

Terrible Accident at the Gas Works.

A sudden and most calamitous accident, attended with the loss of two lives, occurred yesterday afternoon at the extensive gas works of the Manhattan Company, situated at the foot of Fourteenth street, East River, in this city.

At a quarter past 1 o'clock the laborers and others employed in the works returned from dinner, and had only been a few minutes in the yard, when the brick walls which sustained the new and extensive iron roofs of the building fell to the ground with a crash, carrying the roofs and supporting pillars with them, and burying many men and horses in the ruins.

The calamity was sudden, and the ruin so extensive, that when observed, it appeared as if the person could have escaped, and the most faithful reports were immediately forwarded over the city, regarding the number of the killed and wounded.

These walls were of brick, about sixteen inches thick, and apparently had been built in a substantial manner. They were divided by brick partitions of equal thickness, and supported open trusses work iron roofs, of which the best part of the wall was in process of being dated from the side resting on the street.

The supports of these roofs were two arches, starting from the corner of the building to the sides of the yard, and a number of iron pillars.

It is presumed that the wall had been shaken by the sudden gust of Wednesday night, and perhaps enabled by the vibration of the roof, induced by an electric influence.

Terrible Slaughter, Attain—Result of the Battle of the Clouds.—In consequence of the victory of Bill Potts over Morrissey in their contest yesterday morning, the friends of the former had a regular jubilation, the balance of the day, keeping up a series of skirmishes, and almost continually drinking from one potter house to another in the Eighth and Ninth wards.

In the afternoon South Astorians and John Quinlan, both Washingtonians, met at a hall in the latter's home, on the north east corner of Washington and Adams streets, where they drank freely, and of course feeling in exuberant humor, boasted of their relative pugilistic powers. They then engaged in a friendly fight to see who was the strongest man, and during the struggle, Astorians unfortunately was hurled backward down a flight of steps falling some six feet, and striking on the head.

He was immediately taken up by some of his friends and a doctor called for. He was badly hurt, but the patient was not in a bad way, but it was deemed expedient to send him to the New York Hospital. On reaching that institution, Dr. Peters, one of the surgeons, made an examination and was of opinion that one of the blood vessels of the brain had been ruptured. There appears to be no hope of Astorians recovery, and Dr. Peters thought he could not live till morning. This unfortunate man has a family residing in the neighborhood where the slaughter occurred.

When Quinlan came across the injury Astorians had received he was deeply grieved and proposed to give himself up to the authorities, but he was properly examined by the proper authorities.—N. Y. Tribune.

AS ARBERT YOUTH—A gentleman dining at a fashionable hotel, where servants were "few and far between," dispatched a lad among them for a cut of beef. After a long time the lad returned, and placing it before the fat and hungry gentleman, was asked, "Are you the lad who took away my plate for this beef?" "Yes, sir," "Bless me," resumed the hungry, "how you have grown."
