Thanks to Dr. H. R. T. Ross for late New Orleans and Vicksburg papers.

Cot. FIRE wants to sell his office, the "Kentucky State Flag."

The notice for a meeting at Napoleon was unintentionally left out of last week's paper.

No less than eighteen thousand dead letters were forwarded on Monday last from the Cincinnati office to the general dead-letter office at Washington City.

New Grocery Store.

Messrs. JOHN B. CRAFT and THOS. H. GILMORE have purchased the grocery establishment of Lot North, and intend, we understand, having the best selected stock of groceries ever opened in this market. They are both gentlemen, and we hope they will receive a liberal patronage.

Editorial New-papers.

A Know-Nothing, one of the "Stockholders" and whose "father" by the way, was a "d-d d-d d-d" withdrew his patronage (the profits of which amounts to not quite twenty-five cents a year) from our paper, expressing a wish to go up, because we published several little articles about Know-Nothingism, last week. Wonder if he ever read the story of "Going to the Dogs."

Sabbath School Celebration.

Notwithstanding the influence of a few would-be scoundrels to the contrary, the celebration at Mount Pleasant on the 21st inst., was a grand affair. The collection of people was quite large, the speeches good, and the music delightful. We were told a lady who was present that everything passed off as well as could be desired. Rev. Mr. FLEMING and Judge DAWSON were among the orators.

Home County, Ky., Fair.

We see by a circular that the first annual Fair of the Boone County Agricultural Society, will be held on the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th of October, near Florence, about nine miles from Lexington, on the Lexington road. An invitation is given to the citizens of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, to be present. Every arrangement has been made for the accommodation and comfort of visitors.

March 1st for October.

Goody's Lady's Book, containing 100 pages reading, and twelve full-page engravings, has come. "Goody's Book" is a beautiful steel engraving, worth the price of the book alone. It contains fifty-six other engravings, and sixty contributors. This magazine and the "News" can be had for $3.50.

Articles Magazine, finely embellished, and containing many interesting pieces, is also here. We can offer it in connection with our paper at the same rates as the other magazines.

The School of Indiana New School.

Will hold its annual meeting in Rising Sun. Its sessions will begin on Thursday, the 12th of Oct., and continue about a week. The opening sermon by the Moderator, will be preached at 11 o'clock, and preaching every morning during the week. The business meetings will be from 9 to 12 o'clock, A. M., and from 2 till 5 o'clock, P. M.; all of which will be open to the public.

The well known hospitality of our citizens will doubtless be extended to members of the school. A committee will wait upon families in due time. It is not expected that a family will entertain more than two persons.

Know-Nothingism—Cand dates for Office.

Mr. ELLIOTT—As the Know-Nothingism is trying to make the voters of this county and district believe that the Democratic candidates for Senator, Mr. CASE, and Mr. KYLE, the candidate for Treasurer, and the candidate for Sheriff in the county, belong to the Know-Nothingism, as though it was disreputable to belong to that organization, and a candidate who did belong to them should be defeated, I have thought I would endeavor to disabuse the public mind in this particular. Dr. SAGE is well known to be the nominee of the Know-Nothingism, and was elected as a candidate for the Senate at the Convention they held at Queens Grove, some time in August last; and it is now intimated and talked about, that the Doctor has boasted that there were enough of the voters of the district belonging to that organization, who were sworn to support him, to insure his election, and no thanks to the rest of the voters. Great God! has it come to this, that secret organizations are organized in our midst, in which the members are sworn to support certain men for office, to the exclusion of others. If such be the case, it is time that the people should know of this matter, or we may soon bid farewell to our boasted liberties. At that same Queens Grove Convention, David CASE was nominated as a candidate for Representative, by the same secret organization, and it is but reasonable to infer that if the members of that organization have sworn to support Dr. SAGE for the Senate, they are also sworn to support David CASE for Representative, and if Mr. HARRIS of Ohio county, who is on the same ticket with Dr. SAGE and Judge CASE, belongs to that organization, he has sworn to supporters, in sufficient numbers to elect him.

The Know-Nothingism of Switzerland county held a Convention in the Temperance Hall in Mount Sterling on the 7th day of August, to nominate candidates for county officers—and they nominated Rodolph MERRILL as their candidate for Treasurer, Harris KEENEY for Sheriff, and Charles A. GARY for Commissioner, all three of whom are members in good and regular standing.

Mr. Merrill, their candidate for Treasurer, has always been one of the most inveterate Whigs in the county, and all that there is strange about his being a Know-Nothing, and a candidate of that organization, is that his father and mother are both foreigners, who settled here in 1803—and now he, the degenerate son of a noble sire, would, if he had the power, deny to that sire all political privileges. Oul what condescension!

Mr. KEENEY, their candidate for Sheriff, is an eastern man, and has heretofore been a Democrat. What has induced him to join this secret political organization is best known to himself—perhaps the emoluments of the Sheriff's office came over his vision and induced him to take the step he has.

Mr. GARY, their candidate for Commissioner, is an eastern man, and I have been informed, and has heretofore been a Democrat. It is intimated, that Mr. Merrill and Mr. KEENEY had boasted that there were a sufficient number of the Know-Nothingism, sworn to support him, to elect him, and therefore he asked to voters of the county. Is he not a pretty bird to talk thus—what would his old father say to his present position, could he return to earth again?

It is said Mr. KEENEY, during the Fair, made one of the same arguments to convince his friends that he would be elected, and no mistake in "Shoe-Tail."

