

Torment

By Helfur Surton

It is too bad that Mr. Roosevelt does not carry on his campaign to suit the G. O. P.'s strategists. He can do nothing to please them.

However, he seems to be having better luck with the people to whom he is making addresses in the West. His views on regulation of the power industry have struck a responsive chord throughout that section. The Kansas City Star, the leading newspaper of the Missouri River Valley, independent and heretofore a supporter of Mr. Hoover, praises it highly and, referring to its most salient points, says they are "just what the Star believes."—Baltimore Sun.

A certain Mr. Cohen was on his death bed, and as his family gathered about to witness the end, Cohen said:

"Are you here, my good Rebecca?"

"Yes, my dear husband," she answered.

"And you, Moses, my dear son?"

"Yes, papa."

"And you, my little Abraham?"

"Yes, I'm here too, papa."

"And you, Solomon, my faithful cashier?"

"Yes, Mr. Cohen."

"Vell, my God, who's watching de store?"

Senator Arthur Capper (Rep., Kan.), widely known as a statesman in Kansas and a farmer in Washington, says of Governor Roosevelt's farm speech, "I find nothing in his Topeka speech we have not been mulling over in Congress for the last eight or ten years. That's the crux of the matter. Senators, you and your ilk have been mulling it over for eight or ten years and have done nothing. Governor Roosevelt proposes to do something about it."

Mr. Hoover is reported to have said to a week-end guest that "what the country needs is a new joke." Well, here is one: Mr. Curtis, his running mate, is telling wet audiences in presumably dry territory that he and Hoover will carry the same States they did in 1928. Everybody ought to be able to get a laugh out of that.

The New Hampshire Republican State convention having refused to "specifically" endorse the position of President Hoover on prohibition as stated by the President in his address of acceptance," suggests that maybe the great Hoover leader, Senator Moses, is in for a similar turn down at the polls.

Speaking of good jokes, here is another one: Chairman Sanders of the Republican National Committee says that Governor Roosevelt's campaign in the West is helping Mr. Hoover, so he is sending Mr. Hoover and other speakers out there to head Governor Roosevelt off.

Another "major political stroke" of the Hoover strategists was to resurrect former Postmaster General Harry New from the political cemetery to make a "reply" to Governor Roosevelt's Topeka speech on farm relief.

Those Republican leaders who are still comparing Herbert Hoover to Abraham Lincoln must have a mighty poor opinion of Lincoln.

It looks as if it would go Democratic this year unless in the next eight weeks (six weeks now) the Republicans can make an argument sufficiently convincing to hold the Republicans in line."

WORTH REPEATING

Those who think the end of progress has been reached would do well to recollect these words of the late Charles Steinmetz, great inventor: "We call this the electrical age, but it isn't. The electrical age has hardly begun. In that age electricity will do a multitude of things of which we have never dreamed. For the electrical age is yet to come. And it will be a great age."

"WHO'S THAT KNOCKING AT MY DOOR?" "BARNACLE EARL, THE BARBER" --ECHO

MAYOR'S CORNER

I attended an interesting meeting at Daleville Thursday night. Finly Gray, Democratic candidate for congress spoke there and the school house was filled.

It was the first political convale that I have attended this campaign, my time being taken up almost exclusively in defense of numerous actions brought to disrupt my administration.

There were about three hundred persons in the school room. I came in rather late and as I looked for a seat the entire audience clapped their hands and cheered.

I looked around to see who they were applauding and when to my surprise and confusion found out they meant me, a lump came up in my throat at the wholesale reception accorded me by Salem county democracy.

The chairman of the meeting, Precinct Committeeman Houston Brown, at once invited me to the platform and asked me to introduce the speaker, Hon. Finly Gray, the old war horse of the new Tenth district, who is certain to be elected to congress next month.

In that audience there was not one person who believed me guilty of the offense for which I was convicted in the Federal frame-up and it was pleasant to note that the people of Delaware county outside of Muncie, as well as the best element of Muncie citizenry, still retain confidence in my integrity and honesty in office.

Briefly I informed the audience that I was still mayor of Muncie and Daleville, which had been named after me in 1832, and would continue to hold the job.

Then I introduced Finly Gray, who made one of his wonderful and inspiring talks.

