JAMES GILBRATH, Collector.

LONDON. April 6. and whose bones have hitherto lain bleaching.
The Wig Club.—This society met for the first time in the season yesterday, at shore.—Tren. True Amr.

the third time in the session yesterday, at a meeting at the Freemason's tavern. The duke of Bedford took the chair. Lord Holland, when the cloth was removed, gave as his toast the names of "Russell and Cavendish" particularly as the head of one of the families was in the chair. The duke of Bedford expressed his thanks, and having pronounced an eulogium on Mr. Fox, declared that he should always abide by the principles of that great man. The duke then gave "an union of interest and affection between Great Britain and Ireland," which was drank with three times three, and afterwards, "Mr. Whitbread and a speedy and honorable peace." This toast naturally induced Mr. Whitbread to rise and thank the company for having joined his name to a sentiment that he had so much at heart. "A number of the militia have this day been detached from this regiment by order of the governor, to enforce the laws of the United States and quell all combinations against the due observance of the same. The detachment from Vermont is commanded by Capt. Hopkins of Swanton,

RESORT TO ARMS.

The Utica Patriot of May 10 contains the following paragraph: "By a gentleman directly from Vermont we are informed that in an attempt of the inhabitants to take a large raft to Montreal, contrary to the embargo laws, they were resisted by two sloops belonging to the government, when an action took place lake Champlain in which fourteen or fifteen men were wounded. The raft escaped and proceeded to its place of destination.

A gentleman passenger in the in the men, who are or will immediately be joined by a detachment from the New-York 11th instant at Charleston from the Ha- side, to proceed with all possible dispatch to Havana informs, that the schr.—Spalding the British lines, in order to prevent the from Baltimore for Havana in ballast, with passage of a great quantity of lumber in a license from the American government, rafts which are now near the lines. fell in with a fleet of Spanish drogers under St. Alb.
