

verment has it stated, determined to recognize the new king of the French.

In Spain, it is said, considerable agitation still was felt by the public, and a few insurrectionary movements had been made in Andalusia. Near the frontier there were signs of opposition. The recognition of the independence of the American states is spoken of by some papers with much confidence; and that on very easy terms, without reservation, and without reward.

ANTICIPATED REVOLUTIONS.

Letter from Thomas Jefferson to John Adams.

A friend has obligingly selected for us the following letter of Thomas Jefferson, written seven years since. The letter will be read with much interest at this time, and the passages we have italicized will no doubt leave on the mind of the reader a lasting impression of the depth of intellect and accuracy of observation which were the characteristics of their illustrious author.

Nat. Gaz.

"MONTICELLO, SEPT. 4, 1823.

Dear Sir—Your letter of August the 15th was received in due time, and with the welcome of every thing which comes from you. With its opinions on the difficulties of revolutions from despotism to freedom, I very much concur. The generation which commences a revolution, very rarely completes it. Habituated from their infancy to passive submission of body & mind to their kings & priests, they are not qualified, when called on, to think and provide for themselves; & their experience, their ignorance and bigotry make them instruments often in the hands of the Bonapartes and Irtubides, to defeat their own rights and purposes. This is the present situation of Europe and Spanish America. But it is not desperate. The light of which has been shed on mankind by the art of printing, has eminently changed the condition of the world. As yet, that light has dawned on the middling classes only of the men in Europe. The kings and the rabble, of equal ignorance, have not yet received its rays, but it continues to spread, and while printing is preserved, it can no more recede than the sun return on its course. A first attempt to recover the right of self-government may fail, so may a second, a third, &c. But as a younger and more instructed race comes on, the sentiment becomes more and more intuitive, & a 4th, a 5th, or some subsequent one of the ever renewed attempts will ultimately succeed. In France, the first effort was defeated by Robespierre, the second by Bonaparte, the third by Louis the XVIII, and his allies, another is yet to come, and all Europe, Russia excepted, has caught the spirit, and will retain representative government, more or less perfect. This is now well understood to be a necessary check on kings, whom they will probably think it more prudent to change and tame, than to exterminate. To attain all this, however, rivers of blood must flow, and years of desolation pass over; yet the object is worth rivers of blood and years of desolation. For what inheritance so valuable can man leave to his posterity? The spirit of the Spaniard, and his deadly and eternal hate to a Frenchman, give me much confidence that he will never submit, but finally defeat the atrocious violation of the laws of God and man, under which he is suffering; and the wisdom and firmness of the Cortes afford reasonable hope that that nation will settle down in a temperate representative government, with an executive properly subordinated to that. Portugal, Italy, Prussia, Germany, Greece, will follow suit.—You and I shall look down from another world on these glorious achievements of man, which will add to the joys even of heaven.

THOS. JEFFERSON,

COMMODORE PORTER.

A letter, dated Gibraltar, August 8, has been received at Boston, which states, that Commodore Porter had arrived there on his way to Algiers, and there learned the events which had taken place at Algiers.—He was to sail the next day for Mahon. What would be his next destination was not known. This letter makes no mention of any news from Spain.—Balt. Patriot.

A secret expedition, under the direction of about 150 emigrant Spanish officers, lately sailed from England for the coast of Spain. It was got up with great caution and secrecy, under the superintendence of Johnson, noted smuggler. Notice of it at length came to the ears of the Spanish ambassador, who made immediate representation on the subject to the foreign office, but before there was any time for interference, the expedition had sailed. This took place before the late revolution in France was known. It was supposed that the enterprise must have been undertaken in concert with a party in Spain, as it too small to expect success without some arrangement or immediate co-operation, as it carried a very large supply of arms and ammunition. It is said that the money was raised for the enterprise by subscription.

Admiral Sir Isaac Coffin, of the British Navy, who is a native of Massachusetts, has been promoted to Admiral of the Red; and Captain Broke, who commanded the frigate Shannon in her engagement with the Chesapeake, to Rear Admiral.—Raleigh Star.

NATIONAL POLITICS.

