The royal Council has subsequently received, under date the seventh and eighth, the following Royal Address, Letter, Royal Decree, and Order:

ROYAL ADDRESS.

"Spaniards and beloved Subjects... Per fidious men are endeavouring to bring ruin upon you, and would fain supply you with arms, that you might turn them against the French troops, anxious reciprocally to stir you up against them, and them against you. What would be the result of such sinister intentions? No other, without doubt, than the devastation of Spain, and calamities of very description. The factious minds, from which I had so much to bear, are as yet in agitation; and, under circumstances equally important and critical, I am concerning matters with my ally, the Emperor of the French, concerning whatever is connected with your happiness. But be sure not to listen to his enemies; they who exasperate you against France, thirst for your blood, and are either the enemies of our nation, or the agents of England. If you bearken to them, you will occasion the loss of your colonies, the division of your provinces, and a long series of disturbances and evils to your country.

"Spaniards, trust my experience, and submit to the authority which I hold from the Almighty and from my ancestors. Follow my example, and believe, that the friendship of the Emperor of the French, our ally, alone can save Spain, and make her happy.—Bayonne, in the imperial place of government, May 4, 1808.

I THE KING."

Letter inclosing the Royal Decree to his imperial and Royal highness (Murat)

Brother—My absence and infirmities not allowing me wholly to dedicate myself to the unremitting exertions required for the government of my states, the tranquillity of my kingdom, and the preservation of my crown, it has struck me, that I could do nothing better than to appoint a Locum tenens, who, invested with supreme authority, which I hold from God and my ancestors, should govern and rule, for me and in my name, over all the provinces of Spain.

In consequence whereof, and having previously consulted the welfare of my people, and my wish to rescue the monarchy from the precipice into which the malevolent and the enemies of the peace of the continent, were on the eve of plunging her; duly appreciating on the other hand, the eminent virtues of which your imperial and royal highness had given us so many proofs, and the great services you have done us; I have resolved, with the consent and ap probation of my great and faithful ally the Emperor and king, upon appointing your imperial and royal highness my Lieutenant General, by the decree which I have just issued to the board of government, and which is here annexed; in treating you, prince, to transmit it to them, and to accept of this appointment, which will restore peace to my mind—And so I pray God may keep you, brother, under his holy and worthy protection.

Bayonne, May 4, 1808.

(Signed) CHARLES.

Appointment of the Grand Duke of Berg to the high dignity of Lieutenant General of the Kingdom.

To the Supreme Board of Government.

"Having deemed it proper to give the same directions to all the forces of my Kingdom, with a view to the security of the property of individuals, and the maintenance of public tranquillity against both internal and external foes, I have thought it my duty in order to attain that object to appoint lieutenant general of the kingdom our beloved brother the Grand Duke of Berg, who at the same time commands the troops of our ally the Emperor of the French.

And therefore, we command our supreme council of State and other councils, the chanceries, audiences, and justices of the kingdom, the captains general and governors of the provinces and places, to bear him obedience, execute and enforce the execution of his orders and dispositions, such will, as likewise that, as lieutenant general of the Kingdom, he shall preside over the board of government. Let it be so understood for the due fulfilment of my present supreme determination.

Bayonne, Imperial palace of government, May 4, 1808.

(Signed) I THE KING.

Order accompanying the Royal Decree

And Address.

"Most illustrious Sir—the Grand Duke of Berg has directed me to transmit to the council, as I hereby do, the annexed royal decree of our lord King, Charles IV, issued at Bayonne, in the palace of government, and by which his majesty has been pleased to appoint lieutenant general of the Kingdom, his imperial and Royal highness the above named Grand Duke of Berg; that the same may be understood by the council, and by them be carried into execution, and circulated with all possible speed for the corresponding purposes.

"I likewise sent to the council, in compliance with the said Grand Duke's commands, the annexed address of our said lord King Charles IV, in which he exhorts his subjects to submit to his dispositions for the security of Spain, the promotion of her happiness, and the preventing of the distractions and calamities with which she is threatened; that the council may also publish and circulate the said address. May God, &c.

Signed SEBASTIAN PINUELA.

Palace, May 7, 1808.

To the senior member of the council.

The whole having been read and the meeting held this day, in presence of two members of the supreme board of government, his excellency don Gonzalo O'Farril, and his illustriousness don Bernardo, Iriarte, appointed for that purpose by his imperial and Royal highness the grand duke of

Berg; after deliberating upon the subject, and hearing the king's fictions, it has unanimously resolved, that the annexed royal decree and address shall be carried into execution, and communicated to all the captains general, presidents and regents of all the chanceries and audiences, governors, cerregidores, intendants, ordinary justices, to the most reverend arch bishops, reverend bishops, and the heads of the secular and regular clergy of the kingdom, that they may understand, execute, and procure the execution of the same, obeying and enforcing obedience to the orders and resolutions of his imperial and royal highness in his capacity of lieutenant-general of the kingdom, without opposing or suffering the same to be opposed in any manner whatever.

Madrid May 8, 1808.—Duly registered

His excellency Don Sablén Pinuela communicated, on the 10th of May, to D. Arias Mon, senior member of the council and chamber, the royal order and inclosures, of which the following are copies:

"Most illustrious Sir—I send you by his imperial and royal highness the grand duke of Berg, lieutenant general of the kingdom, the annexed decree of Ferdinand VII, addressed to the supreme board of government, and inclosing a letter which he wrote to his august father, resigning the crown in his favour; and the revocation of the powers given to the said board of government, most particularly charging the latter to submit to his august father.

I likewise inclose you the letter which the same Ferdinand VII, wrote to his imperial majesty the Emperor of the French, upon the same subjects; that the whole may be immediately published, printed and circulated by the council."

"I have this day, delivered to my father a letter worded thus, Sire, venerated father and sir, in order to give your majesty a proof of my love, obedience, and submission, and to comply with the wishes which your majesty has repeatedly expressed to me, I resign my crown in favour of your majesty, wishing that your majesty may enjoy it for a long series of years. I recommend to your majesty the persons, who have served me ever since the 19th of March, fully relying upon the assurances, which your majesty has given me on this head. May God, &c. &c.

Your majesty's most humble son,

(Signed) FERDINAND.

Bayonne, May 6, 1808.

In consequence of the resignation of the crown in favour of my august father, I revoke all the powers with which I had invested the board of government, previous to my departure from Madrid, for the dispatch of the important and urgent business that might occur during my absence. The board shall obey the commands of our beloved father and sovereign, and shall enforce their execution throughout the kingdom. Before I conclude, I have to return thanks to the members of the board, to the constituted authorities, and to the whole nation for their services to me; and to charge them most heartily to unite with my beloved father, King Charles, and with the emperor Napoleon, whose power and friendship can, more than any thing else, secure to Spain, her most valuable blessing, namely her independence and the integrity of her territory.

I also charge you not to suffer yourselves to be seduced by the artifices of our internal enemies; to live together in perfect harmony, and to keep up a good understanding with our allies; and lastly, to avoid the effusion of blood, and the misfortunes, which would otherwise result from the present circumstances, if you allow yourselves to be led away by delusion and discord.

Let it be so understood by the board, &c.

Bayonne, May 6, 1808.

Signed) FERDINAND.
