JWF Asks Community Support Bonds

Federation, BIG Express Accord In Exchange Of Letters

An exchange of letters between Julian Freeman, president of the Jewish War Veterans, and Emanuel Borinstein, city manager of the Bonds for the Israel Government, expressed a new spirit of harmony and cooperation between the two groups.

Samuel Darrow, Philadelphia, To Speak for Bonds

Samuel Darrow, Philadelphia, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Bonds for the Israel Government, Monday night, Nov. 30, at the Broadmoor Country Club.

Darrow is chairman of the Philadelphia campaign for the bond drive. He has been a prominent worker in United Jewish Appeal drives, and is the manufacturer of Botany woolen wear, according to Edward Borinstein, the directors of the Bonds for the Israel Government.

JWV Membership Committee to Meet

The membership committee of the Jewish War Veterans, 114, will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Adjutant Monroe Marcus, 1200 W. 20th St. Any member wishing to turn in names of new members may attend. Committee members are Saul Koh, Rabbi Edith Fischman, Monroe Morris, Harold Rappaport and Henry Feldman.

The next meeting of the committee will be Saturday, Dec. 6, at the prayer room of the Indianapolis Abe Miller will be co-chairman of the Hebrew Congregation.

About 100 Reservations Made For State JCRC Conference

About 100 reservations have been reportedly received for the state Jewish Community Relations Congress, to be held this weekend at Turkey Run Inn.

Representatives of four national agencies definitely will attend, according to Louis Greenberg, director of the state JCRC.

They are Samuel Holland, Jewish Labor Committee; Phillip Bloom, American Jewish Congress; A. Abbot Rosen, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and Louis S. Breier, American Jewish Committee.

The Jewish War Veterans and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations were invited, but had sent no word of response to the JCRC office as of Tuesday.

Are Men's Padded Shoulders Giving Way?

Raconteurs Prefer 'Scanty Diet'-Lines.

Louis Yaver believes that the ever popular extreme drape suit is rapidly losing ground with the majority of men's dressing clerks. Suits are being stripped of the padding giving the impression of having gone on a diet and stress is being placed on the wearer to take up little space as possible—this trend is in keeping with the smaller brim hats and narrow neckties.

Many men of course will grudgingly concede to the all too definite trend, however with their rare ingenuity of style adaptability they will soon accept a modified version of the extreme or 'sharpy' jacket. Black-Grey flannel suits are being made up with University Men.

Mr. Fred Davidson of Davidson's Indiana Fur Co. has very proudly presented some of the most luxurious and beautiful furs of the year. In particular the new Aleutian and Royal Pastel Minks as designed by Mr. John and Mr. Leon Fayer, are outstanding. Featured are the new smallly slitting shoulders and spiral slashes in Royal Pastel Mink. Individual dressmaker's handling of furs highlights the showings presented recently. Dominance throughout the collection was the feeling of fur manipulated like cloth, resulting in a variety of luxury designs, many of which might be considered "collector items," for those who have several furs and are looking for something different and spectacu-

But necklines are lower, often outlined with extra-broad, extra deep slashes. Completely collarless suit necklines are ready for the dramatic accentuating. Tiny forward pointing slashes stem from a collarless back.

Convertible suit necklines are new, some filled in with an inset that may unite to change into lapsels or his fronts. Other convertible styles have striking asymmetrical lines. While mandarins necklines, most popular this year than ever, are in many instances elegantly trimmed with the dainty arbor, complete with a yoke that buttons in or out to meet the occasion or an open design that can be un­folded or united with a more of the fill.

L.S. Ayres & Co.

5 to 9 p.m. Sunday in the Hebrew Institute, Mrs. Louis Reck in charge of reservations.

Ayres' Fabrics, Rough Yet Soft, Are In Extreme Silhouettes

L. S. Ayres' fabrics in the many featured styles are rough, yet soft like the fluffy tweed used for suits. They're deeply piled, sometimes curly like the noodle cloth used so abundantly for coats. Other fabrics are corded, nibbled and stubbed. They take form as fine textured wools, extra wide wale corduroys, gentile jerseys, smooth rayons, elegant satins, brocades, velvets and velours.

All of this against a warm, deep-toned background often in striking contrasts of color. Black, dramatic scene, is even more dramatic when used as a contrast to brown, red, burnt orange, bright blue or yellow. The choice brown, the bliges, the deep greens are also shown. With the smallest of checks, the finest of stripes and the tiniest of plaid as the key patterns. Silhouettes are very full or very slim. Full skirts appear as pencil skirts or otherwise figure-bugging coats. Full skirts, skirtier too, on suits and dresses.

