A LARGE Calf.

A few weeks since, a respectable citizen of this county killed a Calf four weeks old, which, when nicely cleaned for market, weighed One Hundred and Ten pounds.

Extract of a letter, dated New-Lexington, 8th August 1819, to a gentleman of this place.

"I need say nothing to you of the late election, you might have known that before Judge Holman declined holding a poll, Jennings had travelled throughout this end of the state, and though he could not by any art or management secure all his old friends, yet he made fair weather with few, and had good reason to believe with the thorough going supporters he has in another part of the state, that when Holman declined, it was too late for another candidate to oppose him effectually. You have succeeded in one of your candidates, however, for BOON is here believed to be elected by a large majority."

Brownsville, (Pa.) July 12.
United States' Road.

The whole of the United States' road unfinished between Uniontown and Washington, has been contracted for by James Kincaid, James Beck, Gabriel Evans, John Kennedy and John Miller; the east side of the Monongahela to be made for 6900 dollars per mile; and the west side for 6400 dollars. This will leave, out of the appropriation of 285,000, a balance sufficient to build a bridge over the Monongahela, after the salary of the superintendent and all other expenses are paid.

Notes of the State Bank of North Carolina, (says the Balt Fed Gaz.) altered from five to one hundred dollars, are in circulation. The alteration is so well done, that the most accurate observer cannot discover it by a mere examination of the altered note; but, as the appearance of a five dollar note differs essentially from that of the genuine hundred dollar notes the following marks will enable any person, with the least attention, to detect the counterfeits. The genuine note has a female figure, reclining; her left arm resting on a horn of plenty, a ship behind her—the altered note has a female figure, sitting; her left arm resting on a pedestal, behind which is a spinning wheel, her right hand holding a pole, on the top of which is a liberty cap, a ship in front.

In the body of the altered note, the words following—State Bank of North Carolina—are in German text; in the genuine note these words are in script, or like the common running hand—exactly the reverse of the above as to the word RALEIGH, which is in script in the altered note, and in German text in the genuine one.

Pittsburgh, July 23.

Farmers & Mechanics Bank of Pittsburgh.

At a special meeting of the Directors of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Pittsburgh, held at the bank on Tuesday the 20th July, inst. the situation of the affairs of the institution was taken into consideration; after a dispassionate investigation of the subject, and conceiving themselves perfectly clothed with the necessary powers, from the expression of sentiments exhibited by the stockholders at their late meeting, the following resolution was made.

Whereas from the embarrassment of the times, all banking operations, even of the ablest institutions, are so seriously shocked as to deprive them of every useful feature;

And whereas, the utility of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Pittsburgh, has, by its, unfortunate robbery in 1818, been in a particular manner destroyed, so as to render any attempt at continuance unprofitable and unpopular—Therefore.

Resolved, That the affairs of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Pittsburgh be wound up as soon as the nature of the case will admit.

In order that the public may have a correct conception of the value of the notes of this bank, it is thought necessary to state, that the amount of notes in circulation does not exceed $9,000, while the debts due the bank amount to 118,000 dollars, which have been loaned to the most solvent individuals in this city and its vicinity, small sums, and which, it is confidently presumed, can be collected without difficulty and at a trifling expense.

By order of the Board,
JOHN SCULL, President.

BUFFALO, JULY 6.

Gale.—A very heavy gale was experienced here on Wednesday last which lasted nearly 24 hours. We learn that the shipping at Black Rock suffered severely—six out of seven vessels lying there have been driven ashore. Much damage was also done to the gardens, fields of wheat, corn, &c. in this vicinity many of the former being nearly destroyed.

The Hon. Morris S. Miller arrived at this village on Friday last. Judge Miller is a commissioner on the part of government, to treat with the Indians, for the cession of certain lands in this vicinity and at Saginaw Bay, in the Michigan Territory. A counsel was yesterday held with the Indians, at the Indian village about 8 miles from this place, on the subject of the lands in this county, but we have not yet learnt the result. We are sorry to state, however, that from appearances, there is little or no probability of success.

We regret to learn, that the remnant of the six nations of Indians residing within this state, during the last week, in full council solemnly resolved not to encourage the introduction, of the christian religion among them. We understand that the debates on the subject were long and violent.

WASHINGTON, June 30.

In considering the rapid growth and future greatness of our country, the mind pauses with delight on every suggestion, that is calculated to nourish so agreeable a train of reflection. We therefore, indulge ourselves, without constraint, in collecting, as we go along, every material confirmatory of our hopes and wishes. In that respect the opinion of foreign writers, unbiassed by prejudice in favor of the nation, but whose prejudices should rather be the other way, is not wholly uninteresting. The following is a translated extract of a work of the ALBE DE PRADT, a distinguished French politician, and is copied from the Minerve Française, No 62.

"North America is a second England; consanguinity, the language, a natural bent towards commerce and the sea—all is English in America. Faction has presented to us a fable of two brothers who were enemies; England and the United States will realize the fable. Descended from the same blood, and governed by the same inclinations, their similarity of character and habits will unceasingly bring them in contact with one another. Pursuing the same prey—the profits of the world—they will continually meet in the same career, and there combat one another. A prolongation of the struggle will make them irreconcilable; but the United States enter it with immense advantages over their adversary; their territory has no limits, neither will their population have. England has fixed boundaries to both the one and the other. She cannot conquer over America. The latter will not fail to take hold of her possessions in Canada, Acadia and Newfoundland. All that England possesses on the American continent, she is, by the force of natural events, destined to lose. To get rid of carthage Rome had but one city to destroy, but one point to take possession of. But how is it possible to get rid of all America? One cannot say Delenda America. Delenda, Carthago."

