

States, &c. of which the federal judiciary may take cognizance.

The assertion of the right of New-York to punish Indians for crimes committed within her limits is full and unequivocal. Has not Georgia, one of the original states, equal rights?

From the New York Standard.

GEORGIA - That the doctrine held by the state of Georgia in reference to her right of sovereignty over the Indians within her limits, is not without precedent, at least up to the moment of the sentencing of Tassels, will be apparent from the perusal of the following statute passed by the state of New York, on the 12th April, 1822, and recognized as being constitutional by Chancellor Kent, when sitting as a judge in the highest tribunal in this state.

AN ACT declaring the jurisdiction of the courts of this state and pardoning Soo non gize, otherwise called Tommy Jemmy. Passed April 12th, 1822

WHEREAS the Seneca and other tribes of Indians residing within this state, have assumed the power and authority of trying and punishing, and in some cases capital, members of their respective tribes, for supposed crimes by them done and committed in their respective reservations and within this state. And whereas, the sole and exclusive cognizance of all crimes and offences committed within this state, belongs of right to courts holden under the constitution and laws thereof, as a necessary attribute of sovereignty, except only crimes and offences cognizable in the courts deriving jurisdiction under the constitution and laws of the United States. And whereas, it has become necessary, as well to protect the said Indian tribes, as to assert and maintain the jurisdiction of the courts of this state, that provision should be made in the premises: Therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the People of the State of New York represented in Senate and Assembly; That the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of trying and punishing all and every person of what soever nation or tribe, for crimes and offences committed within any part of this state, excepting only such crimes and offences as are or may be cognizable in courts claiming jurisdiction under the constitution and laws of the United States, of right belongs to, and is exclusively vested in the courts of justices of this state organized under the constitution and laws thereof.

And whereas it has been represented that Soo non gize, otherwise called Tommy Jemmy, an Indian, of the Seneca tribe, has been indicted for the murder of Caugh quaw taugh, an Indian woman of the same tribe, which murder is alleged to have been committed within the Seneca reservation, in the county of Erie. And whereas it is further represented, that the said alleged murder was committed under the pretence of authority derived from the councils of the chiefs, sachems, and warriors of the said tribe; and, under the then existing circumstances, it is deemed by the legislature expedient to pardon him; therefore,

2. Be it further enacted, That the said Soo non gize, otherwise called Tommy Jemmy, be, and he is hereby fully and absolutely pardoned of and from the said felony.

The case which came before the court on the occasion alluded to in our introductory remarks was one involving the question of descent under our statute, and the property in controversy necessarily brought up the right of sovereignty of New York over the Indians within her borders. The chancellor on that occasion, in approbation of the act above cited, said that "their irregular and low executions (of Indians by Indians among themselves,) were shocking to humanity, and were not to be tolerated in the neighborhood, and under the eye of a civilized and christian people. Under the circumstances in which we were placed in relation to those Indians, as their guardians and protectors, we had a right to avail ourselves of the superior strength of our character, and put a stop to such irregular and horrible punishments." It should be remembered that the chief justice Marshall has not, in the case of Georgia, expressed any opinion; and that the writ which issued from the supreme court of the United States, is but a common writ of error, allowed of course, without reference to the merits of the case.

THE LADY'S BOOK,

A MONTHLY LITERARY MISCELLANY, DEVOTED TO LITERATURE, THE FINE ARTS, FASHIONS, BIOGRAPHICAL ANECDOTES, TALES, NARRATIVES, MUSIC, RIDING, DANCING, POETRY, EMBROIDERY, &c.

THE first number of this work for 1831, is just published. It will be well for us to observe, that the contents which are given below, have been selected with much care—attention has been particularly directed to make them diversified, amusing & moral. If, in the opinion of our patrons, we have in a measure succeeded, their approbation will fully compensate us for the difficulties and additional expenses we have had to encounter. Having in vain attempted to supply some of the pressing calls for our former numbers, we must be allowed to say, the fault does not rest with us but the public—we printed what we considered a large edition at the commencement, and then re-printed No. 1, and notwithstanding we have no copies of the work remaining on hand!

We cannot conjecture what number of the second volume will be subscribed for, but as our edition is limited, (and no second edition can possibly be printed,) we especially request, that our agents and friends will make this particular known, that all who think well of the work and would patronize it, may be induced to send their subscriptions forthwith.

It will be noticed that the PLATE OF FASHIONS that accompanies this number is that which is now in vogue among the fashionables in Philadelphia, and must not be considered as a mere fancy sketch—the designs were furnished us by a lady well versed in these matters, (the colours also were adopted under her direction,) and our female readers may receive them, without hesitation, as being perfectly authentic.—The description of the European fashions accompanying the description of the Philadelphia fashions, are the latest sent over to this country, and are receiving them in time for insertion is owing to the attention of a Liverpool friend, who is much interested in the success of this work.

CONDITIONS.
This work is issued in numbers, on the first of every month, comprising fifty-six large octavo pages; printed on fine super royal paper with entirely new type, and carefully stitched in colored covers. Every number will contain a piece of music, one copper-plate engraving, and at least four wood cuts, illustrative of some of the contents; and every three months a colored plate of the latest fashions.
The subscription price is three dollars per annum, payable in advance; twenty-five per cent, semi-annually, will be added to all subscriptions that remain unpaid, and the work discontinued to those who neglect to settle up their arrears.

Great attention will be observed in forwarding the work to country subscribers, that they may receive it uninjured by mail transportation.

Agents, receiving subscriptions, and remitting the amount to the publishers, will be allowed fifteen per cent. discount, or a proportionate number of copies of the work.

Postage must be paid on all orders sent by mail. Notes of solvent banks, of a less denomination than five dollars, will be received in payment for subscriptions.

Agents are requested to settle their accounts semi-annually. The publishers are satisfied, from long experience, that to succeed in the satisfactory prosecution of a work, much depends upon the punctual remittance of sums due on subscriptions;—they, therefore, solicit a uniform compliance with this request.

All letters and communications concerning this work will be promptly attended to, Address

READ'S PATENT.

IMPORTANT in the art of building chimneys, and altering those already built, in such manner as to prevent or cure their smoking.

From the time that chimneys were first introduced, the building of them has been but a series of experiments.—The best workmen have succeeded, when accidentally approximating the principles, now first systematized and offered to the public. That this subject should have been involved in mystery till the present time, can only be attributed to the imperfect state of chymical science until within the last few years.—The progress recently made in that science has enabled the subscriber to reduce the art of building chimneys to a system, invariably producing the desired result with respect to smoke, and at the same time making a saving of fuel.

Having secured the exclusive privilege of using and vending said improvement, for fourteen years from the 3rd day of April 1829, the subscriber offers the same for sale on the following terms: The right for a city or county, fifty dollars. When two or more counties are purchased by one person, forty dollars each. Ten or more counties at one sale thirty dollars each. For a town, township, borough, or village, twenty dollars. For a single house, five dollars. Any person wishing to purchase may transmit per mail the sum required, and a deed shall be immediately returned containing all necessary instructions to enable any mason to construct chimneys.—Every chimney which shall be built under the authority of, and agreeable to this patent, is hereby warranted a good chimney. All letters to the patentee must be postpaid. The publisher of a paper at the capitol of each state who first publish this advertisement and certificate, and continue the same to one year, will entitle himself to the right for such capital city, or county in which the seat of government is located. Every publisher of a paper in the United States, who will give this advertisement, &c. three insertions, and forward one of the papers, shall receive the right for one house.