Necklines on dresses may rile all the way up into a sausy knotted turtle effect. Or Are They Classics, and Here to Stay?

Men Still Desire Flattering Attire, G. Jacobs Avers

Trends come and go, but Gordon Jacobs of Jacobs Mens Wear, 9 E. Ohio St., still sides with the California Style loose fitting, wedge shaped suits.

Though some other stores are advocating the "Natural" fitter suits, in his opinion it does nothing for the man, and that in the final analysis is what pays off in any fashion. Men are slow and resistant to any change and certainly won't change when a new style detracts rather than adds to their appearance.

A SURPRISING FACT in mens' suit sales, says Mr. Jacobs, is that there is a definite trend away from the double breasted to the single breasted suit. Their sales figures today show a 98% sale of single breasted against double breasted suits. There is of course a good reason for this since the single breasted suit serves more purposes and in Mr. Jacobs' opinion gives the wearer a better appearance.

Sport wear has tended to become a year around item, and men are buying slacks and sport shirts in ever increasing quantities.

Lee M. Friedman Loses In Boston Council Race

BOSTON (NJP)—Lee M. Friedman, president of the American Jewish Committee for three years, conceded a sure winner was defeated in the race for membership on the city council in last week’s election.

Friedman placed eleventh in a field of eighteen candidates for the nineteen seats on the city council, which had been endorsed by the New Boston League of Jewish Leaders, which won five of the council seats.

Both Friedman and the Committee have been subjects of a pre-election smear campaign. The issue of the magazine, Scoop, which carried the smear, was subsequently withdrawn from circulation following a protest by the Jewish Community Council.

Orthodox Criticize MacFarlane On Interfaith

NEW YORK (NJP)—The Rabbinical Council last week criticized the MacFarlane recommendation that interfaith marriage be assigned to the Union of American Hebrew Congregations (Reform body).

In a resolution praising the attempt "to bring order into the American Jewish community," the Rabbinical Council suggested that the Synagogue Council of America, which is composed of all three wings of American Judaism, "is best suited to prevent Jewish life and practice in the non-Jewish world."

PRIVATE GROUP IN ZOA REVIVES NEWS AGENCY

NEW YORK (NJP)—The Zionist Information Service which was discontinued by the Zionist Organization of America for lack of funds, has been reorganized by a private group of 20 leaders, with Abraham Cohn as president.

The Post learned that the news agency was revived after a private meeting of the group in New York several weeks ago.

All the members of the group who attended the meeting have been named as members of the board of the ZINS:

Leo Auerbach, Thomas Cohen, Louis Dienes, Dr. Joseph Dunner, Sholem Brodetsky, Abraham Greenfield, Benjamin E. Gordon, Joseph W. Greenspan, J. Green, Joseph Neumann, Klaus, Edwin A. ALLOW SEES FATE OF ZOA DETERMINE AT MEETING OF NAC IN CHICAGO NEXT WEEK

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (NJP)—The fate of the Zionist Organization of America may be determined at the three-day session of the National Administrative Council in Chicago, Jacob M. Alkow tolled last week.

Alkow, who is president of the Southern Pacific Region of the ZOA, is leader of the opposition bloc of the ZOA, which is opposed to any affiliation of the ZOA with the General Zionist Party.

Alkow said he hoped the Chicago meeting, which is set for Nov. 22-25, would be a new program acceptable to all members of the ZOA.

"I feel that his proposed compromise plan for the ZOA, which was made and presented to me by my executive director, would be appointed by ZOA president Benjamin Browdy."

The ZOA is controlled by the West Coast Zionist leader said that the Chicago meeting must be able to concentrate on the future course of the ZOA since it will not be burdened with the mass of "disconnecting details of current events."

"I wish to paraphrase," added Alkow, "Dr. Mezvinsky Kaplan's most profound observation that, 'if your house is blighted, you don't call it an exterior decorator—you call it in an architect or an engineer.'"

WON'T BLAME LEADERS

Our 52 year old American Jewish community is blighted and I am not here going to say that the leaders are to blame for any malady affecting the ZOA and its influence in the Jewish community.

"I feel that bold action and consolidation, which will be able to inspire the respect and confidence of the entire community that can be trained in the East, and will rise above partisan bickering, is the only thing that can make a solid American Jewish America which Israel needs in this country."