M. Le Sage another French writer, speaking on the same subject, and describing with his pen the figure of America, presents her to view under the form of a really imposing Colossus. The opinion of this writer, which we refer to was expressed and published in 1812, when the acquisition of the Floridas was much farther from us than in all probability it is at the present time, and when the useful exploring expeditions now in progress could only be anticipated. The partial realization, in so short a time, of Mr. Le Sage's predictions, will not lessen the value of his notions of our future destiny. He thus expressed himself, in page 33 of his Atlas:

"Backed by the icy regions, without neighbors or enemies in its rear; supported on its right and left by two opposite oceans, leading to both extremities of the earth; facing a great bay or third sea, bordered only by small states descended from the nations of Europe—such will be the American Union. Having at her disposal, moreover, an immense territory, an assemblage of all climates, the possession of all products, and the course of a thousand rivers—unassailable from any nation in particular, but dangerous to all, will she not be enabled to take the title of Sovereign of the World and Empire of Nations—to give laws to the parts of Asia which never received any from Europe, and make the latter atone for the tyranny she has imposed on the rest of the world."

M. Le Sage has evidently regarded us rather with the eyes of a geographer, than of a statesman; he has measured the length and breadth of our territory, and said to himself, so much land will afford support to so many souls, and they will be competent, when the whole country is peopled, to give laws to the world. We trust, however, that the extent of the ambition of this republic will ever be to conquer prejudice and make proselytes by the force of example; to encourage other countries to imitate our institutions, by shewing to them that a nation may be at the same time powerful, prosperous, and virtuous.

MILITARY EXPEDITION TO THE UPPER MISSOURI.

Col. Chambers with a battalion of the rifle left Boons'-lick on the 5th inst. The increasing healthiness of his command furnished another proof of the wonderful salubrity of the Missouri water. Of twenty-seven on the sick report when he left Belle Fontaine, twenty one had reported for duty before he arrived at Boons'-lick!

Six companies of the sixth infantry had reached the mouth of the Great Osage (130 miles) towards the end of last week. They moved in keel boats, and went forward without waiting the progress of that renowned "Steam Fleet," the fame of which has been spread through so many newspapers.

Of this "fleet," the foremost, the expedition, was about forty miles in the rear of the keels.

The Johnson was a dozen or fifteen miles in the rear of the expedition, lying to for repair.

The Jefferson was still in the rear of the latter, and had made but twenty-seven miles in a period of two weeks—This vessel seems to be a whimsical affair. It is credibly said that she draws seven feet water when empty, five when loaded—is hog-backed—and spends much of her time aground in a river half a mile wide and thirty feet deep.

WONDERFUL!!

Incredible as the following account may appear, we can assure our readers that it is an indisputable fact inasmuch as the number of birds killed was satisfactorily ascertained by three respectable men, who counted the number, as well as the corroborative testimony of nearly a hundred different persons, who went expressly to see them. The following is a brief statement as it occurred:

On Wednesday last, the 19th inst. at the house of Silas Preston, in Plumstead township, Bucks county, a considerable noise was heard in the chimney. The female part of the family became alarmed and sent for Mr. P—it was ascertained that the noise was occasioned by the entrance of an innumerable number of chimney birds into the chimney, in which probably no fire had been made for several years. Mr. Preston, accompanied by one or two persons, repaired to the roof of the house, and, by forcing wagon covers down the chimney, propelled them into the room, where they were killed to the number of four thousand two hundred and thirty!!!!

What adds to the singularity of the above fact is, that they were apparently all old birds, and appeared to form a complete chain in the chimney, of an extraordinary thickness, and reaching nearly from the top to the bottom. The birds are yet visible in an adjoining field. Impossible as it at first seems to many, all now appear to be satisfied of its correctness, and more than 500 persons of respectability are ready and willing to qualify to the fact.

A BARGAIN.

FOR SALE,

320 ACRES FIRST RATE LAND,

LYING in Crawford county, Illinois, about 3 miles from Harris' Bluff, which is a good landing place for boats at all seasons of the year—4½ miles from Palestine, the county seat for said county. There is 80 acres under fence, and 40 under good cultivation—also several never failing SPRINGS, a good Cabin, some stock, a team, and farming utensils sufficient to carry on the business. About one half of it is Prairie and the other excellent timber. This Land, for the convenience of its situation and richness of its soil, cannot be surpassed by any in the western country. It is favored by a salubrious breeze at all seasons of the year—in a neighborhood of people where nothing but harmony prevails. A road is to run between the two quarter sections, to strike the Wabash river at the main landing place for that settlement. A saw-mill and grist-mill are now building within 1½ miles of the premises. Any person wishing to purchase land with improvements would do well to look at this, for I am positive that they would be pleased with its situation and the terms on which it can be purchased.

For further information apply to the subscriber at Col. H. LASSELLE's tavern.

SPRINGVILLE.

THE SUBSCRIBERS

WILL OFFER THIS TOWN FOR SALE On the First Monday of October next.

This town is so planned for health and convenience as to ensure general satisfaction in that respect. It is situated in Owen county, on the bank of the west fork of White River, and immediately opposite to the site which has been selected for the seat of justice of Owen. It is 16 miles distant from Bloomington the seat of justice of Monroe county, and nearer to it than any other point on the river; and the road between those places being very good, SPRINGVILLE must be principally the place of deposit for that rich, populous and flourishing county. It embraces several fine springs not surpassed by any in the country, and from which (at a trifling expense) water might be conveyed to any extremity of the town. Independent of these advantages the remarkable healthiness of the place, and the unrivalled fertility of the contiguous country, make SPRINGVILLE a desirable place either for the purpose of speculation or of obtaining an agreeable residence.

TERMS OF SALE.

One fifth of the purchase money paid at the time of sale, one fifth in 9 months, one fifth in 18 months, one fifth in 27 months and one fifth in 3 years.
