

THE WESTERN SUN

VINCENNES, JULY 28, 1827.

The Wabash has again taken a rise, is now in good navigable order, and is still rising.

Several communications are on file, addressed to the candidates at the approaching election; believing they could produce no beneficial effects at this time, I have not inserted them.

To the Citizens of Knox.

Fellow Citizens—AS a candidate to represent Knox county in the Legislature, it was my sincere wish to avoid troubling you in the manner I now do. But believe me, that the circulation through the county of a tale upon me, calculated to wound the feelings of a portion of you, renders it necessary for me to address you; and in doing so, permit me also to state my opinions on some subjects of great importance to the county.

In the Telegraph of last week, there was published an article addressed to certain persons unknown, to whom the epithet "The trio" was given, and signed U. I was informed by some person, whether truly or not, is now immaterial, that the Editor of that paper had named me as one of the "trio," and I was irritated. I conceived the publication itself to be highly improper, and I thought the naming of me as one of the persons alluded to, deserving of any term I might apply to it. In a conversation with Mr. Burtch, in the presence of Mr. Heberd only, I stated my opinion of that publication fully, & among other observations, said, or intended to say, in substance, that none but black hearted men would support the publication of such articles as that signed U.—Mr. Heberd, however, understood me to say, that "none but black hearted men would support the election of the Editor of the Telegraph as your Senator." This I assure you, was an innocent mistake of Mr. Heberd; and I positively assert, that I never did think of making the observation Mr. Heberd supposed me to make—which indeed, as coming from me, would be most absurd and ridiculous; for many very respectable men, in town and country, some of whom are my personal and esteemed friends, support John Ewing's election, and also mine. And so soon as I was informed by Mr. Burtch, very shortly after the conversation in his store, of Mr. Heberd's understanding of my observation, I instantly made the statement I have given above.

The existing difficulties between John Ewing and myself, are entirely of a personal nature, and should have no influence upon either his, or my election. But I freely and candidly assure the citizens of Knox county, that no private difficulties with an individual associated with me in a public capacity, should ever influence my public conduct. If elected your Representative, my duty & my interest will be to serve the state and the county, and not to gratify my private feelings—good or bad—towards any one.

If elected, my course will be, to advocate and support every measure calculated to promote the interest of the people I represent, and to oppose every measure contrary to those interests. I will sincerely, with heart and hand, use every exertion to promote the agricultural, manufacturing & commercial interests of the state and county; to accomplish the formation of the Wabash canal, and the highly necessary improvement in the Wabash river; to reduce the state and county taxes—and by my whole course, to confirm the confidence of the people, and to deserve a continuance of their friendship & esteem. During the time I have resided in Knox county, in the course of my professional business, and of my private dealings, I have been placed in immediate contact with very many individuals, poor as well as rich, and to them all, I boldly appeal; on their opinion of my integrity and ability, I boldly rely.—Very respectfully.

SAM'L JUDAH.

July 26th, 1827.

I do certify, that shortly after the publication of the last Telegraph, a conversation took place in the store, in my presence, between Mr. Burtch and S. Judah, respecting an article in the paper, over the signature of U. That in the course of the conversation I understood Mr. Judah to use these expressions—"Those who supported John Ewing ought to be remembered"—and "That there was no body in the county who would support him but a few stubborn black hearted fellows in Vincennes." And that shortly after the above conversation, I stated my understanding of it to a friend, who immediately went to Mr. Judah, and Mr. Judah immediately stated, that he had reference to those who could approve of such publications as that signed U, in the Telegraph, and not of those who would vote for J. Ewing as Senator—and that I now am satisfied.—July 27th, 1827

W. J. HEBERD.

I do certify, that the conversation between S. Judah and myself above mentioned, was entirely relative to the piece signed U, in the last Telegraph and the continuation of such publications, and the election or voters for Senator, was not to my understanding spoken of—July 27th, 1827.
