A full attendance is earnestly desired. POWELL HOWLAND, JOHN M. TALBOTT, AUSTIN H. BROWN, JOHN S. SPANN, Committee.

Perry Township.

The Democracy of Perry Township are requested to meet at Marr's School House, on Saturday the 31st of July, 1852, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of appointing delegates to the County Convention.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE.

Carter's Indiana Reports.

By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that the first volume of the official reports of the Supreme Court of this State will soon be completed and ready for sale.

A number of the most eminent lawyers of the State have looked over the sheets of the work, and the manner in which the Reporter, HORACE E. CARTER, Esq., has discharged his duty, meets their unqualified approbation, as also does the style in which the work has been printed. It has been the aim of the Reporter to make his work as nearly as possible equal to the very popular reports of Judge Blackford. How well he has succeeded will be for the profession to determine. We have no doubt that "Carter's Reports" will be entirely satisfactory to the bench and the bar generally.

The publisher has attempted—and he believes that he has been successful—to make the work equal in mechanical execution, to any work of the kind ever heretofore published.

The following extract from the Reporter's preface, will give some intimation of the manner in which the work has been got up:

"The provisions of the law creating the office have been closely followed. All the written opinions delivered within the period over which the volume extends have been published in the manner in which they were delivered, and without any abridgment whatever."

"The plan of Blackford's Reports has been followed in every particular, in order that the profession might have a connected series."

"Full notes and references have been added to the more important cases."

Mr. CARTER deserves much credit for the industry and perseverance he has evinced in so soon getting out a work of this size and character. The second volume is now in press, and will be published early this fall. The Baker Family give concerts in Green Bay, Wisconsin, the last week in June.

All the Intelligence and Decency.

The very organ of man evidences his capacity for self-government. Yet the world's history is but a continued repetition of the struggles of the few against the many. The origin of despotisms, and their maintenance through successive ages, present fruitful sources for reflection. With the view of stimulating inquiry, we propose briefly glancing at some of the acknowledged causes originating these forms of government. Without referring to man's condition in a state of nature, or to the probable causes inducing him to enter into social compacts with his fellows, we shall come down to that period when military chieftains, with victorious armies at their backs, surfeited with plunder, extended their rule to the civil government of nations they had conquered. Here is unquestionably the true source of despotism. Upon the death of a founder of a dynasty, the reins of government passed into the hands of his successors, the people acquiescing solely through fear of an army under the pay of those in power. Soldiers, accustomed to implicit obedience to the mandates of their leaders, gradually lose their individuality, and learn to regard their officers with slavish awe. Alexander the Great declared himself a God, and his soldiers adored him as such. A Roman Emperor ordered divine honors to be paid his horse, and Roman soldiers obeyed. The Sultans of Turkey had but to give the signal, and Janissary was ready with the fatal bow-string, no difference who the victim or what the cause. The Czars of Russia first receive the oath of allegiance from the Army, who take it without hesitancy or reserve. Yet, though despotisms thus supported, continued in existence with varied successes for ages, there were those bold enough to question the right of one man, by his sole uncontrolled will, to rule an entire people. Hence despots found it necessary, in addition to the brute force of an army, to quiet free inquiry by exhibiting a color of right. For this purpose, skilful sophists, basking in the sunshine of royal favor, were put in requisition to elaborate subtle theories justifying despotism. Soon every library in the civilized world was filled with treatises upon the theory of government, in which the capacity of the people to govern themselves was boldly denied. The ignorance of a people groaning under a mental despotism of ages was contrasted with the intelligence of rulers enjoying every facility for the development of the intellect. These hired ethical scribblers, often miscalled philosophers, contended that certain persons ought to be set apart and qualified to govern, and that the harmony of society might not be disturbed by an interregnum or the turbulent scenes incident to the choosing of a ruler, upon the death of a reigning monarch, the rights to rule should vest in certain of his heirs according to the laws of succession. This they called the jure divina.

