

POETICAL ASYLUM.

SIN FORGIVEN.

Sweet are the visions of the eve,
That float in fancy's eye;
And sweet the hour when troubles leave,
When dark afflictions fly:

But sweeter still the joy that flows,
From sin forgot; forgiven:
Yes, sweet the peace the sinner knows,
Whose hopes are rais'd to heaven.

Oh may the lot of him be mine,
Whose sins are all forgiven;
For whom the joys delightful shine,
The peace that flows from heaven.

To all to whom it may Concern,

THE subscribers, Proprietors of the Town of MONROE, in the county of Sullivan and State of Indiana, hereby give notice that in consequence of the seat of Justice for said county having been established at another place and the dissatisfaction expressed by a number of purchasers of Lots in the said town of MONROE, they will, on the payment of the first note for the first Instalment, by the Purchaser, on or before the time of the said payment becoming due, & giving up to the proprietors the title Bonds by them executed, the said proprietors will then give up the notes for the payment of the two other instalments to the purchasers.—It is ascertained by the undersigned that the payment of the first instalment will not more than pay the expense of laying out the Town,—if this proposition is not complied with by the time mentioned, then the whole amount of purchase money will be demanded according to the terms of Sale.
