyed the warehouse and barn of the Indian Refining Co., in South Bend Wednesday evening causing a loss of $50,000. A series of loud explosions first attracted the attention of the people of the vicinity to the fire. Two tanks were filled with 10,000 gallons of gasoline, while other tanks contained kerosene and lubricating oil, all of which were destroyed. It was one of the most hazardous fires the South Bend firemen have had to fight in many years. The origin of the fire is unknown.

REFERENDUM VOTE ON
HOSPITAL FACILITIESNEED OF MORE HOSPITAL ROOM
IN COUNTY VERY URGENT

From sentiment expressed on ballots which are provided in every store, bank and office in St. Joseph county, a means of action toward the increasing of present hospitals or the building of a new county hospital will be determined upon.

The date set for the taking of this referendum vote of St. Joseph county on the hospital question is the first four days in April. The need for greater hospital bed room is imperative. The need must be met some way. You are asked, to express your preference on one of the ballots which are provided.

"If there were an epidemic of any disease in St. Joseph county today as widespread as the epidemic of influenza, there would not be enough hospital beds to care for more than 200 patients." This is the report submitted by members of the hospital committee of the South Bend Chamber of Commerce after conducting an exhaustive investigation of the county's needs.

According to the report, an average of ten patients are being turned away every day by the three hospitals of the county, two of which are in South Bend and one in Mishawaka. Due to a general knowledge of the shortage of hospital beds many neglect to make application because of the uselessness of the practice.

The finding of the committee clearly demonstrated the immediate need of increasing St. Joseph's county hospital facilities.

Architects and builders were called into conference with members of the hospital committee of the South Bend Chamber of Commerce in an effort to get an idea of the cost of such a hospital as would fully care for the needs of the cities and rural districts of the county. It was decided that a 250 bed extension or increase of hospital facilities was the only thing that would relieve the intense need for greater hospital facilities.

After consultation with architects, it was decided that the least cost per bed of greater hospital bed room would be, in the case of extensions to the present hospitals, $2,160 per bed; for a new county hospital to be erected by the county, the expense would approximate between $2,500 and $3,000 per room. The difference in cost is due to the fact that the present hospitals already have sufficiently large administration buildings and nurses' homes to accommodate the increase in size. A county hospital would require all new units.

The total cost of extending the present hospitals would be between $350,000 and $400,000, while the cost of a new hospital erected by the county is between $500,000 and $600,000.

Investigation of the possibilities of getting a county hospital disclosed the fact that the county is only permitted to bond itself for the sum of $100,000. To build a county hospital would require additional state legislation. This is one of the reasons why a referendum vote is being taken of St. Joseph county to find if the people favor a county hospital. To build and extend to the present hospitals the money necessary would have to be released by private subscription and it is very doubtful if money could be raised in that manner at this time according to the hospital committee.

Every citizen of St. Joseph county is urged to avail himself or herself, if of voting age, to cast his ballot. Upon the preference expressed on the ballots a method of increasing the county hospital facilities will be determined upon. Therefore, if you want a county hospital, mark the ballot, otherwise show your preference for extending the present hospitals.