It is not necessary for us to remind our readers that this doctrine has been attacked in every government. But, in most instances, the axe and the gibbet quieted all opposition. Yet the spark still lingered, and ever and anon burst into a flame glaring with portentous fearfulness in the faces of trembling despots. And in the "New World," first was presented the sublime spectacle of a government where the right to rule was recognized to be in the people. Its steady progress in the development of the human intellect and the true sources of man's happiness is a triumphant refutation of the fallacies of the advocates of monarchies. But that progress has not been made without opposition in our midst. In the early history of the United States, a party was organized in this country, styled the Federal. It flatly denied the capacity of the people to govern. Repeated reverses forced it to practice deception. Convinced of the bad odor of its original name, it next appropriated to itself the soubriquet Whig. This name was assumed in consequence of its revolutionary associations. In this act it evidenced its want of confidence in the capacity of the people. Regarding them too ignorant to discover the trick, it expected to seduce them to the support of their cherished measures. These appeals were made to passion, never to reason. Though still covertly attached to the principles of the Hartford school, it is too wise to own it. And now, after having exhausted every other subterfuge, it offers to the American people, instead of a political creed, the prestige of military renown. It protests that it has no principles. It asks that its candidates may be elected without pledges. Why? That its secretly cherished Federalism may the more readily be put into successful operation. If it openly avowed its true principles, bitter, disgraceful defeat, it knows full well, awaits it.

The Democratic party, on the other hand, has ever manifested its confidence in the people. It has always boldly proclaimed its principles, and scrupulously adhered to them through evil as well as good report. For this it has been sneered at by Whiggery, and styled the "Mob party." The Whig party, in the pride of its monarchial spirit, and imbued with the same feelings which sustain despotism in the "Old World," arrogates to itself all the intelligence and all the decency. Patriotic German and Irish, who have rallied under the free flag of Democracy, have been ridiculed because they dared to be Democrats. Eminent statesmen in the Democratic party, have been scolded and denounced with the most loathsome abuse. Whiskered dandies and smooth-tongued city financiers, drones in the human hive, who have never earned a crumb by the sweat of their brows, stand about the street corners, and as industrious, honest Irishman or German is returning from his daily toil, his garments soiled with the dust of labor, sneer at him as he passes, exclaiming, while they get out of the way to prevent their broad-cloths and satins from being soiled with the contact, "There goes a dirty loafcoff."

Gen. Jackson was vilely slandered by Whiggery. The ashes of Mr. Polk have not been permitted to rest in the quiet of the tomb. Gen. Cass was accused of cowardice. Gen. Pierce has not escaped the venomous shafts of Whig malice. Though his whole life has been devoted, not in the shedding of human blood, but in the maintenance of the people's rights—in the spread of the holy spirit of religious tolerance—though he is acknowledged to be one of the finest scholars in New England—though Gen. Scott, himself, attests his bravery—yet Whigs have dared to ridicule him as a statesman and soldier in language known only to the Whig vocabulary. Little urchins in the streets, and pert young city fops, who seldom aspire to any thing higher than fast trotting horses, a pointer dog, and a double-barrelled shot gun, swell out like a monkey in a field-marshal's regimentals, and with harlequin airs of importance, exclaim, "Gen. Pierce is a coward—he fainted in Mexico." Bah! Get into your kennels! The people are not to be humbugged by this cry of "All the Decency and Intelligence."

They remember that Whiggery raised the same cry when the Democracy of Rhode Island undertook to rid that State from the thralldom of a British charter. Another Omen. On the evening of the third of July, a spark from a Roman candle struck the large transparency of Gen. Scott in front of the Broadway House, New York, which instantly ignited and the whole together with the awning was destroyed.

James P. McNeill has been appointed Secretary of State of Kentucky, by Gov. Powell.

State of Parties.

The New York Mirror, a Whig Journal edited by a Whig office holder, contains a long article on the State of Parties, from which we make the following extract: "We have been at some pains to examine the figures and see what the chances of the two great parties, Whig and Democratic, in view of their present position are. We must confess that the hopes of a Whig triumph in November, are opposed by a stern array of facts. Except in the State, Vermont, Tennessee and Wisconsin, the Whigs have not a Governor; nor a Legislature, save in Kentucky, which offsets the Democratic Legislature of Wisconsin. In Congress, the Whig show is equally bad—nay worse. In the Senate against 23 Whigs, are 34 regular Democrats; 3 quasi Democrats, alias Free-soilers and 2 vacancies. In the House, against 78 Whigs are 140 regular Democrats, and 5 Free-soilers. Thus far, the account stands 4 Whig Governors and Legislatures against 27 Democratic, leaving a Democratic balance of 23 States; joint Whig vote in Congress 111 against 174 Democratic, 8 Free Soil, and 2 vacancies, leaving a Democratic balance, without Free-soilers, of 62, or nearly fair working majority."