Mr. CASE, the candidate for Senate, in opposition to Dr. SAGE, Mr. SAGE and Judge GILMORE, candidates for Representatives in opposition to Judge CASE and Mr. HARRIS, are men of sterling integrity, and will be enthusiastically supported by the people, for they are of the people, and not of the Jacobinical, secret Know-Nothingism organization, and have no secret aims and no hidden purposes to support them; but their support will be the free will offering of their fellow citizens.

The same can with propriety be said of Mr. KYLE, the candidate for Treasurer, in opposition to Mr. Merrill and his sworn supporters, as also of Mr. HARRIS, the candidate for Sheriff in opposition to Mr. KEENEY and his sworn supporters, and of Mr. BAYNE, candidate for Commissioner in opposition to Mr. GARY.

Now, fellow-citizens of Ohio and Switzerland counties, is the time to act, and act promptly, and show to these self-styled people's candidates, that they are not of the people, but belong to their sworn supporters. Let them call upon them for support, and let all honest men, who like to see things done up right, vote for CASE, SCHOELL, GILMORE, HARRIS, KYLE and BAYNE, and that then they will be most abundantly elected, there can be no mistake in it.

"S HAVE TAIL."

SWITZERLAND CO., SEP. 15, '54.

For the Weekly News.

During this unprecedented drought we fear that in some cases—and perhaps not a few, both man and beast have suffered for want of this very common and apparently valueless article, viz. water. How seldom man appreciates those daily and unobtrusive blessings which are showered down as it were, by his bountiful Creator. How few of the vast multitude that partake of them see any beauty or wisdom in their bountiful construction. How common, and yet how beautiful, and how pure is a drop of water! See it, as it issues from the rock, to supply the spring and stream below; see it how it meanders through the plains, and listen to the music of the torrent over the cliffs—how it adds to the richness and beauty of the outstretched landscape. Look it you please at a factory standing by a waterfall, in which every drop is faithful to perform its part; then hear the growling of the wheels, the rustling and clattering of the shuttles, and buzz of the spindles—which, under the direction principally of fair attendants, are supplying myriads of fair purchasers with robes from the Queen plant and Silk-worm. Is any one so stupid as not to admire the splendor of the rainbow, or so ignorant as not to know that it is produced by drops of water, as they break away from the clouds which had confined them, and are making a quick visit to earth to renew its verdure and increase its animation? How useful is the dew, in its nocturnal visits to alay the scorching heat of a summer's sun. And Autumn's frost, how beautifully it bedecks the trees, the shrubs, and grass; though it strips them of their summer's verdure, and tells them that they soon shall receive the buffeting of the winter's tempest. This is but water, which has given up its transparency for its beautiful whiteness and its geometrical crystals. The feathery snow flake too—what is it but water—these same pure drops transformed into minute crystals by wintry cold, and the first touch of the Summer's sun, retires them again to the same liquid drops? Our majestic rivers and boundless oceans what are they? Are they not made of drops of water? Behold how readily the river pursues its course from the mountain summit to the desolately consuming and scintillating over ledge and cliff, beautifying the plain in its course. How many mighty crystals float on the bosom of old ocean? How many myriads of fishes sport in its waters? Where are the receptacles of the Mississippi, Amazon, Danube, Rhine, Ganges, Lena, and the Colorado's long flow? One united voice says—old Ocean. How plain are those hemispherical drops. How do they find their way to the earth; and even into the depths of earth, and the solid rock? There are many thousand streams hidden from our sight forever, by mountain masses, yet these are steadily pursuing their silent courses deep from the surface, which forms our standing place for a few days. In the air also, how it parcels of air that contains no water? What would a famishing man give for a few of these pure liquid drops of water? And how essential to our sustenance, and where do we not use it? Which portion of the food we take during our lives did not contain it? What part of our body, which limb or organ or tissue in the complex frame of man, is not moistened by this liquid serum? If I may be allowed the expression?—How could the current of life circulate through our veins without it? Who has not observed how gladly the noble horse or patient ox in his toilsome journey arrive at waters brink? And the faithful dog as he patiently follows his master's track, how eagerly does he lap the water from the clear fountains on his way. See the feathered tribe, alas, how they love in this emblem of trust! Look how they migrate from the northern ice to where the same element remains liquid and life-giving to a southern shore.

Whose heart ought not to expand with grateful emotion towards the almighty Giver of this pure liquid—whose hand deposits it in the dew, and diffuses it through the flowing air, and the solid earth? Is it the farmer whose fields and clustering vines, through the abundant rain, brings forth fatness. Is it the Merchant whose vast, Lard and Spindle are moved by it? Is it the Merchant upon whose return from the north and south of the globe, his table is richly supplied with the various delicacies and luxuries of the four quarters of the globe; produced by the timely rains, and transported across the mighty but yield in Ocean; does he feel so gratified? Is it the physician on his ministrations some gentle beverage or salubrious purgative some more active header of the rheumatic disease? Is it the Minister, whose procession it is to make others feel—and that by feeling himself the slightest favor and the richest blessings flow from the same source and from the same abundant Giver? Finally—when does that has a crumb of bread and glass of water, be ungrateful or unthankful?

KEN TUCKY.

For the Weekly News.

Mr. ELLIOTT—Allow me through your columns to present to the friends of General Jackson, the "Liberty Tree" as it was planted by the old Henry in 1823. It is a valuable relic and should be carefully read by every Democrat, particularly at this time—Take Jackson the Democracy—the Old Line, if you please—has a sacred trust confided to its charge—to heal the wounds of the Constitution which have already been made by the Abolition party, and preserve it from more dangerous ones from secret political parties. This duty, I hope, the Democratic party will discharge on the second Tuesday in October, by casting their votes for those candidates who a party always has rallied around this time honored tree, and under whose shelter has been preserved from every storm.