Brodetsky Resigns; Goldstein Is Mentioned

JERUSALEM—The fact that Prof. Sieg Brodetsky is resigning his presidency of the General Zionist party, and I am not here going to say that the leaders are to blame for any malady affecting the ZOA and its influence in the Jewish community.

"I feel that bold action and consolidation, which will be able to inspire the respect and confidence of the entire community that can be trained in the East, and will rise above partisan bickering, is the only thing that can make a solid American Jewish America which Israel needs in this country."

NEW YORK—Acting together through the National Community Relations Advisory Council, leading Jewish organizations have urged a federal investigation of the Killing of one of their leaders and the shooting of his companion in Florida.

The NCRAC telegraphed its position to Attorney General A. Mitchell McConnell and sent a copy of the telegram to Governor Fuller Warren of Florida.

NAC Meet In Chicago May Not Be Peaceful

CHICAGO (NJP)—The session of the National Administrative Council of the Zionist Organization of America set here for Nov. 22-25, may not be as peaceful as some have hoped.

Even under the best conditions, the question of the ZOA’s affiliation with the General Zionist Party of Israel was bound to come up for discussion. Jacques Turey, a member of the group from the General Zionist Party of Israel, said that the question of the ZOA’s affiliation with the General Zionist Party of Israel was bound to come up for discussion.

In addition to this fight which might split the ZOA into two parties, this is a presidential year, since Browdy is now serving his second term, the limits allowed by the constitution. This means that the discussion on this question will be complicated by considerations in connection with presidential aspirations of many of the ZOA members.

The NCRAC telegraphed its position to Attorney General A. Mitchell McConnell and sent a copy of the telegram to Governor Fuller Warren of Florida.

Israel Religious Leaders Says Orthodoxy Sold Short By Rabbis

NEW YORK—(NJP)—The American Council for Judaism found itself embroiled in a bitter controversy with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations this week over an attack on the UAHC's youth organization, the National Federation of Temple Youth, which he said "has done more for the prestige of religion among the non-religious elements in Israel, than any other religious group, or the rabbinate."

"Kibbutz Dati" is an affiliate of Hapoel HaMa'oz, a former member of NFTY and now Director and also Director of the Council's Eastern Regional Council. Off the record, the article says, "Now Dr. Fraenkel, who is a former member of NFTY and now the head of the Reform movement in New York, the Reform group is being taught a lesson by strong implication, called "Jewish nationalism" at its annual summer encampment for Reform group campers. DIGEST OF YIDDISH PRESS
BEN GURION SCORNS YIDDISH, BUT HEREW U. WILL TEACH IT

BY HARRY SAMUEL SILVER

The cause of Yiddish in Israel—so dear to the Yiddish press—experienced a rebuff and a victory during recent weeks. The rebuff came from the pen of David Ben Gurion himself who wrote a lengthy and belated reply to the Jewish Cultural Congress. The Congress had tried to bring B. G. when he was in the U. S. to send him an official plea to stop discriminating against Yiddish. He dismissed it as something of the past, and cold shoulders the notion that it has any place in Israel, "although full freedom will be extended to those who want to use the language."

Recalling at B. G.'s failure to accept Yiddish as part of the treasury of the Jewish spirit and as a valuable asset to-day, the Congress angrily calls a halt in the argument, but B. G. live up to his statement about freedom for Yiddish by removing obstacles towards it. The creation of a Yiddish daily, 23 A permanent Yiddish (heater, 3) Yiddish in the schools, and 6 Publication opportunities for Yiddish writers. All these, the Congress holds, the Israeli government has blocked.

The triumph for the Yiddish language in Israel is the institution, at last long, of a Yiddish department at the Hebrew University. Money for this purpose was offered a generation ago by Louis Segal, late editor of The Forward, and by the famed M. D. Shol. against Yiddish that the $100,000 endowed was not used.

Finally the department has been started to the great glee of all those who want to use the language."

B'nai B'rith Man Repents Threat Of Withdrawal on MacCall Report

B'NAI B'RITH—Added weight to the threat attributed to the Anti-Defamation League the order of B'nai B'rith to withdraw from the National Community Relations Advisory Council was given here by Leonard Guttman, who represented the A.D.L's chairman on the Council.

"We will not give up our defense activities no matter what the NCRAC says," Guttman assured.

DENATIONALIZATION OF ADL

He emphasized that the order is due to the A.D.L. denationalization of the A.D.L. He said the B'nai B'rith could not afford to have the NCRAC, a coordinating body among Jewish groups, excluded for reasons of ideology or any other small group to discredit, its policies, according to The Jewish Times.

