

POETRY.

From the Cincinnati Mirror.
SHADOWS.

A shadow resteth on the eye,
Cast from a tearful cloud,
When desolation has swept by
And hope to earth is bowed;
When beauty's bright and buoyant form
Shrinks in the grasp of death,
And lips which late with love were warm
Have heaved their parting breath.

A shadow passeth on the eye,
When we have err'd in youth,
And learn'd to heave the heavy sigh
O'er stern and bitter truth,
When the visions that have haunted
And led our minds astray,
And the loves to whom we've chaunted
Like spectres flit away.

A shadow dwelleth on the eye,
When life is closing fast—
The shade of many a scene gone by,
Of grief and pleasure past;
The brightness of life's early years,
The darkness of its woes,
Alike claim feeling's tribute tears
When age wanes to a close.

A shadow resteth on the heart,
When we have loved too well,
And from our fond devotion start
To mourn a broken spell;
When to the altar we have pressed,
And vows thereon have laid,
And no vision hath blessed
The offering we made.

A shadow lingereth on the heart,
Flung from the wing of care,
When with hopes fiction it must part,
For pitiless despair;
When scenes on which in youth we dwelt
Are vanished all and gone,
And visions of rapt fancy melt
Before truth's rising sun.

COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LIBRARY.

BEFORE the SELECT CIRCULATING LIBRARY had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his grateful acknowledgements.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" intended to supply. While reading for the Library a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the Editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magaziniana, in terspersed with the Reviews from English Quarters. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the Library designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the Library, the Journal, and the Companion, such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. This short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted.

1. The "Companion" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.
2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library—each number containing sixteen pages—thus every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be found with the Library at little or no expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume every year, of 316 quarto pages of the size of the present.

3. The price will be three dollars for a single subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs of five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each.

4. As the work will not be commenced, unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only the name sent free of postage. Those wishing to support the publication will be pleased therefore to announce their intention as early as possible, as it is intended to commence the work on the 1st of January next. On the issuing of the second number, payment will be expected, as its appearance will evince a sufficiency of patronage.

The proprietor of the Select Circulating Library, fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the above important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that with attention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such work, all the really valuable matter of the English literature and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and postage, so trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were useless here to enter upon, the Library itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and quarto page. It will be the study of the editor to embody a record of the literature of the day adapted to the wants of this country; which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the Library and Companion both, will obtain the two for six dollars; the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be only one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy eight payments, and half that sum for 100 miles or less distance from Philadelphia; while the same matter, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magazines in octavo form, would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Subscriptions to the Companion will be taken either with or without the Library.

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the Library, will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.

Vegetable Tooth-Ache Drops.

THE only specific ever offered to the public, from which a permanent and radical cure may be obtained, of that disagreeable pain, the TOOTH-ACHE, with all its attendant evils; such as fracturing the jaw in extracting the teeth, which often proves more painful than the tooth-ache itself, and cold passing from the decayed teeth to the jaw, thence to the head, producing a rheumatic affection, with many other unpleasant effects, such as a disagreeable breath, bad taste in the mouth, &c. all of which are produced from foul or decayed teeth. I am happy to have it in my power to offer to the world, a remedy, that will not only remove the pain, nine times out of ten, if properly applied, but preserve the teeth from further decay, and arrest the disease in such as are decaying and have not commenced aching, restoring them to health and usefulness.

ERIC, Pa. Oct. 17, 1832.—The subscribers, having witnessed the pleasing effects of Doctor Thomas White's Vegetable Tooth-Ache Drops, feel a pleasure in recommending it to those that are afflicted with the tooth-ache, as a safe, and in most cases, perfectly efficient remedy for the disorder.

A. BEEBE, physician—H. L. HARVEY, Ed. ERIC Observer—ALBERT THEYER, physician—O. N. SAGE, dentist.

New York city, Sept. 15, 1832.—The undersigned, in his practice as a dental surgeon, having extensively used, for the cure of the tooth-ache, Thomas White's Vegetable Tooth-Ache Drops, and with decided success, he can recommend them when genuine, as superior to any other remedy now before the public, and can say that these drops receive the unqualified approbation of the medical faculty at large.

DOCTOR JUDKINS' SPECIFIC OINTMENT.

THIS valuable medicine is celebrated for curing the following diseases, viz.—White Swellings, of every description; Sore Legs and Ulcers of long standing; Glandular Tumours; Felons or Cuttarrils; Rheumatic pains of the joints; Sprains, Bruises and Tetters; Chilblains, or the parts affected by frost. It is also good for scalds and burns. For glandular swellings, it is superior to any medicine yet known. It is much safer than mercurial applications, (as it does not contain the smallest atom of that mineral,) because it does not lay the patient liable to injury from exposure to cold. It cures the worst Felons or Whitlows on the application of forty-eight hours. Rheumatism which have stood so long as to become a systematic disorder, requires medicine to be taken inwardly to remove them entirely. But in most cases, by applying this Ointment, externally as directed, it will give relief.

FOR SALE, by J. F. Stevens, Vevay, and Lyman W. Mix, Mount Sterling
October 27.