He talked for an hour and a half. It was a lecture, not a campaign speech. Out of his vast knowledge of economics and governmental procedure, he explained things that the people should know.

There was nothing partisan in his talk. I don't recall at this moment that he even mentioned the names of parties. I know that he did not even refer to himself once. He did not even tell his hearers that he was a candidate for congress and that he wanted everybody to vote for him.

It was a revelation to those who are in the habit of going to political gatherings to hear candidates talk about themselves and what they are going to do when they get in office.

It was a sincere discussion of vital issues, voiced in a temperate but forceful manner. Before leaving for Daleville I sat for a few minutes at my radio listening to a speech made by District Attorney Swanson of Chicago, who is seeking reelection on the Republican ticket.

It was a tiresome speech, devoted exclusively to boastful utterances of "what I have done to purify Chicago." Listening to Finly Gray I could not help but compare his great speech to the campaign piffle of Chicago Swanson, or to the numerous campaign utterances of Mr. Gray's pitiful opponent, who promises to protect the sacred tariff, tells his hearers that Hoover is God's gift to an expiring country and that the defeat of Jim Watson would spell the end of sane government.

My introduction lasted only about two minutes. In acknowledging the introduction Mr. Gray dryly remarked that he had been introduced on occasions by individuals who make the principal speech, but he noted that I had avoided that.

I am going to make that speech now. VOTE FOR FINLY GRAY. He will truly represent you in congress.

Dangerous Age Under 20 Years

High Prices of Insurance Are Due to the Carelessness of Automobile Drivers

A serious responsibility rests on parents whose sons and daughters, under the age of 20, drive automobiles. It is their duty to impress upon budding men and women the vital necessity for care, courtesy and obedience to traffic rules at all times.

The most dangerous age for drivers is under 20, according to E. E. Robinson, Secretary of the National Bureau of Casualty & Surety Underwriters. Out of every thousand drivers under the age of 20 last year, 39 were involved in accidents. From 20 to 29, 36 drivers out of one thousand had mishaps; there were 27 in the ages of 30 to 39; twenty in the ages of 40 to 49; and 18 out of one thousand in the ages of 50 and over.

Automobile public liability and property damage insurance rates are wholly under the control of their policyholders. Stock casualty companies have established by statistics that the record for drivers under 20 last year was 39 per cent worse than the average; from 20 to 29 it was 29 per cent worse; from 30 to 39, 3.6 per cent better than the average; from 40 to 49 it was 29 per cent better and in the ages of 50 and over, 36 per cent better than the average. In the ages under 30, accident exper-

FIRE CHIEF CHARLES E. TAYLOR SCORES HAZARDS ENDANGERING LIVES AND PROPERTY IN BLAZE

Asks for Earnest Co-Operation of Business Men Men and Property Owners to Reduce Losses Due to Carelessness and Other Primary Causes.

Fire Chief Charles E. Taylor in making a statement regarding the dangers of fire, requested every citizen, business man, property owner, school authority and welfare organization to lend the utmost aid.

"Fire Prevention Week," said Chief Taylor, "was proclaimed for national observance by the President of the United States and received the support of state and county officials as well as of local authorities and organizations throughout the nation.

"Hazards Are Spreading "The loss by fire during the past year, amounting to more than 10,000 lives and almost half a billion dollars in property damage in the United States alone, is reason enough why everyone should be vitally interested in fire prevention. All share in the tremendous financial loss through the economic effect of fire losses on property," said Chief Taylor, who added: "Furthermore, hazards on numerous properties throughout the land have been increasing for more than two years until at present they constitute a menace, not only to health, but to the lives and property of thousands of people.

"These hazards are spreading to a degree which make large conflagrations possible."

Chief Taylor pointed out, that in some communities hazards are so numerous, and personal care so lax that the public is making inevitable the possibility of increased insurance costs which are automatically controlled by conditions he public itself creates in the communities.

Three Leading Causes "According to The National Board of Fire Underwriters," Chief Taylor said, "The three leading causes of fire in the United States are matches and smoking which brought a loss in one year of over $40,000,000; defective chimneys and flues are responsible for a loss of more than $26,000,000, and stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes with losses aggregating $25,000,000."

