

THE MANIA.

Wreck of Beauty!—thine the sadness
Which no human tongue can tell;
For the fearful blight of malice!
Hath upon thy spirit fell—
And thy pale lips ever moving
With high words, or mattering low,
Curses on “the traitor proving,”
Tell a tale of guilt, and woe.

Fallen Beauty!—Once no weeping,
Sorrowing, or shrews or care,
Gave thy days, or nights in keeping
To the sighs of despair.
Then, oh then, with glad laugh ringing,
Will I remember thee,
O'er thy flowers path-way springing,
Like a wild Fawn, fleet and free.

But the spoiler came to nestle
All those early joys among,
Giving birth to thoughts, which wrestle
With the virtues of the young.
Trusting Maiden!—strong the feelings,
Which that wily tempter's art,
Brought, and twined by subtle dealings
'Round thy young and guiltless heart.

Wretched beauty!—vain thy curses,
For they cannot kill the past!
Or blot out the sad reverses
Guilf hath 'round thy fair fame cast.
Spare thy curses—for keen anguish
Must its hated visage rear
O'er him!—till his false soul languish
In the clutches of despair.

New system of Jurisprudence.—The following mode of dispensing justice must be singularly convenient. It precludes the necessity of introducing any evidence on the part of the government, and must save a great deal of time and expense. If a man is innocent—let him prove it! What can be more simple?—Balt. Gaz.

The Leipzig Gazette contains a report of 23 trials of persons in 1834, accused of incendiaryism, in the kingdom of Saxony. Among others is the following:—The farmer S.—at Wendisch Liepke, was suspected of having willfully set fire to his barn, and condemned to be imprisoned in a house of correction, until he should prove his innocence, with this reserve, that the imprisonment should not exceed ten years. The tailor O.—at Brockwitz, was also suspected of having willfully set fire to two houses that were burnt down in that place, and condemned to be imprisoned in a house of correction until he has exonerated himself from suspicion, nevertheless, the incarceration not to exceed the period of five years. Two other cases of the same kind are in the report.

The Editors of the Advertiser pretend, that they “cannot swallow Gen. Harrison.” Have they not swallowed Col. Johnson?—Think of a couple of strapping fellows swallowing a hedge-fence and then pretending to make squeamish mouths at a butter-ball.—Louisville Journal.

In the anniversary address of Professor Tucker, before the Virginia Historical Society, the following singular fact is mentioned, as connected with the history of Virginia:

“In the year 1647, lawyers were forbidden to take fees whatever, and in 1658 they were excluded from the Legislature!!! For this uncourteous act, it must be confessed that their descendants have made the amende honorable.”

Milton, when blind, married a shrew. The duke of Buckingham called her a rose. “I am no judge of colors,” replied Milton, “but I dare say you are right, for I feel the thorns daily.”

Opposition.—The Journeymen Printers of Boston have refused to work, in consequence of the employment of females in setting types. We would advise, as a retaliation, that the “fellers” go to washing dishes, sweeping house, spinning, tending the little ones, &c. &c.

A BAD LAW.—If a law is generally neglected, it must be either abad or a ridiculous law. Such is the case with the law suppressing small notes. They still pass as currently as they ever did. None refuses—none informs.”—N. Y. Morn. Her.

The Editor of the Brookville Ia. American announces, that he has forwarded a petition to the Post Office department for permission to establish a PRIVATE MAIL OF HIS OWN. He adds, that, if he cannot get permission, he will take the responsibility of doing the thing without permission. We like the man's spunk, and mean to encourage him, whom do we intend to appoint Postmaster General? How many deputy Postmasters does he design to have? Who is to have his blank, papers and twine contract? What are to be his rates of postage? Will he eschew the abominable system of extra allowances? Let him answer these questions satisfactorily, and set us down as the patrons of his line.—Louisville Journal.

GOLD MINES.—Most of the gold mines in Virginia are, it is said, abandoned after some ten thousand dollars of unprofitable expenditures.