George Hexter, assistant national director of the American Jewish Committee, said the Committee would try to persuade the B'nai B'rith "to be as possible to find common ground for implementing the MacCall report, but couldn't see the real essential autonomy of any agency set up by the representatives of the group.

MACCALL REPORT

He characterized the report as a "disappointing work from such an outstanding group," and said that the A.C.C. Committee felt that the report was based on an "inadequate knowledge of the complexities of Jewish life," according to the Baltimore News- American.

The panel, which was attended by 60 people, heard an hour-long apology read aloud by Assistant Director of the B'nai B'rith Report by Sidney Hollander.

holds his head high before his accusers, his judges, or his exe­ cutors, as he knows that behind him are many who are ready to bear witness to his stand, whose words will reach the world of life or death because he believes that his idea will find other spokesmen and will not simply go to memory. He has interspersed his narra­ tive with his own luminous insight into the nature and method of revolutionary activity, and this may be the best part of the book.

WRITING OF HIS exile to the unexplored region of despair that grips the revolution­ ary when he is the forerunner of his time and he shakes the hand of Theodor Herzl.

To give as many people as possible an opportunity to see and hear the Jewish Theological Seminary has arranged a speaking tour for Dr. Beber. Those who will be lucky enough to shake hands with him will be shaken one of the few remaining hands that shook the hand of Theodor Herzl.

He is Martin Beber.

In the opinion of Gershon Swift, of The Forward, Bober's position is that of a "modern Jew," "Philosopher, orator, explorer, sociologist, and a teacher's teacher. Bober has just retired from the faculty of Heidelberg University." He has been brought to the U. S. by the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Born in Vienna, educated in Lamberg, he taught Jewish religious philosophy at Frankfurt. He went to America in 1943, when the Hitler, allied himself with Dr. Jadward, "the brutal Bolshe­ vita" movement for winning the friendship of the Arab. He has disciples everywhere, and is regarded as an intellectual giant in the non-Jewish world as well as in the Jewish one.

Defends "Kissing Rabbis";
"Adds Warmth," She Says

PHILADELPHIA—(NFS)—A potential klisee here rose to the defense of rabbinical kissing, provided the explanation serves to bring "the individual closer to his people."

In a letter to the Philadelphia Jewish Times commenting on the specifications of columnist "Baruch Haba" as to the placing of "Kissing rabbits" in Jewish life, Mrs. M. G. Glenn wondered if it "meant something to some people if they say 'Good Shabbos' to the Rabbi and get a kiss instead of going home, with a comfort in their hearts."

"Today we are living in such a cold world," she wrote, "that many people should find warmth in a synagogue."

THE RECORD RACK
STARTS OUT TO REVIEW 9 RECORDS, BUT CAN'T PASS MOYSE YUSSER'S

By JOSEPH GALE
TODAY, as is occasionally our custom, we bullwring you with an account of nine single records, one by RCA Victor, the remainder by a number of discographically-discouraged co-workers as Mooshe Op- stern, Miriam Weis, Ran- sche, Yoash Gladstone, Maurice Gue- rchoff, Nat Spencer and Eddie Mar- shall.

"Chazzan" JOSEPH GALE America, (RCA) from the musical comedy "The Singing Black- smith," is, as the title suggests, a contemporary version of what a Chazzan might have been if his vocal art to be infiltrated by and saturated with the rhythms of this country. The conception, slicking and not overly broad, is a welcome addition to the scant recorded repertoire of vanishing Jewish musical comedy.

WE were mildly startled at the heterogeneity of rhythm employed by Mooshe Oyster and Florence Weis, the duetists in this one, but decided the lamp- post probably justified the measures. On the reverse side, Oyster and Moishe Weis are featured in "A Zeml," from the same production. This is a perfectly in- tentional kind of duet until three- quarter's through, when the artists slip into swing style, and the joint begins to jump.

I like the remaining having noting against the inconstant accompaniment of prancing the rabbin- cal-perpetual path with a be- hemoth-sonny and a hot-fala-chali. Moishe Oyster manifests what perfoms the double office of sounding like both sexes at simultaneous times. Oyster finds us lip with delight, whether he chooses to be like some people behind the footlights or a jocerin. He is an excellent, al- though somewhat confusing causo, and in costume, is without par- ticular blame.

MUSICAL comedy has altered in the tender days. In trying to change with the times, the Jewish stage is perhaps at- tempt ing to survive. Fond foolish thought! Goodbye, end of era! This well better worth in my days than in his."

