

The general Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States convened in this city on Tuesday at the Academy in North Fourth street, and will probably continue in session for several weeks. We have been informed that there are in attendance between two and three hundred delegates, among whom are many of the most eloquent and distinguished preachers of the Methodist denomination. The meetings of the conference, we understand, are public; and every evening, during its continuance, there will be preaching in all their meeting houses in the city and liberties of Philadelphia.—Sentinel.

Important to farmers.—We perceive from a letter, addressed by professor Eaton of N. Y., to the editor of the Village Record, that carbonate of lime, (common limestone) ground in the same manner as gypsum or plaster of Paris, is found much superior to quick lime as manure, for improving land. It takes about three times the quantity to produce the same effect during the first three or four years, but then it will be found to last twenty or thirty years, whereas quick lime requires to be applied every five or six years.

The Farmer's Monitor.—The editor of the Lancaster Miscellany, in a letter to the editor of the American Farmer, says that farmers in that part of Pennsylvania who cultivate Indian corn, are governed in planting by the putting out of the leaves of the locust, (the common yellow locust, Robinia pseudo acacia.) When they flower, it is summer, and clothing must be regulated, that is, you may then with comparative safety dismiss your flannel.

The Huntingdon (Penn.) Gazette of May 2d says—The rising crop of grain in this county, we learn with regret, presents rather an unfavorable appearance, owing to the severe winter, and unprecedented cold and dry weather this spring. But it is to be hoped that the recent rains will yet give vigor and life to the crops—and that the fearful anticipations of the farmer will not be realized.

Murder.—The Niagara U. C. Gleener says: The London district is obtaining horrible celebrity for the crime of murder. We understand that a man of the name of Lester, who had made a will, and the disposition of his property by it having been ascertained by one of his two sons, with whom he went to the barn to fodder the cattle, and there was murdered by his son to obtain the property devised by the will. The paricide was found concealed under some straw, and doubtless in due time will reap his reward.

A fatal accident occurred in this county during the past week. Two persons were hunting, when one of them, a Mr. Stewart, received a mortal wound from the other.—The deceased, it is said, was imitating the call of a turkey, which the other hearing, and seeing something stir in the brush, immediately fired and shot his neighbor through the neck. He survived but a few days.—Vincennes Gazette.

The Cholera at Barbadoes.—A letter dated St. Thomas, April 7, and addressed to the editors of the Journal of Commerce, says—Letters received here yesterday from St. Kitts, state that an English ship of war had arrived there from Barbadoes, with the cholera on board. Twenty-five cases had occurred in three days, but none of them had as yet proved fatal."

Spotted Fever in Maine.—The Medical Journal, of May 1st, says—We learn from Falmouth, Maine, that some apprehensions are entertained, by the faculty, that the spotted fever has broken out again in that flourishing town—several cases had occurred. Whether these cases are merely sporadic, or the commencement of an epidemic, time only can determine.

Newspaper thief pinned.—William F. Curtis was convicted yesterday at the Police office as a common pilferer. He was brought before the bench on a charge of stealing Newspapers. He was a hatter at the South end, and contrived to entertain his customers with perfect files of all the daily papers, without any wasteful extravagance on his part; so a traitor did he manage his business, cut so close and shaved so smooth, that although he was never accused of subscribing to any newspaper, his shop was well supplied with copies of each that circulated in his neighborhood, and his patrons have frequently been indebted to him for the loan of their own.

Hanging Match.—At the supreme court held in East Greenwich, R. I., Thomas J. Pepper was convicted of bigamy, and the sentence of the court was, that on Friday, the 27th of April, between the hours of 10 and 1 o'clock, he be placed on the gallows, with a rope about his neck, that he be imprisoned three months, and pay a fine of five dollars. They had better sentenced him to live three years with his two wives, or all of them, if he had more.

Some profound arithmetician being at a loss for something to do, has calculated that every inveterate snuff taker, who has continued this practice for forty years, has dedicated two entire years of his life to taking snuff—and two more to blowing his nose!

