FOR THE WESTERN SUN.

United States Saline, 20th Sept. 1809.

MR. STOUT,

AS I have not the least doubt but the readers of your paper, have heard, and some of them believed that I have been guilty of mal conduct in office, and as I have sought an investigation, and have not obtained it. I then instituted suit against capt. Davenport, who I heard should have said a great many things, calculated to injure my character, and remove me from office, but meeting with him at Kaskaskia, he gave me the following certificate, which I wish to have inserted in your paper, and which will show all that my most inveterate enemy's can say, for I believe that those who wished me removed from office depended mostly on captain Davenport for proof of my mal conduct.

I am,

Most respectfully

Yours,

ISAAC WHITE.

Whereas an unfortunate difference has arisen between Isaac White, and myself, and whereas, I may have been led to make some hasty expressions concerning him, calculated to injure his character, in consequence of believing that some persons had poisoned his mind to such a degree against me, that he had not done me justice in his office as agent of the United States at the Wabash Saline; and being sensible that every man is subject to imposition, and that I might have been mistaken in supposing that Mr. White's prejudice against me was so strong that he could not do me justice—I hereby certify and declare that I have never (as I at present recollect) said any thing calculated to injure the character of Mr. White, except his prejudice against me, and his sending a waggon load of salt to Ruffelville.—But I have always said, and still say, that there is not a man within my knowledge, who is more to be depended upon.
And I do consider him to be a man of strict honor and integrity, and I have always said, and still say, that I believe there is not one man in a thousand that could fill the place that he now fills (viz. as agent at the Wabash Saline, for the United States) better than he does.—Given under my hand this 15th, Sept. 1809.