Hanging on at this length about a libel somewhere we find ourselves out of mood to discuss the other eight, but may possibly justify the measures. On the reverse side, Oyster and Miss Weis are featured in "A Zeml," from the same production.

REPORT FROM HOLLYWOOD

SAYS "FOX" PRODUCERS TAKEN IN;
MORE BY AGUDAH ON "D. AND B."

SHMONEY WINCELBerg

T he "Boxer" producer was here of doing a straight critique of a certain screen happenings he was unacquainted with preserved shots with which the action is padded have been drawn from among the best of British documentaries. There is no question that in choosing a recent entry general for the hero of a film, Mr. Zanuck once again, had a rather brave man. The real folk, I imagine, lies in Brigadier General Desmond Young's naively admiring biography of the late Nazi General Erwin Rom­ mel, and the even greater naivete of Mr. Man­ nally Johnson, the film's writer and producer, who apparently made no attempt at all to look at the true record of the man he was glorifying; though, perhaps unintentionally, even the film WICNELCEMBERG says that Rommel remained a blank fol­ lower of Hitler almost until the very end.

T IERRIE is probably not another film critic in the business who researches his facts and conclusions as thoroughly and con­scientiously as Herbert Luft, the "As We See It" columnist for the Frankl'ith Messenger, L.A. correspondent for the NFS, and the even greater naiveté of Mr. Num­ nally Johnson, the film's writer and producer, who apparently made no attempt at all to look at the true record of the man he was glorifying; though, perhaps unintentionally, even the film

An Injustice To The Z.O.A.

SEVERAL Anglo-Jewish papers recently have carried two news items emanating from the American Jewish Congress of New York, which, in my estimation, show irresponsibility. But we have been too preoccupied for some time past with the activities of the Central Organization of American Jews, in which we have been finding far more satisfactory issues to press our enthusiasm.

Both the items refer to the fact that the American Zionist, which you may know better as the American Jewish Committee, has been busy with the organization of the Zionist Organization of America, in its last issue only was 16-page tabled for the first time in almost a decade.

Now it may be true that as the news story continues that the Z.O.A. recently has been a large subject for just the reaction of the Israel rabbinate in their own country, every one else in a while.

We feel it would be most helpful if at the next meeting, at the attendance at some Reform Colonies In Israel

To be sure this is a large subject for just the reaction of the Israel rabbinate in their own country, every one of us a while.

We feel it would be most helpful if at the next meeting, at the attendance at some Reform Colonies in Israel...
EDITOR, National Jewish Post:

I have read with great interest the report held at the J. B. H. 48th in which Rabbi Mishkin expresses his views about the kashruth at the projected Long Island Jewish Hospital. While we all agree that it is very important that kashruth be maintained, the statement made by Rabbi Mishkin is one of the most derogatory opinions about the Jewish people. In fact, this statement is a gross misrepresentation of the situation and is not in keeping with the principles of the Jewish people.

Rabbi Mishkin states that American Jews are beginning to “differentiate orthodoxy from other schools of thought” and that “American Jews are beginning to worship facilities far, far away from the kashruth standards.” This is an absolute misrepresentation of the situation. The Jewish people have always adhered to the principles of kashruth and remain steadfast in their commitment to maintaining these standards.

It is important for all of us to recognize the importance of kashruth in the Jewish community and to support the organizations that uphold these principles. We must continue to educate ourselves and others about the significance of kashruth in our lives and work together to ensure that these principles are upheld and respected.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
TO READ FROM TORAH IN THE PAST SHOWS WHERE WOMEN PERMITTED

In your Oct. 19, issue, Milton Castle of Chicago chided Rabbi Sholom DovBer of Cleveland for quoting a passage from the Talmud (Megilla 12b) which states that a woman may not read in the Torah service. He forcefully argues against this and states that he is only reciting the blessings. The author of these gossips, Rabbi Israel H. Levenhal, quotes his teacher, the famed Rabbi Meir Kotler of Rockleigh, New Jersey: "There are no Israelites (non-Kohanim or women) who should read (out of the Torah) but Levies should not. But if there are only Kohanim in the congregation and not a single Israelite, then Levies should read the first two portions and Kohanim after the women should read." Similarly, a glance to the Sotah Aruch, Orshay Hayim, 259, implies that women may read out of the Torah at a congregation provided that they do not completely nullify the required number of seven. It is perhaps significant that the authorities who permitted women to read from the Torah at a public service lived during the high Middle Ages in non-Jewish localities, while Malomotot and Caro lived under Islamic rule. This is consistent with the views of those who are authorized to read from the Torah at a public service of women at different periods and places. ARTHUR ZUCKERMAN