Chief Taylor explained that winter months are most dangerous. "Fires are most prevalent in the 'Thermostat' era," he added, "There is no time like the present in which to make repairs on the heating apparatus or the building, and to thoroughly remove all rubbish and material calculated to cause fires from the premises.

31 Per Cent Children "According to official records, 80 percent of all fires are preventable and should not have occurred. This means that almost four hundred million dollars are lost each year through carelessness. The injuries result from defective heating devices, 23 per cent of the deaths and 26 per cent of the injuries result from fires ignited by open flames, 16 per cent of the deaths and 1 per cent of the injuries result from inflammable liquids.

80 Per Cent in Homes "Said statistics further show that 67 per cent of the deaths and 46 per cent of the injuries by fire occur in dwellings, 29 per cent of the deaths and 16 per cent of the injuries result from fires ignited by open flames, 16 per cent of the deaths and 1 per cent of the injuries result from inflammable liquids.

"More than 80 per cent of the fires occur in homes, which means that every minute and a half another home is burned. "Every day in these United States, an average of 1,114 dwellings, 6 churches, 12 public buildings, 132 farm buildings and 471 mercantile and manufacturing establishments are burned.

People Are Careless "A large number of fires are caused by carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of individuals, such as smoking in bed, flinging lighted matches and cigarettes into space, permitting the accumulation of trash and rubbish in attics and basements, defective electric wiring and defective flues. These causes are most prevalent and all could be avoided by the exercise of ordinary caution.

"Through the efforts of Charles Taylor, chief of the Muncie fire department, an investigation squad has been organized among the members of the fire department. This squad makes monthly inspections of all basements under the business rooms in the city, and causes the business man to keep removed all inflammable and combustible material, thereby eliminating from the business section of our city what formally was one of its greatest fire hazards. Mr. Taylor wishes to extend to the business men of this city his thanks, and assure them of his high appreciation for their co-operation with the Muncie fire department in their effort in reducing this great menace and fire hazard.

Everett, the "Newly Elected Mayor," Accompanied By His Legal Advisor, Tod Whipple, of Portland Fame, and a Motley Gang of Lickspittles, Made Pilgrimage to City Hall—No Miracle Wrought.

CONTROLLER LESTER E. HOLLOWAY MAKES MOST OF THE OPPORTUNITY

Candidate for County Treasurer Passes Campaign Cards Through the Crowd Gathered to Witness the Unseating of Mayor Dale—Cameramen Again Disappointed—Tumelson Has Happy Thought.

The city council met Tuesday night and elected Earl Everett permanent mayor.

Two or three hours previously Judge Guthrie dissolved the restraining order, and issued a new order, permitting the council to meet and select their own personal mayor.

In the court order the judge advised that the so-called mayor named by the council should make his demand for the office "peaceably," and that no "overt act" should be committed.

Mayor Dale was around his office all day Wednesday, but no demand, peaceable, violently, overt or otherwise was made by the valiant scab barber so curiously chosen to head the city government of Muncie.

Thursday morning the mayor left the city and after Everett and his cohorts were thoroughly assured that he had gone, they formed a parade to the city hall, and from all accounts it was a motley crew.

AND EVERETT KNOCKED.

Tod Whipple, the legal adviser of the new "mayor," accompanied Everett. The door of the mayor's office was locked. Whipple advised Everett to knock on the door.

This he did and nobody being there to answer a council of war was held in the hallway.

"Knock five times on the door and then if nobody answers the call, slip your written demand under the door and you will be mayor," was the instruction of Whipple.

Solemnly Everett rapped five portentous times on the solid oak, much to the amusement of a giggling crowd that had followed the clowns to the city hall to see them try to dislodge the real mayor.

The door remained shut and just as Counselor Whipple was about to order Everett to kneel and be dubbed "permanent mayor," Lester Holloway, city controller and Democratic candidate for county treasurer, stepped briskly from his office and in a businesslike manner proceeded to hand around his candidate cards to the assembled crowd of a hundred or more.

KNOCKS ONCE MORE.

Just then a Press photographer rushed to the scene of action, unlimbering his camera as he came. "Please, Mr. Everett," he asked, "will you kindly knock again, so I can get a picture of you knocking?"

