

obliged to pursue their criminal enterprizes than those who are addicted to the enjoyment of innocent and legal objects.
From the 9th to the 11th day, the House were engaged in discussing a question whether the Counsel should be permitted to cross-examine the witnesses in the manner they desired, which was finally determined upon by a majority of five. Lord Erskine then moved that the House adjourn, to afford time for the Queen to prepare for her defence; and that a list of the remaining witnesses against her, with a specification of the time, and places to which their testimony would apply, should be furnished her. On this motion there were Contents 61; Non-contents 160.

LONDON, AUG. 28.
Crowds of respectable persons continue to assemble daily in St. James's square, to await the approach of her majesty, & greet her with the most enthusiastic acclama-tions. As her Majesty left the House on Saturday, several ladies were assembled, who pressed to touch her clothes, and were perceived to shed tears of sympathy and affection. All the way to the House of Lords the same lively scene was presented, and the same demonstrations of admiration evinced. The soldiers are most respectful, and seem to join in the sentiments of the multitude.— E. Mail.

AUGUST 30.
Her Majesty arrived in town at 9 o'- clock this morning, preceded, as usual, by alderman Wood. The people assembled to see her pass were few in number, and those few manifested but little enthusiasm. As she passed Carlton Palace she turned her eye in an opposite direction with an assumed air of disgust.— This seemed to please her followers, who noticed it with cries of "bravo," and loudly clapping of hands. In the windows of Pall Mall and Cockspur-street we did not notice a single respectable person.—Courier

LONDON, AUG. 30.
The concourse of people who assemble in the neighborhood of the House of Lords, continue to insult the Duke of Wellington. Yesterday, as the Duke was riding with the Marquis of Angles they were again pursued with the hissing and hootings of the mob. The Duke took it coolly, but the Marquis made a full stop and demanded of the persecutors, "why do you hiss me?" Loud shouts of "The Queen! the Queen!" was the only reply. His lordship said "if you want me to do any thing contrary to my conscience, I must tell you, I would rather you ran me through the body." This called for a shout, but the next moment the cry of "The Queen," was renewed, and the Marquis put spurs to his horse and left them. The Horse Guards are in future to be on duty to prevent a repetition of similar outrages.

The Court of Peers is ordered to assemble immediately, to proceed without delay to the trial of the individuals arrested at Paris.

The Court Royale of Paris, all the Chambers being assembled, held yesterday a secret sitting, which is supposed to relate to the conspiracy.

The manner in which government first received an intimation of the conspiracy, was, by a fortunate but most singular chance. A female, who was accustomed to read the newspapers at the Thuilleries, in returning the journals she had borrowed, left in it, unwares, a letter that had just reached her. This letter was to the effect of advising her instantly to quit Paris, in order to avoid the consequences of a revolution that was about to break out. This letter fell thus into strange hands, was read, and the female to whom the letter had been addressed, was taken up. She pointed out the writer of it who, being also taken, put the authorities in possession of the plot. We are uninformed, at present, how far the burning of Vincennes was connected with this plot. It is asserted that the circumstance was occasioned by the negligence or imprudence of a workman who was employed there in repairing the fire-arm-to be used at the festival of St. Louis.— Several parts of the building received some damage from a partial explosion; succour was prompt and abundant; at 4 o'clock the fire was mastered; no person was hurt; luckily three barrels of gunpowder, one of saltpetre, were withdrawn in the time.

Since this event the castle has been closed, and the troops who form the garrison are placed under a countersign.— Gen. Degeau repaired to the castle on Saturday evening, and passed the night there. The castle has been slightly damaged, but no body has perished.— The commune is quite tranquil; and notwithstanding the immense crowd which the festival had attracted, not the least disorder has taken place. The plan of the conspirators was to seize the Louvre, and to penetrate, by the Grand Gallery of the Museum, to the King's apartments, whilst, by way of a diversion, the soldiers who were to have been gained were to have had a skirmish on the Place du Carrousel with the Guards of the Palace.

Madame Eliza Bacciochi, sister of Bonaparte, and Ex-Duchess of Lucca and Piombino, has, it is said, died at Trieste, of a nervous fever.

Letters from Ancona state, that preparations were making in the Marche for the reception of the Austrian troops expected from Lombardy.

PARIS, AUG. 22.
The late conspiracy has not at all interrupted the public order. The number of the military arrested does not exceed 25, and none of them above the rank of Captain. We add, with regret, that some of them belonging to the second regiment of the guards, distinguished by its sentiments of honor and fidelity. The preliminary investigation of their conduct has commenced. It appears, they did not dare to confide their project to the soldiers. Some of the conspirators have absconded.

All the Foreign Ambassadors waited on the King on Sunday.

All the barriers of Paris were shut from eleven o'clock on Saturday night till seven on Sunday morning. Since then the passage has been perfectly free.
The Gendarmerie was reinforced at all the posts, and stationed at new ones.

VIENNA, AUG. 9.
There is much talk here of a confidential circular of a powerful monarch in the North, addressed to all the Sovereigns who signed the Holy Alliance, to induce them to prepare their contingents for the purpose of opposing the revolutionary measures of demagogues in the south of Europe.

The Austrian troops, now on the route for Italy, consists of 32 battalions of infantry 10 battalions of chasseurs, and 2 squadrons of light cavalry. They will arrive between the 16th and 24th inst. at Treviso, where they will receive the orders for their ulterior destination. There are now strong Austrian garrisons at Bo-logno and at Commachio.

A private letter from London, dated August 15, published in the Washington City Gazette, says—"The king and the duke of York have had a quarrel—the king threw an inkstand at the duke, and the attendants had to drag him out of the royal presence; he having first abused the king, and told him that 50,000 soldiers would follow him, but not one the king.
It is rumored that his Majesty is half mad, and very tyrannical—talks of having a royal guard from Hanover."

Great numbers of troops are quartered in the neighborhood of London.

A LIST of letters remaining in the Post-Office at Hindostan, Martin county, Indiana, which if not taken out of the office before the 1st day of January next, will be sent to the General Post-Office as dead letters.