Leaving Georgia, South Carolina, Minnesota, and Utah out of the question—they are all Democratic—we find the Whig strength to be not far from 1,260,000 votes, while the Democratic vote stands about 1,440,000—leaving a Democratic balance of 180,000 votes. We have not recorded the Abolition vote of New York—some 5000, as cast for Chaplin, nor the Native vote of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, some 4000, as cast at late elections. We find also that, in 1848, had the Democratic party been united, as it now is, it would have carried, even against Gen. Taylor, Ohio by some 50,000, New York by over 16,000 and Pennsylvania, counting the Native vote that will now be cast against Scott, by a small majority—thus securing the three great States, depended on to elect Gen. Scott. To our mind the picture is by no means bright, and short of the utmost unity in the Whig ranks, now shaken by Independent Movements in Georgia, Massachusetts, and elsewhere, and the determined organization of the Native Party against Scott, there is but the smallest chance of success.

Speech of Mr. Toombs of Georgia. Toombs has been heretofore regarded as the most talented Whig from the South. He has just been elected to the Senate for six years. His recent speech in opposition to Gen. Scott has created quite a stir in the Whig camp. The Washington correspondent of the New York Express, thus alludes to it: "WASHINGTON, July 3d. The speech of Mr. Toombs, to-day, was listened to throughout with intense interest by all parties. In the introductory part, where he philosophically dwelt upon the assumption of power by irresponsible and chance-elected delegates to National Conventions, he made a profound impression. What he said was full of wisdom as well as of eloquence. Of course, as to the Scott and Pierce party, there will be the greatest difference of opinion. The Whigs, especially the Southern Whigs, who are going for Gen. Scott, are indignant, but most of the Northern Whigs think the speech will be useful to them. Mr. Toombs denies that Union Whigs are committed to the nomination of Gen. Scott, because he says the General has not endorsed the platform, only accepted the nomination with the burden of the platform."

Such a speech, no doubt, is calculated to do great harm to the Whig cause in such States as Georgia, Florida, and Tennessee; where there are Whig majorities; and in North Carolina and Kentucky it will be powerful. In the Northern cities, and towns also, it may be injurious; but it will rather strengthen, if read there, Gen. Scott in the Free Soil Districts. "The firing of the powder magazine at Lafayette, on the night of the fifth inst., which caused such a terrible explosion and such a fearful loss of property, was, we infer the act of some zealous Whig who wished to celebrate the anniversary of the battle of Chippewa. The editor of the Journal after describing the loss of property and the particulars of the disaster, alludes to the fact that it was the anniversary of that great battle which he thus describes. "Here happened then an explosion more terrific than that of last night. It was the shock of armies, and amid the awful clash and clamor of that scene, one form towered aloft, unawed and uninterfied, serene amid the roar of battle and the thunder of cannon. It was Winfield Scott."

O! Heavens— "Here's a large mouth That spits forth death, and mountains, rocks and seas Talks as familiarly of roasting tuns, As maids of thirteen do of puppy dogs."

Pierce was a Brigadier General in the Mexican war. Did he fight in a single battle; if so, where is his report to be found.—Richmond Palladium. By referring to the Presidents message and accompanying documents for 1847, in the Appendix, at page 25, is his report of his march from Vera Cruz. At page 105, is his official report of his operations in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco, and at page 197, is his report of the battles at the taking of the city of Mexico. They are found in the Appendix with the reports of the subordinate officers, and for terseness of style, will compare favorably with any in the Department. There is no effort at vain-glorious display. Are you satisfied, friend Holloway?

