

IRELAND.

The first exhibition of martial law in the "proclaimed" district, was on the night of April 14th, when eight men were taken up, being found out of their houses at 11 o'clock at night; some of them at a public house. They were, on Monday, brought before a board of magistrates, consisting of the deputy Mayor, Joseph Greene, resident county magistrate, the Recorder, and Aldermen Robinson and Gore, by whom they were desired to give an account of themselves. It appeared they were from home through inadvertence or carelessness, "as they intended no harm," and were discharged with an admonition from the bench. It appears that no military authorities sat in judgment. Two other fellows were not so fortunate; one named Phelan was found by Thomas Ball, Esq. county of Mayo, out in the city streets, between 11 and 12 on the night of the 13th, and was committed to the county jail, being an old offender, who suffered 6 months imprisonment for firing on the police last year. The other, J. Darcy, was found at night in the streets at Castlecomer, by R. Eaton, Esq. county magistrate, and also committed.

On the 17th, between 8 and 9 o'clock, Col. Osborne, and a party of police stationed at Castlecomer, arrested 35 individuals, some of them respectable shopkeepers, who carry on large establishments, and who, it appears, were rather late at work, with those in their employment, passing and repassing through the street; also, some cartmen who were late on the road. They were placed in confinement in a dark room, being all thrust in for safety, without distinction, till 2 o'clock next day, when they were marched through the street under a guard of police to Col. Osborne's house. A short inquiry took place, when it appeared that they were all quiet and orderly people, and were instantly liberated, with a caution to avoid being out after sunset.

Another coercing proclamation, No. 3, by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, suppressing the National Trade's Political Union, appears in the London papers.

Occupation of Frankfurt by the troops of the German Diet—Accounts from Frankfurt inform us, that in consequence of the late riots, the troops of the Diet, that is, the troops of Austria and Prussia have taken possession of that city. The presence of these foreign invaders gave a great deal of dissatisfaction to the inhabitants of that "free city," but the army of brute force was too formidable to allow of that dissatisfaction being openly expressed. The troops of the Diet are scattered over the whole territory of Frankfurt.

PORTUGAL.

The dates from Oporto are to April 29th, five days later than before received. The official account of the battle of March 24th states the loss of the Portuguese at 158 killed and wounded, while the enemy's loss "can scarcely be less than 1000 men." He left 186 dead on the field, and 63 were made prisoners. There had been no fighting of any moment since the engagement alluded to.

Serious News.—A respectable merchant of New York, has favored the editors of the Gazette with a letter from Para, dated April 29, which states that the Regency at Rio Janeiro had sent on to Para a new Governor, who, on attempting to take the reins of government, was opposed by the mob. An engagement ensued, which continued from the 16th to the 18th ult., when upwards of 100 were killed, and a great many wounded. All the foreign vessels in port were chartered to take away persons and property, some proceeding to Maranhao and others to Lisbon. The new Governor, failing to effect his object, left the place, and took passage for Maranhao.

As there are several American mercantile houses at Para, and much property belonging to them, it is hoped that government will despatch a vessel of war, forthwith, for their protection and safety.

DEBATES IN CONGRESS.—I served, (says J. H. Wilson in his memoirs,) with Gen. Washington, in the Legislature of Virginia, before the revolution, and during it, with Franklin, in Congress. I never heard either of them speak ten minutes at a time, nor to any thing but the main question which was to decide the main question. They laid their shoulders to the great points, knowing that the little ones would follow of themselves.

George Weeks, a rich widower, upwards of sixty, was lately condemned, by a New York jury, to pay Miss Hannah Kildreth, a maiden of 23, $2,000, for a breach of marriage promise, putting her in a situation to prevent her becoming an "old maid."

We understand that the Governor of Michigan, Col. William Weatherford, of this county, and Mr. Owen, Indian agent at Chicago, have been appointed commissioners to hold a treaty with the Pottawatomie Indians, for the purpose of extinguishing their title to lands lying within this state, and induce them, if possible, to remove to the other side of the Mississippi—Illinois Pat.

JUDICIAL ELECTIONS.

The principle of popular elections, in application to judicial officers, has now been fairly tested in Mississippi, and we are highly gratified at having it in our power to announce to our fellow-citizens throughout the Union, the complete success of the experiment which we have ventured upon, of choosing all our judicial officers directly by the people.—The Judicial elections have been attended with a very slight portion of excitement, comparatively speaking, and so far as we can learn, have throughout the state resulted in the choice of competent and suitable individuals. One fact we doubt not will be admitted by all, that the Judiciary establishment of the State has never heretofore been so entirely worthy of confidence and respect as at the present time; and we sanguinely expect that the value of our new system will be more and more highly estimated, as the people become more and more familiar with it, and enhance by degrees, their own capability of making a discreet choice of Judicial officers.—Miss paper.

A list of persons is going the rounds of the opposition prints, who, it is said have been marked out for proscription. The probability is, that the list contains the names of a number who ought to be removed, and hence the efforts to excite public sympathy in their favor, before they may be overtaken by justice. *Louisville Pub. The plan pursued in teaching, is well calculated to abbreviate the period usually required to finish a course of medical studies, and at the same time afford the Student ample opportunities to become thoroughly acquainted with the various departments of his profession; which will be an indispensable requisite to ensure the success of every candidate for graduation.

It is with pleasure we announce the fact that wherever the graduates of this Institution have settled in States, in which there are laws regulating the practice of Physic and Surgery, they have uniformly been admitted to all the privileges secured by said laws to practicing physicians.

The liberal patronage already conferred on this School; the numerous facilities offered to acquire a medical education; its present prosperous condition; the safety and superior success of the vegetable or reformed system of practice pursued here; the increasing demand of its graduates in every part of the country where correct information is disseminated respecting it, are the most promising presages of its future success, usefulness, and permanency.

A Chemical Apparatus has been procured; and the Botanical Garden is in a state of progression.

Students can enter at any time; but the Spring and Fall are preferable. The price of boarding will not exceed $1.00 per week. For boarding, with room, lodging, washing, fuel, &c. $1.44 cents, for the Spring and Summer term. For the same, during the Fall and Winter Session, $1.50.
