

those which constitute a large portion of imports in American vessels, viz. plain cottons, furniture, saddlery, lard, tallow and wax candles, hats, shoes and boots, sugar, soap, tobacco, and ready made clothes. The consumption of cottons, however, is annually increasing, and from their superior fabric, and cheapness, will eventually supercede, in spite of every obstacle, the use of all others. The consumption of American flour, which has heretofore been a valuable branch of commerce to this coast, has been diminishing gradually. The quantities of wheat introduced from Chili, are nearly sufficient for the supply of Lima; and as the manufacture of it is daily improving here, there is little doubt that our flour will soon be excluded from the market, except in cases of short crops in Chili. The wholesale price may now be quoted at $8 per barrel, on board. The quantity in market is 8000 barrels, and a number of vessels known on the way, are daily expected.

"The working of the silver and gold mines, since the conclusion of the war, has been a losing speculation to the adventurers. Considerable quantities of the metals are produced, but the expense of conveying machinery to the mines, the clearing them of water, the experience of the workmen, and above all the rapacity of government, absorb all profits, and nearly all the capital. As the precious metals are almost the only exports from Peru, commerce must flourish or decay in proportion as they abound or are scarce.

"An agent of the French government presented his credentials to the authorities here a few days ago, under the title of 'Inspector of Commerce.' The Peruvian cabinet refused to acknowledge him in that capacity, and he has consequently demanded his passports and left the country. This step may be productive of important consequences.

"I enclose you the constitution of Lower Peru, and an account of the proceedings preparatory to its adoption. The last may be considered as emanating from the government party.

"The frigate Brandywine and sloop of war Vincennes, are hourly expected, to supply the place of the squadron lately sailed for the United States."

MASONIC MIRROR, and Mechanics' Intelligencer.

BY MOORE & SEVEY.

THIS work has been two years before the public.—Its success has been such as to place it, in point of numbers, on an equality with the first periodical publications in the country: and the publishers, sensible of the many obligations due their Masonic Brethren, for the exercise of their influence in giving it this extensive circulation, are encouraged to a renewal of their best efforts.

Free Masonry is a subject that has engrossed the attention of man, from the primitive ages to the present: and its mystic beauties, like its elder sister, Religion, have commanded the respect and adoration of the wise and good. The first object of the Institution, is to preserve its members from the immoral infection by which they are surrounded in the various walks of life—unite them in the bonds of Charity & Peace—sublimate their minds with the noblest principles of nature, and render them fit for the service of a purer being: that, when the Grand Master of the Universe appears in the splendid robes of his majesty and glory, to inspect the Universal Lodge, he may say to them—"Well done good and faithful," enter the glorious Temple of the living God, and encircle his throne forever. To inculcate this sentiment, has been the primary object of the MIRROR, and the publishers have the satisfaction to believe they have not labored in vain. In addition to this, the Masonic Department contains Historical Essays on the Origin and Progress of the Order: Hymns, Songs, and such intelligence as is calculated to interest or instruct.

The Scientific Department of the paper, is designed to afford Mechanics, whose avocations and means preclude them the perusal of voluminous works, a cheap, but correct source of information, relative to their trades and professions.—It contains such extracts & original communications, as are best calculated to subserve their views and interests.

The Miscellaneous Department comprises Historical Sketches, Fancy Tales, Instructive Lessons, Anecdotes, Poetry, and such other branches of Polite Literature, as are adapted to Female taste, or have a tendency to promote the Youthful Genius in its researches. A summary of Foreign, Domestic, and Political Intelligence is furnished weekly, comprising every article of news worthy of record.

CONDITIONS

The MIRROR is published every Saturday morning, on a royal sheet of fair complexion and fine texture, each number containing eight large quarto pages, at $2 per year, in advance—$3 per year, payable in ninety days after subscribing. $1 50 cents for six months—$1 for three months, in advance. The paper can be obtained on no other conditions.

Those who act as agents, procure six annual subscribers, and become responsible for their yearly payments, shall be entitled to a 7th copy gratis, so long as the said six may continue to receive the paper.

* Letters must be post paid. Agents transmitting money are requested to be particular in forwarding the names of the individuals to whom it is to be credited.

The numbers from the commencement of the third volume can be supplied, if required.

Subscriptions for the above, received at this office.