Patiently the confused Mr. Everett again took a crack at the door with his smarting knuckles as the camera clicked, and then, to top off the ludicrous scene, Court Asher, the perennial comedian whose quick wit never fails at a pinch, began singing in a high nasal tone, "Whose That Knocking at My Door? Barnacle Earl the Barber."

It was a scream, but perfectly in harmony with the various incidents preceding it.

As this is written no demand has been made on Mayor Dale to relinquish his office to the ridiculous pretender. At noon Friday the word reached the mayor that Richard Eubanks, an Indianapolis lawyer, had arrived in the city for the purpose of filing a hippus skipus against the mayor.

Evidently the five knocks and one to grow on were not considered sufficient to seat Everett.

It will be recalled that when Counselor Tod Whipple was told by Judge Guthrie that he was "out (Continued to Page Two.)

Here, There Everywhere

R. F. C. AND F. L. B. D.

If the affairs of the nation have been administered so ably by the Republican party during the past ten years as Ex-President Coolidge, Secretary Mills, Senator Watson and other Republican orators would have us believe, why the present depression and economic distress? Mr. Coolidge who "didn't choose to run," must have been aware of the approach of the present business crisis which possibly explains his refusal to accept the nomination for re-election, a nomination he might have had by merely saying the word, and which if he had accepted would have amounted to an election and the present incumbent would have been shelved on account of a lack of confidence in him and which was generally shared in by the voters of the party he so inefficiently represents. And yet, neither Mr. Coolidge, with all his wisdom and foresight, nor Mr. Hoover, with all the sagacity and business ability with which he is being credited by Republican spellbinders, made any movement toward the abatement of these conditions which was finally to lead us into one of the greatest economic depressions the country has ever known, and which neither of them seem to have discovered until a few short months before the election, and then was born those "Siamese Twins" of finance, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Federal Loan Bank bill, both of which are being exploited by Republican speakers in an endeavor to hide the true conditions through out the country and return Mr. Hoover to the White House for four more years of Republican prosperity. However, in view of Mr. Hoover's attitude in the past, with millions of people out of work, thousands of them homeless, his stand on the bonus question and with agriculture and the farming interests paralyzed, it is extremely ludicrous to imagine that the voters of this country are going to be led astray by a discussion of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and its benefits to the country, or the workings of the senior senator from Indiana, who is now asking the support of the voters on the ground, that it was through his efforts a federal loan bank was established at Indianapolis, an institution from which the poor and needy couldn't get a dollar if it would save them from starvation.

What Muncie needs more than anything else is more parking space. As it is now, automobilists have to carry a bicycle with them so that when they find a parking place they can ride to their work.

When you are hunting for a square deal, you should first hunt for a square dealer.

BILL IS STILL ON THE JOB.

Street Commissioner Bill Daniels is making quite an improvement in the appearance of East Memorial Drive by grading and shaping the roadway between the edges of the pavement and the sidewalks, so as to drain the water from the pavement. When the grading is completed the space graded will be paved with an asphaltic material to a width of about six feet on each side, of the old roadway, making the width of the roadway about thirty feet. This is an improvement that should have been made several years ago and should meet with the approval of all concerned.

Speaking of improvements recalls to mind what might be accomplished in the way of beautification, if White River were to be dredged out to a uniform width and depth, with dams so constructed as to maintain a six to seven foot water level throughout the year, so as to provide boating and bathing, all as contemplated in certain plans suggested by the city engineer, to whom we are indebted for this information.

Neither Mr. or Mrs. Durgan discriminate against any person on account of their religious affiliation.

The Home Loan Bank

Myron Gray, Muncie lawyer, is a director in Jim Watson's Home Loan Bank. (Or is it Bunk?) The Republican party is trying to put Indiana in the G. O. P. list by boasting of the Watson achievement. It is said that the Home Loan Bank will save the little home or the farm that is about to go under the sheriff's hammer.

But listen carefully to the advice of the Post-Democrat. Don't believe this until you have tried it out. The law authorizing the Home Loan Bank contains a paragraph which specifically declares that individuals threatened with foreclosure may receive loans from the Home Loan Bank if the money is denied them elsewhere. Senator Couzens of Michigan forced that amendment through over the opposition of Watson and Hoover. It is a saving clause and if the banks or other financial institutions of Delaware county refuse to come to your rescue, if your home is about to be lost, go to Myron Gray's office in the Washington block and demand a direct loan, and don't let him tell you that it will be taken under advisement until after the election.