We learn that the steamer, Hungarian, left New Orleans, on the 8th, bringing up to Madison the last of the iron to complete the Indianapolis and Bellefontaine Railroad. This shows the importance of prompt action in such matters, as the river is rapidly falling, and there will be barely time to land the iron before Spring navigation in the Ohio will probably close. The company have been very fortunate in getting their iron from Wales and up the river at so early a period in the season.

Brown Douc. "The Editor of the State Sentinel seems to have got enough of the discussion about the election of Judges. So be it. He is not only done, but "done brown."—Jim Hughes. We want no controversy with the man who claims to be a Democrat, yet supports the Whig nominees. That is not our kind of Democracy.

Carlisle House. This House has changed hands and is now kept by Mr. D. C. Minick, a man who knows how to treat the traveling public in the best style.

The Detroit Free Press—by the way, one of the ablest Democratic papers in the Union says: "Gen. Scott says in his letter Wm. E. Robinson that his native letter was written under circumstances of unusual excitement; and now the New York Times has discovered that he didn't write any such letter at all, and offers a large bet to sustain its assertion! First, Gen. Scott wrote the letter under excitement; secondly, he didn't write it at all; thirdly, it was an unexceptionable letter, any how. The last or third point will be in the Times of 2d July. The whig discovered that Gen. Pierce failed in the midst of battle; secondly, he wasn't in the battle at all; thirdly, he was forced to go to Mexico—was no volunteer like Gen. Scott, and was a coward after he got there; fourthly and lastly, he never was in Mexico at all. This last we shall have in a few days. This world must end very soon; it is getting too smart to live. This certain.

Pierce and Clay. On the afternoon of the 2d, at Concord, New Hampshire, a meeting was held to devise proper measures to honor the memory of Mr. CLAY. The Hon. FRANKLIN PIERCE, the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, was present, and delivered an eloquent eulogium on the character and public services of Mr. CLAY, alluding particularly to his noble exertions in framing and perfecting the Compromise measures.

PARSON BROWNLOW OF THE WHIG TICKET.—The Knoxville Times, Whig, announces the nomination of Scott and Graham with the figure of a runaway negro at the head of its columns.

Proceedings of the City Council.

TRUESDAY, July 6, 1852. Council met. All the members present. Bills and accounts were allowed to the amount of $208 22. On motion of Mr. Deitzel, the petition for grading and graveling Market street, between New Jersey and East streets, was taken from the table. After a lengthy discussion the prayer of the petitioners was granted by the following vote: Ayes.—Messrs. Louden, Deitzel, Buchanan, and Greer. Noes.—Messrs. Culley, Filer, and Pitts. On motion of Mr. Deitzel, the petition for grading and graveling Ohio street, between New Jersey and Noble streets, was taken from the table. The prayer of the petitioners was not granted by the following vote. Ayes.—Messrs. Deitzel, Buchanan, and Greer. Noes.—Messrs. Louden, Culley, Filer, and Pitts. On motion of Mr. Greer, the vote for granting the petition to grade and gravel Market street, was reconsidered. It was lost on its passage by the following vote: Ayes.—Messrs. Louden, Buchanan, and Deitzel. Noes.—Messrs. Filer, Greer, Pitts, and Culley. Mr. Buchanan presented a petition from C. W. Cady and 200 others, for a bridge over Noble street. Referred to the committee on bridges. Mr. Buchanan presented a petition for a bridge over Pogues Run, on Alabama street. On motion of Mr. Louden, the petition was granted, and the committee instructed to contract for the same. Mr. Deitzel moved that 500 feet of hose be purchased for Invenible Engine Company No. 2. Laid on the table for the present.

A motion to build an Engine house for the same company, was also laid on the table. T. M. Smith, Jr., Deputy Marshall, handed in his resignation, which was accepted. The Council adjourned. WEDNESDAY, July 7, 1852. Council met. All present except Messrs. Louden and Filer. On motion of Mr. Culley, it was, Resolved, That the President be directed to contract for a new fence around the City Grave yard, and that the old fence be used for enclosing the ground used for colored people. On motion of Mr. Culley, it was, Resolved, That the Market Master be required to sell the outside stalls in the Market Houses, to any that may want them for the sale of meats and vegetables, at the rate of $5 00 a year. The Council adjourned.

