

...sailed from Onessa on the 2d, on his return to his army. Lord Heytesbury did not accompany or follow his imperial majesty who, however has placed a frigate at his lordship's disposal, whenever it may be deemed necessary for him to repair to the imperial head quarters, to communicate with his imperial majesty. The other ambassadors, who are military men, were to follow the emperor in two or three days.

Gen. Ivandoff is dead of the wounds he received.

The Turks have made a desperate sortie from Shumla, in which they had the advantage. They succeeded in destroying three of the Russian redoubts; the Russians who occupied them were all cut to pieces in the sanguinary conflict. Eight guns were taken, & we lament to add, that Gen. Wrede, a brave & distinguished officer, was killed.

The loss of the Turks was as may well be supposed, considerable.

There was sickness in the army, and was feared that it was on the increase, the weather having been so hot, and a great scarcity of water.

The accounts which have arrived from Constantinople are of the 24th and 26th Aug.

The grand vizier left Constantinople on the 20th, and was to proceed to Shumla direct with forty thousand men.

NOTES.

1. The postmaster general may expedite the mails and alter the times for arrival and departure, at any time during the continuance of the contract, he paying an adequate compensation for any extra expense that may be occasioned thereby.

2. Seven minutes shall be allowed for opening and closing the mail at all offices where no particular time is specified.

3. For every fifteen minutes delay, in arriving after the time prescribed in any contract, the contractor shall forfeit five dollars; and, if the delay continue until the departure of a pending mail, whereby a trip is lost, a forfeiture of double the amount allowed for carrying the mail one trip, shall be incurred, unless it shall be made to appear that the delay was occasioned by unavoidable accident; in which case the amount of pay for a trip will be forfeited. These forfeitures, it will be observed, are unconditional; except for the failure of a trip, by unavoidable accident the penalty may be reduced to the pay for one trip. That on no condition is this sum, or the other penalties stated, to be remitted.

4. Persons making proposals are requested to state their prices by the year. Those who contract will receive their pay quarterly—in the months of May, August, November and February, one month after the expiration of each quarter.

5. No other than a free white person shall be employed to carry the mail.

6. Where the proposer intends to convey the mail in the body of a stage carriage, he is desired to state it in his proposals; and the stage must be of sufficient size, unless otherwise expressed, to accommodate seven passengers.

7. Every proposer may offer in his bid to make any improvement in the transportation of the mail, from the terms invited, either as to the mode of transporting it, the speed required, or the frequency of the trips per week—which shall receive due consideration.

The number of the post route shall be stated in every bid, and the proposal must be sealed and directed to the general post office, and endorsed "Proposals." Strict attention must be given to the endorsement, as it is not intended to break the seal of any proposal until the time for receiving bids shall have expired.

8. The postmaster-general reserves to himself the right of declining any contract at an end, whenever one failing happens which amounts to the loss of a trip.

9. The distances stated are such as have been communicated to this office, and some of them may be incorrect: on this subject the contractor must inform himself—the department will not be answerable for any mistake.

10. In every case where the mail is transported in stages, and the present contractor shall be underbid, and the underbidder shall not have such stage property as may be necessary for the performance of the contract, he shall be required to purchase from the present contractor, at a reasonable valuation, the whole or any part of the stage property, including horses, that may be suitable for the service, and make payment therefor, by reasonable instalments, as his pay becomes due, or as may be otherwise arranged.

This will be made a condition in the acceptance of any bid, under the bid of the present contractor; and should the underbidder fail to comply, his bid will be offered to the present contractor; but should he decline making the contract at that rate, the proposal of the underbidder will be accepted unconditionally.

It is distinctly understood that the mail will continue to be carried in stages on every route where it is now so conveyed.

11. No bid shall be withdrawn after the time for receiving bids shall have expired, and should any person refuse to take the contract at his bid, he shall be held responsible to the department, for the difference between his bid and that at which the contract shall be made. The assignment of any contract, without the consent of the postmaster-general, shall forfeit it—and in all cases where application is made to the department to sanction a transfer, the terms must be fully stated.

Should a contractor or his agent engage in the transmission of commercial information by express on his route, more rapidly than the mail, he shall forfeit his contract.

12. If a route should be discontinued by congress, or become useless, in whole or in part, in the opinion of the postmaster-general, he may limit or dispense with the service of the contractor on making him an allowance of one month's extra pay.

13. The contracts will all begin January 1st, 1829, and the contracts for routes in the states of Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, will continue for one year only. Contracts for routes in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida territory, will other routes will continue three years. 14. Postmasters who receive an advertisement should give every person who applies, an opportunity to read it.

JOHN M'LEAN, Postmaster-General.