Tell Myron Gray you want it NOW. Under the Hoover-Watson plan the money was to go to starving banks, not needy mortgage victims.

So, all you thousands in Muncie and Delaware county who are about to lose your homes because of the Hoover panic, form in line in front of Myron Gray's office and get YOURS.

(Editor's Note) Or, just try and get it.

One Cardinal Principle

If governments and legislators had in mind the principles of the immortal Thomas Jefferson, when he declared that there was but one cardinal principle that would make for liberty, justice and equality, there would be but little suffering and sorrow in the world insofar as governmental agencies could control. He said "Equal and exact justice to all, and special privileges to none." That is the real spirit of Democracy. That is the issue in this campaign. That is the spirit of the speeches of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and his plea for the "forgotten man," which the Republican party is trying to joke about and trying to lead the mind of the people away from, is the real solution of the Nation's problems in this day of special privilege, fostered by the men of the type of Jim Watson and Herbert Hoover, both of whom have for years been living under the protecting wings of great corporations organized to exploit and bleed the masses of the people. No difference what they say, the harvest of such action is here and will continue to be here as long as they have anything to do with this government.

The political philosophy of Jefferson and Jackson, the political philosophy of Abraham Lincoln which is no different from that of the former two men, is cast in this sphere, Justice to all, special privileges to none.

The Democracy of today is looking eagerly toward the future of this country under the influence of the benign policies and philosophies of the great man who is running for President on the Democratic ticket, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to him the people are anxiously turning now in this hour of distress and disaster to get back to a government for the people and by the people, not for a government by the corporations and for the corporations. The people will decree at the November election that the altars of the great corporations shall be reduced to dust, that the kings of finance with their hands in the pockets of the masses shall reign no longer, the power of greed shall vanish from the land and from the halls of congress, and men and women toiling some times in sorrow, some times in joy will reap what they have sown, and the profits of their labor and their lands shall pass to the rightful owners, those who toil and work for their families and their children and their children's children.

"WHO'S THAT KNOCKING"

of court," and declared the council proceedings illegal, Alderman Blease, Republican, exploded and said "Let's go to Indianapolis and get us a good lawyer," and what they got was the ancient mariner.

MUNCIE LAWYERS FIGHT SHY.

Incidentally, for the information of Muncie, it might be interesting to know that all the really good lawyers of Muncie have been solicited at various times to take over the legal job of removing Mayor Dale, and without exception they have refused and have advised the council that the law is against them.

It was somewhat of a slam on Tod, that nasty crack made by Blease, especially since Tod had been paid solely by promises.

The only real money that any lawyers have received here for harassing the city administration is the twelve hundred dollar fee paid to Billy Bales and Clay Mansfield for getting their clients, beautifully licked in the gasoline tax fund case.

It has been currently reported that this money was taken out of the jackpot raised here to railroad the mayor to federal prison and that Red Rose, Plug Walburn, Fred Bolinger were cheated out of money they were justly entitled to.

At the meeting of the council Monday night an ordinance appropriating seven thousand dollars to pay lawyers and court costs in the various cases seeking the disruption of the city administration was proposed by Councilman Tumleson, the council's law shark.

Of course the council knows that it cannot get away with the people's money in that easy fashion, but it was a happy thought on the part of Tumleson. They can keep spoofing their hungry lawyers along.

Autumn Leaves

Editorial Comments

Its an elephant's job says a Republican banner. So that must be the reason why prosperity has been so slow in returning, for riding an elephant is a slow method of travel.

Raymond Springer, in one of his rare opportunities to speaking, declared public utilities ought to reduce their rates, but he gave no program of how he can accomplish what has been impossible so far.

So Jim Watson admits he has always been politically dry. At last the voters are face to face with one of the greatest statesmen who vote dry and drink wet, thus adding to the distrust which the public has for its officials.

Republican poll-takers, engaged in taking the thirty-day poll, are said to be wondering whether they are taking a Democratic poll or one to show how few votes their tickets will get in November.