Powder Magazine Exploded. About eleven o'clock last evening, the powder magazine belonging to Reynolds, Fowler & Stockwell, containing about one hundred kegs of powder, exploded, having been set on fire by some of the numerous graceless scamps now infesting the city. The concussion was most terrific, and its effects most disastrous to buildings not only in the vicinity, but in the outer extremes of the town. The powder house was situated in a deep ravine, in the south-east part of town, was a small frame building, elevated a few feet above the ground. Two hours before the explosion the house was discovered to be on fire. Scarcely a house in town that was not more or less injured. The walls of several of the brick buildings in the vicinity, were severely injured, particularly the beautiful dwellings of Peter Ball and R. Gregory. Large buildings, three or four squares from the explosion, were moved from their foundation, doors burst open, windows broken, plaster knocked off, walls cracked, and other injuries sustained. The windows of the Catholic Church, over half a mile distant, were nearly all broken in. There is no means of ascertaining the amount of damage done, but probably not less than $50,000, or $75,000. There were probably 2000 pounds of powder burnt, the report of which, must have been heard fifty miles.—Lafayette Courier.

The New York Herald, which did so much service for Gen. Taylor in the campaign of '48, is now quite severe on Scott. It says the attempt to get up a military hurrah is a miserable abortion. Disaffection confronts the Whig candidate on every side—gunpowder is at a discount—Chapultepec will not do—the great principles, and the great issues of the day and of the age, will rise to the top. The Whig party and Gen. Scott have been already compelled to face this music. The expected military furor falls, a still-born thug, to the ground. It don't answer. The country begins to feel the importance of a Presidential election, in reference to principles."

The Come Outers! James Lyons, John R. Chamblin, and Hunter H. Marshall, Whig candidates for electors in Virginia, refuse to serve in consequence of the nomination of Scott. Joshua Brick, of Cumberland county, a leading Whig of West Jersey, and one of the Taylor electors in 1848, is out for Pierce and King, and will exert himself, for their election.

W. S. Patham, substitute Whig elector in the 6th District, Louisiana, declines to serve in behalf of Gen. Scott. It is reported that Isaiah Garrett, the elector, has also declined.

HENRY CLAY.—The Philadelphia Enquirer says: His son made him aware of the result of the Whig convention, but he appeared to take little interest in it. His last words, addressed to his son, were—"I AM DYING, I AM GOING." His spirit had fled and all was still. His death was as calm and peaceful as an infant sleep.

The Philadelphia Enquirer states that Mr. Clay's private papers have been confided to Gen. Jessup, as also all the original manuscripts and rough drafts which he had written while Secretary of State. The manuscripts are very voluminous—filling a large trunk and box. Gen. Jessup is a warm personal friend of Mr. Clay, though a political opponent.

CHEERING FROM NEW YORK.—The N. York National Democrat, is assured by a gentleman who has been in all parts of the State, that Pierce and King will carry it by an overwhelming majority. A well informed Democratic Congressman from this State writes us: "You may safely put down New York for Pierce and King by 20,000 majority."—Madisonian.

The reason assigned for the refusal of so many Whigs to place themselves on the platform of the late Whig Convention is that since Horace Greeley split upon it, it has been pronounced not at all agreeable or decent.—Louisville Democrat.

SCOTT'S PROSPECTS.—The Boston Advertiser, a Whig paper, can find only eighty-seven electoral votes for which Gen. Scott has any chance. The Advertiser is favorable to Webster.

The little daughter of W. Lewis, at DeFiance, Ohio, was poisoned to death last week, by eating candy which had been colored by some poisonous substance.

The coinage at the Mint in Philadelphia, for the month of June, 1852, amounted to $4,345,303 88, and the deposits during the same period to $6,687,000.

DIED. On the 10th inst., CORNELIA MATHIAS, aged one year and nine months, daughter of C. N. and Mary A. Burges.