Maine has actually gone high and dry for the administration. This adds another of the New England states to the Hero's civic crown. The truth is, and it may as well be spoken as hid, that Gen. Jackson, notwithstanding his vetoes and reforms, and malversations, so called, has lost nothing in the affections and confidence of a sovereign people, so far as an expression has been made of public opinion of the polls. We have been deceived upon this subject, and in a small degree may have helped to deceive others. We have been told most vauntingly, and by those who professed to know, that an astonishing reaction had taken place, and is now taking place in the country—that Mr. Clay had gained fifty per cent. in the number of his supporters—and we believed all this, because we wished it might be true—but it is of no use—Jackson is still "lord of the ascendant," and bids fair to continue so, the errors of his government to the contrary notwithstanding. The West certainly will support him, even against the boasted claims of a "favorite son."—The South will support him because he is emphatically a southern man in sentiment. Pennsylvania will support him because he is "Old Hickory," and fought like dunder and blizum at New-Orleans. —New-York will unquestionably support him in obedience to the commands of the migician and the Albany Regency, and two at least of the New England states will support him because the sovereign people of the said states "will have it so;" and what chance is there for Clay?—In this, as in morals, we must take things as we find them, and not as we would have them to be. If our simple word would limit the reign of Andrew Jackson to the term of four years from the 4th of March, 1829, we would certainly say it; but it will not, and therefore to scold and fret and even lie about it, will do no good; but contrawise may do some hurt. We shall therefore endeavor to keep cool, tell the truth, obey the laws, and honor the "powers that be," hoping that the people will eventually make straight whatever the present government, may undertake to make crooked or perverse.

THE LADY'S BOOK.

CHARLES ALEXANDER,

Publisher of the Daily Chronicle, and well known as having been connected in the publication of the Saturday evening Post and Casket—proposes in conjunction with LOUIS A. GODEY, to commence, on the first of July next, a monthly LITERARY MISCELLANY, under the above title.

This work will be devoted especially to the service of the LADIES, and looking chiefly to them for patronage, no exertion will be spared to merit it. The plan contemplated varies materially from that of any of the American periodicals now circulated; and if executed in the style which the proprietors believe to be within their means, will be found, they trust, to be an improvement, in some respect at least, upon the best of its predecessors. In the choice of materials, though contributions of decided merit will always be acceptable, they never will be introduced to the exclusion of other articles of superior value. The numerous Magazines to be provided for the purpose of selection, will always afford a plentiful supply of matter suitable for the LADY'S BOOK, which, when republished, will possess, for all but a few, the attraction of novelty. Extensive arrangements have been made at home and abroad that will give every facility to the ready attainment of the choicest and earliest productions. The design includes every thing which may be expected to afford entertainment and instruction, in an inviting form, to those for whom the work is intended. It is presumed too, that a Miscellany deserving the notice of the ladies, cannot but prove worthy of the other sex. Among the subjects which may be enumerated as likely to be prominent, will be found Music, including notices of new compositions, with occasional disquisitions on the science, and reprints of such New Songs as may be thought worthy to be so distinguished; Biographical anecdotes, Tales and interesting Narratives, from writers of real talent; the Fashions, with an illustrative engraving quarterly, fancifully coloured. This department will be under the superintendence of persons well versed in the art, and no pains will be spared to render it not the least attractive part of its contents.

A word or two now and then will be introduced, touching those exercises & sports which are generally regarded as improving to both health and beauty, among which, Riding and Dancing may be specified, with appropriate wood cuts by skillful artists.—Poetry, of course will be one of the Departments to which great attention will be paid; and Embroidery, the poetry of Needle work, will fill its due space. On this latter subject it will be difficult to find contributors who can write clearly, but the engraver will be perfectly intelligible.

CONDITIONS.

The work will be issued in numbers, on the first of every month, and comprise fifty six large octavo pages; to be printed on a fine super royal paper, with entirely new type, and carefully stitched in coloured covers. Every number will contain a piece of Music, one Copper plate Engraving, and at least four Wood cuts, illustrative of the contents; and every three months a coloured plate of the latest London or Paris Fashions. The subscription price will be $3 per annum, payable in advance—25 per cent. semi-annually, will be added to all subscriptions that remain unpaid, and the work discontinued to those who neglect to settle up their arrears. Great attention will be paid to forwarding the work to country subscribers, that they may receive it uninjured by mail transportation. Agents, receiving subscriptions, and remitting the amount to the publishers, will be allowed 15 per cent. discount, or a proportionate number of copies of the work.—Address

LEWIS A. GODEY, & CO.

Daily Chronicle Office, Philadelphia.

Country papers, by inserting the above as often as they think proper, and sending their papers addressed to "The Lady's Book," Philadelphia, will be entitled to receive the work for one year, and the same will be promptly attended to.

Subscriptions to the above work, received at this office.