Prof. Schutz, Republican candidate for Congress in the fifth district, radical dry, who fought the wet plank in the Republican state platform says Jim Watson has a great personal following in which Mr. Schutz is included. Mr. Watson has admitted he is politically dry and personally wet, so Mr. Schutz must be in the same class, since it was Arthur Robinson who declared that "birds of a feather flock together."

The business women's department of the Republican state committee has been organized, which reminds us that the income of business women has been reduced commensurately with the income of business men through the manipulations of Republican leaders.

After all, Indiana should feel proud, for it was in this state that President Hoover first admitted there was a depression and that was in the summer of 1931 when he addressed the Republican editors, who had not been willing to admit the fact up to that time.

Farmers of Indiana must have their fall installment of taxes paid by the night of Monday, November 7, the day before the election, and they might as well realize that some of that tax money goes to help pay a salary of $75,000 a year to the head of the cotton pool operated by the Federal Farm Board.

They finally placed Bert Thurman on the Republican advisory committee, which will probably keep him quiet during the rest of the campaign, but they can't keep Bert from thinkin'.

The brilliancy of Raymond Springer, candidate for governor is quite apparent when he remarked at Petersburg that the $1.50 tax law has "already saved millions of dollars for the taxpayers of Indiana inasmuch as rates under that law are not effective until next year, Raymond indicated he had not read up on the subject very extensively.

The Indiana business man whose cash register showed one dollar had been taken in during the morning of what was formerly the busiest day of the week wants to know what the Republican speaker meant by saying that business and employment conditions are much improved.

By the way, President Hoover has not issued any statements lately, so to the time when prosperity will return or the corner it will find in its romp back home.

Americanism: Professing a great concern for the jobless; taxing business to death so it can't provide jobs.

Snakes Die Hard Attention, Voters!

Editor Post-Democrat: You cut a snake's head off and he will squirm and squirm and live on for a long time, because the devil or demon in him hates to leave so willing and well adapted to a life of crime.

What voter or voters in Muncie are kicking on George Dale's business administration? Who furnishes the newspapers with front page lies? The grafters and enemies of George Dale and decent government! Who cares who is employed so long as he gives us an economical and honest government?

Just because some public grafters and city swindlers don't like Mayor Dale is no reason us taxpayers shouldn't like him. Just watch your two papers and whenever you read anything in either one, read carefully and between the lines, and you will readily see that Dale was doing his sworn duty as a mayor and has not done anything to cause front page news. It's always our "peanut" councilmen with their cheap, crooked lawyer's advice.

You don't have to be a lawyer—you don't really need good common horse sense, to know that when anyone is convicted in any court and said person is granted an appeal from that court, that said party is again thrown back to the same status that he occupied before said judge rendered his decision or passed judgement. The litigant is again innocent until proven guilty before the higher court—or what is the use of having a higher court? Both of the editors of our daily newspapers know these things, but they have sold out to the devil and do his bidding. Why do they keep harping over the fact that George Dale was convicted, etc., in Judge Baltzell's court, when his case has been appealed from said court, and the fact that he was convicted there has no more to do with his case now than as if he had never been tried in said court.

It is all up to the higher court now. Why didn't Tod Whipple, who claims he's an attorney, tell the council these facts? But a council with a mind equal to an 18-year-old school boy ought to have known for himself. Why does our council persist in spending us taxpayers' money for needless, crazy law suits? Does Tod Whipple go hungry by practicing law legitimately?

Why couldn't he make it go at Portland? I am not a lawyer, but I know his Portland history.

And then, there is Eugene Williams, who has had his rights to practice law taken from him. Like a snake with its head cut off, he's dead, but don't know it. Dr. Bunch is announcing to his old turtlesoup and fish eaters, that he is going to be a candidate for mayor next time, and Mr. Horace G. Murphy says he is going to be a candidate for state or county office. It seems that the taxpayers will only vote for some ex-convict or some candidate still worse.

An honest man, like George Dale, who has always fought crooked gamblers, grafters and vice, has no chance before a blind, indifferent public. The idea of convicting George Dale of a liquor conspiracy, is really laughable. A man whom anybody has ever seen, would say that if he ever drank a drop of booze himself, he has no physical evidence of it whatever. If that was the reason—liquor—why didn't they investigate John Hampton's administration?

