THE WEST.

The last accounts of the French colonists says the Catskill Recorder, represent them as ascending the Alabama with a view to the selection of a situation on the waters of the Black Warrior a branch of the Alabama. An account of their shipwreck in Mobile Bay was given in our last. This almost first essay at regular colonization deserves particular mention; and we follow with solicitude the route of these interesting emigrants. Letters from gentlemen of the colony represent that part of our western country watered by the Tombigbee and Alabama, as teeming with all the luxuries of nature. Winter scarcely known frost being seen but five or six times the season. In the summer the temperature below that of Philadelphia. The soil is admirably calculated for the production of cotton, tobacco, rice, sugar, maize, fruits and vegetables. The vine and olive, indigo madder peacock fit for dying red, the yellow tree and the lemon all grow without care or culture. The mountains contain nitre, alum, salt vitriol, lead, copper, iron, silver, limestone, mill-stone quarries; fuller's earth, crystal, good clay for delf ware, and sand for glass ware. Yet even in this grand nursery, of the riches of nature, industry is indispensable. Those who emigrate there under the expectation of living without labour, will find themselves woefully disappointed.

Extract of a Letter from St. Helena, dated June last:—Madame Bertrand continues the same gay creature as ever. She was brought to bed a few days ago. Buonaparte paid her a laying in visit. She took her child in her arms, and presented it to the Ex-Emperor, saying, "Sir I have the pleasure of showing you a great curiosity—in a word, an unique—the first stranger that ever was allowed to approach your Majesty in this Island and without permission from the Governor or an order from the Secretary of State." Bonaparte was quite pleased at the bon mot and laughed heartily.

On the 29th ult. the oath of office was administered to the hon. John Q. Adams, as secretary of state of the United States, and on the day following he commenced his official duties, in the prosecution of which he is indefatigably attentive.

Wash. Gaz.

Some idea may be formed of the importance of even the business of raising Shoe Blacking in London, from the fact that on a late legal investigation, one manufacturer was found to have in his possession eight thousand five hundred gallons of acid liquid, forming one of the ingredients in the composition he prepared and sold.

Recipe.—A French physician was once desired to state the best method of curing cucumbers. "Take them from the vines," said he, "let them stand in the sun for half a day, peal them, and pour over them a large quantity of liquor composed of vinegar, oil, salt, mustard and pepper; mix the whole with a plentiful supply of onions, and then—give them to the hogs."

MARIA LOUISA

The protest of the Ex-Empress Maria Louisa, against the occupation of the throne of France by the Bourbons has of late been published.—It purports to have been written by her own hand, on the 19th of Feby. 1815, & to have been addressed and presented to the congress of Vienna, at their setting of the 24th of February.

The Ex-Empress claims that "her beloved son, Francis Charles Napoleon, is the legitimate heir & possessor of the throne of France." The article is drawn with considerable ability, and contains a detailed view of the grounds of the right of the young Emperor Napoleon, to the French throne. It states that from the events of the revolution, "the government of France was changed de facto & de jure, & that it belonged to the French people to institute such form of government for themselves as was best suited to the circumstances of the times—that in the exercise of this right, every tie between the Bourbons and the French people was dissolved, and also between
