

They will see at once it is one of the deepest and most dangerous projects ever formed to build up a large aristocracy at Washington, at the head of which it is intended to place Mr. Webster or Mr. Clay, either of whom will rule the states and the people with a rod of iron. This project is conducted by the same spirit, and is founded on the same principles which animated the old federalists during the presidency of the elder Adams, of Jefferson, and of Madison. Never before has the democratic government of the United States been in such jeopardy as at the present time. The safety of the constitution, the sovereignty of the states, and the liberty of the people, will now depend altogether, for their preservation and permanency, on the party of democratic republicans who elevated Andrew Jackson to the presidency. On their discretion, good sense, moderation, and firm democratic principles, are placed the high destinies of our free government, in opposition to plans and projects of a high aristocracy, originating in the broken fragments of the old federal party, and the aiders and abettors of the Hartford Convention. If republicans, either in or out of Congress, permit themselves to be divided, separated or irritated by any of these great sectional questions, we may then bid farewell to peace—farewell to content—and farewell to the present happy condition of the United States. It is their duty to settle every question as it comes up amicably and equitably—agreeably to the principles of the constitution and the wishes of the people. The aristocratic opposition will interpose every obstacle, but they must be defeated.

Russian Trade on the North West Coast.

The following information, with the accompanying remarks, is from a London paper.

The directors of the Russo American Company at Petersburg have announced, in the beginning of this month, to the shareholders, that two ships, belonging to the association, had arrived in the port of Ochotzki during the present season from the Russian Colonies in America. The first, the Ochotzki, import from New Archangel, furs to the amount of 1,000,000 roubles. The other, Tschitchakoff brought furs from the Kurile Islands to the value of 400,000 roubles. The brig Raikai was expected at Kamtschatka, belonging also to the Company, she having been despatched from New Archangel in the month of May, with a cargo of salt. All the Russian establishments at that end of the world were amply provided, and an expedition had been sent from Koidak to the northward, for the purpose of topographical surveys in the interior of North America, and to establish a commercial intercourse with these unexplored countries. Thus Russia acquires in all directions what a modern great conqueror so ardently coveted—namely, ships, colonies and commerce; and not satisfied with Russian officers gaining nautical knowledge in England, as heretofore, numbers have been sent to the United States of America, where models of nautical architecture, and vessels celebrated for their velocity and other sailing qualities, and purchased for Russian account at high prices. Under these circumstances, the Government, of this country ought to look to the formidable progress of such a maritime rival with a corresponding degree of vigilance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.

In the House of Representatives, among the petitions presented was one from the Seven Day Baptists, praying Congress not to interfere with the mails, or, in case the transportation should be prohibited on Sunday, praying Congress to meet their views by prohibiting the transportation of the mail on Saturday also. Mr. Storts presented several petitions praying for a discontinuance of Sunday mails, &c. A great number of other petitions were presented, upon both sides of that question. Mr. Mercer presented a memorial from sundry citizens of Virginia, relative to the Colonization Society, and the Slave Trade, which was referred to a select committee. Mr. Hemphill gave notice that he should, on Wednesday week, move the House to take up the bill for the establishment of a national road from Buffalo to New Orleans. Mr. Davis presented sundry resolutions of the State of Massachusetts, relative to the claim of that state on the general government, which were laid on the table, and ordered to be printed. Some appropriation bills were acted upon before adjournment.

Correction.—In our report of the Senatorial proceedings of Tuesday, it was erroneously stated in the daily paper, that the following resolution, submitted by Mr. Woodbury, was decided by the President to be out of order.

Resolved. That the resolution of the Senate, passed January 29, 1830, authorizing a subscription to Gales and Seaton's proposals for reprinting the public documents, be hereby rescinded.

The resolution was decided to be in order; but a joint resolution, also offered by Mr. Woodbury, from the Library Committee, providing for the reprinting of the public documents, was decided to be out of order, until that already pending before the Senate on this subject, shall have been disposed of.

CHAMBERSBURG, (Pa.) Feb. 28.
Longevity.—There is now living in this county, a man of the of John Hill, who, from the best information that can be obtained from himself and others, is between 120 and 130 years of age! He served George the I., II., and III., as a soldier—the latter the last time in this country under General Braddock, and was considered too old for a soldier when our revolutionary war broke out! He enjoys pretty good health at present and appears likely to yet have some years in store. His habits through life, so far as the memory of any now living runneth affords no argument of temperance being necessary to longevity!

Counterfeit Notes.—We have been informed the counterfeit notes of the denomination of five dollars on the Bank of North America, are now in circulation in our neighbourhood. They are payable to E. Hains—Letter B. H. Hollingsworth, Cashier.—H. Nixon, President. Dated January 24th, 1827. It is stated by good judges that the execution is good and well calculated to deceive. The colouring on the back is somewhat paler than that on the genuine notes.

Cause of morning fog over rivers.—A fog is formed whenever watery vapors arising from the earth meets with colder air, which condenses it. A river does not become sensibly colder during the night than it was the preceding day, but the air over the land becomes a number of degrees colder, and the vapor from the river, which, is nearly as much by night as by day, coming into contact with colder air, is condensed into fog.

SENATORIAL OPPOSITION.

"Many Senators are engaged in the collection of the materials for a spirited and effectual attack on sundry of these appointments."