WEEKLY MESSENGER.

PRINTER'S RETREAT, INDIANA.

TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1832.

ROBBERY.—Our informant was mistaken when he told us that Captain Goddard had recovered nearly all the stolen property. The Captain informs us that he has recovered but a small part, enough, however, we hope, to convict the guilty persons. The names of the persons in prison, on suspicion, are John L. Murray, John Bagley, and Vine Hayes.

Laws of Indiana.—The laws passed at the last session of the legislature of Indiana, were received in this county, on Sunday, the 13th instant.

Presidential Election.

The election for electors of President and Vice President, will take place, throughout this state, on the first Monday in November next.

Bridge at the falls of Ohio.—A joint act has been passed by the legislatures of Indiana and Kentucky to construct a permanent bridge across the Ohio river at the falls—the amount of stock is $500,000—shares, $50 each—each state may subscribe $100,000—the company to have perpetual succession.

New Justices Act.

Justices, elected since the revision of the laws last year, are required to give bond and security immediately, and on refusing or failing to do so, may be fined not exceeding $2,000.

Jurisdiction is given to justices, where executors, administrators and guardians are plaintiffs, and the defendants confess judgment.

In cases of treason and treasonable conspiracy their jurisdiction is increased to fifty dollars.

Persons confessing judgments for sums under five dollars, are not required to file affidavit.

Executions may issue and be served on Sundays, where defendants are about to abscond.

Persons hereafter, to be sued in the township where they reside.

We notice an allowance made by the legislature of one dollar, for one gallon of VINEGAR. I know not what use our legislature made of Vinegar; but should like to furnish a few barrels, at the same price.

Major Daniel Kelso.—was elected Major of the 44th regiment of Indiana militia, on the 14th instant, at New York.

Common Schools.

All taxes remaining unpaid on the first day of December annually, on lands and lots of resident and non-residents, (where no personal property can be found to pay said taxes,) are to be appropriated for the use of common schools. In addition to the state, county and road taxes due on each tract or lot, fifty per cent per annum, on the whole amount, is to be added as a penalty, and then to be charged with one hundred per cent, per annum, on the amount of taxes.

The probable amount that may accrue in this country, for common schools, may be estimated as follows:

State tax, say	$200 00
Court tax,	150 00
Road tax,	100 00
	450 00
Add 20 per cent, penalty	90 00
And say on 100 p. ct interest	32 00
Making	$1,000 00

Ma. EDITOR.—Without making any apologies, I shall proceed to answer Mr. Beal in your paper of the 8th inst. To use his own phrase, he appears to have labored hard, and brought forth nothing but law religion. In his caution, he came out under the law of Indiana, threatening with a fine those who did not observe the first day of the week as a Sabbath; and in his remarks, he brought the law of Moses to prove his legal Sabbath. But if I were to judge, these two laws can not agree: the one, punishes those who do not observe and keep holy, the first day of the week, with a fine; and the other punishes the seventh day, with death. I should like him to explain it. He says, "if the ten commandments are done away, all moral obligation ceases." Now I would ask him if Christ's gospel does not teach morality? and if it does, I think that is sufficient. As he bro't law commandments, I will bring gospel commandments. For this, "Thou shalt not commit adultery—Thou shalt not kill—Thou shalt not bear false witness—Thou shalt not covet,"—and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, viz: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Now, Mr. Beal says, "if one is done away, all are;" well, if his assertions are true, then the gospel is not, for it does not say, observe the Sabbath day and keep it holy.

Mr. Beal says he is pointedly opposed to law religion. Why then does he contend for this religious law, and why not let every one have the liberty of conscience? As for myself, I am in favor of civil law, but will never bow to a religious law, for that takes away a man's rights and gives it to another. And I think this religious law is not agreeable to our Constitution.

Agreeably to his request, I give my real name.
