Business is very dull here, & will continue so until the new crop, which will be abundant.—The yellow fever has entirely disappeared at this place since the cold weather set in—but there are several cases of the intermittent fever."

The negotiations between France and Petion have terminated it would appear, unfriendly to the French interest, as the president of Hayti has addressed a very animating speech on the occasion to the people, when the resolution to defend their rights is emphatically repeated; & all attempts to conquer them are derided. France will have to abandon any project she may have formed to recover St. Domingo; even allowing that it was practicable to effect a conquest, by force of arms, because it is not the wish of her allies, particularly Great Britain, that she should receive any additional colonies beyond those already restored to her.

It will also be recollect that fortuitous circumstances gave that island into the hands of the blacks, and during a long continual war, they have employed themselves in fortifying their ports, and taking such steps to organize an efficient form of government that, at this day, would be found difficult to destroy.—The climate and the means of defence renders them secure from foreign invasion; and negotiations have already proved ineffectual. It would, therefore, be the interest of France to open a commercial arrangement, on terms of reciprocity, with the island; and she would have exclusive privileges, which would eventually be of more real utility than incurring unnecessary expenses in organizing expeditions which must result unfavorably.

Accounts, from Germany, state that their manufactories are all in confusion. England has inundated the continent, with such a quantity of manufactured articles that they cannot find vent!—Calicoes are selling so low that they supersede the use of linen—one of the chief articles of German manufactory. The nations declare that this hostile invasion must be repelled, as this manufacturing equality and commercial freedom is dangerous to their prosperity.

Price Current for Nov. 1816.

Bank Notes—becoming scarce and worth their weight in gold.

Discounts—in great demand, and few to be had.

United States Bank stock—great plenty, and yet rapidly rising—not expected to fall much, till the present holders have principally sold out.

Offices—pretty much engrossed by apostates and coodies, who hold on very obstinately. None to be had at present.

Votes—all bespoke by the caucusers—none for any body else. This is a very afflicting monopoly.

Editors—plenty and in little demand. No sales since the appointment of a Post Master at Albany.

Crystelina—will probably continue dull, until approved by the British Reviewers.

Clintonianism—said to be rising, but received a check lately at Albany.

Federalism—O'tis very low!

Price Current for Dec. 1816.

Snow.—Said to be very plenty, and continually falling, up the river. A great glut apprehended. It is expected however, that Rain, Thaw, and Co. will take off great quantities by spring Ice, we expect to receive by water.

Cold.—Some scattering parcels have been imported by the late north westers, and sent to sea

Mud.—In great plenty, and of the best quality, constantly increasing. No demand either by the corporation or scavengers.—

We understand that Mr. Grant Thorburn intends to make an application to the common council for a lease of one of the principal streets to plant some seeds of his big pumpkin in, next spring, he keeping the hogs out at his own expense.

Congress.—Not expected to rise till the beginning of March. Virginia Presidents.—No more expected till next spring—a favorite article.

Hard Times.—In great plenty—but in no demand. The market has been overstocked with this article, to the great embarrassment of trade.

Shining.—Is all the go.

Blowing up of Rocks under Water.

A patent was obtained a few days since, from the Patent office in this city for a machine for blowing up rocks under water.—By the aid of this machine it appears that a rock covered with water, no matter how deep, or how rapid may be the current, may be blown to atoms.

The machine is extremely simple, and will be cheap. It appears to be the invention of a Mr. Jno. Syme of Richmond, Va.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 23.

A Dash upon Christophe.—It is reported that government intends to send out a frigate to demand of CHRISTOPHE the payment of about five hundred thousand dollars the amount of his spoliations upon our commerce. The experiment is worth trying, because there is little doubt of its success. Christophe it is known is rich in specie, as well as in other resources.

To the Voters of Knox county, Fellow Citizens.

I have been induced to come forward at the ensuing election as a candidate for the office of RECORDER, of this county.—As neither Federalist, nor Republican, is material to the office, nothing need be said upon that point.

My long residence in this country, & a personal acquaintance, with the most of you, make it unnecessary for me to say more—I would merely add, should I be elected, I shall discharge the duties of the office with attention, and to the best of my abilities.