ISRAEL

AMERICANS DO WELL IN ISRAEL EVEN AS HEbrew TEACHERS

BY M. Z. FRANK

HAIFA—Yesterday I had supper with the Sherevshtys who had just arrived a few days ago. Leon Sherevshty, after a year at the University of Technology in Haifa, decided to make Israel his home and to de­vote himself to the work of teaching Hebrew. In Jerusalem he has made intensive courses in ancient and modern Hebrew. He is an outstanding social worker. I told him that I knew some of the boys in his class after only a few days. When he came to the university he was an American boy. Since he was here temporarily, he worked with the Jewish Agency for Palestine in commencing both here and Jerusalem. They went to the beach in the morning and I was there to try to induce both of them to take the course at Nahariya. It was a modern Hebrew school in Haifa, I believe, and I am now a Hebrew speaking psychologist for the National Jewish Post for the people of New York and the whole country.

WHAT'S Nahariya? In 1936, when the question of partition­in Haifa and is now a Hebrew speaking chief psychologist for the backward children of the Youth Aliyah in the Haifa district.

My daughter, a good English, and a somebody from Yugoslavia, and somebody from the Sudan, and Barry Bleiweiss of Toronto and anybody else who speaks Hebrew, and having Louis Sherev­shel and Yehuda Shoval went to work to induce both of them to have supper with me. We decided to make it a friendly dinner. The kids are sabras and speak a good Hebrew, but, unlike the rest of the kids, they do not have respect for their elders. That is not a fair tale. I don't believe that any of them would listen to me. They are his favorite teachers and he was pleased to hear it. Naharlyah is so pretty. It looks like a botanical garden. Perhaps.

Since the State was established, the population of Nahariyah jumped from about 2,000 to 10,000. If that were not enough, along comes Louis Sheweit and hires a couple of the best hotels in the name of the Ministry of Education and converts them to schools. The kids are absurds and speak a good Hebrew, but, unlike the rest of the kids, they do not have respect for their elders. That is not a fair tale. I don't believe that about any of them, even in Naharlyah. Since I came here I have seen a new species of cactus plant in Mikveh Israel, which had no pricks. On the same day I was in Mikveh Israel, and I was told that a new species of cactus plant, which he told me he was born in Israel. "Are you a cactus with or without prickles?" I asked him. "I don't know," he said. It is not.

Back to classes goes the old student, Louis Shewed. His famous colle­ student in the U.S., Dr. Abraham Fleischer, famous edu­ cator and chairman of Rockefeller General Education Board division of Jewish education, came to Nahariyah. The Nahariyah-born student "who had left the London Institute in Jerusalem when they were put through an intensive course at the Hebrew University." He is not. He is the best liked prof among the students.

Ed Norman Sees Disappearance Soon of Judaism in Diaspora

NEW YORK—(JNP)—A dreary picture of the disappearance of Judaism outside of Israel in the next few generations was painted by a Jewish worker for Israel, who is also president of the American Jewish Committee.

He is Edward A. Norman, president of the American Friends for Israel Institutions.

Taking part in a symposium in the first issue of American Judaism, organ of the Reform Movement, Norman said that "indications were that in the next few years, few people outside of Israel will care to lead a Jewish life because they will be highly adapted to their various countries and able to participate fully in the lives thereof while a Jewish life outside of Israel will appear sterile."

He presented the classic reasoning that a Jewish state was "viable assurance of Jewish group continuity" and that therefore the principal reason for Jews remaining outside of Israel had been removed. "In a free environment," he said, "no religion without a valid appeal can hold adherents. Attachment to a segregationist religion like Judaism, focused as it is on a national life pertaining to no country but Israel, has its tangible disadvantages."

Norman, who was writing on the subject, "Living a Full Jewish Life in the Diaspora," disagreed with every other participant in the symposium. Jacob Blaschke, Rabbi Israel Goldstein, and Judge Proshofer, all affirmed their belief that a full Jewish life, with various gradations, can be lived outside of Israel.

The Zionists fared no better than did Judaism at Norman's hands. He saw it "searching for a reason for existence" and appearing "to be headed for rapid disappearance."

Norman saw the Jews of today outside of Israel as "a wearyly more than nominal Jew with rare exception."