The above is an extract from the New York Commercial Advertiser, and expresses, now for the first time, we believe, the settled determination of the Coalition, to organize in the Senate of the United States, an unshaded opposition to the government, on personal grounds alone.—Though divided perhaps in their preference; differing certainly on principle, when they profess to have any; the friends of corruption, consolidation and "a strong government," unite, it seems, heartily in their personal hatred of President Jackson and his friends. Having attempted to destroy the honest fame of our venerable Chief Magistrate during the Presidential contest, having fought with an unrelenting persecuting violence, to which there is no parallel in our history, with a view to deprive the majority of the elective power. Mr. Webster and a large number of the Coalition Senators, now intend, according to the New York Commercial, to make an organized, "spirited and effectual attack" upon some of the appointments. The Coalition Senators come together with a fixed determination to hurl defiance in the teeth of the People, in complicity with whose wishes the President has acted, and to display in the capitol the age of opposition, because Tobias Watkins has been punished, and because his office and those of others like him have been filled with men possessing the confidence of the republicans of this country; because old and incapable men, who had learned to think their tenure of office a life estate, have been compelled to give place to younger, more active, more efficient servants; because the treasury has been closed against those who were wont to purchase popularity with the public money; because they, the Coalitionists, detest the officers to whom their tools have been forced to render up their seats in the Senate.

The opposition can be organized on no other than personal considerations, yet the presses in the pay of the leaders of the aristocratic party, dare to announce that an opposition will be organized. Let the people who have placed President Jackson in office, look well to these things.

TAKEN UP,

AND posted by Benjamin Enlow, of Dubois county, Indiana, an IRON GRAY MARE, about fourteen and a half hands high, supposed to be six years old—shod all round. No marks perceptible, except one spot on the left side, where the hair is rubbed off—and is very much addicted to sucking stumps—appraised at thirty dollars by John Fisher and William Bogare.

I do certify this to be a true transcript from the original. Given under my hand this 9th day of March, 1830.

PROSPECTUS.

OF THE

NEW YORK AMULET,

AND

Ladies' Literary and Religious Chronicle.

—o—o—o—

THE primary object of this work will be, to check the rapid progress of two alarming evils, so fatally prevalent in our country, viz: Intemperance and Infidelity—which, like the canker-worm, are stripping the green walks of life of all flowers, and leaving the moral world a leafless desert. To do this the more effectually, we shall pourtray in the most vivid colours, the deformity and deleterious consequences of these most deadly evils, by interesting moral tales, sketches, fragments, essays, and scriptural illustrations. We shall endeavour to cherish in the hearts of our readers, the sublime and benevolent sentiments of the blessed gospel of Jesus Christ—to exhibit the beauties and rewards of virtue in all their captivating loveliness—to awaken the better feelings of human nature—to cultivate the SOCIAL and DOMESTIC affections—to lead the mind through the most delightful avenues, to the bowers of happiness and peace—to elevate and enlarge the conceptions—to imbue the understanding with the most exalted ideas of illimitable attributes and perfections of the Great Divinity—thereby leading mankind to "fear God and keep his commandments."

To accomplish these designs, we shall call to our aid all the eloquence of truth, clothed in the most fascinating forms—such as moral essays, simple or pathetic tales, varying "from grave to gay, from lively to serene"—poetical sketches—didactic articles in verse—and sometimes to enliven our pages, a tale of fancy—a humorous story—an allegory—a ballad—or, a song, will receive an insertion. In each and in all, the great end and aim will be, to convey moral and religious sentiments, through a pleasing medium, to the heart—or, in other words, to blend the "useful with the sweet."

In order to furnish our readers with the choicest articles both of poetry and prose—to encourage genius and to foster talent—generous premiums will be awarded, from time to time, for original articles furnished. The entire services of a distinguished literary gentleman, late from London, who has for some time past been a contributor to the English periodicals, are engaged for the New-York Amulet. With these claims for patronage, the work will be submitted to the consideration of a candid and generous public.—Should we succeed in our endeavours to blend usefulness and instruction with amusement and delight, our object will be accomplished.

CONDITIONS.

The New-York Amulet—published by an association of gentlemen—will be beautifully printed on fine, white paper, 4to size, with entire new type. Its typographical execution shall equal that of any similar publication in America. It will be afforded to city subscribers in Philadelphia and New-York, who will receive them by a carrier, at one dollar and twenty-five cents the volume, handsomely covered for preservation. Mail subscribers without covers, will be furnished with a volume, at the very low price of ONE DOLLAR—payable in advance. Should the patronage warrant the expense, the work will be embellished with copper-plate engravings.

GREENVILLE FEMALE ACADEMY,

HARRODSBURG, (KY.)

WILLIAM JONES.

HAS purchased, and is now fitting up, the Greenville Springs, and will open a Female Academy on the first Monday in May next—This establishment and its advantages are too well known to the public to need particular mention. The studies of the young ladies who may be committed to his care, will be constantly conducted by himself. Having determined to engage in the instruction of Females, from a conviction of the extensive sphere of usefulness which it offers he will use every effort to make his institution as permanent and as extensively useful as possible. His own interest, the usefulness and reputation of his school, he deems sufficient pledges for his strict attention to his pupils. The following will be the course of studies;

First Class—Reading, Writing, Spelling (with definitions,) Mental Arithmetick English Grammar with Exercises, &c.

Second Class—Reading and Arithmetick continued; Geography, History, ancient and modern, Rhetorick, Logic and Compositions.

Third Class—Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, Moral and Intellectual Philosophy, Natural Theology, Evidences of Christianity and Compositions. Any of which may be omitted at the option of parents.

The year will be divided into two Sessions, of five months each; the summer session beginning on the first Monday in May and ending the last of September; the winter session, beginning on the first Monday in November, and ending the last of March.

Terms.—Boarding, with washing, fuel, &c. including tuition, per session, $55 00

Tuition without boarding, 15 00

Accomplished teachers of Musick, Painting, &c. will be employed, and instruction in the several ornamental branches may be had at a small additional charge, and if the demand warrant it, teachers of the French and other Modern, and the Ancient Languages, will be employed. Those who feel disposed to educate their daughters or wards at this institution, can, for further information, apply to