His little retreat out at Hills and Dales, which he recently had to sell to get money to live on, had bushels of empty whisky and beer bottles inside and outside. Who started this liquor conspiracy against George Dale?

Watsons, Let's heap up the bright burning coals. United we'll stand my dear Buddies, Divided we'll suffer for years; Warm up the red blood in your bodies, Drive out the slave making fears, Kick out the grasping for dollars, Then sunshine will enter your souls; When all of us Buddies united Put up a great fight at the polls.

"Smilin' Through" Norma Shearer Hit Many Prominent Stars Were Brought Back For This Picture—At Rivoli Starting Sunday

With Norma Shearer as its star, and one of the most brilliant supporting casts yet assembled for the speaking screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's lavish production of "Smilin' Through" will open Sunday at the Rivoli theater. Miss Shearer in the feminine lead follows in the footsteps of Jane Cowl, who achieved one of her greatest successes in the record-breaking New York stage run of the play from which the screen production was adapted. Opposite her is Fredric March, borrowed from Paramount to play the dual role of Jeremy Wayne in the mid-Victorian sequences of the story and Kenneth Wayne, his son, in the modern scenes. Leslie Howard and O. P. Heggie, who left the screen to fulfill stage engagements on Broadway during the past season, were brought back to Hollywood to add further lustre to Miss Shearer's cast. Both these distinguished players have appeared previously with the star, Howard in "A Free Soul" and Haggie in "The Actress." The cast also includes Ralph Forbes, Beryl Mercer, David Torrence, Margaret Seddon and Forrester Harvey, under the direction of Sidney Franklin, who produced "Private Lives." "Smilin' Through" is the story of an old man who seeks to shed the relentless bitterness of his blighted romance on a pair of young lovers. The colorful background provides a contrast between the England of 1868 and modern days.

Velvet, Held in High Esteem Through Ages, Now Found in Practically Every Well-Furnished Home

Invention of Power "Wire-Loom" Brought Alluring Fabric Within the Reach of Every Home-maker.

By Marie Schwylar

It has been said that velvet is the most alluring fabric in the world of decoration, and that it makes all things, animate or inanimate, look better than they really are. No doubt this is the reason why this fabric has always been held in such high esteem, and why velvet in the form of mohair is found in practically every well-furnished home.

There is a distinction, or many of them, between velvets woven for various uses. All are distinguished by the short pile nap; but those made for wear, drapes and like purposes, are of lighter weight, usually. Most of the velvets have a strong cotton foundation into which the velvet material is interwoven as in mohair.

In the case of this latter material, best known and most durable of all the velvets, the material used is goat-like white fleece of the Angora goat, which is a long fiber sometimes reaching a length of four or five feet. Millions of these Angora goats are raised in Texas and other Western states for this purpose alone. The quality, if anything, is a bit better than that of the Angoras grown in Turkey.

It is fortunate for our American standards that we are able to secure our household velvets, especially for furniture, at most moderate prices, since we demand both beauty and endurance in such materials, and find in velvet not only the plain colors, but also the classic and modern designs in rich colorings that are hand-printed or hand-blocked, and embrace both classic and ultra-modern patterns. While most of the soft materials used in velvet weaving must be protected from water, and are subject to "matting" under wear or pressure, mohair fabrics may be readily washed with a good soap and water to remove any soiled spots, a peculiar property of the fibre which is akin both to wool and fine hair. It is lucky for the average home that this long wearing material is so easily obtained, due to an American invention that applied power to the wire loom on which velvets must be woven. In many countries velvet is still made by hand and up to fifty years ago was so costly that it could be bought only by the most affluent.

"Changes in style may affect certain types of furniture and furnishings, but what is fundamentally right remains a source of continued pleasure and satisfaction."

TODAY'S HOUSEHOLD

by Dorothy Davenport, Household Science Institute

"Satan finds some mischief still For idle hands to do." No wonder I am very good, And so I think would you, If you were busy every day A-learning how to bake, Sometimes a tart, sometimes a pie And sometimes even cake!