All advertisements must be handed in by 2 o'clock, P. M., to insure insertion. Advertisers will find a letter box for the reception of advertisements for the Daily State Sentinel, at the foot of the stairway to our office, on Washington street.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—By virtue of an order of the Probate Court of Randolph county, Indiana, made at the May term thereof, A. D. 1852, I will, on Monday, the 9th day of August, 1852, expose to public sale, on the premises, the following real estate, to-wit: The east half of the north-east quarter of section 23 in township 11 north, of range 4, east; situated in Marion county, State of Indiana, being a part of the real estate of DAVID B. TAYLOR, deceased, late of said county, Indiana. Terms.—One-third of the purchase to be paid in hand, one third in six, and one-third in eighteen months from the day of sale. The deferred payments to be secured by notes with freehold security, payable without any relief from valuation or appraisement laws. ROBERT MURPHY, Adm'r. July 12, 1852—4d.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.—Persons desirous of contracting for work on the Peoria and Indianapolis Railroad, will do so to their advantage by calling on J. G. BARNEY, the Engineer, in Noblesville, Ind. E. G. BARNEY, July 12, 1852. C. Engineers P. & I. R. R. (Business, Journal, and New Albany Ledger copy 3 weeks weekly sent 1 cent daily) July 12.

NEW BOOK STORE. BUTLER & MATHE'S having commenced the BOOK SELLING BUSINESS, at 125 N. Washington street, in the city of Indianapolis, would most respectfully inform the citizens of Indianapolis, and of the State generally, that they are now receiving and opening a very handsome addition to their former stock, which makes the assortment very good. They expect to keep constantly on hand and for sale, wholesale and retail, Law, Medical, Theological, Musical, Agricultural, and Scientific Works. Blank Books, School Books and Stationery of every description, together with a general assortment of every thing in their line, usually kept in Book Stores, all of which they propose to sell on the most accommodating terms. Ladies and gentlemen will please call and examine our stock, before purchasing elsewhere. Orders for books sent by mail, promptly attended to, and Boxes and Packages forwarded with dispatch. Store south side of Washington street, in the brick block on the corner of Washington and Meridian streets, a few doors west of the Postoffice. BUTLER & MATHE'S, Indianapolis, July 10, 1852 3d-w-3v.

FOR SALE IN MARION COUNTY.—Six miles south-east of Indianapolis, one-half mile from the Railroad running from Indianapolis to Cincinnati, and on the county road that runs past Luck Creek Meeting House, containing 120 acres, so cleared and in good cultivation, and all the tenements lately erected. Balance heavy timber land, of which 20 acres are fenced and set in grass. The buildings are a two story brick house, with kitchen, porch, and passage, shop, stable, and other necessary out-buildings, good well walled with brick; fine orchard, consisting of 50 cultivated apple trees, pear, plum and peach trees; and 3000 bushing springs. The farm borders on a small creek, and extends gradually to a height of from 30 to 40 feet. Title perfect. No encumbrances, and for sale very low. For particulars, &c., apply to the undersigned. REAL ESTATE AND GENERAL AGENCY OFFICE. July 10—4d-w-4v.

STRAYED.—One Grey Horse, seven years old, about sixteen hands high, the right hip slightly falling. One brown Mare, about 13 years old, some fifteen hands high, and one bay Mare, about seven years old, rather small, with a scar on her right hind leg—a cut from a plough. They are kept but very few miles east of Gosport, Owen County, Ind. I will give a liberal reward for any information of them, or a return of the horses to me. July 10—w-3v. VALENTINE MAYAR.

EXPRESS—ROUGHING IT IN THE BUSH, or Life in Canada. By S. M. Mayar. In 2 parts, being No's 12 and 13 of Putnam's Semi-Monthly Library. Just received by C. B. DAVIS & Co. July 5. (Locomotive copy) 12 Washington st.

GREAT INVENTION. THE SELF HEATING FLAT IRON! THE undersigned being agent for the sale of this Iron, takes great pleasure in offering them to the ladies of Indianapolis and the surrounding country. It can be kept hot by a few pounds of charcoal, saving the expense of keeping up fire for ironing purposes. It can be had at the Palmer House, where he will be happy to wait upon all who may call. WM. LASHBROOK, July 12.

PARTNERSHIP.—The subscribers have formed a copartnership for carrying on the Wholesale and Retail Bookkeeping and Stationery business in all its various branches, under the firm of C. B. DAVIS & Co. C. B. DAVIS, H. F. WEST, June 1, 1852.