PHYSIC BY INSTALMENT.—As an illustration of the fever of speculation among the professional men, as well as others, a physician, the other day, when asked by his patient how she should take his pills, replied, one fourth down, and the remainder in one, two, and three years.—Bangor Courier.

NOT GUILTY!—The Eastern Argus professes a willingness to acknowledge the talents and services of Henry Clay, if he will hereafter stand aloof from the conflicts of party. This is much like the celebrated verdict of a certain jury in the case of a prisoner arraigned before them.—Not Guilty if he will leave the State.

ROCHESTER. August 6th.—New Wheat was selling in our streets yesterday for one dollar per bushel. Crops is said to be excellent in quality and abundant in quantity, particularly in the neighborhood of the Genesee River.—Daily Democrat.

SOMETHING JUST LIKE A HUSBAND.—A Genoese lady was asking another the number of her lovers. “Just at present,” replied the Tuscan fair, “I have but one.” “But one!” ejaculated the other. What solitude what ennui! why, it is just like a husband.”

A project is on foot in Boston for the erection of a church in that city on an extensive scale, wherein all important questions, whether of a moral, political, or religious nature, may be fully and fairly discussed, without let or hindrance.—Fall River (Mass.) Record.

Keeping the peace.—A justice of peace in North Carolina, seeing two men fighting in a crowd, ordered them to desist, but the combatants not obeying him, he took his coat off, and gave them both a severe drubbing, and thus restored order. He was asked by the Governor if he did not know it was his duty to preserve the peace of the State. “So I did, please your worship,” said he, “but I had to fight devilish hard for it.”

The editor of a friendly paper over the river says that when we make mouths at him, we remind him of Davy Crockett. Why? Because we are grinning at a ‘coon!—Louisville Journal.

When Rabelais was at his death bed a consultation of Physicians was called. “Dear gentlemen,” said the wit to the doctors, raising his languid head, “let me die a natural death.”

THE only specific ever offered to the public from which a permanent and radical cure may be obtained, of that disagreeable pain, the TOOTH ACHE, with all its attendant evils; such as fracturing the jaw in extricating the teeth, which often proves more painful than the tooth ache itself, and cold passing from the decayed teeth to the jaw thence to the head, producing a rheumatic affection, with many other unpleasant effects, such as a disagreeable breath, bad taste in the mouth &c. all of which are produced from foul or decayed teeth, I am happy to have it in my power to offer to the world, a remedy that will not only remove the pain, nine times out of ten if properly applied, but preserve the teeth from further decay, and arrest the disease in such as are decaying and have not commenced aching, restoring them to health and usefulness.

Erie, Pa. Oct. 16, 1832—the subscribers having witnessed the pleasing effects of Doctor Thomas White's Vegetable Tooth-ache Drops, feel a pleasure in recommending it to those that are afflicted with the tooth-ache, as a safe, and in most cases, perfectly efficient remedy for the disorder.

A. BEEBE, physician—H. L. HARVEY Edt. Erie Observer—ALBERT THEYER physician—O. N. SAGE, dentist.

New York city, Sept. 16, 1832—The undersigned, in his practice as a dental surgeon having extensively used, for the cure of tooth-ache, Thomas White's Vegetable Tooth Ache Drops, and with decided success, he can recommend them when genuine, as superior to any other remedy now before the public, and can say that these drops receive the unqualified approbation of the medical faculty at large.

VEGETABLE Rheumatic Drops.

MANY articles are before the public, as a cure for that most obstinate and tormenting disease, the Rheumatism; and from close observation we are led to believe, that they have to a very great extent, failed to produce that desirable result—and may it not be attributed to the fact, that articles said to cure this troublesome disorder are also recommended to cure almost every disease with which our frail bodies are attacked, and in their preparation that object is kept in view, viz to have the medicine a cure for all diseases.

The Vegetable Rheumatic Drops are offered to the public as a remedy for Rheumatism and as no case is known where a perfect cure was not affected, we are justified in declaring it a valuable medicine for that painful disease and for no other is it recommended.—Price 50 cents.