FIRST COOKING LESSONS WITH vacation days ahead, finding occupation for little hands is sometimes a task that puzzles busy mothers. Simple cooking is a happy solution for little girls as it keeps them active and interested and really teaches them at the same time. First cooking lessons can usually be given while one is occupied otherwise in the kitchen. A little help and supervision will be needed, but take care that the child feels she is really doing the work herself and not just looking on or obeying instructions.

A good recipe to start with is Bittersweet cookies, since it is simplicity itself and the results are delightful. The quantities might well be halved for the youngest beginner.

For the full amount, cream 3/4 of a cup of butter and to it gradually add one cup brown sugar. Next, sift self-rising flour and measure out three cups of it. No baking powder nor salt need be added, which simplifies the task for the novice, since extra sittings to blend the leavening are avoided. Explain to the child just what leavening does to a batter, and how the calcium and phosphorus which are in the flour leavening are essential to good health and strong straight bones. Add the flour and lastly the nuts and vanilla to the batter and mix well.

Turn the stiff batter onto a sheet of floured wax paper, mold with the hands into two long rolls, wrap in the paper and place in the refrigerator over night, or at least for several hours.

This will chill the dough so that it may be easily sliced thin. Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven (400°) for seven minutes.

WANTS CHICKEN RANCH - Kansas City, Mo.—Although Charles E. Peoples, passenger air line pilot, has won many distinctions in aviation his real ambition still is unfulfilled. He is one of the smallest pilots in the business; he has flown more than 1,000,000 miles; he has had more than 10,000 hours in the air; but he still wants to settle down on a chicken ranch.

Governor Roosevelt Says: WHAT the world needs most today is a national policy which will make us an example of national honor to other nations. "We cannot call ourselves wise or patriotic if we seek to escape the responsibility of remodeling government to make it more serviceable to all the people and more responsive to modern nations." "Those who hold public office should not be content merely to take the duties of their jobs as they find them and carry them out according to precedent. Those who have had experience in operating the machine should be able to tell of its defects." "The world SHIP OF STATE cannot regain its safe course to port by reckless spending and by reckless vituperation, but it can steer safely home by unity of action and a determination eventually to meet its just obligations." "The highest ideals of America demand that with strict adherence to the principles of Washington, we maintain an international freedom and, at the same time, offer leadership to a sorely-trying humanity." "If city planning and even county planning are worth while, how much more important is it that the State as a whole should adopt a permanent program, both social and economic and statewide in its objectives."

COMMITTEE OF NEGRO VOTERS BEING FORMED

Leaders of Race Have Undertaken Organization of Their People

HAVE HAD SHARE OF DEPRESSION

General Turn to Democratic Party—No Hope From Republicans

Perhaps nothing so illustrates the political overturn that will be registered next November as the action of the negro voters. For the first time in the nation's history it is evident that the colored group heretofore counted in advance for every Republican candidate has become an independent element in an election. The newspapers have recorded sporadic clubs and associations of negro voters declaring for Governor Roosevelt. These activities have been combined in the National Colored Citizens Roosevelt-for-President Committee. Included in the personnel of this committee are recognized leaders of the race who of their own initiative have undertaken to organize the negro citizens into an active, efficient political unit. Among them are prelates, principals of schools, owners and editors of newspapers, lawyers, doctors and business men, representing every branch of industry.

More Than Their Share

The colored citizens, like those of every other race have suffered the consequences of the economic depression. Indeed they feel that they have had more than their fair share of misfortunes, because they contend that in nearly every establishment that has been forced to curtail its activities the colored employees are generally the first victims. They take the position that the present administration in Washington has been remiss in meeting the problems of the economic emergency and is, therefore, responsible for the long duration and acuteness of the depression. Under these circumstances their political trend follows the general tide of public sentiment as illustrated by the numerous trial ballots that are being conducted through the country.

Regarded as Fixtures

The leaders of the colored group announce that there is a general turn among their followers to the Democratic party; a realization that the Republican party has regarded them as a fixture that could be ignored without danger of alienating their support. They are voicing their disappointment with Mr. Hoover's administration and hence after seven years of loyalty to the Republican party are seeking a new deal in government. That is the genesis of the National Colored Citizens Roosevelt-for-President committee.
